District Attorney Jerome a Tribune reporter learned last night, made a written statement vesterday announcing that he would be willing after December 18 to prosecute the Mutual Life for alleged coercion. The announcement that Mr. Jerome would take no immediate action excited great interest in insurance circles, representatives of the Mutual Life Policyholders' Association and other "opposition" interests criticising what they termed Mr. Jerome's "change of front" at the eleventh hour.

It was asserted that not only had Mr. Jerome intimated that he would begin action forthwith, but that, at the District Attorney's request, E. O. Sutton, the company's ex-manager, had arranged to visit this city yesterday, the arrangement being cancelled only at the last moment. So late as Friday it was said Mr. Jerome had instructed Nathan A. Smyth, an assistant district attorney, to "go ahead and prepare your case."

It is understood that a wish "not to make the District Attorney's office a party to insurance electioneering" was the reason vouchsafed by Mr. Jerome for his proposed delay in taking action.

Following the news of Mr. Jerome's announce. ment came details of the line of action which it was said he had promised to take in an immediate prosecution of Mutual Life officials. Mr. Jerome, it was asserted, had intimated plainly that either yesterday or to-day he would go before a police magistrate and on the strength of a deposition by Mr. Sutton, ask for a warrant for the arrest of at least one Mutual Life official on a charge of coercion. It was even stated that the recent conference between Mr. Jerome and James McKeen, the company's general solicitor, and the associate of Charles E. Hughes in the insurance investigation, was to arrange the final plan whereby the company was to obtain a writ of habeas corpus from the Supreme Court, as in the Perkins case, thus obtaining a release for the official before he could be actually committed

Late in October, after taking with him to Lakeville and carefully inspecting the "coerclon" affidavits and other evidence submitted to him, Mr. Jerome, it is declared, announced that he believed he had a "clear case" against cer tain Mutual Life officials on a coercion charge even if a conspiracy charge would not lie. Accordingly, criminal suits then pending wer dropped or held in abeyance, it is said, in order not to embarrass the District Attorney.

Mr. Sutton's two visits to the Criminal Courts Building and his instructions to hold himself in readiness to testify for the people this week, followed, lending color to the belief, it is asserted. that Mr. Jerome purposed to take immediate action. Late on Monday Mr. Jerome said he would make his decision after the elections, and it was in a statement issued late Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning that he announced that he would take no action until next month. In opposition to Mr. Jerome's reasons for delay it is alleged that if Mr. Jerome is convinced that the Mutual Life violated the Penal Code by coercion, such coercion was continuous, and that nly the coerced manager and policyholders, policyholders in general, are suffering an

To Be Asked to Become Candidate for Presidency.

Stuyvesant Fish, a Tribune reporter learned yesterday, is to be asked to permit the use of his name as a candidate for the presidency of the Mutual Life, should one of the two "oppositickets succeed at the December elections.

As told at the time of the framing of the 'united committees" ticket, for several months Mr. Fish's name has been under consideration he presidency should the administration

Seven shipwrecked sailors of the British barken-tine White Wings, who had given up all hope of setting foot on land again, were rescued early Tuesday morning and brought to port yesterday by the German tank steamer Mannheim, from Copenhagen. The men of the White Wings were almost overome from exposure and lack of food, and had not the Mannheim been held back by a heavy westerly gale on Sunday and Monday it is likely that she The barkentine left Bridgeport, N. S., for New York November 2 with a cargo of 400,000 feet of lumber. Early Sunday morning she ran into a stiff gale from the north, which lasted for sixteen hours and developed into a hurricane. The straining and pitching in a furious sea caused the mast to snap off below decks, ripping up the deck for a circle of seven feet radius. Great seas rolled into the hold before the crew could ever up the gap teft by the shattered mast. The wind went down r a few hours on Monday morning and the imps, which had been of little use in the hurcane, were worked continuously throughout the alm. The seams forward were badly rent and the water flowed in quicker than it could be pumped out. On Monday night another hurricane shattered the White Wings from stem to stern. Two lifeboats were carried away with the rail.

