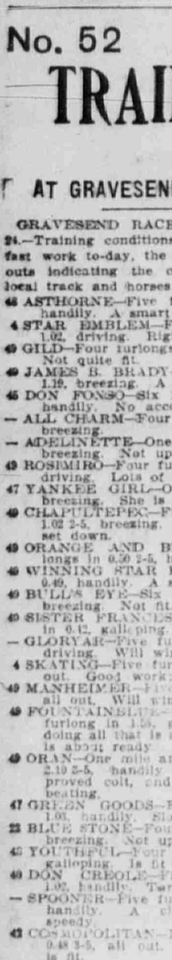
CHANCE AT THE BAT



BRESNAHAN IN WAR PAINT.

FANS APPLAUD THE GIANTS' BULLDOG GRIT

BY BOZEMAN BULGER.

THE gamest fight that baseball ever saw was ended on the Polo Grounds less than twenty-four hours ago. The Cubs went away licking their chops and dangling a pair of gory scalps at their belt, but the defeated Giants endeared themselves to 25,000 people who saw their uphill fight. More, perhaps, than if they had even slammed out a victory right at the start. Every inch of them is made of pure Damascus steel, and they proved it.

If a baseball club ever bore the championship stamp the slowly slipping New Yorks did it in that last game with Chicago. An exhibition of class with courage like that means more to their pennant chances than the mere capture of a game.

Starting out under a handicap of two runs they fought every inch of the way to the end. Pitcher after pitcher was yanked out to give some better batter a chance for the needed hit until every twirler on the club had been brought into service. McGraw used seventeen men in his determined attempt to overcome Chicago's early lead.

Was a Record Game.

Probably there was never a game before where six pitchers were used and all of them worked a full inning or more. In fact, it was one of the most remarkable games ever played in many respects. For we fellows who have to do it for a living it topped all past performances here or elsewhere for intense interest. The most callous had to root either by voice or thought.

Time and time again the bases were full, but the most desperate measures could not drive in the needed runs. Hits were frequent at times, but the fielding was too brilliant to permit of scores. With the bases full and none out, New York failed to get a man over the rubber, and when the gloom had hardly dispersed, Chicago had them full with nobody out, only to be suddenly wrapped up in a double play and sent back to the field without a score.

On two more occasions the Giants by working every art known to baseball got runners on the bases, only to have Chicago checkmate them at the critical moment. That was baseball!

The Polo Grounds may never see the like again. They certainly never did before. Not often have you seen a New York crowd disperse and forget defeat in their enthusiasm over the game. Hundreds of rooters left the Polo Grounds without a thought of the fact that Chicago had won the game as well as the series. They were carried away with recollections of the brilliant and fiery struggle.

Not a Pitchers' Battle.

It was not a pitchers' battle. If it had been New York would certainly have won, for they had a decided advantage in numbers. A pitchers' battle, though, is not good baseball. The game which arouses the public as well as the players is the one in which everybody has a hand in the fight.

The Giants fought as a unit, and they never let up for a moment until Corcoran shot a grounder to Chance in the ninth, and the day was done.

Credit must not be taken from Chicago, however, for they won a clean and clear-cut victory. Leaving out Wiltse's wild pitch in the first inning, which let in two runs, the Cubs still took the game on merit.

When Sheckard fell on one of Mathewson's curve balls for a home run, with two on bases, the death knell had been sounded, though, of course, none of us were so wise at the time.

Giants Not Outplayed.

The capture of the great series by Chicago does not necessarily mean that New York was outplayed, or that the Cubs are the stronger club. I am not attempting to underestimate their strength, but the element of luck figured largely in their favor, and it may fall upon the Giants at the next meeting in Chicago. Any way the two clubs, having played every club in the league now, are tied for first place, and the race continues all the more exciting.

How Bresnahan Made a Record Double Play.

A DOUBLE play from the catcher to first base without any further assistance is a very remarkable occurrence, but that very thing was done in the last game between New York and Chicago, and it is probably the first time on record.

