"Of Course I'll Win," Says Jack Johnson

Negro Champion Weighs 210 Pounds and Insists He Is at His Best.

MORAN ALSO FULL OF QUIET CONFIDENCE

Tribune Correspondent Visits Both Boxers in Their Camps and Sees Them Work.

[By Cable to The Tribune.]

Paris, June 24.—Jack Johnson, who will face Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh, for the heavyweight championship of the world on Saturday, appeared in excellent condition when seen to-day by a Tribune correspondent in his little suburban villa at Asnieres.

He stood on the scales and tipped the beam stripped at 210 pounds, just ten pounds more than he weighed when he defeated Jim Jeffries for the title at Reno, Nev., on July 4, 1910.

Johnson says he has trained hard and faithfully and added:

"You can say for me that I have never been in better fighting trim in my life, and am absolutely sure of my staying power and soundness of wind. Of course I'll win."

Johnson has trained off a full thirty pounds in the last six weeks. He has been doing a great deal of long distance running at a moderate pace, and besides his regular afternoon sparring with lively boxers at Luna Park to insure fast work he has been taking a severe course of shadow boxing.

His diet is made up largely of mutton chops, rice and cherries, while he drinks only water, with occasionally a bottle of beer. He said this afternoon that while his hard training was over he would do light work up to Friday evening.

Betting on the result has been light, but the odds range from 3 to 1 to 4 to 1 that Johnson will win, as the Moran money is scarce.

Managers of the fight have decided to issue no passes, not even to the newspaper men. Seats have been provided for 20,000 persons as against 30,000 at Reno, and the prices anywhere near the ring range from $40 to $60.

The street hawkers here are doing a lively business in selling for five cents each cardboard figures in black and white of Johnson and Moran worked by elastic springs and cords, giving a realistic moving picture of a fight.

After seeing Jack Johnson, the Tribune correspondent visited the training camp of Frank Moran. In stepping from the ricketty little fishing skiff that serves as a ferry to convey visitors across the river from Meriel, opposite Moran's camping graund at Auvers-Sur-Oise, some forty miles north of Paris, he was greeted by the "white hope" with the words:

"I am going to win this fight on Saturday; of that I am certain."

He spoke with a quiet confidence that carried a lot of conviction.

Moran looks well and should have no excuses to make on lack of condition. He is much younger than his rival, and this is sure to count in his favor.

He ran five miles this morning at an Indian lope and this afternoon showed rare speed and much skill in boxing bouts with Willie Lewis and Tom Kennedy, who kept him moving about at a lively pace.

Moran, like Johnson, has been doing a lot of shadow boxing and much work with the medicine ball.

Moran and his handlers are living at a little rustic inn usually occupied by artists and rod fishermen at Auvers. It is kept by genial Pere Goujon, (Father Gudgeon), who may be identified as Paul, a retired head waiter of a well known Parisian restaurant.

Moran, with bristling reddish-yellow hair, fresh pink complexion and clear blue eyes, stepped about during his work this afternoon with the elastic spring of a young panther. His leg muscles have attained splendid development. He weighed 202 pounds, stripped, as he stood on the scales, and his flesh is as hard as a nail.

He keenly relished his noon meal, consisting of a couple of bream, freshly caught from the river, a small beefsteak, string beans and weak tea.

Moran is modest and unassuming, but absolutely confident of victory. One of his trainers remarked:

"This fight will be a Wagnerian song of the black swan. Moran, with his cat-like agility, will be able to avoid the sledge hammer onslaughts of Johnson in the early part of the fight, and thus tire him out and make an opening for the finishing blows.

Moran smiled at this sally, but said nothing.

Johnson says he has $5,000 to wager on himself at the prevailing odds, but can find no takers.

The men will enter the ring at 10:30 p. m., Paris time, on Saturday evening, which is 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, New York time.

