☞ The WEEKLY TRIBUNE, a very large paper, for the Country, is published every Saturday morning, at the low price of $2 per annum, in advance.

THE TRIBUNE

WHAT'S TO BE DONE? or, The Will and the Way. By the Author of 'Wealth and Worth,' etc. (1 vol. Illust. Pp 252.) Harpers.

This unpretending volume combines instruction with entertainment in a manner which must commend it especially to the favor of all young readers. 'Wealth and Worth' has been received with decided and deserved favor, and republished in London. The work before us will strengthen the young author's reputation.

THE SCHOOL-FRIEND; or, Lessons in Prose and Verse, for Schools, &c. Second Edition, Revised. (Pp. 262.) W. E. Dean, 2 Ann-street.

The authoress of this work is a New-Yorker, and the compiler of 'American Popular Lessons,' which have been received with marked and increasing favor. The 'School-Friend' is composed of Prose and Verse judiciously intermingled, and is very perspicuous and entertaining.

REMAINS OF REV. JOSHUA WELLS DOWNING, A. M., late of the New England Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. With a Brief Memoir. Edited by Elijah H. Downing, A. M. Second Edition. Lane & Sanford, Conference Office, 200 Mulberry-street. (1 vol. Pp. 339. 12mo.)

Memoirs of persons of eminent piety and usefulness afford the most attractive and advantageous method of imparting and commending Religious and Moral instruction—far better than naked exhortation or dry logic. The volume before us includes forty-two condensed Sermons, some sixty pages of Letters, and several Occasional Addresses, &c. in addition to the fervid and affecting narrative of the author's life and labors.

ORNITHOLOGY: The Natural History of Birds. Third Book of Natural History, by W. S. W. Ruschenberger, M. D. Turner & Fisher, 52 Chatham-street.

This is a very condensed and comprehensive treatise on Ornithology for learners in or out of schools, and seems well arranged and deserving.

☞ "THE NORTHERN STAR AND FREEMAN'S ADVOCATE" is the title of a small but neat weekly paper, published at Albany, edited by J. G. Stewart and C. S. Morton, colored men, and devoted to the elevation of the African race through Temperance, Education, and Morality, to an equality of Political and Social condition. We recommend it to the favor of the philanthropic, as well as of the class in whose cause it labors.

☞ The American and Franklin Hotels at Cleveland, Ohio—the former the most popular in the place, and deservedly, as we happen to know—have become Temperance Houses.

☞ The new Mail Contracts for Michigan have been made at a saving of $55,000 from the former contracts.

THE NEW NAVY BILL.—The bill on the Navy as recently reported to Congress by the Hon. John C. Clark, recommends the establishment of three additional grades or ranks—those of Admiral, Vice Admiral and Rear Admiral, and to fix their pay as follows:

	Per annum.
The Admiral, at all times in service....	$5,000
When on leave, or waiting orders.....	4,000
The Vice Admiral, in service.....	4,500
When on leave, &c.....	3,500
The Rear Admiral in service.....	4,250
When on leave, &c.....	3,000

The rates are but inconsiderably higher than those now paid to the Senior Captain, Captains of Squadrons, or Captains waiting orders; making an entire additional expense of only $1,750.

LONGEVITY.—Madam Wingate, of Stratham, widow of the Hon. Paine Wingate, has commenced the second century. She was born May 1st, 1742. On Monday, May 2, she received company, appeared cheerful during the afternoon, took tea with her visitors, and seemed to receive pleasure from their society as well as afford gratification to her friends. [Exeter News Letter.

ANOTHER AFFRAY.—We learn that a blow was given by George Piner, on the body of Berry Hill, in Walker county, Ga., a few days since, which resulted in the death of Hill on Monday night last. It seems they were both at a log rolling and commenced jesting with each other in friendship, when Hill proving too much in that line for his antagonist, received a blow on the head with a handspike, which terminated his earthly existence in a few days. Park, Bartlett Professor in the Andover Theological Seminary; in one volume, 12mo. Just published by DAYTON & NEWMAN. my16 91 Nassau-street, corner of Fulton.

