MEW-YORK DAILY TRIBUNE SATURDAY, MAY 15. 1952

VOL. XII.....NO. 3,456.

To The True Principles of Association are embraced in the CHELSEA MUTUAL LOAN AND INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION. The premiums are fixed at $50 on a share of $450, avoiding thereby the entronous premiums at any time, by paying the amount borrowed, and interest which is reduced from year to year. Other important features are introduced, making it the most favorable and popular Association ever organized. Persons designing to subscribe for shares should do so early, as the subscription book is filling rapidly. Names, with the entrance fee, 50 cents, can be left at No. 44¢ Broadway; No. 31 Canal-st, or at the office of the Association, No. 230 9th-avenue. The monthly dues are $2. Shares $250. A regular Meeting will be help at the rooms, corner of 8th av. and 25th-at. on MON-DAY EVENING, May 17. Circulars, &c., can be obtained by applying as above, or of env of the officers.

The object of the advertiser is to form a Joint Stock Company with as little celay as possible, that shall put into operation six machines, at least, to dress stone at any required width or thickness. Persons feeling a desire to engage in a mechanical or manufacturing business, are invited to call at the Company's office, where any information will be given with pleasure, and investigate for themselves, and where a model can be seen. Or if they will take the treuble to go to Roach's Saw-Mill, No. 138 Back-st., they can see a full-sized machine in operation from 9 to 12 Å. M. and 2 to 5 P. M. The Bleecker-st. or Kipp & Brown stages will land passengers within two minutes' walk of the machine, where all who feel interested in machinery, or desire to become interested in this machine, are invited to call and examine its operations. For further particulars apply at the office of the American Stone Dressing Company, No. 62 William-st., room No. 3.

For New Invention.—After much time and labor spent in chemical and physiological researches, Mr. BOGLE, the well-known inventor of Bogle's celebrated HYPERION FLUID, for the Growth of the Hair, has at last discovered a Hair Dys which will soon supersede everything else of the same nature, when once it is better known. It is said to peasess wonderful properties of dyeing the most unsightly hair instantly, and without the least trouble, into a most natural black or brown color, and which retains its color to the last.

127 To Capitalists.—The advertiser has acquired, by an atticle of agreement with the American Stone-Dreasing Company, towners in fee of EAYRES PATENT STONE-DRESSING MACHINE, the right of exclusive use of said machine in the City and County of New York, for the whole unexpired life-time of the patent, (to December 4, 1853). It is claimed by the owners that its capacity is unsurpassed by any other machine in existence, for preparing stone for buildings, canal locks, aqueducts and bridges. They challenge the world to produce its equal for excedition and beauty of finish. It is to stone what Woodworth's Planing Machine is to boards, or the saw unfil to the rough log. It dresses brown stone, marble, limestone and granite with equal beauty and ease—particularly the brown stone from the Paterson Ledge. The stone on the carriage is fed fast or slow, at pleasure. With a five-haves power applied to the machine, the stone will move forward from two to three feet per minute, and take off from one to two inches of stone, if required to bring it to an even surface. The forward motion of the chisel is one-seventieth of an inch, each blow of the revolving hammer. The gang has 42 chissis, which strike 25,000 blows per minute, without apparently dulling the chisels in the least degree.

The object of the advertiser is to form a Joint Stock Commence at 8 o'clock.

LIFE AT THE SOUTH, or, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" As It Is—being Narratives, Scenes and Incidents in the real "Life of the Lowly;" by W. L. G. Smith, Esq.
The object of the author is to represent the condition of the slave in his rode but comfortable cabin, his daily occupations and pastimes, the relations between master and slave, the mistaken impulses and misconceived views of the Northern Phisanthropist, &c. and to represent the passons and sentiments in their natural forms, as the same are displayed in the humblest for in human society, thus showing that, in the case of the slave at least, contentment bestows more happiness than freedom; and at the same time to represent, as it is, a class of people, viz: the Planter, to whom justice has seldom been done, and whose character, as exhibited in every-day life, is well calculated to win the samable judgment of the worlds.

DOWN TOWN BOOK-STORE. MOORE & HORSFALL, Merchanta Exchange, cor-per of Hanover-st. and Exchange place, have just received the following valuable works:

I. JOHNSTON'S NATIONAL ATLAS. New edition. The best English Atlas. Edinburgh edition. Large folio, half Morocco. half Morocco.

