HAMBURG BELLE AGAIN.

WINS ROSEBUDS STAKES.

A Sporting Finish Between Two Platers-Five Favorites in Front.

Sydney Paget's splendid filly Hamburg Belle added The Rosebuds to her list of victorious races this spring at the Sheepshead Bay inclosure yes-terday afternoon. The result was never really in not, but she had to settle down to real honest work to be on the safe side.

eligible for The Rosebuds, and yesterday seven of them accepted its conditions. With 120 pounds each the Paget filly and Senator McCarren's Ocean Tide conceded from ten to fifteen pounds to the other five. The first named was always a favorite hysterical plunge in the last betting on W. B. Jennings's Memoriam, who has won a number of races in the West, the market remained steady and strong on Hamburg Belle, and 1 to 2 and out was he best price obtainable.

Memoriam, who is a fine looking bay filly by Bassetlaw-Recollection, opened at 10 to 1, but in less than two minutes was played down to fours. Her performance yesterday did not justify this support and Odom had to use his whip freely to keep her in the hunt at all. The track may have been new to her and she may show to better adtage the next time

Hamburg Belle, quick as a cat behind the barrier, showed her heels to her company from the start, and O'Neil kept a restraining hand on her until the last sixteenth, when Tepee and Ocean Tide, a number of lengths behind her, but fighting t out for second honors as though they were the only two in the race, gradually cut down her lead, and then O'Neil let her straighten herself out, and she won by an open length. Tepee and Ocean Tide finished heads apart, with the rest

The Rosebuds is over the last five furlongs of the Futurity Course, and was run yesterday in 0:594-5. One of the seven fillies was the Mexican Stable's Dusky, on whom there was a tremendous play the other day at Gravesend. She was also played hard yesterday, but was never better than

In a mile handicap for older horses J. B. Haggin's four-year-old Watercress colt Waterboy made first place.

Andy Williams, who in his preparatory gallop had thrown his stable boy, and ran half around the track and back before he could be caught, finished third.

The high priced two-year-old Pulsus, bought two months ago by E. R. Thomas, finally dropped among a group of youngsters that he could beat, and won a five and a half furlong sprint down the Futurity Course with James V. and Possession escorting him home. Van Ness again beat a crowd of selling platers at three-quarters of a mile. The track had dried out amazingly, and was almost fast. Five favorites won, Possession being the only unsuccessful one of the afternoon.

The second game was a sad disappointment, as the Giants seemed to be sure winners at in their favor. In the ninth, however, Mathewson runs. Slagle, first to the bat for the visitors in the ninth, flied to Browne. Casey singled, and Chance followed with another. Jones's hit filled the bases Tinker hit safe to right, sending in Casey and Chance. Evers was hit with a pitched ball, filling Jones and Tinker. Raub's single to right scored

No Definite Plans, Says President Bush, but Subject Has Been Discussed.

As far as could be learned from John T. Brush. president of the New-York Baseball Club, and other sources yesterday, no definite plans have yet been made to make Manhattan Field and the Polo Grounds one great athletic field. He said that the question had been under discussion. Mr. Brush recently said that the present grounds may have to be enlarged, owing to the great revival that has been taken in the game this year, due to the fne showing of the Giants.

Manhattan Field is just south of the Polo Grounds, and is owned by Mrs. James J. Coogan. The New-York Baseball Club now pays $15,000 annual rental for the field to prevent its possible occupancy by a rival team. The scheme as re-ported is to make the grounds into one immense ported is to make the grounds into one immense park, on which will be laid out a diamond, athletic field. football gridiron, cinder track and bicycle track. A three story grandstand, on the plan of the Cincinnati stand, was, it was said, to be erect-ed, to provide for fifty thousand persons. The carrying out of this project would cost fully $250,-600. The Coogans are said to have no objections to the proposed plans.

W. K. Vanderbilt Does Well in Ardennes Race Until Machinery Goes Wrong.

Brussels, June 22.-In the Ardennes circuit motor race to-day Baron de Crawhez was first, in 5 hours 52 minutes and 73-5 seconds, beating last year's time by one minute. Girardot was second, hours, 24 minutes and 291-5 seconds, and La Bahours, 24 minutes and 29.1-5 seconds, and La Banond was third. W. K. Vanderbilt, fr., was well up at the end of the first round, but he retired early in the second because of trouble with the mechanism of his car. Charles Jarrott, last year's winner, left the race owing to trouble with a tire. Only one serious accident was reported. A driver had a leg broken in a collision between two cars.

ONLY ONE ENDURANCE TEST.

The National Association of Automobile Manuacturers recently announced that it would promote run to Pittsburg, and the impression prevailed a run to Pittsburg, and the impression prevailed that this might mean an endurance contest as a rival to the one to Montreal, under the auspices of the Automobile Club. An official of the latter club said yesterday, however, that the club had held two satisfactory reliability runs, and if the manufacturers preferred to manage the one this year there would be no objection by the club. He said that the run to Montreal would be in the nature of a pleasure tour.

ROWING.

Details of Race Arranged-Harvard, '06, Beats 'Varsity.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Gales Ferry, Conn., June 22.-All the details of the race on Thursday, with the exception of tossng the coin for position and the choosing of minor officers, were settled this afternoon at a conference between Caytain Waterman, representing Yale and Captain McGrew for Harvard.

