The college gridiron, which has been warming up gradually, with more live coals than usual to warm things up in the early season, will be at white heat to-day, with additional fuel being piled on in half dozen places. Harvard plays Cornell and Princeton meets Dartmouth, in what are considered the two most important contests in the East. But Yale caught a Tartar in Brown last year, and may strike another snag to-day, and Lafayette, which beat cton, luckly it is true, is counted upon to provide stiff opposition for Pennsylvania a week before the coming of Michigan.

Dartmouth beat Princeton a year ago, and is a game ahead in meetings since 1905, with two victories and one defeat. The Tigers have found stiff going against eams not popularly rated as high as the Hanover eleven, but Dartmouth has met trouble, too, although the green goal line has not been crossed, the eleven sharing that proud distinction with Yale and Lafayette. When the elevens clashed at the Polo Grounds last year, Dartmouth won by R score of 10 to 6, previous recent encouners showing a Dartmouth victory by score of 6 to 0 in 1985, and a crushing de-leat in 1996 by a score of 42 to 0.

resumption of relations between Harvard and Cornell has a sentimental interst that outweighs, probably, the actual portance of the game. The sons of John Harvard and the scions of Ezra Cornell, friendly as relations in general are, have not been able to agree, so far as football is concerned, since 1897, when Harvard, as lways in the history of these games, arned a victory. Harvard won by a score of 77 to 0 in 1890, by a score of 20 to 14 n a much closer game in 1892, by 34 to 0 n 1893, by 22 to 12 in 1894, by 25 to 0 in 895, by 13 to 4 in 1896 and by 24 to 5 in 1897. Brown tied Yale last year, the score being 10 to 10, and Yale was mighty lucky missed both tries for a goal after touch-downs and that there was holding on the last play of the game, spoiling McKay's sixty-yard run for a third Brown touchdown, saving the Blue. Yale scored on a touchdown and a goal from the field.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 5.—The Harvard backfield coaches have settled on Leslie for Corbett's place at left halfback in the game with Cornell to-morrow afternoon in the stadium, while Hooper will play in McKay's position at tackle.

The practice to-day was light and short, being confined to a signal and formation drill behind closed gates. The coaches seemed well satisfied with the condition of

After the 'varsity left the field the Corneil team held a short secret practice, devoting much of the time to punting, in order to falarize the backs with the light in the big inclosure. The Ithacans are well prepared for a hard contest. Huribut has practicall, recovered, and will be used at right end in the later part of the struggle.

Harvard backers expect a victory for the Crimson. They feel that the home team is more powerful than the Cornell eleven and that the Harvard goal will not be endangered. Harvard will not attempt to run up a large score and will be content to pu'l off a modest victory

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] New Haven, Nov. 5.—The Yale football coaches changed their minds about a scrimmage to-day, the cool wave having improved the condition of the team, and cen minutes' play was ordered, the 'varsity twice taking the ball over from the 25-yard line for touchdowns. Captain Cox

Tom Shevlin, captain four years ago. reached here in time to drive the eleven through a hard drill in running back kickoffs. In his excitement Shevlin completely wrecked a new suit of clothes. Heffelfinger and Veeder were in uniform and coached the guards and backs.

Yale expects a comparatively easy time with Brewn to-morrow, and will start two players who have developed rapidly and who are claimants for first string places. Vaughan will go in at right end in place of Logan, and Savage will probably be at fullback. Daly's condition is not wholly satisfactory, and, although he may be started at right halfback, Francis more likely to play. Instead of using Corey at quarterback to-morrow, the coaches to-night decided to start Howe. The probable line-up follows: Left end, Kilpatrick; left tackle, Hobbs; left

PENNSYLVANIA. By Telegraph to The Tribune.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5 .- With the expectation that to-morrow's game with Lafayette will be one of the hardest of the season the University of Pennsylvania foot coaches worked their team lightly this aft-ernoon. In order to give the men a change of scene and air they were taken out to the grounds of the Philadelphia Cricket Club for a walk and a signal drill. They returned after dinner, and Smith, the head coach, announced that the line-up against Lafayette would be the same as against the Carlisle Indians. This means that Scott will play fullback in place of Hutch-inson, who has not yet been allowed to the team this season. Even if his leg does permit him to play he will have lost so much practice that it is doubtful if he can beat Scott, who has been showing unusually good form. Although the team's good showing against the Indians has aroused a great deal of optimism in the Quaker camp, there is no disposition to underrate Lafayette, especially since the latter defeated Princeton. So confident are Lafayette men that they will come down to the game in the morning on a special train.

