INDUSTRIAL COMBINATIONS

Chicago, April 27 (Special).-The widely pub lished reports of the disorderly conduct of soldiers at Fort Sheridan on their last payday and of the multiplication of saloons just outside the reservation have stirred the Methodist Ministers' Association of this city to anger. At a meeting of the ministers held on Tuesday the reports were denounced as false, and it was charged that they had been circulated to create a sentiment in favor of the repeal of the anticanteen law. The association has directed one of its members, the Rev. M. M. Parkhurst, to make an investigation into the conditions. Mr. Parkhurst has asked the other ministerial bodies in Chicago to select representatives to act with him as an investigating committee, and this body will begin work as soon as it is formed. The Methodist Association declares that there will be no bias in the inquiry, and that the facts will be given to the public irrespective of whether they favor the re-establishment of the canteen or not. Meanwhile army officers content themselves with pointing out that no investigation committee can change the facts, and that the existence of new groggeries bordering on the reservation cannot be passed over by specious argument. The work of the committee will be watched with interest.

pils in all the high schools of the city have been stirred up by a controversy with the Board of Education concerning graduation exercises. It has been the custom for several years for the high school pupils to raise money, principally by means of entertainments, to rent a hall or theatre for graduation exercises. These ceremonies have been invariably accompanied by gifts of flowers to those among the graduates whose friends were able to afford such luxuries and by a display of "graduating gowns." This year the Hyde Park High School sought the permission of the Board of Education to secure has been refused on the ground principally that the effort to make a display of class graduation invariably occasions heartburnings among the poorer children graduating, and creates lasting feelings of envy and bitterness. The high schools combined to fight this decision, but they have finally surrendered, much to the satisfaction of the great majority of the parents of the community, who uphold the stand of the

The departure of the steamer Northwestern from her wharf in Chicago for Liverpool by the Canadian Canal route has aroused great interest among all classes of merchants and shippers. Though the present disadvantages of such a route are thoroughly understood, heads of leading business interests believe that the departure means the beginning of a new era in commercial activity, and will bring about a boom in the general use of the present canals, as well as the building of better and larger ones. These merchants declare that Chicago's chances of becoming a great international sea port are not so remote as has been supposed, and that the trip of the Northwestern will lead the way to inestimable benefits in this direction. The vessel's cargo consists of provisions of all kinds, timber and harvesting machinery Great care has been taken to utilize the entire space of the hold, so as to place as much merchandise as the depth of the canals will allow Thousands of people gathered at the bridges of the Chicago River and gave the Northwestern an enthusiastic sendoff as she steamed out into

Evanston, Chicago's model suburb, has just passed through the throes of a hotly contested election, and the newly elected Mayor has hastened to accept the resignation of Chief of Police Wheeler Bartram. He has placed in this position Newell C. who has been in Chicago for several days, finally wore out the welcome that was accorded him when he arrived here. Starting out by declaring at Hull House that he was a "law and order" agitator, he was quite the vogue for at least forty-eight hours. Then he began to extol the virtues of the anarchists who suffered death in Chicago after the riots of 1886, and in a public address said: "It is with deep emotion that I address an audience on the subject of anarchism in a city that has been the scene of a tragedy that has lost to us four of our excellent comrades, whom we regret not to have with us to-night, fighting we regret not to have with us to-night, fighting for the emancipation of mankind. Their names are not forgotten in Europe, or in any place where the fight is being carried on in the cause for which they bravely died."

This language, and much more of the same general character, brought down on the head of the prince a storm of general indignation.

LAKEWOOD TOURNEY A BLOW TO THE OFFICIAL HANDICAPPERS-DYKER MEADOW WOMEN'S CHAM-

this season's official handicap list have failed of Whether they will be justified by the results in wood offered the first test of their value, and the results are sufficient to cast grave reflections on the way in which the allowances have been given out. In regard to the two most prominent golfers on the list, Travis and Douglas, the outcome of Saturday's extraordinary contest must be to put the two at last on a par, although the handicap mittee has seen fit to rate Travis at scratch and to give Douglas one stroke. Of course, the inference is that Travi: is the better man, but former performances of the two players certainly fail to indorse that judgment. Travis is champion and Douglas is not, but in golf titles mean little in the comparison of form. In the Metropolitan Handicap last season Travis won the cup, but he did not meet Douglas in the match play, and in the medal play those who were there admit that Douglas showed the stronger game. lantic City Douglas again outplayed the champion, making the best score in the qualifying round, taking the cup and winning the medal for the taking the cup and winning the medal for the lowest gross score in the handicap. His defeat of Travis at Lakewood on Saturday is a further blow at the handicappers. Nor is this all. Of the last three championships Douglas has beaten Travis twice, and now that he has again demonstrated his superiority there will be less confidence than ever in the official ratings. The Metropolitan Championship, in which these ratings are to govern, exclusively, is less than a month off. Possibly that may vindicate the judgment of Messrs. Larkin, Singer and De Witt Cochrane, but indications point the other way.