FIRST VICTORY FOR THE 'SAUCE' COUNTY

Worcestershire Causes Surprise in Cricket Circles by Its Defeat of Gloucester.

[By Cable to The Tribune.]

London, June 24.—Worcestershire caused a great surprise to-day by scoring its first victory in the county cricket championship series, beating Gloucestershire by 180 runs at Moreton. This triumph will do the "Sauce" County a power of good, as, owing to bad luck and loss of enthusiasm, there is a possibility of the club being disbanded next month.

Gloucestershire is now the only county that has yet to win a game. Yorkshire, which has fallen away badly this season, entertained Leicester at Bradford. The visitors led on the first inning, but time would not permit the game to be finished. Leicester had the best of the draw, and the three points obtained will help its standing materially.

An exciting game took place at Horsham between Sussex and Hampshire which resulted in a win for the latter by the close margin of two wickets. The remaining feature, between Derbyshire and Northamptonshire, at Derby, was left drawn, the home team having the advantage throughout.

CUP YACHTS TO RACE ONCE MORE

The Vanitie Hauled Out and Carefully Groomed for Clash To-day.

The cup defence yachts Resolute, Vanitie and Defiance will start this morning in the annual regatta of the New York Yacht Club off Glen Cove. These yachts, sailing as Class H. of Division A, will be sent away at 12:15. Classes B, C, D, E and F go at 12:20, the New York Yacht Club "fifties" at 12:25 and the other classes at five-minute intervals.

One-gun starts will be used, except for Class H, which will be a two-minute handicap start.

In order to have his sloop Vanitie in the best possible condition for the race, Alex Smith Cochran had her hauled out at Jacob's yard, City Island, yesterday, where her bronze hull received a thorough polishing. When she comes to the starting line this morning she will be ready to meet her two opponents in the ninth race of the series of preliminary contests.

The Resolute remained at anchor yesterday in Glen Cove Harbor and the Defiance lay off Mr. Pynchon's place at Greenwich.

A feature of to-day's race will be the contest in the schooner and sloop classes for the New York Yacht Club course cups, which were offered in 1871 by James Gordon Bennett for competition by yachts enrolled in the club. One of the cup defence yachts may win the cup for sloops. The cup for "two stickers" probably will bring out a good fleet.

EMPEROR GIVES A YACHTING CUP

Adds Trophy to Those Offered by President Wilson and King of England.

San Francisco, June 24.—The announcement that the German Emperor will give a cup to the winner of the sonderklass yacht race at the Panama-Pacific Exposition was contained in a telegram received yesterday by the German Consul, Franz Bopp, from the German Ambassador in Washington.

This makes the third cup from the head of a great nation, as President Wilson has offered a cup for the winner of the twelve-metre race and King George V of England has put up a cup for the Class N race under universal rules.

ORTH BADLY HURT IN FALL

National League Umpire May Be Laid Up for Some Time.

Philadelphia, June 24.—Al Orth, National League umpire, was severely injured on the knee and elbow previous to to-day's game at Philadelphia ball park. Orth stumbled and fell in the subway leading to the Philadelphia players bench. He was taken to an hospital and may not be able to umpire again for some time.

"Smiling Al," as Orth was known to the fans, played several years in the big leagues before becoming an umpire. When the American League invaded New York Orth was secured from Washington and for two or three years was one of the Yankees' most dependable pitchers. He was frequently called upon to play in the outfield because of his batting ability.

AUSTRALASIANS SAIL SOON

Lawn Tennis Team to Start for This Country July 11.

The Australasian lawn tennis team will sail for this country on board the Aquitania, of the Cunard Line, on Saturday, July 11. Notification to this effect was received yesterday from London by the Davis Cup committee of management, composed of E. D. Wrenn, H. W. Slocum and George T. Adee.

Gordon Inglis, the official representative of the Australasian L. A. A. in London, stated that Norman E. Brooks, captain of the team, was well satisfied with the dates and arrangements for the preliminary ties against Canada, which will be played on the turf of the Onwentsia Club, Lake Forest, Ill.

