

JOBS FIRST, HOME RULE NEXT—TAMMANY LOGIC

Senate Bill Changing Fire Department Telegraphic Service Reveals Platform Sham.

INCREASES CITY'S EXPENSE

Puts Many Employees in Uniformed Force and Raises Their Pay—Like the Cullen Police Measure.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Albany, Jan. 4.—The first bill of the legislative session in the Senate is a gross violation of the home rule principle proclaimed so loudly. It is fathered by Senator C. D. Sullivan, who probably thinks, with most of the Tammany men, that platforms are to stand on and should not be permitted to interfere with the serious business of politics—providing jobs and raises of pay for the faithful already in office.

This measure amends the Greater New York charter relative to telegraphic service in the Fire Department. It puts the telegraph chief inspector, foremen cable splicers, cable splicers, foremen linemen, linemen, wiremen, battery men, assistant battery men and groundsmen in the uniformed force of the Fire Department. The chief inspector is to have the rank of captain. The foreman cable splicers, cable splicers, foremen linemen, linemen, wiremen, battery men, assistant battery men and groundsmen are to have the title of wiremen but the rank and pay of firemen, and are to be graded as first, second, third and fourth grade firemen, as now provided for in the regular uniformed force.

Wiremen are not to be eligible to duty as firemen. The bill provides that they may not be promoted save in the telegraphic service. They are to be subject to regulations and pensions which apply now to members of the uniformed force.

This bill in working and purpose is very similar to the Cullen measure of last year, which Governor Dix signed, transforming the police doormen into patrolmen at considerable increases in salary. That measure fastened thou-

What "Lines" Do To a Face

We often see the effect of a beautiful gown or handsome hat absolutely spoiled by a neglected face. "Lines" normally, right around your eyes, ears, neck and chin, then it cannot be, bag, "line" or wrinkle and make you look prematurely old, dissipated or pasty.

Dr. Pratt can tone and tighten the skin, which removes "wrinkles," and thus corrects "baggy chin" and "drooping mouth," making it unnecessary to wear a "dog collar."

Come in and investigate Dr. Pratt's methods. He has been in the business a long time and knows what is safe and best to do. He serves more people in a week than all others put together do in an entire year. Remember this fact.

sands of dollars of extra expense each year on the city without giving any option to the city authorities. This Fire Department measure, it is explained here, would raise the pay of many, but not all, of those concerned.

HOWARD APPELLATE JUDGE

No Democrat Available, Sulzer Has to Appoint Republican.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Albany, Jan. 4.—Supreme Court Justice Wesley O. Howard, of Troy, a protégé of ex-Governor Frank S. Black, was this afternoon designated by Governor Sulzer to the Appellate Division, Third Department, in the place of Justice Betts, retired. There being no available Democratic justices in the district, the Governor was obliged to pick a Republican. Justice Betts is a Democrat, but Justice Hasbrouck, who was elected last fall to succeed him, is a Republican. The Governor acted on the recommendation of leading Democrats of Rensselaer County, while Albanians had sought the designation of Justice Alden Chester.

Justice Howard ran behind the Democratic candidate in Rensselaer County in 1902, while all the Republican county candidates were elected. He owes his election to the majority rolled up for him in Albany County. Justice Howard has been on the bench about ten years, but Judges Chester and Cochrane have served longer than he in this district.

"Justice Howard is essentially what is termed a man of the people," Governor Sulzer said, in announcing the designation. "His birth, early life, private career and judicial career have all shown him in that light. He is a man of broad sympathies and exceptionally hard, common sense. He does not cater to or occupy any state position beyond that occupied by ordinary citizens, and there has never been any scandal with reference to his conduct as a judge, but, on the contrary, his conduct of his judicial duties has been uniformly commendable. In his private life Justice Howard is beyond reproach."

SULZER "FINE," SAYS LUNN

Governor Saved from Arrest by Candidacy, He Tells Mayor.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Albany, Jan. 4.—Mayor Lunn of Schenectady called on Governor Sulzer this afternoon to congratulate him on the free speech utterance in his message.

"What do you think of the Governor?" the Mayor was asked afterward.

"Fine," he replied, "and I want to say right here that if he had been Governor from October 15 to 17 last I never would have been sent to jail in Little Falls."

Mayor Lunn was the Socialist candidate for Congress and his arrest took place while he was making a campaign speech. A strike of the textile workers was in progress at the time, and he was charged with inciting riot. The Governor told him this afternoon an interesting experience. "They probably had read advance copies of the Governor's message, with its declaration for free speech," said the Mayor.

