THE DRAMA.

MADISON SQUARE THEATRE.

Two plays, of a morbid and melancholy character,-one called "The Literary Sense"; the other called "The Reckoning,"-were presented last night at the Madison Square Theatre. Both are translations from German originals, written by Arthur Schnitzler, of Vienna. The former has several times been acted in German at the German Theatre, in Irving Place, under the name of "Lit-The new name, it is understood, has been provided by Mr. Lawrence, manager of the Madison Square. The translation of that play, which is in one act, has been made by Charles H. Genung. It involves two story writers, a man and woman, and it relates to an intrigue in which both of them have been involved, and about which each of them has written a story. The theme is exceedingly unpleasant. Observation of such a subject can neither obtain amusement nor derive

"The Reckoning" is another dose of moral "les son,"-that superfluously nauseous purgation which persons, themselves flatulent with the wind of "isms," are so ready to administer to the theatre-going public. A young man has had an inwith a married woman. He subsequently associates himself with an innocent girl, who loves him, and who believes herself to be loved by him, in return. He is challenged by the husband of the married woman; is forced to fight a duel; and, in that duel, he is killed. Information of his death and of the cause of that affliction is brought to his sweetheart, by a friend, and thereupon she is overwhelmed with grief. The "lesson" appears to be that "the wages of sin is death,"-a venerable chestnut, long held in theoretical reverence though, practically, much disregarded. The important point to the public, relative to plays about sexual sin, is not whether they are well done or ill done, but that they are done at all-a proceeding much to be regretted. It is a pity that Mr. Lawrence (all of whose productions have hitherto been clean and bright), should have felt constrained to open his theatre to such plays as these. Persons who wish to afflict themselves with tales of amatory woe, as provided by Miss Grey and her associates can do so at the Madison Square The-

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

The amusing farcical play of "Brewster's Millions," brought back to this city after a long and successful provincial tour, was performed last night at the Grand Opera House,—Mr. Edward Abeles reappearing in the principal part. This play contains more than one example of unfortunate "realism." The scene represents the deck of a steam yacht. A large mainsail is set in such sparks from the funnel would burn i within a few moments, while the boom would, overboard. When the owner comes aboard, at night, a sailer, on watch, lowers the blue light from the peak; and, as few auditors are familiar with nautical regulations and customs, most of them are distracted from attention to the scene by wonder as to the meaning of that proceeding.

BROADWAY THEATRE. Miss Anna Held's engagement at the Broadway

Theatre, where she is appearing in "The Parisian Model," will terminate on January 25. The next attraction at the Broadway Theatre will be Strauss's operetta, "The Waltz Dream.

HARLEM OPERA HOUSE. Bronson Howard's picturesque and stirring war play, "Shenandoah," was revived vesterday at the Harlem Opera House, and Mr. John Craig and Miss Beatrice Morgan, acting the principal parts with vigor and sincerity, gave pleasure to good audiences, both in the afternoon and evening

SAVOY THEATRE.

Mr. Broadhurst's interesting and potential play, "The Man of the Hour," has entered on the last week of its prosperous and eminently beneficial career at the Savoy Theatre. On January 20 it acted at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, while the Savoy stage will be devoted to farce.

DALY'S THEATRE

During the first two weeks, except on the Saturday evenings, Mr. Sothern will act the part with which his famous father, the brilliant Edward A. Sothern gained fame and wealth-Lord Dundreary. On the two Saturday evenings Mr. Sothern will ap-

FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE.

The particular attraction here this week is the enlists the service of forty persons. It was exhibited twice yesterday and, being a novelty, found the favor of two large audiences. Eva Tanguay, called the "cyclonic comedienne," contributes joviality to the performance by her eccentric ma ner of singing and dancing. Charles Evans, Harry Tighe's Collegians, the Seven Mowatts, the Otto Brothers and the Melnotte Sisters are in the bill. The Messrs. Keith & Proctor purpose to vary the offering here from week to week and eventually make it known throughout the country as a music hall of an exceptionally high order.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Vesta Victoria, the English music hall singer, who was brought to this country by Percy Will-tams, is the chief feature of the bill presented this week at his Colenial Theatre. It was on the stage of this theatre that she made her first appearance in this country, and the welcome she re-ceived on her re-entrance yesterday was ample proof of Mr. Williams's judgment and of the young woman's popularity. She sang a number of new songs and a few old ones, all of which were enjoyed by a numerous audience. An extra attraction here is M1 Julius Steger and his company in "The Fifth Commandment." Of this piece it is enough to record that Mr. Steger has been acting in it for two seasons. Sleed's pantomime company, Mile. Louise Agoust, the Six American dan-Julian Rose, Brown and Nevare, Gus Edwards's in the performance.

