FAMINE GROWING WORSE IN BELGIUM

People Flocking Into the Larger Towns in Order to Keep Warm.

London, Nov. 20.—Notwithstanding the amount of relief work which is being done for the Belgians, conditions there, in the larger cities as well as the rural districts, are becoming more serious.

"This influx," he said, "is due to a lack of fuel as well as of food. Brussels has plenty of coal, but the interruption of transportation makes it impossible to carry coal to remote villages. Refugees are flocking to Liège and other large towns, as well as to Brussels."

Petrograd, Nov. 20.—The following official statement from the General Staff was issued here to-night:

"The people are entirely dependent on kerosene for both heating and cooking, and the supply of this fuel also is becoming scarce. The committee is receiving petitions every day for supplies of oil."

"Our offensive on November 19 met with partial successes. At the north-west of Lodz we captured a battery of heavy artillery, ten machine guns and several hundred prisoners."

"We are grateful to the American commission for the 17,000 tons of food which has been distributed in Belgium since the first of November. We have an ample number of volunteer workers to attend to the distribution of these supplies, but the lack of transportation facilities has prevented us from reaching many remote villages which are in need of assistance."

"In Galicia the Russians are going steadily westward, and at the same time are seizing the passes of the Carpathians."

"The committee is now supplying 600,000 meals daily in Brussels to 800,000 persons. These meals consist of potato soup, some rice and a piece of bread reduced to three ounces, because of the scarcity of flour."

Washington, Nov. 20.—A dispatch from Vienna received late today at the Austro-Hungarian Embassy here said:

"The committee is now supplying 600,000 meals daily in Brussels to 800,000 persons. These meals consist of potato soup, some rice and a piece of bread reduced to three ounces, because of the scarcity of flour."

WHERE RUSSIANS, GERMANS AND AUSTRIANS ARE FIGHTING IN THE EAST.

HINDENBURG TELLS WHY HE WILL WIN

German Soldier's Thinking and Nerves Better than Russian's.

Berlin (via The Hague and London), Nov. 20.—The Russians have numbers on their side, but numbers alone are not the decisive factor. In the present stage of the war less than ever before we are not afraid of Russian numerical superiority.

BRITISH AND JAPS MEET IN PACIFIC

Join Australian Warships to Strike at German Squadron.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 20.—That several British, Australian and Japanese warships are mobilizing off the coast of Lower California was the word brought to this port to-day by Captain Robert Israel, of the oceangoing launch Necessuch.

"The Russians have learned much since the Japanese war, particularly in the science of entrenching, but when the ground is frozen they will no longer be able to dig themselves in. Then they will have a bad time of it. That is one of the advantages the winter campaign will bring us."

An unidentified foreign vessel passed this port to-day fifteen miles offshore, also southbound. It is generally supposed that the warships are mobilizing preparatory to an attack on the German squadron under Admiral von Spee.

GOEBEN'S MISSION ENDED BY RUSSIANS

Cruiser on Way to Bombard Czar's Summer Residence When Attacked.

Petrograd, Nov. 20.—From reports received here of the naval engagement off Sebastopol between Russian and Turkish warships, it is apparent that the former German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, which now fly the Turkish flag, were bound for Yalta, with the intention of bombarding the summer residence of Emperor Nicholas, at Livadia, just outside Yalta.

RUSSIANS BOMBARD TURKS' LAND BASE

Warships Shell Town Where an Expeditionary Campaign Was Being Planned.

Petrograd (via London), Nov. 21.—The following official communication from the headquarters of the army of the Caucasus was issued last night: "Russian warships bombarded on November 19 the port of Khopa, in Turkish Armenia, about eighteen miles southwest of Batum, on the Black Sea, whence the Turks were preparing for an offensive movement in the direction of different passes of the Zatcharekhi chain, destroying the port barracks and the custom house, blowing up the ammunition depot and setting the place on fire."

VON BUELOW GOES TO ROME AS ENVOY

Paris, Nov. 20.—A dispatch from Rome to the Fournier Agency says that Prince von Buelow has been appointed German Ambassador to Italy.

