They fiddled a few moments when the round began, when Fitzsimmons swung his left to the jaw, planted it on the mouth and then whipped it once more to the jaw of the human punch-bag in front of him. Coughlin clinched and fought back, but Coughlin down with a left hook to the jaw. He followed this with a right and left to the jaw, and Coughlin went down for nine seconds gratefully. PLATT SAYS DROP THEM OFF.

OTHER DEMOCRATS IN PLACE OF GROUT AND FOMES, HIS IDEA.

David B. Hill Credited With Advising McLaughlin in the Fight With Murphy—Sheehan Will Indorse Tammany Ticket if Murphy Plan Goes Through.

Senator Platt said last night at the Fifth Avenue Hotel concerning Comptroller Grout that if Mr. Grout did not retire from the fusion ticket the Republican City Convention should be called together and Mr. Grout's name be dropped.

"I am very emphatic," said Senator Platt, "and I am convinced that the Republican City Convention ought to reconvene and drop Mr. Grout's name. As for Mr. Fomes, I know very little, as he has not been personally as prominent in the situation of late; but if the Republican City Convention is reconvened I believe that two Democrats will be nominated to succeed Mr. Grout and Mr. Fomes on the ticket."

"I observe," said Senator Platt, "that Mr. Grout recalls the Theodore W. Myers incident of 1890, when Mr. Myers was nominated for Comptroller by the anti-Tammany people and was taken up by Richard Croker and indorsed by Tammany Hall. Grout has no right to appeal to that precedent, for the reason that at that time Mr. Myers had no dickers and no deals with anybody. He was merely a good Comptroller and I suppose that Tammany Hall took him up on that account. But Mr. Myers had no deals and no dickers, and it is apparent at the moment that Mr. Grout cannot be similarly named in 1903."

Rioters No Longer Fed Free—Legal Actions Against Lake Superior Co.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Sept. 30.—The trouble from Toronto to-day had been quiet for the last three days and there was not the slightest disturbance or trouble of any kind. Contrary to expectation, the refusal of the company and the city to furnish free meals to the unemployed did not create any excitement. Four hundred men were brought in late this evening, and a racket was expected as soon as they arrived. A more peaceable crowd than that of the day before was the result of the action of the Central Trust Company and Speyer & Co., moved yesterday before Judge Fred W. Johnson, senior judge of the District of Algoma, for an order to compel the officials of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company to give up possession of the property. The court gave the officials five days in which to appear and reply to the motion.

MURPHY WILL NOT BE BUDGED

ORATORS SELECTED TO NOMINATE GROUT AND FOMES.

Tammany's Principles Revised So as Not to Disapprove of Full Value Assessment—Doubtful District Leaders Reassured and Kings Defied.

Up at Tammany Hall Mr. Murphy received all the district leaders in the course of yesterday. He heard from them many expressions of misgiving as to the wisdom of his course in taking up Grout and Fomes and mortally offending the Kings county organization. At first blush, when they believed that fusion would stick to Grout and Fomes and leave the issue solely between McClellan and Low, they looked on it as a stroke of subtle politics.

They were telling Mr. Murphy yesterday that if Grout and Fomes were cast off the fusion ticket the whole ticket would suffer. Even if the mixed ticket won, they told Mr. Murphy, he would not have the credit of a clean victory. Moreover, the Tammany time honored policy of rewarding loyalty would have been departed from. A couple of months ago, they said, it was 2 to 1 against Low. Now an attempt at cleverness had brought about a situation which held no such bright prospect for Tammany victory.

Mr. Murphy told these leaders that he was satisfied it would come out all right. He had communicated with Mr. Grout, and Mr. Grout did not intend to be frightened, bluffed or shamed off the Republican ticket. Whatever Grout did Fomes would do, too. As for the prospect of Nixon's independent candidacy, Mr. Murphy made light of it. It would help the Tammany cause, he thought, as those independent voters who voted for Nixon in Brooklyn and in Manhattan were men who otherwise would vote for Low. The regular Democratic vote, which could be depended on at all times, would be sufficient to elect the ticket. Mr. Murphy pointed to a letter of John D. Crimmins applauding the wisdom of his choice as an example of what the attitude of many independent Democrats is toward the fusion ticket. He had all the leaders at the Democratic Club last night perfecting his arrangements for to-night. The platform committee of the city convention was in conference with Mr. Murphy. Bernard York, the member of the committee from Brooklyn, was an absentee, which was commended.

Bernard York, the member of the committee from Brooklyn, was an absentee, which was commended.

It came out that the draft of the platform which was submitted to the city committee last night had to be sent back for amendment, because Grout and Fomes apparently very remote, was not, according to Mr. Shea, beyond possibility of realization. Mr. McLaughlin attended the meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee in Jefferson Hall. When the City Committee had reported how Mr. Murphy had treated the convention, he declared that there was nothing left for the organization to do but to maintain a firm and resolute stand against the fusion ticket. He contended that they could not be arranged for and urged that they urged the district leaders to stand firm and solid.

NAMES THREE CORRESPONDENTS.

Percy E. Garretson Cannot Find Wife, a Stepdaughter of N. L. Ely.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 30.—According to papers filed in the Supreme Court at White Plains to-day, Percy E. Garretson of Manhattan has brought suit for absolute divorce from his present young wife, Fidelis H. Garretson, naming three men as the cause of his marital troubles. The papers were filed by Henry L. Rupert of a Madison avenue, Manhattan, counsel for Mr. Garretson in his complaint, which he was married to the defendant on April 29, 1897, at Peekskill, and they have no children. Mr. Garretson, in his complaint, says he was committed to the State Prison on Feb. 15, Oct. 23 and Nov. 18, 1901, between Feb. 1 and March 1, 1902, and between Feb. 1 and March 1, 1903, at the Hotel Madison and the Hotel Imperial. The correspondents named are William Strachan, Frederic Fraser Reicher and James McQuade.

Lawyer Rupert, in his efforts to find Mrs. Garretson, employed detectives, and even a female process server, but she could not be located. They visited the Aylesmere and the Richmond apartment houses in Manhattan and the country seat of her stepfather, N. L. Ely, a rich stove manufacturer at Peekskill, whose county place, the Larchmont apartments in Manhattan. The defendant has lived with her mother and her stepfather in both Peekskill and the Larchmont apartments in Manhattan. Lawyer Rupert in his affidavit says: "That the residence of said stepfather at Peekskill has been closed to all visitors and callers; that instructions have been issued to the servants to admit no one to the said residence under any circumstances; that the doors and windows of said house are locked and barred."