The bases were full of Chicago players at the time. Chance, who was at bat, hit the ball so that it bounded directly in front of the plate. Bresnahan thought quickly and acted accordingly. He snatched the ball from the ground in a flash, stepped back and touched home plate, forcing out Slagle, and then threw to McGann in time to get Chance. This completed a double play and retired the side without a run.

ONE-INNING WILTSE IN BOX

SIX TWIRLERS WORKED.

McGraw worked six twirlers—his entire pitching staff—against the Cubs in the game at the Polo Grounds yesterday.

Hits off Wiltse, two in one inning; off Ames, two in three innings; off Mathewson, three in one-third inning; off Taylor, two in two and a third innings; off Ferguson, nothing in two innings; off McGinnity, one in one inning.

49 BELLE OF PEQUEST—Three furlongs in 0.36 3-5, handily. A speed test.

29 TRIVOLER—Five furlongs in 1.02, driving. Quite a good move.

TRAVIS LOSES IN HERRESHOFF MATCH

NASSAU LINKS, N. Y., May 24.—The third round of match play began this morning in the Metropolitan Golf Championship at the Nassau Country Club with eight men in the field. Weather conditions were better on the two previous days.

Fred Herreshoff (Garden City) beat W. J. Travis (Garden City) 5 up and 3 to go.

Findlay S. Douglas (Nassau) beat Oswald Kirkby (Englewood) 2 up and 1 to go.

Jerome D. Travers (Montclair) beat S. J. Graham (Fairfield County) 4 up and 3 to go. The cards were:

Herreshoff—
Out	4	5	5	4	4	4	2	4	4—36
In	4	3	5	5	3	4
Travis—
Out	4	6	4	4	6	5	3	5	5—41
In	4	3	4	4	5	5

The defeat of Travis, former international champion and the only American who ever won a British Amateur event, by Herreshoff with such a lead as 4 up and 2 to go, was positively sensational.

Herreshoff was a stroke below par on the first half and 11-12 strokes on the remaining played. Travis was weak generally and won only two holes, still, except on the second, where he got into the bunker and then was short on his third, he had no decidedly bad spot on his card. Findlay Douglas, ex-metropolitan champion, had a fine round with Oswald Kirkby. Their cards were:

Douglas—
Out	4	6	5	4	4	4	3	5	4—39
In	4	3	5	4	5	4	5	4	5—39
Kirkby—
Out	4	5	5	4	5	4	3	5	4—40
In	5	3	5	4	5	5	4	5	4—37—77

In the championship sets W. B. Rhett, Dyker Meadow, beat J. R. Maxwell, Jr., Nassau, 1 up 20 holes.

Second Set—Warford beat Wheeler 1 up, 19 holes.

Consolation Division—F. C. Talbridge, Plainfield, beat W. E. Conklin, Wykagyl, 1 up; L. P. Gwyer, Mount Vernon, beat A. T. Dwight, Dyker Meadow, 2 and 1; H. F. Whitney, Nassau, beat Walter Peebles, New York, 2 and 1; John M. Ward, Fox Hills, won from T. D. Hooper, Nassau, by default.

Travers got a spectacular 3 on the 13th which is bogie 4. His poorest work was the 425, where he was two over par. Sam Graham was only down going to the ninth, but after that could only halve holes. Travers, like Douglas, got a medal card of 76. Their cards:

Travers—
Out	4	5	4	4	4	3	5	4	4—39
In	4	4	4	4	5	4	4	5	4—38—77
S. J. Graham—
Out	5	5	4	5	6	*5	*4	*6	4—43
In	4	4	4	4	5	*5	*5	*5	5—*42

*Bye holes played.

Herreshoff had so much luck this morning that many even wagers were placed this noon on Douglas. Should Douglas win this afternoon Travers is likely to have a big fight on his hands to-morrow.

Brady Wins Suit.

By a decision of the Court of Appeals, made public yesterday, Bill Brady, formerly a partner of bat rowers and Jim Kennedy in the six-day bicycle race undertaking, got a judgment for $10,000 against Powers and Kennedy as his share of the proceeds of the race in 1899. The question at issue was whether Brady was still a partner in the firm at the time of the 1899 race, and the court decided in his favor.
