

A wonderful view of the Conca di Gargaro, taken from Monte Santo, the height that was recently captured from the Austrians by the splendid Italian offensive, showing the village of Britoff in the valley.

German prisoner being put through the third degree by French officers in their dugout. As one officer questions the boche another phones the information gained to headquarters.

Underwood & Underwood

Pr. Official from Pic. Press

This unique view, taken through the eyeslit of a British armored car during the recent retreat on the Russian front in Galicia, shows the car ahead giving flag signals.

Underwood & Underwood

Swiss troops on the well known Furka Road, facing the Rhone glacier. These soldiers have been called into service owing to the large numbers of interned German, French and English soldiers in Switzerland.

Underwood & Underwood

A new photograph of General Cadorna, taken on the Italian front, where his troops are in preparation for one of the biggest drives yet made.

Frank L. Schaub

Right—American aviators in France inspecting French fighting machines of the type that have been daringly penetrating the German lines and bombing open towns.

Kadel & Herbert

One of the new destroyers of the American Navy making ready for convoy duty. 787 vessels, from super-dreadnoughts to submarine chasers, are being rushed to completion by the government at a total cost of $1,150,400,000. "Our navy then," says Secretary Daniels, "will be unexcelled by any in the world."

Ernest Poole

Wounded Canadian soldiers returning to Toronto are given a warm welcome by our Sammies there, who assist them with their kit bags and other belongings.

Gilliams Service

