ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.

J. R. Robinson was joined by his family from Las Vegas last Tuesday.

Frank Clark, better known as Dad Clark, died at the Sister Hospital Tuesday of last week. He served in the war of the Rebellion and was a pensioner. He was an old timer in this vicinity.

Mrs. John Reynolds the Las Vegas woman, who had her head split open with a hatchet by her zealous husband, John Reynolds, died last week. He languishes in the county jail with a charge of murder against him.

J. D. Lott, a teacher from St. Louis arrived last week and will make his home with his nephew, Rev. W. T. Thornton.

Albuquerque is not exactly on a boom but houses are continually going up in every part of the city and real estate increasing in value. We would advise our people to make investments before it gets out of their reach. We also notice that it is getting more difficult for us to rent a house in a decent locality. Buy now and be your own landlord.

T. K. Lawers, who was called to Baltimore, Md., on account of the illness and death of his mother, returned last Saturday.

Mrs. W. Anderson of Phoenix, Ariz., and Albert McClain of this city, were married last Sunday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Cornell, Rev. Reynolds officiating. The contracting parties are well known in this city. Mr. McClain has lived here about a year and he has proven to be an enterprising and progressive citizen and is popular with a wide circle of friends. Mrs. McClain is held in high esteem by all at her home and will be missed from among them.

The announcement of a call meeting last Friday night at the A. M. E. Church for the purpose of organizing a literary was a success. It was organized with Rev. Byas, chairman; Miss Jasper, secretary; Miss Black, treasurer; K. C. Penman, sergeant-at-arms; Rev. Jones, chaplain. Refreshments were served and those present enjoyed themselves.

BOISE, IDAHO.

Boise is still in the lead with beautiful weather.

Mrs. E. Washington is suffering with an abscess on the eye.

The Ladies Club gave a neck tie social at the home of Mrs. R. B. Smith Thursday evening of last week.

Right Way to Open a New Book.

If books were rightly treated when they were newly bound there would be less likelihood of their backs being broken afterward by rough handling. The covers should be opened one at a time, and laid as far back as the table upon which the book is resting; then gradually all the leaves, a few at the back and a few at the front of the book, should be laid upon the covers. The book will then be in condition for ordinary wear and the covers will not break away if not abused. When called suddenly away from a book which you are reading do not lay it face down on a table nor throw a handkerchief between its leaves, but have a book marker handy and place it between the leaves, closing the book.

Voted With Colored Servants.

Rev. Dr. Alexander Mackay Smith, Episcopalian bishop coadjutor of Pennsylvania, went out early in Philadelphia and voted. He went over to the polling place in company with three negroes and left again in their company. None had on his hat, not even the bishop. The bishop is a Republican and a Roosevelt man. His three negro servants are also. The bishop suggested that they all go over together and the blacks seemed pleased. The polling place was in a little cigar store and the advent of Dr. Smith with three blacks and no hat surprised the judges for a moment. The blacks voted first and the bishop brought up the end of the line.

A Mild Question That Soothed.

In one of the parlor cars of a train wending its way to this city a man who looked the typical "sport" was making himself obnoxious and all the other passengers uncomfortable by the continuity and senselessness of his "kicks." He had the porter in every few minutes to complain about something. That was bad enough, but at length he grew profane. It seemed as if any attempt to check the flow of his evil language must lead to a fight. A benevolent-looking old man who sat next to him proved, however, that a mild question as well as a mild answer will turn away wrath. Just after the "sport" had indulged himself in another violent outburst of profanity the old man bestowed upon him a gentle glance through his gold-rimmed spectacles, and with the utmost gravity drawled out the innocent inquiry:

"Say, my brother, where do you preach to-morrow?"

A roar of laughter went up from the car, the "sport" himself had to grin, and the rest of the journey to the city was made in peace and quiet.

NEW SUBSCRIPTION (FOURTH) EDITION OF

"THE SOULS OF BLACK FOLK"

By PROF. WILLIAM E. BURGHARDT DuBOIS

Since the publication of this remarkable book about a year ago, Dr. Dubois has been hailed by press and public as the most eloquent advocate of the spiritual rights of his people that has yet come forward. His regular occupation is that of professor of economics and history at Atlanta University. His education was acquired at Harvard University, Fisk University and the University of Berlin. Nature has endowed him with a pen literally dipped in fire and a more impassioned plea for the cause of the race has never been written.

"It is one of the best books ever written in defence of the Negro's position on the policy of submission and surrender, which is now a popular fad among worshippers of Mammon in black skins."—Progressive American, New York.
