

SOCIETY GATHERS FOR POLO MATCH

Foreign Diplomatic Corps, National and State Officials to See First Game.

SWARM OF VISITORS FILLS CITY'S HOTELS

Miss Gardner to Become Howard Burgess's Bride This Afternoon.

Society from every large city in the country, members of the foreign diplomatic corps and officials of the national, state and city governments will be represented to-day at the first of the international polo games at Meadow Brook. All the hotels are crowded, and the country places near New York are filled with visitors in whose honor there will be much entertaining this evening.

Many will have luncheons in town at the fashionable restaurants and hotels to-day before going out to the game, while others will motor from country places on the island. Many small informal dinners and theatre parties were given in town last night, and the restaurants and hotels were almost as gay as at the height of the New York season.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Frew, of 140 West 86th st., gave a luncheon yesterday at their country place at Hempstead, at which they announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen E. Frew, to Ralph Peters, jr., son of Ralph Peters, of Garden City. Mr. Peters' father is president of the Long Island Railroad. He was graduated from Princeton, class of '08. Mr. Frew is president of the Corn Exchange Bank.

Miss Amy Barradell Gattiner, daughter of Clement Edward Gattiner, eldest son of the Right Rev. Frederick Burgess, Bishop of the Long Island, this afternoon in the Cathedral of the Incarnation, Garden City. Bishop Burgess, assisted by the Rev. Dr. John Robert Mores, dean of the cathedral, will perform the ceremony, which will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Summerfield, Garden City.

Miss Helen Gattiner Gardner will be her sister's maid of honor; Miss Gladys Miller, of Philadelphia, will be the flower girl, and Arthur Z. Gardner, brother of the bride, will be page. Edgar Barton Burgess will be the bride's best man, and the ushers will be George Burgess, Kenneth Gardner, Herman Beale Spelman, Clement Edward Gattiner, jr., James B. Brinsmade, of Cambridge, Mass., and William C. Wetherill, of Philadelphia.

The marriage of Miss Jean W. Delano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano, of 20 East 96th st., to George H. Edgell, son of George S. Edgell, The Knolls, Newport, will take place to-day at the country home of the bride's parents, at Tarrytown, N. Y.

Miss Hope E. Warren, daughter of Schuyler N. Warren, of this city, will be married to Robert Wilberforce, of Kemerton, Gloucestershire, England, on July 1 in Brompton Park, London.

Miss George S. Bowdoin and her daughter, Miss Edith G. Bowdoin, have gone to Bar Harbor. Mr. and Mrs. A. Murray Young will go there next week.

Mr. J. Watson Webb will give a dinner, followed by dancing, to-night at his country home in Syosset, Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barton French have closed their apartment at 840 Park av. and are at the Plaza.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Milbank are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter last Sunday at their home, 29 East 35th st. Mrs. Milbank was Miss Schulze, of Michigan.

Miss Marie La Montagne, who has been in Europe since last November, will sail for New York to-day on the Rotterdam.

General and Mrs. Howard Carroll and their daughter, Miss Carmel Carroll, will sail for Europe to-day on the George Washington. They will return to Carrollville, Tarrytown, late in August.

Mr. William Bayard Cutting and her daughter, Miss Olivia Cutting, who are at Oakdale, Long Island, will go to Northeast Harbor, Me., late in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Franklyn and Mrs. Doris Franklyn have gone to Red Croft, their country place in Southampton.

IN THE BERKSHIRES.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)
Lenox, June 12.—The Rev. George Grenville Merrill, of Stockbridge, and Fred A. Remington, of Great Barrington, have gone to Princeton to attend the twenty-fifth reunion of the class of '88, of which they were members.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Seton and Mrs. Charles de Rham, who were at Grey House, have motored to Vermont.

Miss Dorothea Glider arrived to-day at Fourbrook Farm, in Tarrytown, joining Mrs. Richard Watson Glider.

Mrs. John E. Alexandre, Miss M. C. Alexandre and Miss Anna R. Alexandre and Miss Charlotte Barnes have gone to Meadowbrook, Long Island, for the polo games.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Winans Whistler have arrived at the Curtis Hotel for the season.

Mrs. J. Holmes H. Jackson, Miss Helen Chase, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Canna, and Miss Canna, of New York, are at the Curtis Hotel.

