

HORSES ARE SHIPPED TO SEATTLE

BUYER FROM THE COAST PURCHASES ANIMALS FROM BITTER ROOT STOCK FARM.

Hamilton, May 11.—(Special).—The Bitter Root stock farm shipped 18 draft horses to Seattle today. The horses were purchased by L. B. Loomis, owner of the Westlake stables of Seattle, and an extensive horse dealer. This is the third carload of horses purchased this spring from the stock farm by Mr. Loomis, who supplies a large trade in Victoria and Alaska. The horses making up the carload shipped today are as fine specimens of horseflesh as one could wish to see, the bunch attracting considerable attention while in the local stockyards this forenoon.

In commenting this morning on the horse industry on the stock farm, Manager C. A. Crawford stated that they would have as fine a bunch of horses next year as could be found anywhere. The management of the farm is at present making a specialty of heavy horses, a decided change from the racing stable days of Marcus Daly, and has this season purchased two of the finest draft stallions ever brought into the western country. If one wants to see an excellent bunch of young horses a visit to the Steele ranch, a part of the stock farm, will satisfy his curiosity.

BUILDING FOOD. To Bring the Babies Around.

When a little human machine for a large one goes wrong, nothing is so important as the selection of food to bring it around again.

"My little boy fifteen months old had pneumonia, then came brain fever, and no sooner had he got over these than he began to cut teeth and, being so weak, he was frequently thrown into convulsions," says a Colorado mother.

"I decided a change might help, so took him to Kansas City for a visit. When we got there he was so very weak when he would cry he would sink away and seemed like he would die."

"When I reached my sister's home she said immediately that we must feed him Grape-Nuts and, although I had never used the food, we got some and for a few days just gave him the juice of Grape-Nuts and milk. He got stronger so quickly we were soon feeding him the Grape-Nuts itself and in a wonderfully short time he fattened right up and became strong and well."

"That showed me something worth knowing and, when later on my little girl came, I raised her on Grape-Nuts and she is a strong, healthy baby and has been. You will see from the little photograph I send you what a strong, chubby youngster the boy is now, but he didn't look anything like that before we found this nourishing food. Grape-Nuts nourished him back to strength when he was so weak he couldn't keep any other food on his stomach." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

All children can be built to a more sturdy and healthy condition upon Grape-Nuts and cream. The food contains the elements nature demands, from which to make the soft gray filling in the nerve centers and brain. A well fed brain and strong, sturdy nerves absolutely insure a healthy body.

The local relay team grabbed second honors in the relay race, an honor which does not show in the official score of the meet as the relay race does not count for points. PUBLICITY SCHEME WORKS FINE

THROUGH EFFORTS OF SECRETARY BREITENSTEIN MUCH "DOPE" IS BEING USED.

"Municipal Development," a monthly magazine devoted to all subjects which are essential to the development of a community, has written the chamber of commerce asking that association for an article telling of the business end of its work. This communication received yesterday says:

"We have read with interest in an eastern periodical of the splendid work the Missoula Chamber of Commerce has been doing in the way of exploiting your section of the state by having land show exhibits in New York and St. Paul, and as a club to do all you are doing must have a pretty good membership roll, we would appreciate very much if you will write us an article of 1,000 words telling us how you carry on your membership campaigns, as the clubs all over the country are particularly interested in building up their membership. Tell us how your campaign was conducted, the results, and how they were obtained; also, please send cuts or photographs that would interest our readers. We would like this for our July number, and we hope you will comply with our request."

Secretary Breitenstein will prepare the story at once and forward it to the editors of "Municipal Development."

Splendid Publicity.

The Missoula Chamber of Commerce has been exceptionally fortunate in having so much of its publicity matter printed in the different magazines and newspapers lately—publications that are read by the class of people whom all the western communities are trying to get in touch with. The matter sent out from the chamber of commerce is along the same lines as that contained by regular booklets and is never written except with the viewpoint of telling of the advantages and natural resources of the territory tributary to Missoula. Just recently, through Mr. Breitenstein's efforts, the Minneapolis Journal printed a long story of western Montana, from which already a great many people have written the chamber showing an interest in the nearby sections and intimating that they expect to come out and look over conditions.

"The National Daily News," a Washington, D. C. daily, has just been supplied with a number of photos and articles on "See America First," the different produce weeklies, the "New York Produce News" and the "Chicago Packer" accept weekly reports of crop conditions sent them by the chamber of commerce, "Better Fruit," the world's greatest and best horticulture publication, has already used several articles, and "The National Irrigation Journal" likewise has had several splendidly illustrated stories about the rich and fruitful valleys adjacent to Missoula. "Opportunity," a Chicago publication, and "The Live Wire," published at Buffalo, both devoted to the municipal, commercial and industrial development of the United States, have recently requested and been supplied with long articles telling of development theory and practice as carried on in the great northwest and especially in western Montana.

"These articles in the different publications are done through creative efforts," said Mr. Breitenstein, "and the work takes a great deal of time and searching through records to make a proper and interesting story. The proper matter must be of such a nature that the reader will understand the main purpose, which is, that we wish to secure people to develop our natural resources, people to come into our districts as farmers, fruitgrowers, dairymen, workers, and homebuilders; men and women to come and be prepared to work and work hard, and who do not expect to become rich and lazy, but lead a healthy life and secure a moderate return for their labor and efforts. These are results that we can be attained in any country in the world."

Through this publicity work the chamber is receiving an increased number of inquiries daily concerning this section of Montana. Such inquiries have increased 50 per cent since the chamber made its exhibit at the New York land show last fall. As an example of how the people of the east have been interested in this section through the chamber there has been 75 letters received in which the writers ask for detailed information about Missoula and the surrounding valleys, up to yesterday. For many weeks the average has been better than 200 per month. This is considered a splendid result. It is bound to bear good fruit.

METHODISTS INVITE WILLIAMS EVIDENCE

BILLY SUNDAY IS DENIED

FAMOUS EVANGELIST TO SPEAK AT OPENING MEETING IN MINNEAPOLIS.

PROMOTER SAYS HE GAVE JUDGE ARCHBOLD COMMISSION VOLUNTARILY.

Washington, May 11.—John Henry Jones of Scranton, Pa., a promoter, denied today before the house judiciary committee investigating charges of misconduct against Judge Robert W. Archbald of the commerce court, the testimony of Edward J. Williams, that the jurist had given Jones a note for $500 for a share in an option on Venezuelan timber lands.

Jones said that the $500 note was endorsed by Judge Archbald "out of the fullness of his heart" to help him to promote the deal; that the jurist never had an interest in the option and that he made the judge a present of $250 later out of a $500 commission he made in the sale of a culm bank.

Jones said he gave Judge Archbald half of his commission because the latter had favored him in endorsing the note which figures in the testimony, as the note which W. P. Boland and his brother, who brought the charges against the judge, refused to discount.

The hearing will be resumed next Monday.

The committee called upon W. A. May, superintendent of the Erie railroad road coal properties, to produce all correspondence in his possession bearing on the negotiations made by Williams and Judge Archbald for the Katydish culm banks or any property, believing that transactions not yet revealed may be discovered.
