CLOSE OF THE WILD WEST. TRANSATLANTIC TRAVELLERS

THE GREAT EXHIBITION ENDS ITS SEA-SON.

HOMES-A PRESENT FOR MAJOR BURKE. It is ended. Gone from the grounds of the Wild West Show are the Indians, the reckless cowboys, the soldiers from England, Germany and France; the gauchos, Cossacks, Mexicans and "redmen. longer will South Brooklyn be illumined with elec-tric lights. The whoop of the Indian, the shrill cry "cow-puncher," the guttural sounds of the Mexicans and the "vivas," "hochs" and "hurrahs" of the French, German and American troops, are hushed. The Indian tepees have been "struck" and the shutters on Major Burke's cabin flap and bang dismally in the wind. The season of the Wild West has been ended, but it was ended in a blaze of performance last night went off with vigor and enthusiasm which inspired the big crowd of spectators. But at 10:30 o'clock the grounds the show. The cowboys and the foreigners, Cossacks, Indians and all, shook hands and said goodby. They could not speak each other's language, but by signs they manifested their regret at the

Then, at 11 o'clock, the band marched down the main street, and, halting in front of Colonel Cody's tent, played the "Star Spangled Banner" and "Auld Lang Syne."

Early in the afternoon trunks had been packed, the baggage wagons were ready, and they carted away the belongings of the Wild West people shortly after the end of the evening performance. All day yesterday Buffalo Bill had gone around the camp shaking hands and saying goodby to his friends. Frank Small had to use his left hand in "shaking," for his right was in bandages, owing to the fact that the ever watchful rolling-desk had gotten in its "fine work" on a finger of his right hand one day last week, and made the hand useless for "goodby" purposes. A busier place than the camp could not have been found last night after 10:30 o'clock. But by midnight all was quiet. A dim light burned in Major Burke's "ranch," and only an occasional neigh from some restless "bronthe Wild West. The foreign troops, when they the grounds, rushed to New-York and boarded the steamship Mansdam. The big steamer sailed at 4 o'clock this morning. The cowboys went to their mes by the West Shore and Baltimore and Ohio railroads, the Indians to their homes by the New-York Central, and the other men will get home by steamships leaving New-York this week. The Cody gave each one of them a new suit of clothes yesterday, and to a man they turned out last night arrayed in their new habiliments. And they were very proud. One chief wore a silk hat. Where he got it Major Burke alone knows, but that Indian he got it Major Burke alone knows, but that Indian was an object of envy. The "little Indian boys" of "one little." "two little," "three little," etc. fame were equally well fixed out, and they were haughty in consequence. When the Indians came to New-York five months ago they had only blankets and paint to cover their nakedness. Yesterday it was a poor Indian who did not have at least two trunks full of clothing and other things. A big freightear had to be chartered to carry the possessions of the thrifty redmen. All the men connected with the show were sorry to part, and the twenty cowboys who were left on the grounds to take care of the horses during the winter were objects of envy yesterday.

horses during the winter were objects of envy yesterday.

Major Burke had the "blues," but they were removed. And this is the reason why. Major Burke has, during the entire season of the Whid West show, extended every courtesy to the reporters of the different papers, and this courtesy has been well appreciated. So the newspaper men made up their minds that the Major should get something more gubstantial than mere thanks. And he got R, not "where the chicken got the axe," but in his "little sidepocket." And the "it" was a handsome gold watch, chain and diamond locket. John A. Cockerill presented the gift to Major Burke in Parior L of the Astor House yesterday afternoon. Mr. Cockerill made a short speech, and thanked the Major for the courtesies he had extended to the press, and the Major got very red in the face, and said that he had done only that which was right. For once in his life Major Burke was "rattled." Then the wine flowed.

MR. HAMMERSTEIN'S COMPLAINT.

THE INJUNCTION AGAINST MESSRS. KOSTER AND BIAL MAY BE APPLIED FOR TO-MORROW. Coster and Albert Bial ousted from their places as directors in the corporation known as Koster, Bial & Co., controlling the music hall in West Thirtywith A. H. Hummel yesterday, but they declared for an injunction. Mr. Hummel said: "As soon as the necessary affidavits are prepared, which will probably be by Monday, an in-junction order will be applied for in one of the doubtless he a bitterly contested one.

pher Siegmund and William L. Hartung. The cause of action is against Koster and Bial as directors of the corporation to compel an accounting for their official conduct in the management and disposition of the property and funds of the corporation, and also to compel them to pay to the corporation all moneys and values of property which they have acquired or transferred to others or wasted through the alleged violation of their duties. Mr. Hammerstein charges that he has been prevented from discharging his duties as director, and that the employes have been told wholly to ignore his orders.

