

HEARTRENDING AFFAIR.

A Husband Throws Burning Benzine Upon His Wife's Clothing—Five Hours of Intense Agony, and then Death.

On Saturday evening last, says the Cleveland Herald, occurred one of the most frightful cases of burning to death which it is possible to imagine.

The mother, who was out of doors at the time, hearing the cries of her child, hastened to the house. The father in turning around either touched his candle to the fluid in the vessel or dropped a spark upon it, when it broke out in a fearful blaze.

Two gentlemen hearing the cries from the street and seeing the flames ran to her assistance, but before they could render any aid every particle of carbon from her body had been consumed, except a small hand passing around her waist.

SOHENCK'S COLUMN.

A SIMPLE ACCOUNT

OF THE DISCOVERY AND WONDERFUL EFFECTS OF DR. SOHENCK'S GREAT PULMONIC REMEDIES.

If a man were asked why he insured his life, the question would be regarded as a very simple one and scarcely requiring an answer. For the reason that the advantages of life insurance are so universally admitted that to doubt its utility would be to fly in the very face of reason and common sense.

If consumption were not a disease as insidious as it is fatal, and if it were, as is asserted by the medical faculty generally, incurable, there would be an apology for consumptives who, day after day and year after year, refuse to heed the warning given by a hacking cough, a hectic cheek, cold and clammy night-sweats, and other distressing symptoms, which are the almost certain forerunners of despatched pulmonary disease, and which, when thoroughly ingrafted into the system, can be removed only by the use of special remedies and the observance of precautions the very opposite of those usually given by physicians.

Many years ago these thoughts suggested themselves to the mind of Dr. JOSEPH H. SOHENCK, now of Philadelphia, but at the time of which we speak a resident of New Jersey. Himself a confirmed consumptive, and with little or no hope of recovery, but with sufficient love of life to prompt him to make an effort to live, he patiently and thoughtfully applied himself to the scientific study of the disease which was silently, but nevertheless surely, bearing him to the grave.

THE BEST MEDICAL attendance had been secured. Remedy after remedy was prescribed, but all in vain. The ruthless disease continued its fast hold upon him, and he was sent to Moorestown, N. J., to die. The last vestige of hope had faded away. His friends, who from time to time visited him, bade him farewell, never again expecting to see him alive. But Dr. Sohenck, ill as he was, and hopeless as seemed his case, did not give up. He sought for a remedy, and he found it. He believed that God had not sent diseases

WITHOUT PROVIDING REMEDIES, and, through friends and visitors, continued to make unceasing inquiries for certain herbs and roots, the virtues of which he suspected had been satisfactorily proved in cases of pulmonary disease. His patience and perseverance were at length rewarded. The long-sought

HERBS AND ROOTS were obtained. The preparations of these were crude and simple, but their healing qualities were present notwithstanding. He took them regularly, adopted a system of plain but nutritious diet, remained in his chamber, avoided draughts of cold air, and kept his doors to as great an extent as his impaired strength would allow, and in a little while a change for the better was perceptible. The cough subsided, the clogged lungs and bronchial tubes were now freely and easily expectorated.

APETITE RESTORED, and with it came strength and cheerfulness of mind. Cough, fever, night sweats, and pains began to leave him. Friends beheld the change with amazement; his wasted limbs regained their former plumpness, his emaciated classic and firm, and the happy result was that he

WAS RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH, and is to-day a man advanced in years, but hale, hearty, and strong, and weighing over two hundred and twenty-five pounds. Deeply impressed with the wonderful cure that had been wrought, and thankful for his narrow escape from certain death, he resolved to apply his remedy to the most afflicted, and devote the remainder of his days to efforts to alleviate the sufferings of his fellow-creatures. As would be natural, his principal attention was directed to the subject of Pulmonary Diseases. The most eminent physicians in the country had assured him that CONSUMPTION COULD NOT BE CURED, and that he, being a consumptive, need die! Yet there he was, a living, breathing refutation of the assertions of these learned men. He that was given up as the hopeless victim of the most dreaded of all diseases stood up before the world.