A steamer was sighted on Monday night about a mile to the castward. The White Wings burned a flare light from the bow, but the steamer did not see it and was soon out of sight. At midnight the cargo, which had kept the barkentine affoat since the first hurricane, began to shift and break up. Fearing that they would be struck by flying tim-ber, the men sought refuge in the forchouse. Their fiare light went out a dozen times, and each time was relighted a man risked his life.

The little food that remained aboard was soaked with water and unfit to eat. About 4 o'clock on uesday morning the Mannheim was sighted a ile to the southeastward. For fully ten minutes the men on the White Wings feared she had not een them and would disappear like the steamer hey saw the night before.

Suddenly the Mannheim signalled that she would come by and send out a boat. She waited until daylight and took the crew of the barkentine off in daynghit and took the crew of the barkersoo of an two boats. The wind was blowing half a gale from the northwest when the Mannheim haunched her boats, and it took nearly two hours to get the men aboard. By the time the Mannheim had proceeded two miles on her course the cargo of the White Wings was completely broken up and strung out 103

Schau of the Mannheim provided the dry clothing and sent them to the city before he put into Bayonne. The White Wings was in command of Captain M. J. McLeed. The crew consisted of Alexander Luscombe, the mate; Mortimer Sewer, H. H. Wade, August Brown, Morris Fuso and St. Clair Wilson.

HOLLANDER SUCCESSFUL?

Foreign Governments Agree on Plan to Adjust Santo Domingan Claims.

Baltimore, Nov. 7 .- Professor Jacob H. Hollander, who has returned to Baltimore after a three weeks' visit to Europe, where he went on a special mission for the State Department, to-day declined to discuss his trip, saying that it would be imroper for him to do in advance of his report to Washington.

It is understood, however, that the purpose of is visit abroad, which was to obtain the assent of he foreign creditors of Santo Domingo to a plan of adjustment of the claims against that republic, had been successful, and that all the principal foreign creditors have assented to the terms pro posed, thus insuring the ultimate success of the readjustment.

Professor Hollander's journey to Europe was aken after the financial negotiations which took lace during last summer, whereby the government place during last summer, whereby the government of Sauto Domingo entered into an arrangement with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of New York City, for the sale of an issue of $20,000,000 fifty-year 5 per cent gold bonds, conditional on the ratification of a treaty between Santo Domingo and the Unitde States whereby the United States should continue to handle the customs of the Dominican republic. The Morton Trust Company, of New York, en-gaged to act as fiscal agent of Santo Domingo in the adjustment of its financial affairs. After these arrangements had been completed a plan of adjustment was prepared whereby all outstanding obligations and recognized claims of Santo Domingo should be discharged out of the proceeds of the new loan and the sums already uncollected under the present American adminis-tration of the Dominican customs. This adjust-ment was to recognize the various obligations upon the basis of their respective priority, valid-ity and security, and to involve a decided reduc-tion in all cases, and in some instances a very drastic scaling of debt.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Nov. 7 .- Within the last six days five vessels, caught within the treacherous horns of the crescent shaped northern coast of the island, and driven by flerce northeast gales, have gone ashore, to become total wrecks amid the breakers. Six men have perished and others are in danger. On Friday the steamer Turret Bell stranded at Cablehead and has since been condemned. The crew was saved.

On Saturday the schooner Orpheus went to pleces at Campbell's Cove. Yesterday the Norwegian bark Olga met her fate at Black Bush, and last night the Russian ship Sovinto finished her career at Priest's Pond. The Norwegian barg Viking is ashore at Point Prim.

The Olga, an iron vessel of 1,081 tons, left Port Elizabeth, South Africa, September 1. bound to Campbellton, N. B., to load lumber for Australia, and was in ballast when she struck. A tremendous sea was on, and it was not until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, after many futile attempts, that communication with the shore was established. A heavy cable from the bark was made fast on the bank, and the crew launched the ship's boat. There were twelve men and one woman on board, and an attempt was made to reach shore by the assistance of the cable, but owing to the terrific seas the boat broke away, and, after tossing in the breakers, was dashed upon the rocks. Fishermen were there to give assistance, and they succeeded in saving every one of the boat's occupants. The boat, however, was destroyed.