AT NEWPORT.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)
Newport, June 12.—Several of the special prizes to be offered at the Newport dog show on August 6 will be the gifts of summer residents. Eugene S. Reynal, Mr. Richard Gambrill, Mrs. William Rogers Morgan, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Hamilton Fish Webster, Mrs. Pauline Le Roy French, Mrs. William Watts Sherman, Miss Anna Sands and Miss Mrs. A. Grosvener have informed the show officials that they will give prizes.

Mrs. and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson will have as their season guests Mr. and Mrs. E. Rollins Morse, who sold their Newport home last summer.

Mr. William R. Caperton and Miss Margaret Caperton, formerly of the naval training station, but now of Philadelphia, are to make a visit here this summer.

Dr. O. W. Huntington has rented his bungalow on Training Station road to Mrs. David A. Bretton, of New York.

R. R. Meyer, of Porto Rico, is registered at the Casino.

Mrs. Henry Winthrop Gray will have as her season guests Colonel and Mrs. Charles McCauley, of Washington.

Mrs. Lucille Carter is to arrive from Philadelphia early in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Dyer arrived to-day at Wayside.

TOT SINGS ODE TO POLICE

Little Marie Abashes Inspector with Verse and Roses.

The door of Chief Inspector Max Schmittberger's office at Police Headquarters swung open yesterday, admitting Marie Jocelyn and Julia Amato, each eight years old. They were all dressed up, and Julia carried a big bouquet of roses.

Marie, pushed and pulled along, approached the Inspector's desk, fastened her eyes on his shield and delivered herself as follows:

In the rain and in the sunshine,
On the streets our big policeman
Stands and shows us how to go.
Little children of Grace Nursery
Send these flowers to you
For the kindly way you help them
All the long, long winter through.

The Chief Inspector blushed, stammered and thanked the children. They were accompanied by the Rev. Francisco Urbano and a nurse. Inspector Schmittberger sent Julia's bunch of roses to the bedside of Detective Ernest Seyler, who is in St. Vincent's Hospital recovering from a bullet wound.

107 GRADUATED AT WEST POINT

Secretary Garrison Gives Class No Hope of Early Action—Filipino No. 77.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)
West Point, N. Y., June 12.—One hundred and seven cadets were graduated from the Military Academy to-day. This is the largest class since 1908. The exercises took place on Trophy Point, near the Battle Monument, and among those present was the Secretary of War, who addressed the class.

Secretary Garrison's speech was one of the briefest ever delivered to a graduating class at the Military Academy, and in the course of his remarks he made no reference to the pending Mexican troubles except to say how much the army had accomplished in its house-cleaning at Vera Cruz. No hope was held out to the outgoing graduates that they might see any active service in the near future.

William H. Holcomb, of Indiana, was the honor man of the class. He beat James B. Cress, of Washington, D. C., by six units, a close margin. L. L. Lampert, of Wisconsin, was the class goat, as the last man is termed.

One of the features of the graduating exercises was the presence of a delegation of Filipinos, headed by Manuel Quezon, a Philippine delegate in Congress. The party was here to witness the graduation of Cadet Vicente P. Lim, a full-blooded Filipino boy, who is the first to enter the academy from that country and graduate. Cadet Lim stood No. 77 in his class to-day. He will be commissioned in the Scouts of the Islands.

The diploma was presented to each man by Colonel Townsley, the superintendent of the Academy. The first ten men in the class will be commissioned in the engineer corps of the army. The others will go into the cavalry, artillery and infantry branches. The class left here at noon for New York. The men have a three months' furlough and will report to their respective commands on September 15.

Here is the graduating class, with order of final standing of the members:

SOCIAL SURVEY OF PALESTINE IS AIM

Rabbi Wise on Commission to Study Jewish Conditions in Holy Land.

The appointment of a commission to make a social survey of Jewish conditions in Palestine was announced yesterday by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise. It is expected that the members will go to the Holy Land in September and spend a month in investigation, making a report early in the winter.