The fair golfers of Dyker Meadow are rapidly stealing from Morris County the distinction of being the most active women's club of the metropolrain and mud of the variety seen at Dyker Meadow this month is capable of anything, and, in spite of all the cups that are being offered, competitors in plenty have appeared to play for them. another tournament is to open, this time for a trophy offered by Mrs. T. M. Lloyd. The qualifying round is at eighteen holes, the first eight players to meet for Mrs. Lloyd's cup and the se eight for a consolation cup, presented by Miss Laura Wallace. Special interest attaches to the contest from the fact that the winner is to receive title as club champion. To-morrow both sets will meet at eighteen holes, match play, and on Thursday the semi-finals will be decided. The survivors on this occasion will meet in the finals on May 7. The entire tournament will be played without handicaps, using the full double circuit of the links.

Team matches will form a more popular feature son. May 18 is the date set for the opening match against the Tuxedo team, at Montclair. Other dates arranged are: May 25, Montclair against North Jersey Country Club, at Montclair; June 6, mixed foursome team match with Englewood, at Montclair; June 20, mixed foursome team match with Essex County Country Club, at Montclair; July 6, Montclair against Tuxedo, at Montclair, July 27, Montclair against Englewood, at Engle-wood; September 26, mixed foursome team match with Englewood, at Englewood; October 12, Mont-clair against North Jersey Country Club, at Pater-son, and November 9, Montclair against Englewood, won the metropolitan cross country championship, neld yesterday under the auspices of the Star Athletic Club, of Long Island City. The run was over the Long Island course for cross country runners. The Pastime Athletic Club scored 35 points and the Xavier Athletic Association team finished second. There were only three clubs represented. The race was won by John J. Joyce, of the Xavier Athletic Association, who covered the distance of about eight and one-half miles in 56 minutes 3 seconds. J. McGarry, of the Pastime Athletic Club, was second; C. L. Brady, of the Xavier Athletic Association, third; F. X. Hussy, of the Star Athletic Club, fourth, and J. H. Kelly, of the Pastime Athletic Club, fifth.

The race was in doubt until L. Markheim, of the Pastime Athletic Club, the fifteenth man to finish, crossed the line. The Pastime team was composed of J. McGarry, J. H. Kelly, D. A. McMahon, P. Soutar, jr., and L. Markheim. John J. Joyce, the winner of the race, won by about four hundred winner of the race, won by about four hundred yards. He is the former junior champion cross country runner of County Gaiway, Ireland. It was expected that J. McGarry, of the Pastime Athletic Club, would win the race. There were about fifteen hundred spectators present. The race was from scratch, and the runners were together most of the time. The Xavier Athletic Association men stood a good chance of winning until T. J. Vogellus, who was leading at the fourth mile, became ill. Although in no condition to run he finished the race.

THOUSANDS OF MEN AND WOMEN WIT-NESS SPIRITED BRUSHES ON

A throng such as the brushes on the Speedway have seldom if ever attracted visited the picturesque park yesterday. The sidewalks were black with people, and so were the rocky cliffs west of the driveway and north of Washington Bridge, while hundreds of fast trotters and pacers dotted the

The feature of the day was a series of brushes between Moth Miller, 2:07, and Swift, 2:164, the rival road horses of Dr. David Randall and John F. Cockerill. Five times they went over the half mile speeding ground, and after the last brush was over each proud owner had as much right as the other to say that his was the better horse. Moth other to say that his was the better horse. Moth Miller outfooted Swift so easily at the first trial that Mr. Cockerill's friends tried to dissuade him from renewing the seemingly unequal contest. But to their surprise it was Swift that won easily the second time down, Moth Miller breaking when within two hundred yards of the end of the speeding ground. The honors were just about even as the two horses passed the half mile post on the third trip. Then, after a rest, the pacer beat the trotter from start to finish quite handily, but Swift reversed the verdict in the fifth trial, leading his rival by a short neck after a brilliant contest.