LECTURES on Practical Chemistry, Pharmacy, and Toxicology.—Doctor WHITTAKER proposes to commence a Course of Practical Lectures on the above named important subjects, at his office, 430 Houston-street, on Monday next, May 16th. It is needless to state the incalculable advantages which a thorough knowledge of these branches of science will give, not only to every student of medicine, and to druggists, but also to students at law. The Lecture to commence at 10 o'clock A. M., and to be continued every day at the same hour, until the 1st of August. Terms, for the whole Course, $10. my13 1w*

THE CHEAPEST HAT STORE IN THE WORLD!—CONANT, 250 Grand street, has now on hand, of the latest Spring fashion, an excellent assortment of Silk Hats at $2, 2 50, $2 50 and $3—a reduction of 50 cents on each hat from former prices. Also a superior article of Fur Hat for $4, equal to any sold in the city for $4 50 and $5. The public are respectfully invited to call. A good assortment of Boys' Hats and Caps on hand. my19 1m CONANT, 250 Grand st., near Allen.

FRENCH & GERMAN Fancy Goods, very low for cash.—A complete assortment of Combs, Brushes, Perfumery, Joseph Gillott's and other Steel Pens, Cutlery, Hooks and Eyes, Pins, Needles, Accordions, Pocket-books, Silk and Leather Purses, Beads and Bead Bags and Purses, Spectacles, &c., together with a general assortment of all articles in the above line of business. Country merchants are respectfully invited to call when visiting this city, and examine the stock, as it is believed that no usual inducements are offered at C. H. DARLING'S, m4 3m 74 Maiden Lane and 5 Liberty-street.

ONE PRICE STORE.—It is generally known that some store-keepers ask double the price the article is worth; therefore any person wishing to purchase good cheap clothing can rely on being furnished with it at the following prices.—Coats at $12; cloth jackets $3 50 to $5; cloth pants $3 25 to $4 50; satinet pants $1 75 to $2 50. BOYS' Clothing!—Childrens' Clothing A very large assortment—very good quality—very cheap—Geo. A. Hoyt & Co. No. 14 Bowery, would respectfully inform their patrons and the public generally, that they have again been making extensive preparations for the spring and summer trade, and have now on hand a much larger assortment of Boys' and Childrens' Clothing than they ever before have had. The public are invited to call and examine their goods with particular reference to quality and price. Terms cash. ap4 3m*

GALE & CO, 260 Pearl-st. Boot and Shoe Dealers, invite Country Merchants and others, to call and examine their large assortment. May be had also at the same place, STRAW GOODS, viz: Ladies's Straw Tuscan, Madena, Arrete and a variety of French and Fancy Hats, together with a large assortment of Men's and Boys's PALM LEAF and LEGHORN HATS—all sold low for cash or city acceptances, by the case or dozen. my5 1m*

ASSOCIATION;

Or, Principles of a True Organization of Society.

OUR EVILS ARE SOCIAL, NOT POLITICAL; AND POLITICAL REFORMS CANNOT REMEDY THEM.

☞ The editorship of this column is distinct from that of The Tribune. Address letters, post-paid, to A. BRISBANE.

☞ The Gazette and Advertiser of Williamsburg, L. I., in an article of some length misrepresents entirely our Doctrine. He accuses us of looking upon "good eating, clothing and moderate labor as the ne plus ultra of the existence of Man," and that, "as to the wants which belong to the immortal part of our nature, we nullify them altogether," and adds, "they leave the soul, (if there be any such thing in existence,) to shirk for itself."

We have no doubt that the writer is an honest and conscientious man, and would not intentionally misrepresent our principles. He has probably committed the error of judging our Doctrine as he has, from the few articles which he has read in The Tribune, and as we have not yet had time to speak upon higher questions,—such as the Immortality of the Soul, and others of the kind—he has rather uncharitably supposed that we disregard them. Had he read our work, entitled 'Social Destiny of Man,' he would have seen [chap. xvii] that we bring new and scientific proofs in support of the Immortality of the Soul, and that [chap. xxxv.] we base our system of Association upon integral Faith in God and the universality of his Providence.