NEW YOUR UNIVERSITY.
The New York University eleven long signal drill yesterday in preparation game with Rutgers to-day on Ohio Field. The drill was fast and snappy and the 'varsity ran through plays with a precision that pleased Hermann Olcott, the coach. The different formations were reeled off rapidly and there was little fumbling in the handling of the ball. Gorsh practised drop kicking, making a couple of pretty goals from the 45-yard line. A field goal by Yule defeated Wesleyan on Tuesday, and New York may need three points to beat Rutgers to-day. A secret signal practice was held in the gymnasium last night Ellife was on the field yesterday for the first time since he left the Wesleyan game in the first haif. His knee has come around well and he will undoubtedly play a part of the game to-day. Crawford resumed his position at right end yesterday and will be in the play this afternoon. > Protests of foul and a heated discussion made it impossible for Alfredo De Oro to take possession of the world's three-cushion carrom billiard championship last night. Both points were decided against Daly by Tom Gallagher at the end of the match last night, when the final score stood 150 to 119. Despite Gallagher's ruling, Daly protest-

However, the rule is uncertainly worded, and the belief was that De Oro would receive a more than $1,000 were ordered paid because of this belief on the part of the losers. De Oro played slowly at the start of the final string and Daly delayed the match by crafty work to leave the balls safe.

The latter made some brilliant shots, a seven-cushion natural on his twenty-first turn at the table and a three-cushion bank shot on his twenty-sixth turn being excellent. De Oro followed these later fine draw to the cushion in his thirtyfourth inning and a startling bank shot four turns later. After passing the hundred mark, Daly rapidly began to overhaul De Oro. He was playing well and a twice-around-the-table drive attested his skill. With De Oro at

RACING ENDS MONDAY

Besom and Black Oak Win Handicap at Aqueduct.

The racing season in the metropolitan district will come to an end on Monday. It was finally decided yesterday not to continue the current meeting at Aqueduct by taking the dates originally allotted to the Empire City Racing Association. Some horsemen were disappointed and many racegoers expressed regret that the final week of the season should be lost, but on the whole the decision was accepted philosophically.

interesting in spite of the fact that the horses in the various events could not boast much in the way of class. Mere selling platers appeared in the role of handicap horses in the fourth race, the carded feature, but the finish was close and hard fought, and this made up in part for the lack of quality.

Bonnie Kelso was the top weight, with 114 pounds up, and in all probability was the best horse, but Black Oak beat him half a length, thanks to a flying start and E. Dugan's while year fluish. Bonnie Kelso was so slow to sattle in his strike Kelso was so slow to settle in his stride was a good ten lengths or more behind Black Oak, which was sailing along in front, rounding the turn. He closed resolutely on the rail in the long stretch, but just failed to get up in spite of Butwell's best efforts.

Quantico was quoted at a prohibitive price in the first race and won, but not like a 1 to 6 shot. Garner had to drive him out to beat Aunt Jule by half a length. Fain's handling of Paradise Queen was painful, and those who have watched the boy carefully will be surprised if he ever makes a capable jockey. He pulled the filly up as the barrier was released, and then after racing her up into a contending position allowed her to swerve badly in the stretch.

King Cobalt tried to make a runaway race of the handicap at seven furlongs, but just when it looked as if he would gallop home the distance told and he hung so badly that Besom, running gamely under punishment, got up and won going away by a length. Hill Top closed a big gap and Racquet, too, came from far back after meeting with some interference rounding the far turn, which forced him back to last place. Hoffman, in a good position at the head of the stretch, failed to come on as he did in his last race with Rose Queen and Harrigan. Bang turned a form somersault in the third event that caused no end of grumbling. In a race on Monday she could hardly raise a respectable gallop and was beaten twelve lengths by Captain Swanson, which she had defeated in a previous meeting, and five lengths by Harvey F. It was said at that time that she was suffering from an ailing tooth, and, no doubt, she had recovered yesterday, as she won cleverly enough, beating Harvey F., among others, five or six lengths.

Petronius, the quoted favorite, had speed surpassed Daly, and finished with the best | for five furlongs, but tired in the stretch, and would hardly have been third if Ten Paces in moving up had not interfered Balke-Collender Company, which, as the holder of the emblem and purse, must de-winner, and this match will be played with Harvey F., a foul which was overlooked by the stewards.

Coonskin had the speed of her field in the fifth race and, opening up a gap in the first quarter, was never in danger. Glass appeared altogether too confident in the last furlong, but his mount had something in reserve to win by a length from Dixie Dixon, with Rustem, the favorite, third. Queen's Song, a strong paddock tip, showed a flash of speed, but found the

PICKED WRONG MAN.