Moth Miller was beginning to tire by this time, but his driver was not, and when David Lamar came along with his little pacing mare Nettle B. 2:16¼. Dr. Randell started his horse again. He was beaten a length, and on renewing the contest Nettle B. left the roan pacer many lengths in the rear

C. K. G. Billings, who had just returned from C. K. G. Billings, who had just returned from Memphis, where he and Frank Jones are building a new trotting track, brought out a new trotter called J. R. H., that captivated the critics. This horse is a dark chestnut stallion, of superb form and action, by McEwen, 2:18½. Mr. Billings started him in only one brush yesterday, easily drawing away from the Billings mares Emma S. and Arigal, 2:20½, driven to pole by Frank Jones.

Dr. H. D. Gill drove a strange bay pacer that Tartar, 2:131/2, alias Little Joker, that has given the harness racing authorities more trouble than any other horse in the country in the last three years. He won several pretty brushes yesterday, showing great speed.

J. S. Ehric held the reins over a new purchase the black trotter Alrich, 2:12½, formerly driven by S. F. Paul. George H. Huber introduced another newcomer in the chestnut pacer George A., 2:32¼, by Red Virgin, beating, among others, J. W. Cornish's chestnut trotter David B., 2:094. Frederick T. Steinway was out behind a fast young trotter T. Steinway was out behind a fast young trotter of his own raising that showed his heels to several of the cracks. Isaac A. Hopper, who has lately taken to driving on the Speedway almost every pleasant day, drove his bay pacing mare Annie St. Clair, 2:21½, to the front in two brushes, beating Dr. Gill's Pearl J., 2:29½, and Alexander Frankenstein's Grant, 2:17½. Mr. Hopper had to ride in the dust, however, when he turned his mare for a brush with David Lamar's Red Lawn, 2:16½. Lucre, 2:18½, a brown pacing stallion owned by Mr. Hopper, defeated David B., 2:29¼, and George Wallace, 2:17½, in two pretty contests.

so far experienced this season for riders of the wheelmen out. The severe storms of the last few stiff and gloomy, and yesterday's opportunity was postponed from Sunday to Sunday in deference to mandates of sloppy roads, wet asphalt and muddy cycle paths were at last possible, and the insignia of club after club, with its string of uniformed riders following behind, were seen on the various thoroughfares in which the wheel predominates over other forms of pleasure riding

Boulevard and Riverside Drive and the smooth paths about Grant's tomb presented an alluring scene all day. In the morning on each of the roadways many riders pedalled up and down, and after church hours the throng became even greater. The most popular routes were those leading to the suburban roads. A goodly number went out over the Westchester roads, but the majority were bound for Coney Island. Many crossed the Brooklyn Bridge, and had their difficulties in crossing. The ferryboats carried numbers of cyclists. The Staten Island and Jersey roads were also in high favor, and the Merrick Road had its usual population. The riders were numerous in the vicinity of Valley Stream.

The Coney Island cycle path crunched under the tires of more wheels than it has on any other day this year. It is the opinion of those who keep resorts along the path that if yesterday's showing resorts along the path that if yesterday's showing is kept up cycling will be more popular than ever. The country roads never looked prettier or brighter. There was no dust, and the breeze was not strong enough to bother the riders. The recent rains had left the roads in excellent condition. The scene along the North Shore was inspiring. The roads were good, but the hills did not appeal to the average rider.

In Central Park and in Prospect Park there were thousands of riders.

Automobiles were also greatly in evidence in all the roadways, in Riverside Drive and in Central and Prospect parks.

Dr. Gottfried Pisck, of No. 250 East Seventy-second-st., was arrested by Bicycle Policeman Vanderpool at Central Park West and Ninety-second-st. in the afternoon for alleged violation of the automobile speed ordinance. The doctor was said to be running at a twenty mile an hour gait. Twelve miles an hour is the limit.

EUGENE DELMAR WILL BE THE FIRST TO PLAY WITH LASKER.

The directors of the Manhattan Chess Club anounced yesterday afternoon that Eugene Delmar will be the first to meet Lasker on even terms at the clubroom this afternoon, and not Major Han-ham. It appears that Delmar will have to leave the city to-morrow, and so the directors asked Hanham to make way for Delmar. It was also stated that only members and their friends, who must, however, be properly introduced, will have access to the exhibition games to be played by the champion during his stay at the club, as the rooms of the club would not permit big crowds

MOVEMENTS OF THE CHALLENGER. COMMENT ON THE SHAMROCK AS SHE WAS TOWED DOWN THE CLYDE.

Glasgow, April 28 .- In the opinion of those responsible for sailing Shamrock II in the races for the America's Cup, the five weeks available for preparation and trials are considered quite little enough time for the work. Every effort, therefore, will be made to hurry things forward. Within an hour after she was formally handed over by the manager of the Dennys, she started for the Solent, in tow of the Erin; and there is still hope that she will be ready for her first spin under canvas by Thursday.

