GRAND COUNTY.

Prescott Courier:

Prescott needs an irrigation works, a decision in the water works lease injunction case, a tannery, more Democratic money, leaders who do not want the earth with lease on the moon, a few pounds of genuine ranch butter to be used as an exhibit at the mining exchange, a process to reject the dark lantern brigade from the court house, and other things.

COCHISE.

Prospector: William Busby, one of the oldest settlers on the San Pedro, was up from St. David today and informed the Prospector that his son, John Busby, yesterday struck water in his artesian well at a depth of 280 feet. This is the 11th well sunk in this vicinity, and each are giving forth an undiminished flow, and tends to show that the industry applied to further explorations of the artesian area hereabouts is being extended and the water question is becoming solved.

MOHAVE.

Mohave Miner: Representatives of an English syndicate are expected in Kingman within the next few days, whose object is the purchase of a group of mines on the Colorado river, in the western part of this county. The mines are gold properties, on which considerable work has been done and for which a price in the six figures has been asked. If the report is favorable the syndicate will put in one of the largest plants in Arizona for the reduction of the ores from the mines.

YUMA.

Tucson Citizen: A rumor was current upon the streets this morning that a man, supposedly a tramp, met with accidental death at Wilcox. He had been down to sleep alongside the railroad track and was suddenly awakened by the noise of an approaching train. In his bewildered half-awake condition he stepped on the track immediately in front of the train and was instantly killed. Further particulars could not be ascertained.

A Book for Young Men.

An immeasurable amount of suffering and injury to the human race is due to the ignorant violation of physiological laws by the youth of our land. Rupture, prostration, are indulged in, through ignorance of the inevitable injury to constitution and health which surely follows. By every young man, the divine injunction, "Know Thyself," should be well heeded. To assist such in acquiring a knowledge of themselves and of how to preserve health, and to show those pernicious and most destructive practices, to which so many fall victims, as well as to reclaim and point out the means of relief and cure to any who may unwittingly have violated Nature's laws, and are already suffering the dire consequences, an association of medical gentlemen have carefully prepared a little book which is replete with useful information to every young man. It will be sent to any address, securely sealed from observation in a plain envelope, by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of 693 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y., or receipt of ten cents in stamps (for postage) if enclosed with this notice.

DEVOURING FLAMES.

The Rink Destroyed by Fire—A Serious Loss to Globe. People living in the central part of town were startled Friday night, shortly before 10 o'clock, by pistol shots and the glare in the heavens revealed the cause of the alarm. The rink was on fire! Within a few moments the whole structure was in flames, which leaped forty feet into the air and flamed the town for several blocks around. The building being frame, and very dry, was rapidly consumed. Within half an hour after the fire started there was nothing left but a great bed of glowing embers, giving forth heat and there a siff of flames.

A small frame house adjoining the rink on the east was also destroyed. It was owned by A. R. Young and was valued at about $200. Only the absence of a wind prevented a conflagration which might have consumed a third of the town. Even as it was, the spread of the flames was narrowly averted.

The fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp. Seven or eight persons, practicing for a musical performance, were seated on the stage and had thoughtlessly placed a large Rochester hanging lamp or a kerosene lamp. Setting the lamp down out of the draught, which was through the door, it fell, and the consequence was its being overturned and exploded. It was a piece of carelessness justly punishable—Globe Silver Bell.

The Zetate Society had a very appropriate memorial day program at their regular meeting last night which was enjoyed by the goodly number present.

Judge O. O. Smith received by express this morning a beautiful floral wreath and another box of handsome flowers with which to decorate the grave of Hardy Atkinson. Hardy was a member of Company C, N. G. A. and while the boys mingle with their soldier friends today in paying their respects to the country's departed heroes many tender hearts will recall the tragic and untimely end of this departed comrade and as they gaze at his mortal remains placed with beautiful flowers, renew the happy remembrance of his genial nature and sigh for the lost but not forgotten.

