CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

PEOPLE YOU KNOW AND SOME OF THE THINGS THEY SAY AND DO.

Harry Chaney made the Elks happy last night. He had planned to begin immediately the remodeling of the Elks hotel, and the Elks were smiling.

Eddy block and this would have driven the Elks out of their hall this week, and would have put them out of business as far as the pow-wow and initiation which they had planned for next week is concerned. But last night, after consultation with Exalted Ruler Logan and the members of the committee of arrangements, Mr. Chaney agreed to defer the start of the work until Wednesday morning. This means that the Elks will be able to go through with their program, which includes, as has been announced, the initiation of a class of about 25 and the entertainment at a banquet and social session of at least 200 of the Best People on Earth. When Mr. Chaney announced that he was willing to inconvenience himself materially for the accommodation of the Elks, there was a broad smile on the face of each member of the committee, and it was voted that and there that Mr. Chaney was as fine a fellow as ever came west from Illinois to grow up with the country. The Elks are now going ahead with their plans more vigorously than ever, and Tuesday's gathering will be the biggest ever held by the local lodge. It will also be the last large meeting held in the present hall and the last big initiation until after the lodge is in its new building. So the Elks are preparing to go home. They hope to get out of the hall before the carpenters come to work Wednesday morning.

N. E. Forsythe, the world's champion buffalo rider and the photographer of Montana's scenic spots, has returned to Missoula and will remain here until the last of the Allard herd is shipped to Canada. Mr. Forsythe has considerable business to look after here in the city, and this will keep him busy for a while, and at the same time he will be able to keep a close watch on the movements of the buffalo people in the reservation country. Mr. Forsythe has found during the winter that his fame as a rider has preceded him wherever he has gone, and that his ride of the charge-bison is a story that has been told and retold in many times and in many forms. It has been a good advertisement of the pictures which he has, and that is enough for him, though he finds his fame is sometimes embarrassing. "I shall remain in Missoula until the last herd is shipped," said Mr. Forsythe yesterday afternoon, "I have taken up my abode at the Shapard and there I shall remain until the movement of the herd calls me to the reservation for what will probably be my last trip there until the opening. Missoula looks fine to me, and I think there will be enough here to keep me busy all the spring. I like this place, and last year it furnished me with an abundance of good material. At the rate the city is growing it will be necessary for me to do a great deal of photography here to keep up."

Ben Dennison is in town from the Saltese district, where he holds down the postmaster's office. EDDY IS BOOMING. says that, while the tunnel has furnished material for a great deal of discussion and comment in the mountains, it has not been of more absorbing interest than the mining development that is in progress about it. "There has been a great deal of important work done this winter in the Saltese district," said Mr. Dennison last night, "but there is none of it that is more important than the work that is being done in the Eddy mines. The Last Chance, the Bryan and the Stillinger properties are showing up in fine shape, but it is the opinion in Saltese that the Eddy is going to be the real big thing in the district. Taken in connection with the strike in the Bryan and the wonderfully rich showing in the Stillinger properties, the ore that has been uncovered in the Eddy property, which is certainly the best in location of any of the mines on that belt, is a showing that warrants the prediction that this will be the greatest property of them all. This opinion is generally held in Saltese and the development of the new Eddy tunnel will be watched with deep interest. There has been a new outfit of equipment sent out to Eddy, and I am told the force will be increased next week so that the lower tunnel can be quickly driven. This will be a great year for Saltese, and the Missoula people who are interested in the Eddy are lucky."

Postmaster Ross has received a letter from the postoffice department at Washington which indicates that the construction work on the federal building will be started this season, though it may be late in the year. The letter is to the effect that the ground will be needed by the government in October and the present tenants will be requested to vacate at that time. It has been hoped that the work might start in July, but it is probable that the increase in the size of the building has made necessary a delay in the preparation of the plans. But the communication indicates that there will be something doing this year, and that the machinery of the government is grinding away at Missoula's proposition.

Look into any of the stores where garden seeds are on sale these days and you will see purchasers selecting their stock. There is the farmer buying his large quantities, there is the city man getting his kitchen garden material, there is the housewife getting her flower garden prepared—all making it evident that, despite the blizzard in Washington, spring is at hand and now is the time to subscribe if you are going to have a garden this year.

The committee on entertainment has been carefully chosen and plans to make it one of the most important social events of the season. Later in the spring another entertainment will be given, the nature of which has not yet been made public. Several committees were appointed and after the conclusion of the business of the day a short social session was enjoyed.

FRANK LANE ARRESTED.

Because he resisted Officer Daniels, who was attempting to take him to jail, Frank Lane, a young man who is well known to the police of the city, is languishing in the prison with several bumps and bruises to show for his strenuousness. It was early this morning when Lane made an assault upon an unknown man in front of the Waldorf saloon on West Front street and knocked the man down. The officer was standing near, and on seeing the blow, started in pursuit of the assailant. He was overtaken in a few minutes and put under arrest. At first he went along quietly, but when within a block of the jail commenced to fight, and several blows from the officer's club and gun were necessary to induce him to proceed.

Pioche, Nev., March 4.—A miner named Savage, discharged from the Boston-Pioche mine for carelessness, today shot and seriously wounded the foreman who discharged him. Cleve Carter is the victim. One bullet entered his abdomen and another lodged in his shoulder. The first perforated the intestines in three places. Savage's dismissal occurred several days ago. He visited the mine this afternoon in company with a man named Miller. Miller was conversing with Carter when Savage opened fire. DISQUALIFY JURORS AT A RAPID RATE

San Francisco, March 4.—Disqualifying prospective jurors at the rate of five an hour, the attorneys engaged in the trial of Patrick Cathoun, president of the United Railroads, exhausted the seventeenth session venire late today without discovering a talesman to occupy the 12th seat in the jury box. When court finally adjourned until tomorrow the record disclosed that 508 citizens out of 1,350 summoned had been actually interrogated at greater or less length, and in this respect the trial has eclipsed the record of Abe Ruef's trial, where peremptory challenges were first exercised at a much earlier stage.

ASKS NATIONAL LAW.

Sacramento, Cal., March 4.—In lieu of an anti-Japanese statute the senate today expressed its views on the subject of Asiatic immigration by the adoption of a committee substitute of the joint resolutions that had been brought before it.

It calls upon congress to enact an Asiatic exclusion law that would keep Japanese as well as Chinese aliens out of the country.

The crew of a freight train at Wilmington reported they had spent the night removing telegraph poles from about 30 miles south of Elkhart.