If this should be found impossible, she will not hoist sail until Saturday, Captain Jameson and Captain Sycamore being agreed that though they are not superstitious there is no sufficient reason for "tempting Providence" by starting

BIG FLEET FOR LAKE TROPHY.

Chicago, April 28 (Special).-The prosperity of yacht clubs through engaging in international racfor the Canada's Cup the membership of the Chicago Yacht Club has jumped from eighty to four hundred. The date of the first race in the series for this trophy has been arranged for August 9. One of the favorites for the coming trial races is the Yankee, a centreboard craft designed by C. G. Davis, of Bayonne, N. J., who sailed the last winner, the Genesee. Over all, the Yankee measures 44 feet 6 inches, over a 28 foot waterline. Her draught, exclusive of board, is only 20 inches, with a beam of 11 feet. She carries 6,000 pounds of inside ballast. The Jones & Laborde design for Mr. Nunnemacher, of Milwaukee, is fifty feet over all. with only 8 feet 9 inches beam, small draught and a long waterline, spreading only 1,000 feet of sail. She will be launched in the coming week. Since the report has gone abroad that the Crowninshield defender Iilinois fails to steer satisfactorily, she has lost place in the opinion of some local yachtsmen, and the Hanley design, which is being built at Quincy Point, Mass., for Commedore Shaw, of Detroit, is thought to be among those having the best chance of winning in the trials. A similar view is held of the Desmond design, also of Detroit. In support of the challenge, the Rev. Father O'Brien, of St. John. N. F., has designed a craft of peculiar model for Captain Fearnside, of the Royal Hamilton Yacht Club. This vessel will be named the Canadian, and she is a distinct departure from the conventional types of racers. The design of the defender, sketched by H. H. McGregor, of Milwaukee, for Mr. Nordberg follows the style of the deep draught English cutter. She will be sailed by Cyrus J. Williams and N. H. McGregor, assisted by members of the Milwaukee Yacht Club. She will be launched in the coming week. Since the

A NOVEL RACE AT TORONTO.

Toronto, April 28 (Special).-On June 22, under the auspices of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, a race will be sailed containing some novel features, which, it is thought, might be acceptable on one of the days in the Larchmont race week or on one of the Seawanhaka Corinthian outings. It is a plan for combining the smartness of the respective crews with the speed of the yachts. At the start the vessels will be at anchor or at moorings, with canvas stowed. At a signal the crews will hoist sail and go over the course. On returning they will anchor, lower sails and stow them and row ashore in small boats, the first crew to land to be de-clared the winner. The details have been left to a sub-committee, which intends to order the boats while racing to lower away light sails, reef mainwhile racing to lower away light sails, recef mainsails, rescue a man who shall fall overboard, then hoist again and proceed to the finish. The following yachts are entered: H. C. McLeod's imported

M. BAPTISTE AND THE POLICE. Paris correspondence of The Pall Mail Gazette. An eccentric individual, of whom it will suffice to give the Christian name, which is Baptiste, is at present causing the police some little trouble and the magistrate some perplexity. M. Baptiste, for aught the world has been informed to the contrary, may be, as a rule, a model of sobriety, but horses and Carriages.

HARRIS & NIXON. HARNESS AND SADDLERY,

13 WEST 27TH ST.,

according to his own admission he found himself quite undentably drunk on a certain eventful night in his life's history. While in this regrettable condition he essayed to betake himself to bed, but on his arrival at his lodgings an unmanageable latch-key involved him in serious difficulties. In desperation he broke open his door, but started back in horror on entering his rooms. There confronted him, dressed in white and in a reproachful attitude, the ghost of his sister, recently deceased. Baptiste fied, and, determined to put a respectable distance between himself and the apparition, hapassed the night outside the railway station and took the first train the next morning to Paris—for the scene of his adventure was a provincial town. To the despair of the authorities, he has remained in the capital ever since. Night after night he falls into the hands of the police, is taken to the station, and has to be released on the following morning after triumphantly establishing his innocence. His sole and unpunishable crime is that he declines to go to bed. The fearsome spectacle which met his eyes the last time he entered a bedroom has made him vow that he will never again risk himself between four walls after nightfall. He is determined to sleep henceforth in the open air. The police, who find him on benches and under gateways, naturally take him to be a vagabond, and treat him as such. When his case is inquired into he is able to prove that he possesses the means to hire a night's lodging if he cared to. He is guiltless, in consequence, of any misdemeanor. Such sturdy belief in the reality of a ghost surely deserves the attention of the Psychical Society.
