

"Magic Flute"

Finely Sung at Metropolitan

By Sylvester Rawling.

MOZART'S "The Magic Flute" sung in German, was presented last night at the Metropolitan Opera House to the enjoyment of a large audience, quite as smart and fashionable as that of the opening night. There was not the crush that there was on Monday; the standees were only two rows deep; but the boxes were filled and there were no vacant seats in the orchestra and few up-stands. Mr. Hertz conducted a fine performance. Such beautiful singing by everybody who took part rarely may be heard anywhere. The impressive choruses were rendered well-nigh perfectly, and each of the principals was in lovely voice. The fourteen tableaux that make up the two acts, including beautiful scenes and involving many startling devices, were handled expertly. But why not divide the work into three acts? A second intermission would be welcome.

Frederic Hempel, lovely as Queen of the Night, sang with great power and beauty. We will forget our disappointment at her first appearance last year and admit that she deserves her Berlin ovation. Emmy Destinn, as Pamina, was in glorious voice. It would seem to have grown fuller and more flexible than ever. The three ladies, sung by Vera Curtis, Lillian Eubank and Lila Robinson, and the three youths, sung by Lenora Sparkes, Louise Cox and Marie Mattfeld, were excellent. It is remarkable how Miss Sparkes's voice survives in ensemble. Jacques Urlics, as Tamino, in good voice, was satisfying the eye as well as the ear. Carl Braun, with his astonishingly big and deep voice, was heard to fine advantage in "Within the Sacred Hall." Putnam Griswold, as the Speaker, was gorgeous and impressive as ever. Lambert Murphy, Carl Schlegel and Julius Bayer were effective as the three priests. A separate paragraph is deserved, although they are all familiar in the character of Otto Goritz as Papageno, Reiss as Papageno and Albert Reiss as Papageno, who furnished the comedy elements. Mr. Goritz's broad, unctuous humor, whether singing or talking, was irresistible. The audience, staid as it was, could not resist frequent laughter at his antics. Miss Allen was exceedingly droll as his sweet-heart and Mr. Reiss was most amusing as the black rascal.

WILLIAM BACHAUS GIVES ADMIRABLE PIANO RECITAL. William Bachaus, one of the very best of the younger pianists, has returned to us. He gave a recital at Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon and delighted a large and essentially musical audience. His programme held both dignity and charm. It consisted of Saint-Saens's arrangement of the overture from Bach's 24th cantata; Beethoven's sonata in C minor, op. 111; Schubert's fantasia in C major, op. 15; a Chopin group, and Liszt's twelfth Hungarian rhapsody. He declined, wisely, to add to his programme, until it was ended. Then he was generous in playing extra numbers to the enthusiasts, who seem never to get enough.

Pine for Colds

Old Time Remedy That Has Cured Thousands Here.

The use of pine in medicine dates back to the time of Moses. But the best prescription for the purest pine extract is as follows: "From your drugstore get two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Glycerine Compound (Concentrated Pine). Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake well and take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bedtime. Smaller doses to children according to age. This treatment often knocks the worst cough or cold in a day. But be sure to get only the genuine Glycerine Compound (Concentrated Pine). Each half ounce bottle comes in a sealed glass bottle. If your drugstore does not have it in stock he will quickly get it. Don't experiment with cheap imitations. Drugstore say this has had a marvelous demand for the past six years.