BRITAIN CURTAILS EXPORTS OF TEA

London, Nov. 20.—Great Britain today prohibited the exportation of tea to all Continental ports, except those of the countries of the Allies and of Spain and Portugal.

Recent dispatches from Rome have indicated that Herr von Flotow, the German Ambassador there, was about to retire. Prince Bernhard von Buxtehude, formerly Chancellor of the German Empire, who usually lives in Rome, and who, through his Italian marriage, has great influence in Italian society, was mentioned as likely to take the post, in view of its importance at this crisis.

While turning to pursue the Goeben the Evmatli landed several more shells on the Turkish coast, as her firing ceased. The Breslau took no part in the fighting, standing a long way off during the battle.

Newport, R. I., Nov. 20.—James Laurens Van Alen is having a motor ambulance made here for presentation to the French government for use in the front. Mr. Van Alen obtained a foreign built chassis, and an ambulance body of the design of ambulances used by the United States government is being set on it.

Rome, Nov. 20.—Signor Grassi, professor of anatomy in the University of Rome and one of the leaders of the Germanophile party, was the victim of a hostile demonstration by students attending his lecture yesterday. Signor Grassi was so much affected that he fainted.

NEW BRITISH GUN DOES DEADLY WORK

Razes Forests at Safe Range—Rifles Sighted Further than Foes'.

Northern France (name of town censored), Nov. 20.—The fighting of the last few days around Biscote and Ypres has proved conclusively to General French's staff that the Germans have no effective counter weapon to the new British field gun.

KHEDIVE WITH TURK IN MARCH ON EGYPT

He Is Quoted as Bitter Toward England for Expelling Him.

London, Nov. 21.—The "Frankfurter Zeitung" publishes an interview, which it says was granted by the Khedive of Egypt to its correspondent. The Khedive, who received the correspondent on the Asiatic shore of the Bosphorus, said:

"I regard the situation with calmness and with absolute confidence. England prevented me, without any reason and without any right, from returning to my country. In view of this serious fact my attitude was clear. I declined with indignation to listen to any proposals. The most sacred duties determined me to remain at Constantinople, near the Suzerain of Egypt.

These guns have razed whole forests to the ground, and the Germans have therefore shown a disposition not to trench themselves too systematically in the thick woods around Ypres, Lille and La Bassée. In places where the British have advanced, corpses, battered and mangled by fallen trees and branches, have been found in the German trenches. So terrific has been the effect of these shells that more than a score of 5,000 prisoners captured within the week have become almost insane. The British are convinced that the German artillery will require considerable improvement before it can dislodge the English guns.

HAYSTACK CAVALRY TRAPS GERMANS

Gascon Captain Masks His Horses While His Troop Attacks Charging Foe.

Northern France (name of town censored), Nov. 20.—A brilliant feat of characteristic French smartness has been reported. A Gascon captain, whose advancing squadron was about to oust, if possible, some German forces from a position inconveniently commanding the French trenches, was observed from a German aeroplane, which hastened to report the movement. The captain caused a number of horses to be so loaded up with hay that, grouped together, they resembled a haystack, and these were sent forward.

"To-day Turkey and England are at war and a mighty expedition is being prepared by us, the object of which is to put an end to the temporary occupation of that country by the English and to restore the situation that existed before 1882. I do not for a moment doubt of the complete success of this expedition, still less of the enthusiastic reception on which the glorious imperial troops can reckon in my country from all classes of the population of Egypt.

GERMANS MASS THEIR ATTACKS

Their success in keeping their lines intact against the concentrated German force in this region is attributed by expert observers largely to the care which the commanding officers are bestowing upon the comfort of their men. The troops are getting a rest from the trenches. Instead of being in them for days on end amid all the horrors trench war entails, they are relieved at frequent intervals.

The commission has sent a letter to the German Consul at Rotterdam, asking him to thank his government for the co-operation of the German authorities in distributing the first shipment of food to Belgium. The commission is renewing its endeavors to persuade the British government to raise the embargo on the exportation of food, as it is feared that cargoes coming from America will not arrive in time to prevent actual starvation in the remote parts of Belgium.