A STOUT, STRONG MAN, and such he is to-day, though thirty-five years have elapsed since his miraculous restoration to health. "The medicine that cured me will certainly cure others. Why should not others be rescued from a premature grave as I have been? Why should not the healing virtues of roots and herbs that saved my life save the lives of thousands of my fellow-beings, who are the victims of consumption?" Thus reasoned Dr. Sohenck as he applied himself to the preparation of his remedies. After years of experiment he succeeded in perfecting his PULMONIC SYRUP in a form so attractive and so palatable to the taste that patients take it readily for one period without becoming nauseated by it. Hearing of his remarkable cure, hundreds and thousands of patients flocked to him for advice and medicine. These were supplied, and to-day there are many healthy men and women living who owe their health and strength wholly to

DR. SOHENCK'S MEDICINES. Not content with a single remedy, Dr. Sohenck applied the valuable knowledge he had gained to the preparation of others. It became necessary that the Pulmonic Syrup should have an assistant in its great work of restoring the system. While it drove out the impurities, new and good blood was wanted. This could be secured only by maintaining the digestive organs in perfect condition. To accomplish this

AN ACTIVE LIVER was essential. With this important organ in a torpid state, healthful digestion was impossible, and without healthful digestion, no healthy blood could be formed. Hence it was that Dr. Sohenck experimented with his now

FAMOUS MANDRAKE PILLS. The experiments were satisfactory. He found that they exercised an almost magical influence upon the liver and stomach. The former being stimulated to healthful activity, its secretions were promoted. The size and diseased slimy which accumulated in the stomach, and rendered its functions inoperative, were removed by the use of the Mandrake Pills; the appetite was increased, the food taken was properly assimilated, good blood was created in consequence, and the result a total BANISHMENT OF DISEASE.

All that was now needed was a tonic that would give nerve and energy to the system, and cure the chronic consumptive. The system was entirely healthy, but flesh was wanted for the limbs, and strength to carry on the struggle against the powerful conjunction with the Pulmonic Syrup and the Mandrake Pills.

THE SEAWEED TONIC fulfilled its great mission. Being an alkali, it speedily corrected any acidity of the stomach. It imparted tone and vigor to the entire system. It sited the restored patient for a resumption of his ordinary business duties, and put the capstone upon the great remedial structure which Dr. Sohenck, after years of painful personal experience and patient scientific effort, had reared for the benefit of the human race.

ONE THING YET REMAINED to be done. While this great work of restoration was in progress Dr. Sohenck was thoroughly convinced that exposure to draughts of cold air—to the rough, rasping winds of early spring and late fall—to the chilling blasts of winter, were almost certain death to the patient. Hence it was that he adopted the plan of having his patients remain in their apartments, and taking all needful exercise there, until the diseased lungs were PERFECTLY HEALED, and what is called "spare breath" could be borne without the danger of provoking a return of the dreaded disease. The system was worked like a charm. "The bold assertion of the medical faculty that consumption cannot be cured has been completely refuted, and Dr. Sohenck's great remedies have triumphed over all opposing elements.

During the thirty-four years of Dr. Sohenck's very extended practice, he has frequently examined five hundred patients a week in the cities of Boston, New York, and Philadelphia. Being well advanced in years, his professional visits to other cities have been discontinued, though he still continues to give his personal attention to the examination of patients at his principal office in Philadelphia, being assisted in his arduous duties by his son, Dr. JOSEPH H. SOHENCK, JR., who is a regular graduate of Jefferson Medical College, and is in every way qualified for the efficient discharge of the important duties devolving upon him.

Patients who desire a thorough examination of their lungs, with the aid of Dr. SOHENCK'S RESPIROMETER, can be accommodated at all times and receive the needed information as to their condition, and the method of treating, for Five Dollars. Consultation gratis. 4 1/2 oodstap
