The Month Ahead Sale

The fact that we are able to offer you 58,000 yards of Silks for $80,000 is sufficient proof that this August Sale is a good one. It is a matter of the fact that you will be fully ready to buy your silks before the season opens, and that we are able to supply you with all of them. The ordinance of the month of August gives us the opportunity to bring in all silks for the season at once and to avoid the necessity of having to bring them in two or three times.

Many of the silks are at half price. Some of the more expensive goods that cost the least year round are the regular prices, but there are practical materials, but the prices are still generally lower than the regular.

There are over one hundred styles and colors in heavy silks, and the Silks of the world. Whites are available Black Taffetas Silks, White Taffetas, Oared Peau de Cygne, White Louisiana, White Damasks, Peau de Soie, and Gloucester. The story in detail follows.

The Second Half of This Well-Rounded August Furniture Apple

Is as Big and Ripe as the First

If you should give the figure showing the enormous saving of furniture that we have done during the last two weeks, you would marvel that there could be any furniture left on our floor; and, if it were not for the constantly coming supplies, our floors would have been swept clean many times already. But past experience has taught us how largely to prepare for this August movement, and we have laid the scarcity of the furnishing to that, new and curiously are constantly taking the place of the old.

There is not a vacant spot on our furniture floor this month. The new and landing furniture sells every available foot of space. It is a splendid collection—broad and ranged to every position. The rooms are being used as showrooms, and we have a beautiful assortment of all the latest models in every line. The workmanship of the shop has been constantly taking the place of the old.

Our work on the floor of the house is more than enough to fill the available space. The special sales for the August movement, and we have laid the scarcity of the furnishing to that, new and curiously are constantly taking the place of the old.

One chapter is more than enough to fill the available space. We have had a splendid collection of all the latest models in every line. The workmanship of the shop has been constantly taking the place of the old.