VICTORIA THEATRE. Hetty King, the male impersonator, who enjoyed a prosperous engagement at the New York Theatre, heads the list of performers this week at Mr. Hammerstein's Victoria Theatre. She gave several of her popular impersonations, including that of the sailor, and was roundly applauded. Julian Rose, Brown and Nevare. Gus Edwards's "blonde typewriters," John Hyams and Leila Mc Intyre, Laddie Cliff and the Dollar troupe of acrocontribute to the hilarity. It is announced that May Irwin will be the particular source of merriment there next week.

NEW YORK THEATRE.

George Evans, known as the "Honey Boy," has revised his monologue, and the revision pleased the audience at the New York Theatre yesterday, where it was presented for the first time. Miss Lucy Weston is in the bill, and her special offering was a song called "Rake's Progress." Collins and Hart, the Danie sisters, the Eight Yiulians. Whit Cunliffe, Madge Fox and Marstro and Oretta shared the generous applause.

THE HIPPODROME.

The spectacles of "The Battle of Port Arthur" and "The Auto Race" were enjoyed yesterday by two large audiences. As an extra feature of the elty circus," a group of performing cats and pigeons was introduced. It is the purpose of the management to vary the circus bill from time to

OTHER VARIETY THEATRES.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.

Mr. Hymack, the chameleon comedian, is a pleasant feature of the bill here this week. His impersonations have been cordially received at other music halls, and are likely to find favor with the audiences at the Alhambra, if the applause with which his entrance was greeted at both performances yesterday means anything. Nellie Wallace and Fred Karno's "Speechless" comedians are extraordinary attractions, and the latter present the rollicking pantomime of "A Night in an English Music Hall." George Felix and Lydia Barry appear in "That Boy Next Door." Clifton Crawford, Dolan and Lenharr and the Quaker City Quartet contribute to the merriment.

DEWEY THEATRE.

The Empire Burlesquers began a week's engage ment at the Dewey yesterday afternoon, and were heartily received. They presented two sketches "The Slave Mart" and "Casey the Piper." Riger Imhof is the chief comedian of the company. There are two performances here every day.

FIFTY-EIGHTH STREET THEATRE.

Two large audiences were in attendance yesterday at this theatre, and heartily applauded the clever travesty of "The Song Birds." which is the principal feature of the amusement. Burress is the leading performer in this company. James J. Morton, Kennedy and Rooney, Ruth Allen, the Kitabanza troupe of acrobats and Charles and Fanny Van are on the bill.

GOTHAM THEATRE.

The entertainment here this week is provided by a company of performers happy in the name of "The New Century Girls." That merry group appeared twice yesterday, and was heartily welcomed. There is a numerous chorus.

125TH STREET THEATRE.

Clarence Wilbur and his company, in a sketch called "The New Scholar," head the list of performers at this theatre. Lyster Chambers and Adeline Dunlap present a one-act play called "The Operator." Lala Selbini, Louise Henry, Hooey and Lea, James Harrigan and Leon Rogee are

TONY PASTOR'S THEATRE.

The chief feature of the entertainment at Mr. Pastor's playhouse this week is a laughable Irish sketch called "The Birthday Party," and "Pat" Touhey is the principal performer in it. Laura Morris, Kelso and Leigh, the Marinellas, Geraldine McCann, Wood and Lawson and Reno and Richards contribute to the hilarity.

UNION SQUARE THEATRE.

Robert Hilliard and his company began a week's engagement here yesterday afternoon, appearing in a new one-act play. Bobby North, Melville and Higgins, Alfred Kelcey, Macart's monkeys and the La-Vinne-Cimaron trio are entertaining features of the performance.

MME. TETRAZZINI HAS FIRST REHEARSAL.

Tetrazzini spent most of the afternoon at the opera house, where she met many people prominent in the musical world.

AT THE OPERA HOUSES.

"La Traviata" was repeated last night at the Metropolitan Opera House, with Caruso, Sembrich, and Edson. Scotti, Girerd and Jacoby in the cast. Mme. Sembrich was heartily applauded and shared with Caruso the honors of the night. At the Manhattan Opera House "Louise" was sung again, before a numerous audience, and Mary Garden was greeted with much enthusiasm,

HAS FORTUNE IN AUSTRALIA.