Mr. Z. A. Harris has touched a tender chord in the public by placing an obelisk and drinking fountain in front of his popular resort on the corner. Tempe has obtained a widespread reputation as being a place where it is almost impossible to get a cool drink without paying liberally for it. Many people do not like to ask a bartender for water and many people prefer water to anything else when they are thirsty. Mr. Harris proposes to furnish water to those who want it and the natural inference is that those who seek more exhilarating inspiration will seek inside and have the sharp edge taken off their appetites.

LONDON, May 30.—The Secretary of State for the colonies, Joseph Chamberlain, has received the following dispatch from the British agent at Proctoria: "All prisoners have been released except the four leaders. The latter are being considered for release. Fine and punishment in lieu of payment remain, and bailment remains, but it is suspended on agreement that the prisoners will not interfere with the politics of the republic."

Great deal of pain and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by druggists.

Mesa City Notes.

From Monday's Daily.

In spite of the hot weather the busy harvesters are merrily at work.

We noticed the smiling features of Thomas Flanagan the Phoenixian strolling in town today. Tommy seems to bear his last illness lightly and has not forgotten his old home and Mesa companions.

Wednesday morning the sad news reached us of the death of Lucretia, youngest daughter of William Christman. The little one was bitten to the neck by a scorpion while sleeping. After painful suffering of ten hours she expired. Funeral took place Thursday afternoon. The bereaved family has our sympathy.

We were informed yesterday that some one removed two bales of focuss wire from the field of M. A. B. Ullman. The man that stole the bales will please arise and explain.

Wanted to exchange or trade, an upright piano, bass patent, for a couple of boyles. For further particulars enquire of (Mike) Foster, Ocker's Winery, Mesa City.

During a paucity in the east end of two we met a prospector bound for the prosperous mining camp of Goldfield. He had a contraption aboard his mule he called a dry-washer. It was a rather bulky looking machine and in the vocabulary of the stranger it was much for "flashability," but all right for durability. I don't always take a United States Senator to mind a word. Failing to find the word "flashability" in Webster's Unabridged, we batted up an old Haysian answer and we got the requisite information.

Heracles called the irresponsible Propositionist, called on us today and made a few prophecies. Heracles says the Spring-town contingent are patiently awaiting orders from headquarters. The "jack" people are strictly fit it this warm weather.

From Monday's Daily.

J. R. More, the discoverer of the Mammoth mine at Goldfield informs us that he has made a rich strike.

The Woodman held their regular meeting Thursday night.

J. D. McQuarrie called on us a few days ago.

The Mesa Milling Company have their new warehouse completed and are ready to receive grain. From what we could learn they expect to run the mill steadily.

Mrs. Alfred Tripple, of Florence, is visiting friends here.

Mr. Kimball informs us that the new working shaft on the Mammoth is down sixty feet and the shaft house is almost completed. The mill is running steady day and night on Bull Dog ore. There are about forty miners at work on the Mammoth.

The Good Templars gave an ice cream social Friday night. Notwithstanding that there was a dance going on at the same time at the night C. O. P. hall there was quite a crowd.

The Peterson Bros., who are harvesting their grain, headed one hundred acres in three days last week. They still have eleven hundred acres to head.

Mr. Williams brought in about ten pounds of ore from his last discovery near the White Pouch. Mrs. Assaya from cropping run away up in gold. This morning informs us that the ledge is about three feet wide and can be traced for several hundred yards. The rock is full mill.

THE PHOENIX GUN CLUB.

A Field Day with a Good Time and Large Success.

The Phoenix Gun Club recently invited a few cranks to join them in a field after the feathered fliers, and more especially the doves and Snore penguins which are in the city. They very fine game birds, coming from the south about May 15, and leaving about Sept. 15, nearly as large as an ordinary pigeon and of the same flight, which of course appeals to every lover of wing shooting. In the field, Kimball and Henry Fowler were selected as captains of the respective sides and soon their chain was made.