A committee selected to appoint the commission consists of Henry Morgenthau, American Ambassador to Turkey; Adolph Lewisohn, Nathan Straus, Dr. Lee K. Frankel, Louis D. Brandeis and Dr. Wise. They are all members of the commission, and to co-operate with them in the social survey will be Dr. Milton Rosenau, of Harvard Medical School; Dr. Boris D. Bogen, of Cincinnati; and Meyer Bloomfield, of study, according to Dr. Wise, will be made of Jewish conditions in and near Jerusalem. Dr. Rosenau will have charge of the medical division of the survey. Dr. Bogen will make a special study of the charitable institutions in Palestine and Professor Bloomfield will deal particularly with the problems of industries, with special reference to the possibility of vocational guidance.

It is believed by Dr. Wise that the data to be gathered by the commission will be beneficial in enabling the Jewish communities in America and Europe to understand the present-day needs of the Jews of Palestine and to help them in obtaining a wider self-dependence.

POLO GUESTS MAKE MERRY IN COUNTRY

Nassau County Houses Are Thronged by Influx of Visitors.

ALL EAGER TO SEE BIG MATCH PLAYED

American and British Colors at Dinner Parties and Other Festivities.

Hempstead, Long Island, June 12.—In every large country place of Nassau County to-night there are many guests who have come down for the international polo tournament, which begins at Meadow Brook to-morrow. The visitors have gathered from all sections of the United States and Europe.

Dinner parties were held throughout the Meadow Brook, Rockaway, Westbury, Wheatley Hills, Oyster Bay and Piping Rock sections to-night, and at the Garden City Hotel so great was the demand for rooms that billiard rooms, parlors, and all public rooms were supplied with cots to supply the overflow.

The Meadow Brook and Rockaway Hunt clubs, and the Piping Rock Club have brought scores of polo enthusiasts down to Long Island.

Added to the many other festivities was a polo dance given at the Garden City Hotel, in which more than three hundred participated.

As an indication of the spirit of good fellowship which prevails, English and American flags were used to decorate the Garden City Hotel ballroom, and at the various country clubs and houses the same sentiment was apparent in the decorations.

Among the larger house parties being held are those at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Payne Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mortimer, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Phipps, where a number of the English challenges, including Lord and Lady Wimborne, are being entertained—Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Devereux Milburn, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Burrell, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hazard, Mr. and Mrs. Harry I. Nicholas, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Bird, Mr. and Mrs. A. Butler Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, Mr. J. E. Smith Hadden, F. J. Von Stade, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watson Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Grace, Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Cravath, Howard Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carey Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Harriman, Mr. William K. Vanderbilt, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hastig, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Warner Baltazzi, Harvey S. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hodges and Mr. and Mrs. Peter B. Olney.

EJECTIONS SPICE THE 'MOVIE' DINNER

Fifty, with Unauthorized Invitations, Refuse to Leave Until Detective Threatens.

Protected from interlopers by a detective, the convention dinner of the Second International Motion Picture Exposition was held last night on the nineteenth floor of the Biltmore Hotel. The services of the hotel detective were invoked to rid the diners of the presence of more than fifty would-be guests who had been "invited" to the dinner by a scenario writer of whom those in charge of the dinner had never heard.

The goats stole in among the sheep during the first rush, and when their presence was discovered many of them refused to leave. Instructions were issued to the waiters not to serve them, but they stayed, nevertheless, and their numbers were such that they made a more or less merry party among themselves. At last they were informed that the hotel detective was at hand ready for action if they refused to leave. Then they went.

After that little episode there was a socially chilly atmosphere. Unless one could show his credentials and prove his identity he had small chance of entering. Several more men and women in evening dress were held up at the door and sent away.

Among those who were properly invited and were seated at the head table and allowed to make speeches were John Bunney, Commodore Blackton, "Sam" Trigger, Upton Sinclair, J. C. Graham, Jesse L. Lasky, Augustus Thomas, Daniel Frohman, D. S. Rothapel, William Wright and J. G. Wallace, jr.

Attracted Tourists to Munich

The original Dolls' Theatre, in Munich, is an unusual sight for the tourist, especially when he learns that the building was the design of Paul L. Troost, famous for his monumental buildings throughout Germany.

The dolls' costumes and the scenery in the theatre are the work of Prof. Jacob Brall and Prof. Joseph Wackerle, while the conductor is Prof. Paul Brann. The theatre is in one of the city parks from which automobiles were excluded until a petition to the city resulted in the order being rescinded. The play at present is "Doctor's Johann's Faust," from which Goethe got the inspiration for "Faust."