II...JOHNSTON'S PHYSICAL ATLAS OF NATURAL PHENOMENA. The large Edinburgh edition, uniform with the above, in half Merocco binding.

III..A NEW SYSTEM OF GEOGRAPHY. Founded upon the works of Malte B un and Balbi. With an Alphabetical Index of 13,500 names. 1,007 pages. London, 1351.

IV..THE PROGRESS OF AMERICA, from the Discovery by Columbus to the year 1346. Two large volumes. London.

EUGENE SUE'S NEW NOVEL .-AVARICE. Price 25 cents. This able work concludes the popular series of the Capital Sins, consisting of Pride, EDVY, Anger, Madeline.

"This forms the last of the series of the Seven Capital sins, in which Sue has depicted the enormities of prevailing vices, and yet has contrived to extract the lewel, even out of the most leathsome and regulative vices. A varice is an equally successful effort with the former one to establish the author's theory. The sin of avarice finds its illustration in a father, who amasses all for a son. The supposed death of the parent puts the young man into posteresion of boundless wealth, which he uses only as the means of doing good to the afflicted and the needly. The father's life is preserved, and he is made a 'better man' by seeing how nothly his son uses the wealth a life of avarice has amassed. The story is intensely interesting, and the moral is readly unexceptionable."

Price one shilling.

II.—THE PRINCIPLES OF COURTESY, with Hints and Observatious on Manners and Habits. By George Winfred Hervey. 12mo. Price 75c.

This book is interesting and well written; discourages eccentricities, cant and rant; and aims to inculcate simplicity of manners and complaisance of deportment, at once with inflexibility of moral principle.

III.—THE TWO FAMILIES. An Episode in the History of Chapelton. By the author of "Rose Douglas." 12mo. Price 75c.

A quiet domestic story—sweet, tender and pathetic, but by no means deficient in spirit. Its moral tendency is so excellent, that it would disarm the prejudices of those most hostile to novel reading.

IV.—AN EXPOSITION OF SOME OF THE LAWS OF THE LATIN GRAMMAR. By Jessuer Harrison M. D., Professor of Ancient Languages in the University of Virginia.

This work is worthy of the attention of classical instructors.

M. D., Professor of Ancient Languages in the University of Virginia.

This work is worthy of the attention of classical instructors and students. It embraces the laws of case, the pronoun, the verb, &c. showing the rules by which their inflections are made, and their syntactical relations.

PYNNSHURST: HIS WANDER—
INGS AND WAYS OF THINKING. By Donald
MacLeod. I vol. 12mo.

"The is a work of decided genius—witty, observant, finely decriptive, and poetical; a kind of traveling sight, some out casily, and for the pleasure of singing, by one whose heart was full of the stir, associations and beauty of European life."

We have certainly, since Thackersy, had no such pleasant tourist."
A right clever and entertainin blook."

The Presbyterian.

"His descriptions are wonderfully vivid, and he is one of those travelers that are constantly meeting with signalar advantures—some simply amusing, some comical, and others absolutely thriling."

THE COURTSHIP AND ADVENTURES OF STANLEY THORN: By Henry Cockton, author of "Valentine Vox." "Lady Felicia," "The Love March." etc. Price 50 cents.

Henry Cockton is really irresistible. Even a patient, suffering from acute rheumatism, or distracted with the toothache, must laugh heartily at every page of this inimitable tale. Stanley Thorn is one of the author's best efforts. The characters are life-like to a degree of exactness which renders them instantly recognizable, and there is a numor and droilery, and often a pathetic quaintness in his descriptions which make his books welcome guests to the firstide circle.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

"Athough the brilliant style of Reynolds must necessarily attra attention to all that comes from his pea, yet the present work haintraise merits which invest it with peculiar interest, and most make it popular beyond precedent."

"This little work, besides the charm of its style and composition, such as Repnoids alone on give, has the ment of opening new and highly interesting scenes. It lifts the veil of social file, and given us a glimmes at the sanctuary—the inner temple—which by no means a recesses our feedings of reverence for human constact." [Critic. This book boilst up a mirror to nature. wherein many a mistress of the family, whose placid temper and sweetness of disposition the work in were download, would do well to regard her own features."
