The Proposed Congress.

The London Morning Post, of the 22d, publishes the following telegram:—"A meeting was held, May 21—It is definitely arranged that the representatives of France, England, and Russia on the one hand, and Austria, Prussia, and Italy on the other, will assemble at the Foreign Ministry in Paris, under the presidency of M. Drouyn de Lhuys, for formally opening the Conference convened for the purpose of solving practically the questions pending between Austria and Prussia, concerning the E. de Duchies and the reform of the German Confederation, and between Austria and Italy relative to the Venetian question."

A telegram in the Post also says:—"It is reported that Lord Cowley, the British Ambassador at Paris, will shortly proceed to Vienna."

SLIM PROSPECTS OF A PACIFIC RESOLUTION.

The London Morning Herald, of the 22d, says:—"Neither Congress nor Conference can settle the question for the determination of which a million and a half of men will be sent into the field. It may adjourn the war; that is the utmost it can do, unless indeed, one or the other of the combatants becomes exhausted under the burden of its preparations."

The Morning Star considers that something is gained if the Continental powers have consented to look before they leap—perhaps, however, when they have looked, they may think the leap unavoidable.

INFLUENCE OF LOUIS NAPOLEON.

The London Times of the 22d says:—"The Emperor of the French, who is in earnest opposition to war, and will take a definite and intelligible course immediately against the first aggressor on his breaking out, would have more effect in the deliberation of any European Congress. We have no doubt that he possessed the power and he chose to use it to prevent the storm, and it may be questioned whether it has not now acquired dimensions which even his skill is unable to subdue."

THE POLICY OF FRANCE.

The Paris Constitutionnel of the 22d publishes an article headed "The Peaceful Policy of the Empire," in which it states that the French Government has taken the initiative for a collective step on the part of France, England, and Russia. The Constitutionnel adds:—"Diplomatic communications are being carried on between the three Governments, and the French take the most active part in the matter. It may be said that the French Government has taken the initiative for a collective step on the part of France, England, and Russia.