THOMAS DOLAN.

THOMAS DOLAN DIES IN PHILADELPHIA

Member of Old Widener-Elkins-Whitney Metropolitan Railway Syndicate in New York.

Philadelphia, June 12.—Thomas Dolan, one of the wealthiest men in Philadelphia and once a member of the Widener-Elkins-Whitney street railway syndicate, died to-day at his home at Torresdale, near here. He was eighty years old and had been in poor health for a long time.

Well known in New York as the associate of William C. Whitney, Thomas F. Ryan, Peter A. B. Widener and W. L. Elkins in the heyday of the old Metropolitan Street Railway Company, Thomas Dolan was chiefly identified with the industries and "high finance" of the Quaker City. He was a native of Montgomery County, Penn., where he was born on October 27, 1834. After acquiring a good education in the local schools he went, at the age of seventeen, to Philadelphia to seek a fortune.

He obtained employment in a large commission house dealing in fancy woolen knit goods, shawls and hosiery, and was so much pleased with the business that he set about learning it thoroughly in order to make it his permanent occupation. By 1861 he had saved enough from his earnings as a clerk to start a little factory of his own, in which he prospered. From time to time he enlarged the establishment until it was one of the largest of its kind in Philadelphia.

In 1882 he gave up the manufacture of knit goods and devoted his attention exclusively to the manufacture of men's underwear, his establishment being known, however, still as the Keystone Knitting Mills. For some years he conducted the business alone, but then organized a firm known as Thomas Dolan & Co. He also organized the Quaker City Dry Works, of which he was president, and which, under his direction, grew into one of the foremost concerns in that industry.

Having achieved success and made a fortune in those enterprises, he turned his attention to other business and financial schemes. He became president of the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia and of the Brush Electric Company, a director of the Philadelphia Traction Company, of Cramp & Sons Ship and Engine Building Company, of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company of New York, of the Consolidated Traction Companies of New Jersey, and of the Distilling Company of America, and of various other corporations. He was also at one time president of the Philadelphia Association of Manufacturers of Textile Fabrics and of the Textile Dyeers' Association and vice-president of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers.

It was in 1888 that the operations of the Philadelphia speculators began in the Metropolitan Traction Company in this city, and by 1893, as the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, they had possession of pretty much every transportation line in Manhattan and had issued enough stock to transform the car lines into ferries. In 1907 came the end, with a crash, receivership and an investigation, in which Mr. Dolan fared somewhat better than some of his associates.

Perhaps Mr. Dolan's greatest enterprise was the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia, which he developed into one of the largest concerns of the kind in the world and of which he remained president until his death. In his management he had a dispute with Mr. Widener and forced him out of the directorate, the foot of the quarrel being Mr. Dolan's allotment of shares in the asphalt trust, which was then being formed.

Mr. Dolan was much interested in politics, as an old-fashioned, high tariff Republican, though he never held office, save that of Presidential elector-at-large for Pennsylvania in 1888. He was frequently suggested as a candidate for Mayor of Philadelphia and for United States Senator, but was never willing to be put forward. In 1888, at the suggestion of Cornelius N. Bliss, he was selected as one of the members of the national advisory committee which was formed by Marcus A. Hanna, and in the campaign of that year he did much valuable work for the success of the Republican ticket.

He was also interested in many civic works, as a director of the School of Design for Women, the University Hospital and other institutions.

JOHN B. PARMELEE.

Paterson, N. J., June 12.—John B. Parmelee, secretary and assistant treasurer of the Hamilton Trust Company, dropped dead this afternoon in the offices of the company. Acute indigestion caused his death. He was forty-three years old.

He was a brother of H. H. Parmelee, president and treasurer of the Hamilton Trust Company. He formerly held a position with the Mutual Life Insurance Company in New York, but had been with the trust company here about five years. Mrs. Parmelee and three children survive him.

FRANK W. EDDY.

Detroit, June 12.—Frank W. Eddy, a capitalist and business man, died to-day from the heat—the fourteenth fatality here due to hot weather. Mr. Eddy was born in Warsaw, N. Y., in 1861.

LEAVES $150,000 TO FRIEND'S DAUGHTER

Dr. Everett Herrick's Will, Disposing of $2,000,000, Remembers Munroes.

