Nevember of 1000 such a company gathered is probably has never been seen together sefore. The plain of La Liunague, in Auvergue, was covered with white tents, in which were odged 30,000 people, 4,000 prisss and 400 sistops and abbots were there, while also hers was there one man whe was mightier han all of them. Urban II., pope of Rome, whom all western Europe did homage. A lefty stand had been erected in the pen sir, for no building would accommodate the throng. Upon this sat the pope, and headed him stood the hermit, holding light the cross. With berning words and earful eyes he described the shameful injusts he had witnessed in Jerusalem and salled for younteers to go with to wrest the hely city from the infidel. His appeal was seconded by Urban, who promised all who fought that if thay won the land they conquered should be theirs while if they died a place in heaven should surely be their reward. The cross was held as to them and they were invited to come forward and sake it to wear upon their persons as the bedge of their devotion.

Addimar de Monterl, bishop of Puy, was the first to come forward and thousands pource after him.

The excitements spread and all Europe resourced with the preparations for this un-the first to come forward and thousands perred after him.

The excitement spread and all Europe resounced with the preparations for this undersaking. Peter, with excess of soal and absolute lack of wisdom, gathered a multitude of peasant men, women and children, unarmed and unprovided with the assistance for the march which, he undertook to lead in person to Jerssalem across the mountainous parts of central Europe. Extorting food from the people among whem they passed, and setupon by them in revenge, the pilgrims fell in every road, out down by sickness, starvation and the eword. Others, no doubt, ran back to their deserted homes, until in Hungary Peter found himself alone.

Meanwhile a very different army had been gathering on all sides, made up of the very flower of chivalry of all the European nations.

Godfrey de Bouillon, duke of Lorraine.

He mortgages his duchy of Normandy to is brother. William Ruius, king of Eng-and, and with the money thus obtained its out his portion of the holy army. The science of navigation was in that age oc crude to be able to provide means of rangit for so large an army by water, and he whole force, 500,000 infantry and 500,000 avalry, marched by land across Central lurope and over the Hellespont into Asia kinor.

wun, the siege which followed lasted for this, and when at last the city was taken few inside whom the assaults had ed fell by the awords of the conquerors, it making arrangements for governing this conqueror decided to elect one of their number king, and the enum was effected to Robert of Normandy, who desised it. Afterward Godfrey de Boulion, who seems to have been an irreprocabable knight, was shosen to this high place with its cares, but would not take this title nor the erown. He made a most ancessful ruler nuitl his death, only one year later. Thus ended the first crusade.—Boston Courier.

Only Wanted to See It.

Only Wanted to See it.

A very swell-leoking, middle-aged man apparently every inch of what is tormed a man of the world, entered a Broadway on coming down-town yestorday at Thirty-third street, says the New York Times. When the conductor cann in for his fare the swell-looking, middle-aged man addressed him very politely, saying:

"Kindly let me know when we roach the Fith Avenue hotel."

The car solled slong. The street crossing leading to the entrance of the Fifth Avenue hotel was reached and the ear was brought to a hait by the conductor. The swell-looking, middle-aged man was sitting sideways, gazing out upon the beauties of Madison acquare.

"Fifth Avenue hotel?" the conductor shouted in the door.

The swell-looking, middle-aged man belted nround in his seat and began to stare at the bets!

"Fifth Avenue hotel!" shouted the conductor again, coming into the car. Then, the swell-looking, middle-aged man id not move be added somewhat testily: "Here is the Fifth Avenue hotel, sir; are you going to get out; "Why, no." responded the swell-looking, middle-aged man, surprisedly, "I only wanted to see the hotel. Heard so much about it, you know."

The passengers laughed in spite of themselves, and the conductor went back to his stayion and jerked the bell-strap vicionaly.

The Biggest Apple.

A Connecticut man writes to the Sun that he has in his possession an apple that he picked at 8tharpstorg, Md., and the apple weighs over twenty-six and a half ounces and measures sixteen inches in circumfersence. It is the biggest apple he ever saw. He is very proud of his possession, but we cannot see what business that apple has associating with the wooden nutmegs of Connecticut, it should be wearing the blue ribbon at the Hagerstown fair.—New York Sun. The Administration Prepared to Take the Credit or Blame its Predagessor. Credit er Hame Its Predecessor.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The closest inquiry has failed to clicit any further information respecting the details of the agreement reached by the United States and Great Britain to submit the Bering sea case. ment reached by the United States and Great Britain to submit the Bering soa case to arbitration. It is learned, however, that the treaty has not yet received the signatures of representatives of the United States and Great Britain, for, although all points to be submitted to arbitration have been agreed the method of arbitration averaged and included in the terms of the treaty. It is believed by persons in authority that this remaining point will be adjusted before the mesting of the sense and that the arbitrators will have defined the exact rights of the United States and Great Britain in Bering sea before the opening of next sealing season. Regarding the ward case, if can be stated that the administration is waiting the outcome with contentions the result will be very gradifying, but if it should the the the course and find the seizure of the vessel to have been illegal the administration at season of the supression of the supression of the supression is season with the season of the supression of pointing to the fact that it is in no way responsible for the seizure of the Sayward, which was made by order of its predecessors.

IT'S ENGLISH, YOU KNOW.

Is the Cause of All These Troubles of Uncle Sam.

Is the Cause of All These Troubles of Uncle Sam.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Much indignation is expressed at the state and navy departments at the conduct of certain English newspapers in ascribing foolish sentiments and remarks to Minister Egan and Capt. Soliev in connection with the pending questions between the Chillian and the United States governments. No one her believes what the papers assert, and the opinion is held in the departments that the English papers in question are engaged in an effort to ferment the growth of the feeling of animosity by Chillians against the people of the United States. In the case of Stazil, no word has been received from Minister Conger tending to confirm the story of the revolt of three of the principal Brazilian provinces which is also reported from English sources. There is a disposition here to also attribute to the English papers a desire to sembarrass the Brazilian anthorities who are responsible for the negotistion of the reciprocity treaty with the United States, inasmuch as this arrangement has already semicity extended the commerce between Brazil and the United States.

Engraving and Printing.

Washington, Nov. II.—Chief of the Barcan of Engraving and Printing Moradith, in his report to the secretary of the treasury, says that the result of this year's operations is the largest delivery of securities, stamps and miscellaneous work in any year during a period of fourteen years. There were completed and delivered during the year II.233,999 sheets of United States notes, treasury notes, gold and silver cartificates, bond and national bank notes, having a face value of $308,995,930, 33,500, 466 shoets of internal revenue and quakoms stamps, containing 927,334,984 stamps, and 1,655,986 sheets of drafts, check, certificates, etc., besides a large amount of miscellaneous work for the various departments of the government.

William Rufus was naw king of England; a sam so avarieious and unscrupplous that he never hesitated to take by force any passessing of his nobices that was left unguarded. Under such a master it is not strange that the English nobles were loated to leave their castles for so long a journey, and hence few English names have figured in the first oreasde.

Impetuous, improvident, trustful Robert of Normandy, however, who never could remember evil of his brother the next day after he had most cruelly abused him, now turns to William for aid. His generous heart burning to relieve the sufferings of the Holy Land leads him to sacrifice every fautre prospect for the purpose of obtaining the means of gratifying the present impulse.

He mortgages his duchy of Normandy to his brother, William Ruius, king of England, and with the money thus obtained fis out his portion of the hely army.