$10,000,000 Estate Left by Brother.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Fitchburg, Mass., Jan. 13 .- The death of a brother whom he had not seen in fifty-five years has made William Meehan the possessor of an estate thought to be worth $10,000,000. Notice that he was sole heir of his brother, said to be one of the wealthiest mine owners and ranchers of Australia, was given him to-day by a Boston lawyer who represents the executors of the estate

Meehan, with one brother and their parents, came to this country from Ireland fifty-six years ago. They settled in Fitchburg, where William bought a small farm. A year later the rest of the family went to Australia, and the brother James accumulated a fortune. He died two months ago, but not until to-day did William know of his death. He will depart this week for Australia.

"Such a reunion," he said, "would bring veter-ans together on both sides who might be imprudent enough in bearing and language to give offence and bring bitterness where there is now good feeling. We should let well enough alone." General Lee is also opposed to the national government pensioning Confederate veterans.

Dr. Britton Asks That Endowment Be Increased to $1,000,000.

At the annual meeting of the board of managers of the New York Botanical Garden yesterday, at No. 15 Broad street, the office of President D. O. Mills, it was recommended by Dr. N. L. Britton, secretary and director in chief of the garden, that its endowment be increased to $1,000,000. Under the present conditions the funds available for 1908 amount to $103,000, of which $75,000 has been appropriated by the city. The balance of $28,000 will come from the garden's investment funds.

To carry on the work of the institution it is estimated by Dr. Britton that about $125,000 is needed annually. In his report Dr. Britton calls attention to several contracts that will be carried out this year, the principal one being for five new glass houses, which are to be erected in accordance with the general plan of conservatories at a cost of $62,796. Eight thousand feet of walks were built in 1907 in the garden and a great deal of work done on drives, grading and bridges. It was recommended by Dr. Britton that established patns laid out and the rule enforced that visitors should use these paths in order to preserve the appearance of the garden and protect the vegeta-

At present the botanical library includes 20,458 volumes, and endeavor is being constantly made to add older literature of botany, now so difficult to obtain. The value of the gifts received by the garden in the last year amounted to more than $11,000. The membership is 1,167. According to Dr. Britton's report, the demonstrations and lectures to the children and teachers of the public schools last spring in connection with the nature studies were very successful, the attendance being as large as at the previous course. To simplify matte principals of the schools have recommended that the selecting and sending of children garden be taken up directly by the Board of Education, and pending a decision on this subject no lectures or demonstrations will be given this fall. In his report Dr. Britton gave an account of the work done in the last year by the garden explorers and of the additions made to the garden by

LECTURE ON "FRENCH SCULPTURE."

Last in Course on French Art by Royal Cortissoz at Brooklyn Institute.

With a lecture on French sculptors of all epochs, Royal Cortissoz completed last night the course of ten lectures on French art which he has been delivering at the Brooklyn Institute. He began his survey of the subject with some illustrations of work done in early mediæval times, showing that the French had a gift for plastic art even before they produced sculpture in the modern sense of the term. One of the specimens shown was an aquamanille, or water ewer, made in the shape of a horseman. The lecturer found the turning point of plastic art in France in the carvings on the old Gothic cathedrals. In the execution of these decorations the craftsmanship of the stone mason was richly developed and he became a sculptor.

From this point onward Mr. Cortissoz exhibited all the salient characteristics of French sculpture, traversing the Renaissance, the eighteenth century and the modern period. Masterpieces by Jean Goujon and Germain Pilon were followed by others by Coysevox, Coustou, Pajou, Clodion, Houdon, Rude, Carpeaux, Barye, Falguiere, Dubois and many others, the long procession being brought to a close with several examples of Auguste Rodin. Contrasting Rodin with Dubois, the lecturer differentiated the free and academic styles, and, while paying warm tribute to all of the virtues of the former, laid stress upon the latter as having been most characteristic of the French genius, expressing itself in plastic art.

After the lecture a reception for Mr. Cortissoz was given by Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe C. E. Brown at their home, No. 164 Hicks street.

THE ALDRICH CURRENCY BILL.

PERPETUATING AN EVIL SYSTEM From The Journal of Commerce

From The Journal of Commerce.

It may not be the deliberate purpose of the "emergency currency" bill introduced by Senator Aldrich merely to stave off action on any measure of real currency reform, but that will be its principal effect. What we need is legislation to give us a currency that will not produce emergencies, but will enable the banks to avoid them or overcome them by their own action. The Aldrich bill, if it should unfortunately become a law, would do nothing whatever to give elasticity to our bank currency, but would tend to fasten upon us more firmly the bond-secured circulation. . There are some minor provisions in the bill which it currency, but would tend to fasten upon us more firmly the bond-secured circulation. There are some mimor provisions in the bill which it would be useful to enact, but they can be easily separated from the others—in fact, they have no logical relation to them. These mimor provisions, which are the only good features of the bill, could be easily embodied in a separate measure and perhaps improved upon, but they cannot in the slightest degree redeem the character of the provisions for the "emergency currency," which are based upon a wrong principle and are calculated to make a bad system worse and render more difficult the task of replacing it with a good one.