It is expected that Anthony F. Wilding, Norman E. Brooks, Stanley N. Doust and A. W. Dunlop, the four members of the Australasian team, will remain in this city a few days before journeying to Chicago to meet the Canadians. Already plans for meeting the players are being arranged by the Davis Cup Committee and officers of the West Side Tennis Club. It is likely that they will be entertained at luncheon at the clubhouse at Forest Hills, Long Island.

Harry Parker, of the West Side committee which has charge of the reservations for seats for the Davis Cup matches, has up to date received $5,000 in cash for seat allotments. The stands will accommodate only ten thousand spectators, and there will be no space for standees.

WILLOWLY SHOWS WAY

Wins Gold Medal in Novice Bicycle Race at Brighton Beach.

W. Willowly won the gold medal first prize in the two-thirds of a mile novice bicycle race from a big field last night at Brighton Beach. C. Fagen finished second. The final heat in the one-mile open for amateurs, continued from Sunday night, was won by Jerry Nunzista in 2:27 3-5. Adam Byerman was second and Alfred O. Lake third. A. Desmond proved the gamest of a field of thirty in the one-mile consolation stakes for non-winners this season. J. Pratt took second prize and Nat Gutoff third, the time being 2:01.

Leon Didier, middle distance motor paced champion of France, established a new mark for thirty miles, covering the distance in 36:29 1-5, thereby beating the former record held by Bobby Walthour of 38:39 1-5. Walthour was second, with George Wiley third and Clarence Carmen fourth.

CARTER AGAIN IN VAN ON THE LINKS

Wins Junior Metropolitan Title for Second Time by Defeat of Hilton.

HACKENSACK PLAYER LACKED CONFIDENCE

Obendorfer Captures Medal Play Handicap, While Church Takes Putting Contest.

For the second year in succession Philip Van Gelder Carter, of Nassau, won the metropolitan junior golf championship yesterday, when he defeated Vincent K. Hilton, of Hackensack, in the decisive test over the links of the Plainfield Country Club by 8 up and 6 to play.

Earlier in the day Carter was opposed to Edmund Nash, of Apawamis, and the latter went around in an approximated 75 and forced Carter to the seventeenth green. The margin was 3 up and 1 to play. Hilton's first opponent was Osborne Lawes, of Upper Montclair, the last named being beaten easily, 5 up and 4 to play, it was in this round that Hilton showed his real golf, and at no time was he in danger. He had an approximated 76.

The defeat of Hilton at the hands of Carter was as much psychological as anything else. It will be recalled that the Hackensack lad went at a great rate of speed in the recent interscholastic championship and then fell before Carter in the semi-final round. Hilton and Carter are great friends and attend the same school, Pawling. The two lads play a great game of golf together, and thus Hilton is well acquainted with the game of the interscholastic title holder.

It was evident as Hilton teed up that he felt there was something coming to him, and the result was that he began with the loss of the first hole. With this attitude of mind no one could expect to win, and so it was in Hilton's case.

That the youth is capable of better golf was shown on many occasions. At the second, for instance, his drive was sliced into a trap, but with a rare recovery he reached the green and was able to get a halve in 4. Carter won four straight holes after that, the sixth being presented to him on a silver platter. Hilton had a wee putt for a win, and proceeded to take two tries before he could get it down. This was a sample of the lack of heart the Hackensack boy had in the game.

By the time the turn was reached Carter had won 7 holes. He drew further away at the tenth, and the most creditable performance of the Hackensack boy was his 4 at the eleventh, where he won his only mark. Carter's drive was off the line into the rough and Hilton played the hole in the manner of which he is capable. The match was ended on the twelfth, when Hilton's putting went awry. The card follows:

Carter, out	4	4	4	3	5	5	6	4	4	—39
Hilton, out	5	4	5	4	6	6	6	5	5	—46
Carter, in	3	5	4
Hilton, in	4	4	5

Hilton is a good-natured fellow and fully capable of playing great golf, but the critics who saw the match yesterday agreed that if he had overcome his idea that he had no chance he would have carried the match well toward the home green, if he had not actually emerged a winner.