Julian Curtiss, chairman of the Yale-Harvard regatta committee, and W. A. Meikleham, the referee, were present. The 'varsity race will be rowed downstream at 12:30 o'clock. The 'varsity four oar race will be rowed at 11 o'clock downstream, ending at the navy yard. The freshman race will be rowed two miles downstream, starting at the navy yard, immediately after the finish of the fours. In case of postponement the freshman race will be rowed upstream, starting at 4:30 o'clock, the four oar race starting at the navy yard immediately after the freshman race. The 'varsity eight-oar race will be rowed upstream, starting at eight-oar race will be rowed upstream, starting at 6 o'clock. Mr. Meikelham was decided on for referee. The captains of the 'varsity eights will toss for position on Wednesday. A change in the flags at the mile and a half post was decided on. They will be twenty-five feet to the westward.

This evening Yale's 'varsity eight went out first, rowing down opposite Harvard's quarters, practis-ing at starting by the pistol. Then followed short stretches of rowing, while the coaches gave individ-ual coaching. Later the freshman eight went through the same practice.

The Yale 'varsity eight had a rest this morning while the coaches gave all their time to the freshman eight and 'varsity four. The mile was done by the freshmen in 5.15, with the stroke as nigh at thirty-two. The four-oar boat did a half-mile in 2:50. The conditions were poor. The rain con-tinued, and the temperature remains low. Among the latest arrivals at the Yale quarters are Cameron, last year's coach, and Armstrong, captain of the '98 'varsity crew

the '98' varsity crew

Harvard's 'varsity and freshman eights had a warm brush this evening for a half mile, starting at the upper end of the course and rowing downstream. The freshmen won by several feet, in fast time—about 2:29. The tide was ebbing, and a strong breeze aided the shells materially. Before this sprint the two crews lined up opposite the start and practised in getting away at the crack of the pistol. The two crews then went down the river, probably to get away from the Yale launch and 'varsity eight, which were working near. Harvard's practice was unsatisfactory this morning, probably because the water conditions were poor. It seems to be in order for the freshman eights at both quarters to beat the 'varsity boats, for in a half mile sprint this morning the youngsters led the older oarsmen by several feet. Coach Higginson gave considerable of his time this morning to the 'varsity four. Hartwell was in Swaim's seat at bow of the 'varsity eight this morning. breeze aided the shells materially. Pennsylvania Freshman Barred from

Friday's Regatta. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 22.-Three days remain Foughkeepsie, N. 1., June 22—Infee days remain before the big intercollegiate regatta on Friday, and most of the crews took their final hard prac-tice to-day, in preparation for it. Columbia is the topic of conversation here to-night, because popular sentiment is steadily tending toward the belief that the blue and white has a very speedy eight, which very nearly approaches the ability of the 1901 eight, which came close to beating Cornell. It was announced late to-night that Drayton, No. 6 in the Pennsylvania freshman crew, had been disqualified from rowing in Friday's regatta by the Cornell's carsmen took the hardest work of any of the colleges to-day. This evening the Ithaca men rowed ten miles at a good clip to make up for their Sunday's rest. In the afternoon both the Cornell crews rowed up to the head of the four-mile course. The freshmen had about twelve seconds start, and then the 'varsity began rowing a twenty-eight stroke, which was continued until the fourth mile, when the 'varsity went to thirty-four and rowed to the limit. The freshmen covered the full four miles, and, without considering the handicap, were beaten by about six lengths. Courtney did not announce the time, but it was slow because of the low stroke of the first two miles. Cornell's eights rowed to-day eighteen miles. Columbia's men rowed about ten miles during the day. There was no racing or time trials, and the day. There was no racing or time trials, and will be none, as Edward Hanlan is anxious to keep his men in their present good physical condition. Hanlan shook up his freshman eight again, putting Greeff from No. 5 to No. 3. Rich back at No. 5 and Hollister (No. 3) out of the boat. The shell travelled faster this afternoon than it has vet done. Wisconsin rowed a four-mile time trial, but the usual policy of secrecy prevailed, and nothing was announced. Georgetown and Syracuse rowed as announced. Georgetown and Syracuse rowed as usual, but not much interest is expressed regarding them. H. R. Odell, the Governor's son, was a visitor at the Columbia crew's quarters to-day.

NEW-YORK OARSMEN PROTEST.

Say That Local Entries Are Thrown Out at American Henley Because of Jealousy.

At a special meeting of the Harlem Regatta Asciation, held last night at Pabst's, on West Onehundred-and-twenty-fifth-st. the secretary of the association was directed to address a letter to the American Rowing Association, of Philadelphia, who control the American Henley, asking for a better explanation as to the reason for returning the en-tries and entrance fees of C, F. Titus, "Jack" Varley and John Mulcahy, of the Atalanta Boat Club, and Frank Vesely and Frederick Budrie, of the First Bohemia Boat Club.

The rule under which the entries were refused

s declared to be meaningless, and a detailed explanation is asked for. Should this explanation not be forthcoming, a letter will be addressed to the executive committees of all the boat clubs along executive committees of all the boat clubs along the Harlem and Hudson rivers, asking that the entries of men from those clubs be withdrawn.