After Lunn was arrested the Governor stopped at Little Falls to make a campaign speech. Alighting from the rear of his train, he asked where Mayor Lunn had spoken in Clinton Park, which is near the railroad station. The spot being pointed out, he proceeded to make his speech there. In the crowd was Long, the Chief of Police, who had ordered Mayor Lunn's arrest.

"Yes, and I'd arrest you, too, if you weren't the candidate for Governor," the Governor said to Long told him.

Mayor Lunn is awaiting trial on the charge of inciting riot.

"Why don't you subpoena the Governor as a witness for you?" a reporter asked him.

"I wouldn't have to subpoena him," replied Lunn. "I know he would testify for me in the interest of free speech without being subpoenaed."

The Mayor called attention to the fact that the Little Falls strike was settled on January 1, the day that Governor Sulzer took the oath of office.

"They probably had read advance copies of the Governor's message, with its declaration for free speech," said the Mayor.

SHORT SESSION—SULZER

Legislative Work Will End April 1, Governor Predicts.

Albany, Jan. 4.—The Legislature of 1912 will adjourn sine die by April 1, in the opinion of Governor Sulzer. He said today that he was looking forward to a "clean, short and efficient session."

The Governor said that he had no intention of interfering directly or indirectly with the organization of the Legislature or with the selection of its committees. He will send no important nominations to the Senate Monday night.

Letters are pouring in on the Governor at the rate of fifty or more a day inviting him to speak, but for the present he says that he will stay in Albany.

The Governor is devoting most of his time to the investigation of state departments, and expects to be ready to announce the third member of the commission. John H. Carlisle, of Watertown, and John H. Delaney, of Brooklyn, the members already selected, arrive here on Monday to begin the probe. The Governor said that he had received more than a thousand anonymous letters bearing on the inquiry, and while he does not believe that such communications should receive much consideration he will turn them over to the commissioners for their information.

The commission is expected to complete its inquiry into the executive department and the adjutant general's office in two days, and will devote only a short time to the Highways Department.

IGNORED COURT, IS FINED

Held in Contempt When He Refused to Obey Summons.

Just because you are a district captain you can't sniff at the orders of Justice Green, of the City Court. No, siree! Just look at what happened to Jacques Spiegel yesterday after the court's order had slipped his memory once or twice.

Jacques Spiegel, president of an election district in the 32d Assembly District, in The Bronx, he got into a little trouble with Rueckheim Brothers & Eckstein, of No. 61 Grand street, some time ago, and a supplementary proceeding was brought in the City Court to find out whether Jacques was able to settle the judgment against him. When several summons, which Stanley Hodes, process server, swore he served personally on the defendant, failed to "take," he was brought into court yesterday under a body attachment.

Hodes told the court that Spiegel had said he didn't have to pay any attention to court orders and didn't care for them anyway. Spiegel swore he had never been served, but Judge Green said:

"Spiegel felt he was immune, and I don't doubt that he proved exactly as it is claimed by the process server. He is mistaken and is judged in contempt and fined the amount of the judgment, $50.12, and in this action and $10 cost of the motion."

GARMENT WORKERS REFUSE MEDIATION

Quit Chamber of Commerce Arbitration Conference, Denying Truce.

EMPLOYERS STAND FIRM

Refuse Concessions on Wages and Working Hours—Strike Leaders Assert That All Employees Are Out.

All efforts of the arbitration committee of the Chamber of Commerce to bring about a settlement between the garment manufacturers and their striking employees were declared off yesterday when the strike leaders withdrew from the conference and refused to have anything more to do with the plan of settlement proposed by the committee.

This plan was for the appointment of a commission to investigate conditions in the shops on all points except wages and hours of work. The commission was to have no mandatory powers, but was simply to report recommendations.

"The representatives of the clothing trades in the conference," said Thomas A. Rickert, general president of the garment workers, yesterday, "absolutely refused to concede the question of hours and wages as a point to be considered by the commission. Hours and wages are the main points at stake. The thing was a joke. They demanded a truce, to be followed by several months' investigation, and then, after all was said and done, nothing would be settled except a few minor points, and they only in the form of recommendations."

"The workers in the garment union are not opposed to arbitration, provided both sides agree beforehand to the points to be arbitrated. No such agreement could be reached at the Chamber of Commerce meetings, nor could we even get the employers to agree to a commission with mandatory powers. Therefore, there was no real effort to gain arbitration. We do not believe the employers are willing to arbitrate. There are no plans for arbitration now afoot."