NEEDS AMENDMENT. The Utica Herald-Dispatch.

It would appear that this Aldrich bill needs con-siderable amendment to make it an effective and satisfactory currency reform measure.

"A SUPERFICIAL EXPEDIENT." From The Springfield Republican.

The Aldrich bill is rather to be condemned as a superficial expedient of no particular use in itself, but mischievous in tending to perpetuate a banking and currency system which is generally recognized as calling Loudly for reform. "NOTHING CAN MAKE IT COMMENDABLE."

From The New York Times.

Nothing can make the Aldrich bill commendable, although it might prove an endurable corrective of such evils as we are passing out of.

"A MAKESHIFT." From The Boston Herald.

NOT A SCIENTIFIC REFORM MEASURE.

From The Indianapolis News.

From The Indianapolis News.

The country will hardly be greatly impressed with the Aldrich currency bill as a scientific measure of currency reform. It simply provides for a possible addition of $250,090,090 to the bond-secured bank circulation of the country. Probably it will occur to the skeptical that the main object is to create a market for bonds. For the bill provides that the security for the emergency circulation may consist of bonds of the United States or of any state, those of cities tunder certain restrictions), or first mortgage railroad bonds, not including street railway bonds.

Court Holds Criticism in Sunday Closing Case To Be Contempt.

Justice Marean in the Supreme Court yesterday found Canon William Sheafe Chase, rector of Christ Church, Brooklyn, guilty of criminal libel in having caused to be published a false report of court proceedings in connection with the Sunday closing injunction proceedings. The statements to which the justice took exception were given to a reporter of The Tribune and published in this newspaper. In passing judgment and suspending sentence the justice said:

"When a man is going to publish something that discredits the Supreme Court of this state he should be sure of the correctness of the report. The statement published plainly declared that the court did an unwarranted thing, a thing which the entire community would hold unwarranted. This article states that a decision was given that is just contrary to what was actually handed down; that is, the very evil that the statute providing for this proceeding guards against, that the court may be free from unwarranted criticism of its acts. It is plainly within the statute that makes a criminal contempt the publishing of a false report of a judicial proceeding.

"The defendant is plainly guilty and I so adjudge him. There was a reckless disregard as to whether the thing was true or not that brings this act within the meaning of an intent. Mr. Chase is a clergyman, and I have no desire to humiliate him beyond the humiliation that comes to him from his own act. I therefore suspend sentence.

In the interview in question Canon Chase said in regard to two moving picture shows in Brooklyn that the justice had granted an injunction restraining the police from making an arrest in a case of violation of the law, and that he thought it was a "very wrong decision." The decision of the court, which was read yesterday, restrained the police from interfering with the plaintiffs in the lawful conduct of their business, but did not restrain the officers of the law from making arrests.

After the reporter had told about obtaining the interview and had testified that he had verified it by reading it to Canon Chase, the rector said that he had no distinct recollection as to what he had Ralph K. Jacobs, the rector's lawyer, contended that there had been a confusion between the reporter and the clergyman over the meaning of the temporary injunction that the justice had granted.

Justice Carr, in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, decided yesterday that Police Commissioner Bingham and his deputy, A. J. O'Keeffe, were not guilty of defying the injunction, as it was no offence for the policemen to buy tickets or to do any of the other acts charged so long as they did not interfere with the moving picture show.

FOR BOTANICAL GARDEN CANON CHASE REBUKED. FATHER HANNA'S CASE

Congregation of Propaganda Awaits Fuller Explanation of Views.

Rome, Jan. 13.-The Congregation of the Propaganda, after a prolonged discussion to-day, falled to appoint the Rev. Edward J. Hanna, of Rochester, to the post of coadjutor Archbishop of San

No action was taken because the report on the matter of Father Hanna's candidacy did not contain all the documents required by the evidence for and against the charges that he is infected with modernism. When this report shall have been com pleted there will be another meeting of the congregation, at which a decision will be announced. Father Hanna is still thought to have the best chance for the San Francisco appointment.

The meeting of the Congregation of the Propa ganda was the most important held in a long time, the matter of the appointment of Dr. Hanna arousing considerable interest. Cardinal Martinelli, to whom was intrusted the task of placing the case before the Propaganda, submitted a long report which was unfavorable to the appointment of Dr. Hanna. Cardinal Martinelli was supported more or less warmly by the prefect, Cardinal Gotti, and Cardinals Segna and Vivesytuto.