Coincident with the semi-final and final rounds in all divisions was an eighteen-hole medal play handicap, in which Herbert Obendorfer, of Inwood, with a card of 93—21—72, was the winner. Leonard S. Church, of Plainfield, won the approaching and putting contest, while the driving prize went to Osborne Laws.

Findlay S. Douglas and S. Clifton Mabon, representing the Metropolitan Golf Association, visited the Plainfield Country Club yesterday with a view to lending their approval to this tournament, which is designed to foster and encourage golf among the youth of this district.

The summary follows:

Championship eight (semi-final round)—Vincent Hilton, Hackensack, beat Osborne Lawes, Upper Montclair, 5 up and 4 to play; Philip V. G. Carter, Nassau, beat Edmund Nash, Apawamis, 2 up and 1 to play.

Final round—Carter beat Hilton, 8 up and 6 to play.

Second eight (semi-final round)—E. C. Stevens, St. Andrew's, beat D. G. McGrath, Yountakah, 3 up and 1 to play; A. L. Pierson, jr., Montclair, beat E. A. Carter, Moylan, 3 up and 2 to play.

Final round—Pierson beat Stevens 2 up and 1 to play.

Third eight (semi-final rounds—H. L. Howard, Somerville, beat R. C. Stiles, Forest Hill, 1 up; Richard Potter, New Brunswick, beat E. W. Conklin, Scarsdale, 1 up.

Final round—Howard beat Potter, 4 up and 3 to play.

Fourth eight (semi-final round)—F. E. Lauman, Upper Montclair, beat Benjamin Siegel, Woodmere, 2 up and 1 to play; J. D. Kuser, Sleepy Hollow, beat K. C. McKenzie, Plainfield, 5 up and 4 to play.

Final round—Lawes beat Kuser, 6 up and 5 to play.

Fifth eight (semi-final round)—A. C. Blanchard, Brooklawn, beat John Potter, New Brunswick, 5 up and 3 to play; Allen Downey, Canoe Brook, beat J. L. Janeway, New Brunswick, 2 up and 1 to play.

CHANGES MADE IN THE SHAMROCK IV

Lipton Boat Being Sloop-Rigged and Will Have a Bigger Headsail

Southampton, England, June 24.—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV, challenger for the America's Cup, is being sloop-rigged again, but retains the longer bowsprit and will have a bigger single headsail than before. Whether this change will be permanent depends upon the result of further tests of the challenger with the older Shamrock.

Before the rerigging was begun the Shamrock IV had another trial with Shamrock III in a strong wind and a lively sea. The race, however, was abandoned after twelve miles had been covered in order to avoid risks of accident to the challenger's gear. The Shamrock IV was leading at the time and her gear had stood the severe test well.

TWO-TIME WINNER OF JUNIOR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

PHILIP CARTER.

Mrs. Barlow Wins Medal on Shawnee Links

Miss Krug Leads New York Women Golfers in Qualifying Round of Tourney.

Shawnee-on-Delaware, Penn., June 24.—Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, of the Merion Cricket Club, easily won the medal in the qualifying round of the annual women's invitation golf tournament on the links of the Shawnee Country Club here to-day, with a score of 93. This was six strokes better than her club mate, Miss Ethel Maul, who was next in line with 99.

More than thirty players teed up in the testing round, which did not begin until this afternoon. Provision was made for three eights. Miss Louise F. Krug, of Englewood, led the New York women, her score of 102 tying for third place with Miss Ethel Campbell, of Overbrook. Miss Frances Masson, a Glen Ridge girl, who has only been playing a year, qualified in the second flight.

