LARGE BREAD LINE

A recent issue of the Chicago Tribune reports 125,000 unemployed men in Chicago, and the situation has become so serious that Mayor Harrison has appointed a commission of representative business men to provide ways and means to meet temporary needs but more especially to study the causes for this annual condition, which is even more acute this winter than in 1907 and 1908, when so many men were idle. Mr. Malcolm McDowell, banker-philanthropist, has maintained a "bread and coffee line" for over 80 days, feeding hundreds of men representing nearly every nationality. It is, however, singular to note that not one Italian has appeared in the line. Any employer of Italian help can tell you why. They save a portion of their wages and deposit it in a bank. In order to meet just such conditions as exist at this time.

Now, at last the day has come; at the polls you'll see things hum; lists are checked, and guesses made; crafty plans are deftly laid; candidates are on the jump; all day long they'll have to hump; every one's the voters' friend; each one's winning till the end; in the morning, sure as sin, every one is bound to win; when the shades of night fall low, in the discard some will go; all can't win and some must lose; we, the people, have to choose; how we exercise our right, the returns will show tonight. Get in line and cast your vote; city interests thus promote; keep your temper all the while; you can well afford to smile; let the other fellow roar; smile right on and don't get sore; smile right on, just smile and wait; let the ballots seal his fate; on election day, you're boss; smile away and don't get cross; in the booth you're all alone; you've cast a vote that's all your own; be a man and cast it right; pick the winners of tonight; don't be fooled by what you hear; form your judgment, calm and clear; name a man you know is straight; early boost for him and late; don't be fooled or gulled a bit; vote and make the right man it. We're the people—ours to call good men to the city hall; we're the people—ours to place all the winners in the race; we're the people—ours to choose who shall fill the mayor's shoes; we're the people—ours to say who shall win election day.

WE, THE PEOPLE

The Man About Town is in receipt of an interesting letter from Alberton. Contained in the communication is information which will, if used intelligently by some body who has experience in the show business, win fame and fortune for the promoter and, at the same time, make Alberton famous as the home of the only original rooster that lays eggs. The writer of the Alberton letter is anxious to be placed in communication with a man who has time and money enough to promote the exhibition of the rare fowl and, perhaps, to develop a new strain of birds which will remove the rooster from his present sphere of inaction and make him a more useful member of the community. Here is the letter: "Dear Sir—I own a chicken ranch one mile west of Alberton and I own a rooster that lays eggs. Now what I want of you is the address of somebody that would be interested in having that fowl. As for me, I am working for the C. M. & St. P. railroad and I haven't time or the location to do anything with it. But it might be quite an object to someone that you know. They can see it at any time at my place and I can prove that it lays, too. Yours truly, Joe Amans."

The Man About Town has sought to interest Uncle Charlie Harnois as the only man in town who combines the theatrical and poultry business, but he says he has no time for any new side line, though he believes there are great possibilities in the proposition. Certainly, it is a chance for some live show man.

"Wanted—Cook. Family of three." That is the way a Missoulian class ad read last week, the address of the advertiser being given in conclusion. There were some quick replies, as is usually the case with The Missoulian class ad, and there were other answers by mail. One of the latter came Saturday night and for a time it puzzled the advertiser not a little. It said: "In reply to your ad, will say I can fill the place if work and price are agreeable. I am on the square. Forty years old and I can fill the bill as I have a family of three. I have a wife and two children, an 11-year old girl and 8-year-old boy. Send reply to this station and state what you want done. Yours fraternally, P. S."

I am just from Illinois. When the advertiser had studied it over, he looked over his advertisement again. Then he saw that the ad read "family of three" and he understood. But, notwithstanding the pleasant offer, the advertiser has concluded that he will not accept the proposition to adopt a family of three. But the class ad worked—he is satisfied of that.

Ex-Postmaster Ross lost no time in getting to work when he retired from office. The day after he turned over the keys to his successor at the mail-dispensing job, Mr. Ross hired an office and the day after that he was on the job. Hard work seems to agree with him and it is suspected that he has been taking exercise in preparation for the change, else he would not and could not adapt himself so readily to the new conditions.

Mr. Ross has his office with H. T. Wilkinson in the Duncan block and is swinging into the real estate and loan business with insurance as a natural attachment. This is the business which Mr. Ross followed for a long time before he assumed the official position which he filled so creditably. He has swung back into the saddle with grace and ease and is ready to do business with promptness and dispatch. "It seems good," said he to the Man About Town. "There will be less grief than there was with the other job—that's certain. And if anybody thinks this is harder work than running the post-office, it is because he doesn't know much about the postoffice business. Come around and see me."