Cardinal Satolli strongly and eloquently opposed their arguments, quoting passages from the fathers of the Church by which he sought to demonstrate that they had said substantially what was tained in the article, "Human Knowlege of Christ," which Dr. Hanna wrote and which appeared in a New York review. A number of the other cardinals sided with Cardinal Satolli, and Cardinal Agliardi spoke warmly in favor of Dr. Hanna.

The prefect, Cardinal Gotti, pointed out that the original denunciation against Dr. Hanna, which was made by Dr. Breen, professor of exegesis at St. Bernard's Seminary, in Rochester, practically was confirmed by Father Lepicier, general of the Servites, who as theological consulter of the Propaganda, had abstracted from Dr. Hanna's writings passages falling under the designation of "modern-

Dr. Hanna's friends retorted that when he wrote the article in question Papal condemnation of errors designated as modernism did not yet exist In addition, they pointed out, Dr. Hanna in a letter to Cardinal Gotti had satisfactorily explained his Cardinals Gotti and Martinelli insisted upon the stand they had taken, and decision in the matter was suspended by the congregation in order to give Dr. Hanna an opportunity to make public in America, through the review which published the original article, similar explanations as those he gave in his letter to Cardinal Gotti.

Rochester, Jan. 13 .- Dr. Edward J. Hanna refused to comment on the dispatch from Rome telling of the failure of the Congregation of the Propaganda to appoint him to the post of coadjutor bishop of San Francisco.

Bishop McQuaid made a statement to-day re-garding the origin of the charge of modernism against Dr. Hanna. He said that a prepared statement had been circulated among the members of the faculty. "Every member of the seminary faculty signed the paper. excepting Dr. Breen," said Bishop McQuaid, "showing conclusively that he was the one who sent out the report." Dr. Andrew E. Breen is one of the best known one of the faculty for seve al years. Dr. Breen gave out a long statement this evening in regard to the matter, in which he said in part: In regard to my action toward the reverend candidate, I declare that I did nothing that I should not have done to my own brother. There are doctrinal differences on certain points between the reverend candidate and myself. Now, being convinced that in some writings he had expressed loose views on some essential tenets, I called the attention of a friend in Rome to the aforesaid articles. I never wrote to the Propagands or to any cardinal. If the reverend candidate has held views dangerous to orthodoxy, he should not be named as bishop or archbishop. If his orthodoxy is proved to be sound he will suffer nothing. Rome never does injustice to a man.

professors of St. Bernard's Seminary, having been or archibing. Both of the sound he will suffer nothing. Rome never does injustice to a man.

Even were I in fullest sympathy with the reverend candidate's appointment, I should not have signed the statement which was presented to me. It was formulated and presented as an edict of Nero might have been given—"thumbs up" or "thumbs down." Such a policy crushes a man's character, instead of forming it, and makes him what has been apply called a "colorless nonentity. The right reverend bishop could have known of my action at any time by addressing to me a question concerning it. I took no measures to hide it. As I believe that airing these things in public benefit not the cause of religion. I have not sought publicity until I was compelled to make this defence of my own name. If Rome declares that the views of the reverend candidate are not contrary to the truth, I shall be the first to bid him Godspeed.

NEW BRONX EDUCATIONAL PLAN.

done for that place. In the fall of 1905 the work of the Bronx society was begun in a small way. It received encouragement in the educational work it was doing, and the incorporators look for great-er interest now that the facilities for reaching the people will be improved.

By arrangement with the Park Department of The Bronx the society will occupy the old Lorillard mansion. Lectures on scientific subjects will be given each week in the winter. Chancellor MacCracken, Dr. N. L. Britton, John H. Denbigh, Arthur B. Lamb and Olin J. Stephens are the officers. Dr. Britton will have the greater portion of the supervision, as chairman of the executive com-

"THE RED FLAG OF ANARCHY."

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: Shame! shame! shame! that the utterances attributed to Mrs Rose Pastor Stokes should go unpunished! To place the red flag of anarchy above our glorious Stars and Stripes! Our flag, dipped in the precious blood of our ancestors, our fathers and our brothers! When such sentiments are expressed in a public meeting to excite anarchy and crime of all sorts is it not time to invite all those who are dissatisfied with our laws to return to their own lands? Too much liberty has brought about this very condition. Men of New York, is it not time to look into these conditions that are a menace to the nation and make the punishmen A CONSTANT READER.
