OKEE VICTOR WITH OWNER AT HELM

Com. Mahlstedt's "30" Defeats Banzai in Atlantic Y. C. Race.

Thirty-four yachts sailed last races in their respective classes yesterday on the water of the Atlantic Yacht Club's regatta.

Com. J. A. Mahlstedt's "thirty" Oke, handled by her owner, sailed the long course, a triangle of seven and one-fourth miles.

There was an interesting struggle for first place in class O between the sloops owned by the Thompson cup.

The eleven boats that started in the star class made the race in thirty-eight minutes.

The Class B sloop Jovetta, owned by Childs and Draper, sailed the second match against the Jovita and Marjorie.

The Class C sloop Jovetta, owned by Childs and Draper, sailed the second match against the Jovita and Marjorie.

The Class D sloop Jovetta, owned by Childs and Draper, sailed the second match against the Jovita and Marjorie.

Benz and Old Ed Walsh Afford Fun for Yankees

King Cole in Meantime Baffles White Sox Batter and Scores a Shutout.

By HEYWOOD BROWN.

The White Sox made their last appearance of the year at the Polo Grounds yesterday and outstayed their welcome.

The score was 2 to 0, just the same as in a forfeited game, but as a matter of fact nothing was forfeited but the attention of the fans.

Seemingly the prospect of a possible place in the first division has stirred the Yankees into a perfect frenzy.

It was the pitching of Benz and Old Ed Walsh, however, that made the game for the Yankees.

King Cole was usually a right field hitter, and the ball had a bit of a slice which carried it into a bad place in the long grass.

Cobb is usually a right field hitter, and the ball had a bit of a slice which carried it into a bad place in the long grass.

McLaughlin and Bundy Retain the Doubles Title

Mathey and Church Lose to the Champions in Straight Sets.

CHALLENGERS NOT UP TO THEIR BEST FORM

Victory Is Third for Californian Pair at Newport and Cups Are Theirs.

By FRED HAWTHORNE.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 25.—Maurice E. McLoughlin and Thomas C. Bundy, the title holders, successfully defended their national championship in the lawn tennis doubles here today by administering a decisive defeat to George Myers, Church and Dean Mathey, of New York, the challengers.

Fully 5,000 persons crowded into the stands before 11 o'clock, the hour set for the match, and the remainder gazed to their seats until the last point had been scored.

The champion had his own plan of campaign and carried it through to the end of the battle.

McLoughlin and Bundy were in their terrific form from the start, and their play was so effective that the opposition was almost useless.

Church and Mathey never raised their game to its true level, but Church was the more effective and with glasses.
