

Speech of Hon. Clay

On the resolution of Mr. Clay, proposing to extend the charter of the Bank of the United States...

THE TARIFF

I have proposed to another topic on which I have been thinking long, though I am much afraid that I shall not have time to do so...

As an example of the following table of British duties on the articles raised in the Western country is given...

Table with 2 columns: Article, Duty. Includes items like Tobacco, Manufactured articles, Beer, etc.

Now, the freedom of trade is a subject which has been discussed in the Senate...

And now let us look at the practical operation of the protective system as modified by the tariff...

What do the statistics from Pennsylvania and Maryland tell us? Under the practical operation of protective duties...

And how did the fact turn out? The revenue proved to be no more than a mere pretext...

There is no mystery in the whole theory of the matter. There is no mystery in the whole theory of the matter...

I know no wise course for a statesman than to revert to history, and there to draw lessons as to future policy...

That in Pittsburg, in the same period, the number of hands employed were reduced from 1300 to 672...

At the same time that the manufacturing establishments were shut out and that the language was...

By the tariff of 1824 and 1826, the duties were reduced to an average of double that amount...

No portion of the industry or property of the nation was more benefited by the change than that of agriculture...