The Sovinto, a ship of 1.650 tons, commanded by Captain Wiglund, was laden with lumber, bound from Campbellton to Melbourne, Australla. She struck on a bar and was broken in two by the great seas. Her men clung for hours to the sections, while the people on shore did not dare to launch a boat in the teeth of the ter-rific gale. To-day one of the crew floated ashore on a life buoy, terribly mangled. He was unable to speak English, and not one understood him. Later a boat was launched from the ship, but it capsized and six ben were drowned in the bil-lows. Nine of the crew were able to land, but six are still clinging to the wreck, one portion of which is three barries and the start of the which is three hundred yards and the other two hundred yards from the shore. They are in a most perilous position and will likely be swept to their death before morning, as the sea still runs high. All of the men who reached shore alive are injured, and two or three may not sur-vive. To-night the government steamer Stanley left here to the rescue, but it is feared she can here to the rescue, but it is feared she can-hot get close enough to be of assistance, even if any of the survivors still cling to the wreck. The Norwegian bark Viking, of Arendal, 830 tons, bound from Chatham, N. B., to Liverpool, with lumber, is ashore at Point Prim, on the south side of the island. A tug will leave here to-morrow to assist her.

Richibucto, N. B., Nov. 7 .- The storm of the last week is still raging in the Northumberland Strait to-night and efforts to get to the stranded Norwegian bark Adeona have failed. There is no sign of life aboard, and the crew of eleven is believed to have been swept to death by the huge breakers and the undertow as they at-tempted to leave the vessel.

BARK'S CREW MAY BE LOST.

Storm Prevents Rescue of Men from the Adeona at Rexton, N. B.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 7 .- Fears were expressed to-day that the crew of twelve men of the Norwegian bark Adeona, which was wrecked on Monday at Rexton, have lost their lives by the breaking up of the vessel. Five members of the crew are known to have been drowned while attempting to reach shore in a lifeboat. Two pilot boats got within a short distance of the wreck to-day, but there was no sign of ilfe on board. A gale prevented the tugs' men from boarding the stranded bark, oven which the waves were breaking. A body recovered has been recognized as that of the steward, who sought safety by means of the lifeboat. Several hats and life preservers were washed ashore to-day from the wreck, as well as a bottle containing a letter dated November 4, and stating that the vessel was stranded, but that all on board were safe up to that time. Whether Mr. Fish, like Paul Morton, of the Unfortunates Bled by Organized Equitable, would leave the railroad field to assume the presidency of an insurance company; whether he would permit the use of his name as a candidate in advance of the possible success of president-electing trustees, could not be learned yesterday.

Justice Bischoff, in the Supreme Court yesterday, denied a motion by counsel for ex-President McCurdy, to compel the company to make its complaint more definite in its suit to recover $3,370.341, with interest, as damages for Mr. McCurdy's alleged unfaithfulness and neglect. Justice Bischoff denied similar motions in the suits brought by the company against the expresident and Robert H. McCurdy, his son, and the members of the firm of C. H. Raymond & Co.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 7 .- The retirement today of Stuyvesant Fish as president of the Illinois Central Railroad, or the circumstances surrounding his retirement, caused Colonel A. M. Shook, a member of the International Policyholders' Association, to declare that the insurance scandal was back of it. When Colonel Shook read the announcement of the Illinois Central election he said:

Harriman and his associates have accom-lished one of their purposes, but they will ardly accomplish the other. The Harriman inphismed one of their purposes, but they are hardly accomplish the other. The Harriman in-terests have deposed Mr. Fish merely because Mr. Fish would not, as a member of the Trues-dale committee, agree to make a report of the affairs and management of the Mutual Life Insurance Company that did not state all the facts.

Furely for revenge, Harriman has waged a ruthless war against Mr. Fish since that date. These events prove conclusively that Mr. Fish is the logical candidate for president of the Mutual Life, and as a member of the executive committee, I take the responsibility of nominating him, and will do everything honorable in my power to see him elected."
