CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

Everything is ready for the Red Apple banquet tonight at the Missoula hotel. When the committee ended its day's work last night, Chairman Jim Rhoades declared that the spread tonight will be the most enjoyable that the chamber of commerce has ever held. He says there will be enough apples of the reddest kind to make everybody glad he is a Red Apple disciple. The Missoula chefs have wrought well in the preparation of the dinner and their part of the affair will be satisfactory—that's certain. The sale of tickets yesterday was lively, the snow didn't detract from the interest in the least and there is assurance of a good crowd and a merry one. Chairman Rhoades and Secretary Breitenstein compared notes last night and found that there is yet room for 40 at the banquet board. It is known that there are several who intend to participate who have not bought their tickets and the committee would appreciate it very much if these would get away early today and take their seats. The banquet will begin at 8:30 and it is desired that all tickets be bought by noon if possible. It will avoid confusion and will help out all around.

Sam Beeson has had charge of the preparation of the stunts for the evening and has engaged as the musical stars of the occasion the McCarthy brothers, who in quartette, will lead the vocal music of the evening. Schander's orchestra will live up to the situation with their inspiration and Professor VanHorn will officiate in monologue entertainment, at which he is an artist. Sam has also unearthed a comedy pair, Brown and Duffy, who will make things hum when their call comes. It is expected that a good deal of fun will be secured from these attractions.

Last night's trains brought some of the guests from out of town. George Brown was the first one to arrive; he never misses a Red Apple banquet and he was on the ground floor for this one. "These banquets have made a Red Apple enthusiast out of me," said Mr. Brown last night, "and I enjoy the sensation. I have enjoyed the previous ones and I have come down from Butte tonight with the expectation of enjoying this one to the limit." There are other guests on the way; today's trains will bring the Helena delegation and the visitors from the east side. The reports last night were that the storm was over and that the trains will probably be on time today, so there will be no delay on the score of weather.

J. M. Carnahan and Charles Harnois held a little reunion yesterday morning when the storm was at its height. It takes a suggestion of a storm to start these two on their Dakota reminiscences and yesterday they laughed heartily to hear the little breeze of the morning called a blizzard. "It is a pretty good storm for western Montana," said Mr. Carnahan, "but over this side of the range they don't know what a blizzard is. It is not down to zero this morning and they call it a blizzard. This is no blizzard. If the wind were blowing 10 times as hard as it is and if the temperature were down around 60 below—then they might call it a blizzard." Messrs. Carnahan and Harnois were in Helena together in the early days, before there was a railway, and they say they used to have sleighing parties when the mercury was at 40 below and nobody thought it was very cold. There was no cold weather in that country, they say, until the scale showed 60 below; then folks began to shiver a little. "On a day like this," said Uncle Charlie, "they would be out in linen dusters, rooting at a baseball game."

Speaking of Dakota, A. Hagstad left for the east yesterday and he desired that The Missoulian seek to correct the impression that he was going to Dakota to live on his father's farm. Asked as to where he was going, he said he was going to Helena for a visit with relatives and from there to Minot, N. D., to visit his parents. But he will not remain there very long. He will see the folks for a while and then will go to Salt Lake, where he has a position with the Studebaker people. "I am going to Dakota," he said, "but I am not going to live on the farm."

Y. M. C. A. OUTLOOK PROMISING

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING IS HELD AND COMMITTEE NAMED TO TAKE CHARGE.

Y. M. C. A. Committee.
J. E. Patterson, C. H. McLeod, E. E. Hershey, A. J. Stone, J. M. Evans, F. J. Lusk, J. M. Keith, J. H. T. Ryman, J. H. Inch, H. T. Wilkinson, J. R. Toole, M. J. Elrod and Kenneth Ross.

This is the committee named by the meeting held in the chamber of commerce rooms last evening to consider the feasibility of a Young Men's Christian association and to take charge of the preliminary work. The meeting was well attended and enthusiastic, and gave promise of the final fulfillment of one of Missoula's greatest needs. The meeting was called to order by J. M. Keith, president of the chamber of commerce, who called on Mr. Patterson for a brief review of the history of the Young Men's Christian association movement in Missoula.

Mr. Patterson told of the formation of the association here and the work done by it. He then went on to describe the inadequacy of the quarters which the association occupied at that time and which caused the breaking up of the organization. "We were crowded out," said Mr. Patterson. "The membership was so large and the rooms were so small that we decided to give the work up until we could do it right."