It is true that we wish to give Man good food, lodging and clothing, and an abundance of them, and that we wish to relieve him from the overburthening toil which now degrades him: for we know that the being who is worn out by excessive Labor and harassed by Poverty and Anxiety, is incapable of any high degree of moral and intellectual Development, of Refinement and of elevated Religious Sentiments. When Christ preached to the Multitude, he fed them, knowing that starving men are poor listeners to truth. We wish to follow his example: we wish to give to All, Education and Riches, or a sufficiency of the Goods of this world. We believe that these are the preliminary steps which must be taken to enable the Mind to expand and soar to those higher regions of Truth and Harmony to which its aspirations lead it. We will endeavor to send the Editor some articles, which will explain to him our views on the subject of Religion, and we trust that he will be polite enough to do us justice, so that those who read his paper may not be prejudiced against us without reason.

If any of the friends of the cause of Association in Williamsburg can procure us a Lecture-Room, we will deliver two or three Lectures there on the subject. We shall wish the Lectures to be free.

Practical Organization of Association.

We pointed out briefly in our last article how operations should be commenced in establishing an Association. Our object is to give the Reader a clear idea of what an Association is, so that he may have a distinct conception of it. In order to do so more effectually, let us examine how two thousand persons, or about three hundred families, now live, and how they would live in Association. This contrast will show us the difference between the present system and that which we advocate.

Three hundred families require at present three hundred separate houses, and having three hundred separate houses, they must have three hundred kitchens,—three hundred kitchen fires,—three hundred women to do the cooking,—three hundred sets of cooking utensils, and every thing else upon the same scale of division and complication. If they are farming families, they must have three hundred little farms,—three hundred barns,—three hundred teams,—three hundred wells,—two thousand fences at least, &c. &c.

All the work attendant upon the care of a family,—such as cooking, washing, marketing, keeping up fires, &c., must be gone through with separately and daily by the three hundred families with the same detail as for a large Association, except the difference of scale. The waste of such a system is so enormous that it would scarcely be believed if shown in figures.

Let us see how three hundred families, on the other hand, would live in Association. Instead of three hundred little farms, enclosed and cut up by walls and fences, the Association would have a large and elegant Domain of about six thousand acres, surrounded with, and divided by, some extended lines of hedges; instead of three hundred small houses, miserably constructed as regards health, convenience, comfort and economy, it would have a large and elegant Edifice, situated in the centre of its Domain, which would combine all those advantages; instead of three hundred dirty little kitchens, where poor hired creatures drag out their days in a round of repulsive work, the Association would have one large and commodious kitchen, divided off into four or five compartments for the different kinds of cooking,—the whole airy, elegant and fitted up with every convenience: instead of three hundred kitchen fires, it would have four or five large ones, which could warm the building by means of tubes; instead of three hundred sets of cooking utensils, it would have every thing upon a large scale, and the best of machinery, calculated in every way to save labor and facilitate culinary operations: instead of three hundred women to do the cooking, and who must now be employed every day at it, the Association would have fifty or sixty experienced cooks who understood perfectly some department of cooking, and who would be employed a part of the day for two or three days in the week.

Instead of having three hundred teams, as three hundred farming families now have, and which are so expensive, the Association would not require probably more than fifty or sixty, which would be of the finest kind; instead of three hundred barns, exposed to dampness and rats, it would have three or four large granaries, with compartments for the different kinds of grain. Instead of buying all its goods at retail,—making, as three hundred families now do, twenty or thirty thousand little purchases in the course of a year, which give rise to an immense number of quarrels and law-suits, the Association would buy every thing at wholesale, and while it obtained them of a good quality and free from adulteration, it would obtain them at the lowest wholesale cash price. What a source of Economy, Wealth, and Unity of Action, Association would be!

If the Reader will bear in mind these contrasts, and reflect upon the others, he will be able to form a clear idea of Association: he will then see that it is not a complicated and impracticable enterprize, but a system which is simple, economical and full of order and unity.

From the Charleston Coles Co. (Ill.) Courier.

CASE OF SEDUCTION.—We notice in the Shelbyville Herald of last week an account of the sudden disappearance of the wife of Dr. Weston of Juliann, with a knight of the needle. On last Sunday, two gentlemen, Dr. Rutherford and Mr. Bell, came to this place in full chase of a beautiful young lady, a resident of the North part of Coles County. The guy deceiver who enticed the lady from her home was unknown, but one of the persons, influenced by a feeling natural to rivals, suspected a dashing young squire of this place, and on they came to rescue the fair prize. Their suspicion was removed on their arrival here: they met the squire quietly enjoying the beauties of nature in an evening ramble.