The course is more difficult than ever this season, and Mrs. Barlow's 93 is most creditable under the circumstances. She drove long balls and pulled steadily. Her card was as follows:

Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Merion—
Out ..... 6 7 5 5 5 4 4 6—42
In ..... 7 5 4 4 5 4 2 6 5—42—93

Mrs. Caleb Fox, the Huntingdon Valley matron, might easily have qualified in the first eight had she not wasted six strokes on two holes. There was a tie at the bottom of the second division.

The scores of the first two flights follow:

Winner entered for $600; no bid. Stonehenge had all his speed and hung on better than usual. Amalfi, badly knocked about in first furlongs and forced back to last place, closed a big gap, but just failed to get on. Nibl looked dangerous halfway down the stretch, but hung as if short. Oakhurst badly outran all the way.

Yankee Notions, off dying, opened up a big gap and fought out a game finish. Stromboli was best at the weights, but was caught flatfooted at the start and suffered by some bumping from Vandergrift halfway down the stretch; seemed to hang after getting to the winner. Grover Hughes had speed, but stopped.

Joe Rosenfield opened up a big gap rounding the turn, and, while tiring, managed to last the distance. Beethoven, never far from the pace, was wearing the winner down in last quarter. El Bird ran a fair race after meeting with some interference rounding the turn.

SIXTH RACE.—For two-year-old fillies; $400 added. Four and a half furlongs. Start good. Won easily. Time, 0:54⅘. Winner, ch. f., by Celt—Adriana. Owner, Brookdale Stable. Trainer, G. M. Odom.

Coquette came away easily in last furlong. Lady Barbary, a good looking filly, closed strongly when she found her feet. Dismiss had speed, but stopped.

CORNELL FAVORITE AT POUGHKEEPSIE

Ithacans Picked to Win 'Varsity Race, with Syracuse Crew Second.

LACK OF WEIGHT HANDICAPS COLUMBIA

Experts Praise Oarsmanship of Blue and White, but Question Staying Qualities.

[From a Staff Correspondent of The Tribune.]

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 24.—Cornell was picked to win the 'varsity race in Friday's big regatta by Si Weed, stroke of the victorious 1909 Cornell crew, and considered one of the greatest oarsmen Cornell has ever had. Weed has been at the Cornell quarters for the last two days and was in the coaching launch with Charles Courtney to-night, when the Ithacans had a short paddle up stream.

Weed said the Cornell crew was one of the most finished he had ever seen and that he expected it to win with little difficulty.

This flat-footed assertion, coming from one so closely identified with Cornell rowing as Weed, is taken as a sure indication that the Cornell camp is confident of victory. Weed asserted he had seen every crew on the river except Wisconsin, and was of the opinion that Columbia would hardly finish better than second, with Syracuse third, Washington fourth, Pennsylvania fifth and Wisconsin sixth. After Weed had made this statement, there was a perceptible tightening of the odds on the Cornell eight.

Pennsylvania, figured by many as the dark horse of the regatta, was conceded only an outside chance by Weed, who criticised the stroke Nicksall's has taught the Quakers, maintaining that more than a foot of it is wasted at the catch because the men are slow in getting their oars in the water.

Weed is of the opinion that Columbia has a wonderfully smooth crew, but thinks that the lack of weight will prove fatal in the last drive to the finish. Syracuse, he said, is not up to the form displayed by the Orange eight last year.

Another visitor to the regatta course was Eugene Giannini, coach of the Yale freshman crew. Giannini spent the afternoon with Jim Rice at the Columbia quarters and watched the Blue and White eights in a stiff one-mile row at sundown. He was impressed with the tremendous speed of the Columbia 'varsity and said it was the smoothest rowing crew he had ever seen. He would not venture a prediction, however, as to whether the Blue and White would be able to pull out in the last mile with the victory.