Captain Kimball of the Rainmakers, selected Pierce Evans, and Captain Fowler of the Hair Trigger Squad selected Graham, who with R. C. Lowell, a non-combatant, with only a rifle for protection, as committee to search the contestants for extra cartridges or bird life, and with good results as later events showed. Each contestant was allowed 100 shots which were well kept in the case of Mr. Lowell of Prescott who had a machine gun and it is confidently asserted that with 40 cartridges he shot at 500 birds, all of which escaped but 10, for, when he would go through the operation of firing, his firelock would fail to explode, the cap, then Mr. Lowell would make a remark and the boys finally said he would have killed many with a soda water popper at 100. About this time, Holmes, who had his gun in good trim, loaned it to him and the result was unusually favorable.

After the bug had been sounded and the score settled by a handsome majority in favor of the Rainmakers, Mr. George Washington Andrew Jackson, looking over the Evans and Lowell, who was looking around for watermelon patches, and then remarks with the protection afforded by Committee man Evans' gun and some cartridges that had escaped the search, let off a prospecting shot which landed mostly in L. Fowler's side and neck; about 60 shot striking him; which under the immediate cure of Dr. Diwinnell, of the Hair Trigger, and surgeon of the gun club, will prove only a few days inconvenience.

Interesting Paragraphs.

From Saturday's Daily.

A sad death from the bite of a scorpion is reported from Mesa City a couple of days ago. While sleeping Tuesday night the little child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Crisman, living near Mesa City, was bitten on the neck by a scorpion. The bite caused the little one much pain and the neck immediately began to swell. Medical attendance was secured as soon as possible but nothing could be done to relieve the little sufferer and on Wednesday, after suffering excruciating agony for twelve hours, death came to his relief. Mr. Crisman is in charge of the steam dredger for the Consolidated canal and is well and favorably known in this valley by many people who extend to the family their heartfelt sympathy.

The sad news was received yesterday by Manager Honnell of the M. & P. road that his father had died at the old home at Cullisburg, Kentucky, not that he had been buried yesterday. Mr. Honnell had journeyed to his home a couple of weeks ago to see his father, who was then dangerously ill, but after a few days at home the physicians had thought that the sick man would at least partially recover and that there was no immediate danger, and he had returned to Phoenix to look after his business interests, expecting to be again summoned about his father's recovery. Death came too suddenly for such summons and the bereaved son was not allowed the privilege of receiving the last blessing from his father. The many friends of Mr. Honnell in this city extend to him their heartfelt sympathy.

By request of Governor Franklin, Hon. G. W. P. Hunt, of G. O. B., will act as Immigration Commissioner of that county without remuneration. Governor Franklin desires all the information obtainable on the resources of the various counties of the Territory for his annual report, and as the counties have decided that the Immigration Commission law is invalid he must depend upon patriotic citizens of the various counties to compile the information desired. Mr. Hunt, who is both patriotic and loyal, will serve his county and the Governor without remuneration.

Governor Franklin this afternoon sent to Sheriff Orme a notice to Col. M. H. Those of our business men who have been interested in making Central Avenue a comfort and pleasure to the people of the city who enjoy a drive or ride on their wheels, are very much encouraged. They have been working for the past month securing contributions to pay for sprinkling that road and to repair the bridges, but they have met with but little success. There is some four hundred dollars still wanting to pay for keeping that road up for the next year, and unless it is authorized nothing can be done, and the only road in the valley which is a pleasant drive-way will be allowed to become as the other roads of the valley are. Every man who owns a horse or a bicycle should pay his pro rata toward keeping that road up.

Whitehurst, who in pursuit of her ambition—being in a girl of her age to put $75 of her very own in the Abbey fund, from offering personally for sale the "Broadway Round-Trip" that was being played by the Sixth Battalion band, and is fast becoming popular. "She says she wrote it herself," said a customer with a smile of amused incredulity which, however, changed at once into a gleam of wonder and respect on learning from the chance passerby that the dance-inspired melody was but a trifle from the pen of a young girl who has given to two of our best city choirs some of the most elaborate music they have brought out the present season.

Let us recommend our readers to read upon the above offering for sale the "Broadway Round-Trip" by Miss Stella Whitehurst until there is not a couple left unaided. The ambition of the young author to put its entire proceeds in the Battle Abbey fund is so admirable that we would do what we can to forward it. Moreover the composition is, we are assured by dancers, as "catchy" and dance-inspiring as Sousa's "Washington Post," and can one say more?