Fred Stoddard, whose smiling countenance has beamed through the front window of the north half of the Postal Telegraph company's Missoula office for some time, to the illustration of the street and the joy of the passersby, has gone up. Saturday Mr. Stoddard moved his office upstairs to room 25 in the Higgins block and if you want to see him smile, you will have to take a ride in the elevator; his radiance will not be diffused as generally as it has been but it will be all the more brilliant for being confined to the four walls of an upstairs office. Mr. Stoddard will handle the business of the Missoula Building and Loan association in his new quarters and in connection will conduct a general real estate and loan business. "I shall be just as glad to see my friends upstairs in the new office as I was in the old place," said Mr. Stoddard to the Man About Town, "and it isn't a long trip to ride up here. The elevator is working finely and the door is never locked."

MERCHANT RETURNS FROM THE EAST.

D. J. DONOHUE HOME FROM HIS BUYING TRIP AND THINKS CONDITIONS BETTER.

D. J. Donohue returned to Missoula yesterday morning after an extended trip through the east. During his absence Mr. Donohue visited New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. This was his annual trip through the east for the purpose of doing his spring buying. Mr. Donohue stated that the weather in the east was very bad.

"I left Chicago in the worst blizzard I have ever seen," said Mr. Donohue. "We arrived in Missoula 12 hours late. The past winter has been the coldest that Chicago has experienced during the past 50 years. All through the east and middle west the winter has been severe."

"Business conditions are vastly improved over what they were when I went east last spring. Everyone is more hopeful of the future. While the big manufacturers are not doing anything more than keeping up with their orders, they feel that conditions are gradually improving and are making a larger output. The stock market, which, to my mind, is the best barometer on business, has improved greatly and on the whole the outlook for the coming year is far from bad."

SUSPECTED.

LETTERS ARE MAILED URGING ATTENDANCE

The Rally-Day-Dollar-Dinner, which the chamber of commerce will give at the Palace hotel Wednesday evening, promises to be a very successful affair. Secretary Breitenstein has mailed many letters requesting a good attendance at the dinner. A fine program of short talks has been lined up for the occasion. The chamber of commerce desires to round up all of its own members and other business men and citizens at this meeting and the prospects are for a good attendance. The dinner will be held at 6:30 so as to make it convenient for everyone to attend the feast.

MRS. MOYLE FOUND DEAD IN ROOM

DEATH OF SALTESE WOMAN IS THOUGHT TO HAVE RESULTED FROM FOUL PLAY.

Mrs. William Moyle of Saltese was found dead in her bedroom at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Pete Peterson was the man who discovered the body. There is a strong suspicion that Mrs. Moyle met her death through foul play. Her neck was purple and, while no investigation could be made until the coroner arrived, it is thought that the discoloration and marks on her neck were caused by human hands and that she met her death through strangulation. Mrs. Moyle had recently applied for a divorce from her husband.

Peterson, the man who discovered the body, says that he went down to the Moyle residence about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon and rang the bell. No one answered and he rapped on the door. He still received no response and then he tried the door. It was unlocked and he walked in. He called, but there was no answer. He looked in Mrs. Moyle's bedroom and saw her lying on the floor near the bed. He then rushed out and notified the Saltese authorities. The windows and doors in the house were unlocked. At the rear of the house a window had been broken out and footprints could be traced in the snow to the front of the dwelling.

Mrs. Moyle was formerly Mrs. George Wolcott of Missoula and has been married to William Moyle for about a year. She recently applied for divorce and since that time has expressed a fear that her husband would murder her. She recently told a Saltese man that she was afraid to live alone as her husband could come in and murder her and then get away without anyone knowing about it. People who saw her Saturday said that she seemed to be in the best of health. She went to a dance Saturday night and was escorted home by a Saltese man about 5 o'clock in the morning. Coroner Marsh and Sheriff Kelley were notified over the telephone and left on the Olympian last evening for the scene of the tragedy. Mrs. Moyle was in Missoula a few days ago to see about the burial of her former husband, who died in Warm Springs. She appeared to be in good health and spirits. Mr. Moyle is thought to be in Butte, where he is interested in a brokerage firm.

M'CORMICK IS BACK FROM WOODLIN

DEPUTY GAME WARDEN RE-PORTS A SUCCESSFUL TRIP WITH CAR OF ELK.

Deputy State Game Warden McCormick returned to Missoula yesterday from Woodlin, where he superintended the unloading of the 42 elk shipped here from the Yellowstone national park. Speaking of the trip, Mr. McCormick said:

"It was an absolute success in every way and it demonstrates conclusively that the elk can be transported by railway on through trains and be brought to their destination in good condition. The railway company delayed us nine hours, but at that we only lost two small calves out of the 42 head in the car. If we had arrived on schedule time, we would not have lost an animal. The unloading was accomplished in less than three-quarters of an hour. We did it at night when there wasn't a chance for a crowd to gather. We had absolutely no trouble. A couple of cows refused to come out from the car for a while, but they finally became tractable. It shows that it was the crowds that made the unloading so difficult before. We employed the same methods used at Hamilton and they were absolutely successful."