The hardest work on the river was done by the Columbia eights this evening. The Blue and White crews came down to the two-mile mark this morning just as Vincent Astor's yacht Noma passed at high speed and churned up such swells that they could accomplish nothing. In the afternoon Rice determined to give his men a final taste of hard work, and they went over the course from the one mile to the two mile mark.

For the first three-quarters the stroke was kept low, but in the last minute all three crews raised the beat. The 'varsity drew away from the juniors and freshmen, McCarthy getting the stroke up as high as 38 in the final sprint. Before going out for the evening row the Columbia oarsmen took revenge on the managers, and tossed them over into the brink one by one. They were also after the "Duke of Manchester," their English waiter, but he kept in the background.

Hiram Connibear continued on his fixed schedule of rowing, and the Washington 'varsity did not go on the water until dusk. Then the coach took his men down stream for more than five miles. They had to row back to the float against a rushing ebb tide. Connibear is confident that his crew will be up with the leader in the final mile, but he does not expect them to be better than fourth or fifth in the first three miles.

"The crew has only one sprint," he said to-night, "and if they use it up before they reach the bridge I don't know what will happen to them. They have been instructed to sprint after they reach the bridge, and then you will see a race."

Harry Vail took his 'varsity out for a paddle this morning, but put back to the float in short order because he found the heat oppressive. His men are in none too good condition, and Vail was taking no chances. He waited until late in the evening before sending the men out for a two-mile paddle.

With the arrival of the advance guard of the regatta day crowd the first wagers on the outcome of the race were reported. One of the biggest bets made was $200 against $1,000 that Cornell would sweep the river and show open water in each race. The Ithacans were rated as even money favorites in all three races, all bets being made against the field.

Syracuse was the second choice in the 'varsity race, the odds being 5 to 2 that the eight from the Salt City would repeat its victory of last year. Columbia, which is picked by the experts to finish second, was listed third by the betting men, their theory being that Columbia will not last the distance. The Columbia odds were 3 to 1.

Pennsylvania was slated for fourth, together with Washington, the odds being 10 to 1. On Wisconsin the odds are 12 to 1, with no takers. One of the most popular bets was 100 to 80 that Washington would beat Pennsylvania and even money that the Seattle eight would show its wake to Columbia.

In the junior 'varsity race Columbia is next to Cornell in the odds, the price being 4 to 1, with Syracuse quoted 6 to 1 and Pennsylvania at 10 to 1.

ONE WAY TO SEE RACES

Day Line Boats To Be Vantage Points of Big Regatta.

The Hudson River Day Line boats again will be vantage points at the Poughkeepsie regatta on Friday.

Owing to the increased demand for accommodations on boat race day the Robert Fulton and the Albany will be used as special observation steamers, and will anchor in the most advantageous positions possible so that their passengers may see the college crews battle for the rowing supremacy.

The first boat, the Albany, will leave Debrosses st. at 9:30 a .m. on Friday, and the Fulton will leave the same dock at 10:45. They will stop at West 42d st. at 9:40 and 11 a. m. and West 129th st. at 10:20 and 11:20, respectively.

After the races the Robert Fulton will return to the Day Line pier at Poughkeepsie and take on such passengers as are ready to return immediately to New York. The Albany will call at the Poughkeepsie pier for observation train passengers and then proceed to New York.

No Trusting the Camera Always

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 24.—"The judges' boat was the only place from which could be given an accurate decision on the result of the Yale-Harvard race," said Vivian Nickalls, coach of the Pennsylvania crews, to-day. "I don't care what the camera films show, they are not accurate, unless the camera was absolutely on the finish line."

This was the comment of the brother of Guy Nickalls, the Yale coach, when told that the moving pictures were reported to have shown that Harvard won the race.

The coach was busily engaged in applying steel wool to the Pennsylvania 'varsity shell, and the harder he rubbed the more emphatic were his words.