So Says Johnson in Differing with Jeff ries.

Chicago, Nov. 5 .- Jack Johnson returned yesterday from Detroit in a big, new, blue and cream colored automobile, which he purchased in that city. He claims he can "I've been fined in nearly every town I've been in for speeding," he remarked with mingled pathos and pride in his tone, "an" I don' think it's right. I've never hurt anybody yet." Johnson's expansive smile was his chief sponse when the statement credited to Jeffries that he could stop him in six unds was repeated to him.

"Maybe the bout will end in six rounds," he said, "but Jeffries has picked the wrong man as winner."

Eisele, Present Champion, Must Beat Splendid Field To Retain His Honors.

The ten-mile championship of the Amateur Athletic Union will be decided at Celtic Park this afternoon, and one of the finest fields that ever raced for the title will face the starter. Eisele, the old Princeton star, who won the honors a year ago, is regarded as the logical victor to-day by many followers of long-distance running, but the field that he will have to beat is a wonderfully

George Bonhag, Win Bailey, Fred Bellars, the Indian, Tewanina; John J. Daly and Jim Crowley, the winner of several races at the Marathon distance, are the leading contenders, and there are those who prediet that the record made by Willie Day in 1889 may be broken. The race will start at 3 o'clock, and the best route for those who want to see it is by way of a Calvary ferry, in Long Island City, dule. The most important will be between the Manual Training and Commercial High Schools elevens on the latter's field at Albany avenue and Bergen street, Brooklyn. The other games are High School of Commerce vs. Townsend Harris Hall at Polo Grounds; Boys' High vs. Adelphi at Adelphi Field, and Brooklyn Prep. vs. Poly Prep. at Pely Prep. Field.

FOOTBALL AT COLUMBIA.

Enthusiastic rivalry of the most strenu ous character marks the struggle between the Columbia class elevens for the championship of the university, and in the remaining games in which the juniors play the sophomores and the seniors there promises to be as much feeling as if they were intercollegiate contests. The juniors have given up practising on South Field and on the last three days have had secret work at American League Park. It is the first Columbia team to practise there since 1905, when football was abolished on Morningside Heights. The sophmores will meet the juniors on South Field this afternoon in what should be one of the closest games of the series. Both teams are light and have made practically the same scores against the freshmen, whom both have defeated.

NO INTERCLASS REGATTA.

Plans for the fall regatta at Columbia, which was to have taken place on November 10, have fallen through, for Rice has found it impossible to have freshman can-didates row more than three times a week on the water, while practice on the other three days is held on the machines in the rowing room. According to Rice, the fresh-men would probably be able to row next Wednesday, but not sufficiently well to pete in a race. Therefore he has called it off More freshmen reported yesterday from the disbanded first year football team, and the squad now numbers between forty and fifty men.

In the semi-five Cup, for hunters, about two and a fival round to-merrow Mackey will play Tillinghast and Travis will meet Cameror of the home club. In the semi-final round to-morrow Mackey will play Tillinghast and Travis will meet Cameron.

One of the best matches of the morning was between Tillinghast and Shackleford. The first named rushed away with four out of the first six holes and at the turn stood 2 up. A little later Shackleford stood 4 down when another brace enabled him to win three straight holes, so that Tillinghast was only dormie 1 going to the home hole. This he won, and with it the match by 2 up.
The Travis-Satterthwaite match attracted the gallery, and if the Riverton man had taken advantage of his opportunities he might have earned golfing fame at the expense of the one-time champion. Out in 42, Travis turned for home only 1 up. Ho made mistakes at the twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth holes, but at that won two and halved the other, so that the match was his by a 4 and 3 margin.

Satterthwaite hits the ball with a base ball swing in a way to make a student of form weep. He is somewhat versatile, as last spring he and his partner won the two national bowling championship in Madison Square Garden

The summary of the day's play follows:

First sixteen, first round—Harry Mackey, Atlantic City, beat C. E. Van Vleck, Montclair, 2 up. L. A. Hamilton, Englewood, beat James Ernest, Wilmington, 2 up. J. M. It was alleged that in November, 1902, Hipple loaned to "J. K. Schwartz," said to be a fictitious person, $18,000, taking as security $18,000 of the retired bonds of 1892 which had not been cancelled. This ancellation, it is said, should have been made by Hipple. Again, in December of 1904, Hipple was said to have loaned to "W. H. Whiteside," another alleged ficti-tious person, $65,000, taking as security the $0,000 of unissued bonds of the series of 1895. In both cases, it was said. Hipple secured the proceeds of the loans