Maintain All Workers Are Out.

Mr. Rickert said the garment-making trade was the only industry in which no concessions had been made to the workers for the last ten years. The standard of work turned out, he said, had been raised, and the cost of living had increased, but no advance in wages had been granted to the garment workers. Other labor leaders reiterated their opinions, expressed several days ago in The Tribune at the beginning of the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce to bring about peace, that they had no faith in that body, since it was now composed of capitalists.

It was said yesterday that practically 100 per cent of the workers were now out on strike, and that the cessation of the efforts at settlement would mean from now the prosecution of the strike on more militant lines.

"There will undoubtedly be great suffering," said Mr. Rickert, "but we are confident that the workers will fight on, no matter what their condition."

The war chest of the union was materially strengthened for the continuation of the fight by a gift of $1,000 from Joseph S. Marcus, a former clothing manufacturer, now president of the Public Bank of New York. In his letter accompanying the donation Mr. Marcus said:

"If this strike must be continued, it is my earnest desire that the parties to this controversy shall by persuasion, argument and reason seek to settle their differences. As one interested in the welfare of the working masses, and knowing of your need for financial aid, I take the liberty of inclosing my personal check for $1,000, which you will kindly apply for the benefit of those most needy of support among you."

Hopes for Arbitration.

Mr. Marcus also expressed his belief that the trouble should be referred to an arbitration committee in which both sides could have confidence.

An open air mass meeting was planned for yesterday afternoon in Rutgers Square. Only a few hundred people straggled into the square during the afternoon, however, and the meeting was abandoned save for a few street corner speeches.

There was one small disturbance during the day at Astor Place and 8th street, during which a mob jeered the police, who had been sent there in expectation of trouble. When the police undertook to disperse the mob, under the lead of Captain Sullivan, some one threw an apple, striking the captain in the head. The man who threw it, a striker, was fined $10 for assaulting William Allegro, who said he was a private detective. Jennie Frezolina and Tony Lechonek were each fined $10 for disorderly conduct for getting too strenuous in their picket duty at No. 326 East 32d street.

DRIVES OUT HORSECARS

Court Orders Dry Dock Line to Run Electric Vehicles.

Albany, Jan. 4.—Attorney General Carnody has secured a court order requiring the Dry Dock, East Broadway and Battery Railroad Company of New York to abandon all horsecar operations on its lines in New York City and substitute electric cars. In addition, the franchises of the company in several streets have been ordered forfeited because of the failure of the company to operate cars.

Frederick W. Whitridge, president of the Dry Dock, East Broadway and Battery Company, said last night that the present legal proceeding was an old one just being cleaned up by the courts.

"The forfeitures are on old franchises abandoned on the East Side," said Mr. Whitridge, "and there have not been any horsecars operated by the company for months. I was the first man to get rid of horsecars in town."

COURT FINDS LEGAL FRAUD

Southern Pacific Must Wait Until $1,200,000 Has Been Paid.

Los Angeles, Jan. 4.—Charging that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company had been guilty of a "legal fraud" in its manipulation of the California Development Company, an irrigation concern, in the Imperial Valley, Judge Walter Bordwell, of the Superior Court, rendered a decision to-day which prevents the railroad company collecting a judgment for $1,200,000 until claims aggregating $1,200,000 against the irrigation company have been paid.

According to the decision, the Development Company's property, including a great irrigating canal, was sold to the railroad company and the New Liverpool Salt Company of San Francisco $200,000. The Southern Pacific may then collect its residue on its judgment obtained in 1909.

LIVES ON $21,000 A YEAR

Standard Oil Man's Heir Still Has $4,000,000 Trust Fund.

It cost Hunt Tilford Dickinson, grandnephew of Wesley Hunt Tilford, who was a vice-president of the Standard Oil Company when he died in March, 1909, $42,825.04 to live for two years, according to the accounting filed in the Surrogate's Court yesterday by Henry M. Tilford, trustee of the $4,000,000 fund created for the benefit of the young man by the will. The instrument provided that the trustee should pay to the young man's guardian such part of the income "as he deemed proper" until Dickinson reached the age of twenty-one. After that he was to receive the whole income until he was thirty-five, when the principal should be paid to him.

Mr. Tilford's accounting covered the period between August 1, 1910, and November 9, 1912, but the amount put down against the support and maintenance of young Dickinson was paid out between September 2, 1910, and September 3, of last year. During the whole period the principal increased from $3,691,782.92 to $4,081,116.73.