The most reasonable inference to be drawn from the known circumstances of the case, is, that the young lady has been seduced by a certain Doctor, a married man, a citizen of Paris, Edgar county. If true it is an aggravated case: a young lady of intelligence, beauty and respectable family has been ruined forever, and a wife and children deserted by the seducer.

Since the above was in type, the suspicion which was entertained with regard to Doctor alluded to, has proved to be well founded. On Wednesday evening the young lady came to this place and made a small purchase of goods and immediately left on foot: she was observed to proceed to a thicket where she was met by her seducer Dr. James Conduit of Paris, who made off with her in a buggy. The whole affair calls for the loudest condemnation; the seduced is not 16 years of age, and has been decoyed from her lately widowed mother. The villain that has ruined the peace of a respectable family, and for ever destroyed an inexperienced girl, deserves the execration of the community and the utmost penalty of the law.

Immediately after intelligence was had of the flight of Dr. Conduit with his victim, Squires Shelledy and Dunbar, and Mr. Pervoe went in pursuit and fortunately reached the young lady and returned her to her distressed mother; they also conducted the scoundrel to this place, where steps will be taken to have justice meted out to him.

CIVILIZATION OF INDIANS.—The Brothertown Indians, composed of fragments of the Six Nations, viz. the Sanaguscots, the Pequots, of Groton Conn., the Montanks, of Rhode Island, the Mohicans, the Niantics, and the Farmington Indians have a settlement on the west side of Lake Winnebago, about 45 miles south of Green Bay, that presents an appearance which would be creditable to any settlement so recently commenced. They settled upon the tract in 1834, and they have now improved cultivated fields, fences, dwellings, &c. Their houses are furnished with good substantial, plain furniture; they conform to the white customs in their dress, and their daughters are frequently sought for in marriage by the whites.

They have a small chapel, and are about erecting a dwelling house for their Missionary, and a revival under the direction of the Methodists is now in progress. In 1836 they were admitted to the privileges of citizenship. [Buffalo Courier.

CONVICT ELOQUENCE.—On last Sabbath Dr. West delivered a Lecture on "THE CAUSE AND CURE OF CRIME," in the Chapel of the far-famed State Prison of Sing-Sing, and on the day following, (viz. last Monday the 11th inst.) Dr. West, in company with the Rev. Chaplain and another Clergyman, went to visit the various mechanical departments of the prison. On passing through one of them, a Convict, whose name was understood to be "Whiting," requested the Doctor to let him have one of his pamphlets, referred to in his Lecture, which was promptly furnished, when the Convict, with a peculiar expression of countenance assured the giver that Infidelity had caused him to become an inmate of that prison—that the pamphlet should be found "under his dying pillow"—and added with great emphasis: "Thank God! AMERICA can now boast what England CANNOT!" On being asked what he meant, he instantly replied: "England may indeed boast of even the remains of her dead SHERIDAN, but, sir, AMERICA can boast of her LIVING SHERIDAN IN YOU." The Doctor speaks of this impromptu as the most eloquent compliment ever addressed to him.

MUTUAL INSURANCE.—On Dwelling Houses and Furniture only, profits returned to the Assured. THE HOUSEHOLDERS' MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY, Office 36 Wall-st., for separating the insurance of Dwelling Houses and Furniture from that of Stores and Merchandize.

It is well known that almost all the losses incurred in the business of insurance, are the result of the burning of valuable stores and costly goods.

This increases the expense of insurance to the household, and may possibly deprive him of the very security for which he pays his premium.

The cash payments or premiums form a fund, which, after pay ng expenses and losses, is represented by scrip, and is added to the assured in proportion to the amount of their insurance.

This Company is prepared to insure against loss or damage by fire, Dwelling Houses, Household Furniture and all Household Property ordinarily kept in dwelling houses. Every person desiring with this Company is entitled to one vote for each hundred dollars insured.

DIRECTORS.