The injunction asks that Koster and Bial and their agents be forbidden to interfere in any way with Mr. Hammerstein in the discharge of his duties as director. He asks to be allowed access to the books, and seks that no money shall be paid out except in payment of salaries, rent and taxes.

NEW THINGS AT HAGENBECK'S

With several new and really interesting features the Hagenbeck trained animals ought to draw crowds even larger than hitherto during the coming week. The menagerie all along has been excep-tionally popular. None can visit the Hagenbeck animals in their sleeping quarters without compar-ing them favorably with their fellow-captives in the Central Park "zoo." The monkeys especially are cleaner and plumper than most of the "zoo" monkeys. The performances of Mr. Philadelphia, Mr. Mehrmann and Mr. Penje, with their respective antmals, will be among the many attractions. There is more excitement, perhaps, in the exhibition of Mr. Penje, owing to the extreme ferocity and treachery while in the arena, and is forced to watch the slightelephant of Mr. Philadelphia introduces a novel and interesting act, in which he unfuris and raises the flags of several nations, using his trunk in hauling at the ropes. Mr. Mehrmann's collection of animals forms a whole menagerie in itself. His clown bear Johnnie is very funny, and the children, who flock to the matinee performances in happy droves, applaud his antics again and again. The addition of Mile. Sakantola, the snake-charmer, to the performance will be welcome to many. It is a strange sight to see this handsome young girl wreathed about with snakes of all lengths and of every description, bowing her acknowledgments just as carelessly as though the clinging reptiles were so many every-day ornaments. The Hagenbeck Arena Company boxoffice did a big business last week, and Manager Hoffheimer confidently expects to better the record for big audiences in the next seven days. elephant of Mr. Philadelphia introduces a novel and

A PROBABLY FATAL TROLLEY CAR ACCIDENT As the result of being thrown from a trolley car day or two ago, Mrs. George W. Francis, whose husband is proprietor of the Hermitage Hotel, at Wallington, N. J., is lying at her home, cut, bruised and internally injured, and with small chance of She was returning from Paterson to the hotel, and asked that the car be stopped at a side entrance. By a mistake the car went past the entrance. By a mistake the car went past the place, Mrs. Francis standing up, with one hand holding the strap overhead. The conductor, seeing that the car was still going ahead, pulled the beli-rope charpiy, and the motorman, supposing some accident had happened, put on the brakes and brought the car to a standstill almost instantly. Passengers were threwn forward in their seats by the sudden stop; the strap was torn from Mrs. Francis's hand and she was thrown with great force out on the macadamized roadway, which cut her badly. It is the opinion of physicians that her injuries will result fatally, and that if she lives her nervous system will always suffer from the shock.

MADE THE AGENT OPEN THE SAFE.

Muskegee, I. T., Oct. 6.—The Kansas and Arkan-sas Valley station at Port Gibson was robbed by six masked men on Thursday night. The Cook gang, successors to the Daltons, are known to have been in the neighborhood during the last week, heen in the neighborhood during the last week, and the inference is that they were the robbers. They poked a gun through the window at the telegraph operator's table and made him open the door. They then ordered the safe opened. The operator declared that he did not know the combination, and the robbers went to the agent's home and brought him to the station, where they made him open the safe. They got about $500.

THE SITUATION AT BLUEFIELDS.

New-Orleans, Oct. 6.-Advices from Bluefields say that Calvin G. Ausbern, of Pittsburg, the wealthiest American resident, has been arrested for participating in the July riots, although he says he can prove he was attending a dinner, and took no part. He has laid his case before Captain O'Neil, of the Marblehead. Captain O'Neil waited at Port Limon two weeks for instructions, and finally received word from Washington that Zelaya had consented to permit American prisoners to land in Bluefields and settle their affairs, although still concidering them exiles and not entitled to trial. This is evidently all America will do for the prisoners, abandoning the demand for speedy trial. England gave even less comfort to its exiles, and the Mohawk took them to Colombia and Jamaica. It has not dropped the case of Vice-Consul Hatch, however. however,
General Ortiz has escaped from prison in Managua, and a revolution will probably occur soon.
Ortiz has promised to restore the Americans in Bluefields. Cabezas is framing new laws for the Mosquito Reservation, the principal features being the prohibition of foreigners from holding office and the inclusion of Greytown in the territory.