GOLF CLUB LEGATEE IF IT STAYS "DRY"

Half Dozen of 46 Cousins Get Bequests—Wife's Brother Receives $1,500,000.

The will of Dr. Everett Herrick, who died on April 1 at 33 East 51st st., at the age of eighty-five, filed in the Surrogate's Court yesterday, disposes of an estate valued at about $2,000,000, of which $150,000 is left to public institutions.

Dr. Herrick had forty-six cousins, of whom only five or six receive bequests, while Miss Marjorie Munroe, daughter of Dr. George E. Munroe, of 125 Madison av., a friend of the testator, receives $125,000 in cash and a $5,000 mortgage on her father's residence. Dr. Munroe leaves a $7,500 mortgage on the golf course of the Maidstone Club and two mortgages for $15,000 and $10,000, respectively, which Dr. Herrick held on the clubhouse.

The specific bequests in the will of Dr. Herrick amount to a little more than $500,000, and the residue is left to James B. Ford, brother of his late wife, Mrs. Harriet F. Herrick.

Of the public bequests the Academy of Design receives $25,000, to be known as the Everett Herrick fund; the New York Skin and Cancer Hospital, $20,000; the Society for the Relief of Wives and Children of Medical Men, $10,000; the Children's Aid Society, $10,000; the Association for the Improvement of the Condition of the Poor, $10,000; the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, $1,000; Colby Academy, New London, N. H., $10,000, and the testator's collection of etchings and engravings, and the East Hampton (L. I.) Public Library, the income of $25,000, to be known as the Harriet F. Herrick fund.

Dr. Herrick, a golf enthusiast, bequeathed to the Maidstone Club at East Hampton the first mortgage that he held on the club's property. He imposed as a condition that the club continue to award the prize known as the Herrick Cup for the men's scratch singles, and that no intoxicating liquors be sold. In case any of these conditions are violated or the club cannot accept the bequest, valued at $7,500, it is to go to the East Hampton Library.

Dr. Herrick remembered several of his professional friends and persons who attended him. He left to Dr. Louis F. Bishop and Dr. A. Schuyler Clark $20,000 each, and to Dr. Henry Lyman Hooker, $5,000. Dr. Herrick also treated his servants and other employees liberally in his will, leaving $500 to each woman servant who had been in his service three years. The exception to this provision is Mary McCabe, who receives $2,000. Herman Schenkel receives $5,000. The mortgage on his farm is left to John Bryan, another employee. Jessie Colby, Mary Colby and William Colgate Colby, cousins of Dr. Herrick, receive $20,000 each. Other bequests are: Anna Bishop, $20,000; Miss Love Porter, $30,000; Anne Kneeland Sturgis, $5,000, and Constance A. Jones, $20,000.

CADETS AT "HIGH JINKS"

West Point Graduates at Theatre Party and Dinner.

The graduating class and the second class furlough men of West Point arrived in New York yesterday afternoon for the dinner and theatre party which is an annual affair with the two classes. Secretary of War and Mrs. Garrison, Col. C. P. Townsley, Superintendent of the Academy, and a number of officers from the harbor forts, joined the classes at dinner in the Hotel Astor.

Afterward the party attended the performance of "High Jinks" at the Casino. The theatre was decorated for the occasion and several pertinent lines were interpolated by the comedians. In one scene (a special number) the chorus appeared in the regulation West Point uniforms.

ART TRIUMPHS OVER HEAT

Many Bidders Attend Sale of Paintings at Old Galleries.

There was a large attendance at the Old Galleries yesterday afternoon in spite of the heat, which drove many of the regular Wall Street patrons of art to the country.

Dupre's "Landscape and Cattle" sold for $190, Julian Rix's "After the Shower," for $105, and Corot's "Morning Landscape," for $100. Other paintings, by Eugene F. Isabey, Martin D. Homer, Franz D. Buel, A. H. Wyant, C. F. Daubigny, J. C. Cazin and P. J. Clays brought good prices.

Next week, Thursday and Friday, there will be a sale of the furniture and household goods of the late George Washington Lawrence.

JAMES CAMPBELL DEAD

Capitalist Succumbs Three Weeks After Operation.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)
Greenwich, Conn., June 12.—James Campbell, sixty-seven, former president of the