After Mr. Patterson had concluded, Mr. Keith introduced J. A. Goodell, state industrial agent for the national organization, who has been interesting the business men of Missoula in the proposition. Mr. Goodell traced the origin of the association, its spread and work, from the beginning up to the present time. He told of the different departments that had been organized, the aims of each one and the success which had crowned the efforts of the association. He then described the kind of building that he thought Missoula needed, the cost of the building and maintenance. Mr. Goodell said that Missoula needed at least a $100,000 building, and that after it had gotten a start would probably not be satisfied with less than $125,000. The cost of maintenance of the building was placed by him at $3,000, as an institution of this kind has not yet been made absolutely self-supporting. This would include the salaries of a competent physical director, secretary and boys' secretary. Mr. Goodell then described a money-raising campaign which had been carried on in Des Moines, Iowa, and told of the ease with which more money was raised than had been asked for.

Means Much.
After Mr. Goodell had finished his exposition of the plans and purposes of the organization, a general discussion was held and many questions regarding the work were asked. Rev. W. H. Taggart was called on for a few remarks. He said in part:

"In my opinion, the absence of a Young Men's Christian association in Missoula is a reproach to the town. An association of this kind means a great deal to a town, both in a material and in a spiritual way. I think it would be of advantage to every business man in the city, and I wish to state that I will assist the movement in every way that I am able."

Mr. E. E. Hershey was called on next, and after expressing his hearty approval of the contemplated plans, made a motion that committees be appointed to look into the matter thoroughly and get it on a proper working basis. Mr. Goodell's opinion on this step was asked and the plan approved by him. Mr. Keith asked that names for the committee be suggested, and the above mentioned were put on the committee. At this point in the proceedings, Mr. Keith announced the fact that Judge J. M. Evans had telephoned him his regret at not being able to attend the meeting, and had expressed his willingness to contribute $1,000 to the building fund. After the applause had subsided, a vote of thanks was unanimously passed by the meeting, and the secretary instructed to send them to Judge Evans.

Rev. Dwight S. Bayley was then called on for his opinion. His remarks in part were:

"Missoula needs a vigorous, aggressive Young Men's Christian association. The business men do not realize the advantage that would accrue through this movement. I feel a great deal of sympathy for the young man who is working here and has no parental home. The only places that are open to him for entertainment are not conducive to his moral safety. I think it would be of great benefit to the town and will do all in my power to assist the work."

Hearty Accord.
Rev. W. Lennie-Smith made a few remarks on the moral and physical benefit which he thought a Y. M. C. A. would give the town, and expressed himself in hearty accord with the outlined plans.
O. L. Stark, who lately came to Missoula, was then called on for his views on the subject, and expressed his thorough sympathy with the association's work. Mr. Stark comes from Spokane, and spoke of the association and its work in that city in the highest terms. Mr. Stark claims that the Young Men's Christian association has meant a great deal to him, and will to every one that takes hold of it.
At the conclusion of Mr. Stark's remarks the meeting adjourned. The committee had an informal gathering at the close of the session, and decided to have a meeting at 4 o'clock this afternoon to take further action. The calling of the next meeting was left in the hands of the committee.

LAWS INTERPRETED BY COURT

MORE THAN FIFTY DECISIONS ARE HANDED DOWN BY THE SUPREME COURT.

Washington, Feb. 21.—In more than 50 decisions the supreme court today declared many state laws unconstitutional, upholding state laws and gave the federal statutes final interpretation. The state of Minnesota won a complete victory over the Great Northern Railway company and over the Chicago & Great Western railroad, both of which had resisted the state's attempt to levy a 4 per cent gross earning tax.

The state of South Carolina likewise won a victory over railroads when the court adopted the view of the supreme court of South Carolina that the law requiring railroads to pay a penalty of $50 for failure to adjust within 50 days claims for losses applied only to intrastate traffic. The state of Kansas came out victorious in its fight with the Missouri Pacific for the installation of separate passenger trains on a branch road from Madison, Kan., to the Kansas-Missouri state line. It was in this case that the court announced the doctrine that if this passenger train were operated at a loss, the railroad was under a duty to perform such service as long as it retained its charter.

The state of Alabama had its statute of levying an annual franchise tax on foreign corporations declared unconstitutional. Railroads brought the case to the supreme court. The state of Georgia lost in most of its contentions in the attempt despite charter exemptions to levy property and franchise taxes.

SWEETBREAD CUTLETS.

Soak the sweetbreads in salt and water to cleanse them. Plunge them into boiling stock and let them boil rapidly till done. Place them on a platter, and leave them to get cold. Trim off all fat and gristle and mince them with some thick slices of cooked cold ham. For twelve cutlets use the grated rind of one lemon, the white of one egg, and the yolks of two well beaten, a little pepper and salt to taste and two small onions chopped fine; mix well and form into cutlets; egg and breadcrumb them some hours before they are wanted.
