

The Thunder of the U. S. Battleship Michigan's Broadside on the Lens
The black smoke is the escaping gas, which first follows the ignition of the powder. The big white puff is just ahead of the flame spurt from the muzzle. Taken during the recent manœuvres in Narragansett Bay. Photo: C. W. F. Walker, U. S. N.