Lawyers and Notaries Charging Fees for Services May Be Disciplined

The Legal Board Will End Profiteering Through the Draft

The Legal Advisory Board yesterday began to war on profiteering lawyers and notaries public who are charging registrants for assistance in filling out their questionnaires. The board, it is said, proposes to ask the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court to discipline offending lawyers and request the Governor to revoke the licenses of unfair notaries.

Legal Board Will End Profiteering Through the Draft

H. Snowden Marshall, former United States District Attorney, and member of the Legal Advisory Board, expressed the opinion that flagrant offenders who acted together could be prosecuted criminally as conspirators to obstruct the operation of a Federal law.

Complaints have come from local boards to the office of the adjutant general that registrants do not realize their duties under the new classification system. It is said that many are lax in reporting change of address when they move, and others fail to appear to learn their duties.

Legal Board Will End Profiteering Through the Draft

A tour of inspection to the 189 local law boards in this city was made yesterday by a committee of the Legal Advisory Board. They found, it was said, that many of the first registrants to receive questionnaires were taking the full time the law allowed in which to answer them.

Legal Board Will End Profiteering Through the Draft

The local exemption boards were again held up in their work yesterday through a shortage of forms. Butword received at Draft Director MeCook's office last night that new supplies of questionnaires, envelopes, classification lists and other necessary of the adjutant general in Albany, and were due today.

Camp Wadsworth Man Gets Year at Hard Labor

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

CAMP WADSWORTH, S. C., Dec. 21.-Convicted by court martial on a charge of criminal carelessness, resulting in the death of a tent-mate, Corporal Charles Volkener, of Battery B, 166th Field Artillery, 27th Division, has been sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for a year, it was announced today at Camp Wadsworth.

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

Volkener was demonstrating the workings of a service rifle in a tent to several comrades when the battery one night about a month ago and the weapon was accidentally discharged, the ball striking Private Antonio Masucci in the stomach, causing death about two hours later.

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

In an appeal from a sentence of the court General O'Ryan wrote: "This soldier shot and killed a comrade. The record shows no criminal motive or intent. It was simply one of the all too many cases where a loaded weapon in the hands of a soldier is accidentally discharged. Unfortunately for the prisoner, it resulted fatally, and he must suffer the consequences of his gross carelessness."

SALESMAN

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

NEW ROCHELLE, Dec. 21.-Saloon-keepers of this city discovered today that Governor Whitman, instead of granting the temporary order forbidding the sale of liquor, had given Mayor Griffin an order which gave the city a full week with a permanent order, effective for the duration of the war. The discovery was made following the receipt of an explanatory notice sent by the State Excise Commissioner.

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

Immediately the saloon men, who have $500,000 invested in their business here and paid $100,000 in war taxes last month, began to protest themselves. They obtained 1,000 signatures to a petition for the revocation of the order and requested a hearing before the Mayor. He will receive them tomorrow morning.

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

The arrest of John Grosso, a saloon-keeper, on the charge of making a gift of a glass of beer to a friend, was proof enough to his fellows, if any were lacking, that the situation was serious. Only for the saloon-keepers, though, for whom the law still sets in fifty-gallon lots and more moderate drinks are to be obtained at Pelham and Larchmont.

Teacher Who Sat on Tack Must Resign

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

SENTENCE WAS SUSPENDED yesterday in the Bronx County Court upon Louis N. Kurtz, a teacher who sat on a tack charged with beating and kicking a pupil, on condition that he resign and pay $100 in instalments of $10 each toward the medical expenses of his victim.

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

For two weeks Kurtz has been under observation by Dr. Max G. Schlapp at the Post-Graduate Hospital. His friends asserted that he was extremely nervous and in September when the assault upon George Harberg, twelve years old, took place in Public School 42, was exhausted by overwork. A tack in the teacher's chair provoked the assault.

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

Kurtz pleaded guilty to assault in the second degree. Judge Gibbs set aside the verdict and declared that corporal punishment would not be tolerated in schools.

Man Murders Wife, Then Commits Suicide

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

The policeman who broke in the door of the floor rear apartment at 423 West 147th Street last night found the dead bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yake, where they had lain since Wednesday night, when the man killed his wife. He believed in a fit of jealousy, and then shot himself.

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

The woman was clad only in a nightgown. She lay face down on the floor with a bullet hole in her back. On the bed Yake was reclined, fully dressed. One hand still held a .38-calibre revolver, with two chambers empty. There was a bullet wound in his temple.

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

In his pocket was a note addressed "to the Police." This merely instructed the coroner to have the body taken to the morgue. The note also stated that the man was Charles Yake, of 423 West 147th Street.

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

According to the sister of the dead woman, the couple had been quarrelling, and a week ago Mrs. Yake left her husband and went to work in the Kirkman Stores, 150 Cortlandt Avenue, the Bronx.

No Action as Likely Here

Soldier-Slayer Sentenced

District Attorney Swann said last night that in this country there would be no presentation of evidence to a grand jury in this case against Gaston B. Means, who was acquitted in Cabarrus County, N. C., of the charge of shooting Mrs. Maude A. King. Mr. Swann said all grand jury action against Means would probably be taken in Chicago.
