Little Gooch, at Quarter Back, Plays a Dashing Game for the Southerners.

New Haven. Conn., Oct. 3. Yale piled 21 points in three periods against North the University of Virginia to-day, and then, with a swarm of substitutes in the line and backfield, held the visitors safe during the last period. Little Gooch, the Virginia quarterback, played a dashing game, carrying ball for long distances on punts several times skirting the Yale for good gains. The play of ore stood out in the Yale offence.

With only a minute of the third quarter to ge, he Gore anapped up a wide pass that hit the ground on the '5-yard line and dodged past six Virginia players for a touchdown. Talbett's work was the feature of the Yale defence. The Blue captain was in every play, stopping end runs and line plays tike, and was the first down the field on kicks.

The Yale line was not very strong on the right side, and both ends were frequently skirted by Ward and Mayer. The Yale backfield worked like clockwork, however, and the forward passes of Ainsworth to Le Gore to Church or Higginbotham succeeded almost every time.

After the kick-off Yale started a smashing offence that threatened to core a touchdown in a half dozen plays. Wilson, Le Gore and Knowlestore through the Virginia line resistiestly, A penalty stopped the advance and Virginia took the ball, only to be compelled to punt after a 16-yard punishment for holding. Taking the ball on the 35-yard line, the Elis rushed the ball over for a touchdown on end-skirting plays by Knowles, Ainsworth and Le Gore.

Yale used the double pass frequently, Le Gore making inferen yards on one play, in which Ainsworth shot the inall to him just as the latter was tackled. At the opening of the second period Virginia started a vigorous attack, carrying the ball to the 20-yard line. Yale held firmly, and Mayer had a chance for a drop kick from an easy angle, but missed the try.

Knowles and Wilson carried the ball to midfield on short plunges, and then on a pass from Knowles Le Gore arched a long throw to Ainsworth, on which Yale gained twenty yards. A fumble recovered by Ainsworth made a kick necessary, and Gooch made a superb running catch of Le Gore's punt and went eighteen yards before was stopped. After a couple of line plays Virginia tried a double pass, which missed fire, and Gooch had to kick.

Wilson cut loose with a wonderful dedging run, but Yale lost a splendid long run, but Yale lost kick. Wilson cut loose with a wonderful dodging run, but Yale lost a splendid scoring chance when three successive forward passes were blocked and Le Gore had to kick. Le Gore sprinted wenty yards after the kick-off at the pening of the second half, and thea ale started an attack that carried the II over the line in twelve plays.

A fumble, recovered by Oakes, was hort setback, but Le Gore's twenty drun for a touchdown made up tor misplay. On the next kick-off Wilpassed to Ainsworth, far at the and the little left halfback made by yards before he was stopped, les went twenty yards, but the idvance was then halted and Le licked. Before a big crowd Fordham won the first game of the season, defeating the Gallaudet team, of Maryland, by a reore of 7 to 6. The teams were well matched on the defence, but the vis-itors had no line smashing backfield to equal Yule, Dunn and Kane nor elever runners like Mahaffy and Rec-Fordisam secred in the second period after a series of charges through their epponents' centre which permitted Yule to go through and make the first touchdown of the game. Captain Wymard followed with an accurate kick from placement, making the score 7 to 0.

The visitors secred in the last half, when Marshall, the speedy end of the deaf mute team, took the ball to Fordham's 15-yard line after a splendid run of thirty yards. After failing with two forward passes Moore rushed the

Open Play Fails to Make Its Way Against the Bucknell Eleven. Touchdown in Last Period

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Union defeated Hobart here this afternoon by a score of 7 to 3. The teams were exceptionally evenly matched, and not GO WILDLY ASTRAY

In the last quarter a spectacular forty-yard forward pass from Beaver to Girling followed by a twenty-yard run through half the Hobart team netted the Garnet a touchdown. Girling then kicked the goal.

slieng attack directly against the centre of the Tiger line, and for three periods kept it to good advantage. Then a sudden shift to open play in the last period again caught Princeton by surprise and nearly carried the assault ever the goal line, but a pass into the 10-yard zone was grounded by Boland. The Tigers started on their steek of simple forward passes, which won from Rutgers, but to their surprise found a knot tied in the system somewhere, and surprise grew almost to confusion when thirteen forward passes were tried before a single yard was gained.

To add to the difficulties the forwards charged high and scemed almost unwilling to tackle below the waistline. As a consequence the Bucknell backwere constantly knifing their way through to the recondary defence before being stopped. A week of practice against a helpless scrub line-up had started bad habits among the regulars which were hard to overcome.

On the seventh play of the game Tophem, of Bucknell, narrowly missed a field goal from the 42-yard line after intercepting a Princeton forward mass. From that time to nearly the end of the first half the Tigers fought without result.
