THE NILE DAM OPENED.

GREAT WORK COMPLETED.

Flooding in Egypt's Historic River Now Under Control.

The dam at Aswan, where the waters of the Nile are being impounded in the new reservoir, was completed yesterday, and the work of obstruction is now completed as far as the construction is concerned. The opening of the dam will mark an epoch in the history of Egypt, for it will bring about a revolution in the methods of cultivation and irrigation in the Delta provinces. The new reservoir will have an area of 700,000 acres, and will be capable of storing an average of 300,000,000,000 cubic feet of water. The dam is 15 miles long and 500 feet high, and is built of masonry.
