MEANING MRS. HARPER SEES IN THE RECENT PARADE.

Women About to Become More Aggreschise, She Believes-College Women

Sew discussing the aggressive sufframid, "No power on earth can prevent movement for woman suffrage in the United States." That movement was inaugurated by the recent agreet parade and Union Square meeting in New York.

It is the first step that counts, and future generations will not be able to understand the courage it required on the part of those women who made the daring innovation of walking in procession through the streets of this great, growded city carrying the banner of what attention to their demand for the franchise they were not introducing a new spectacle, for it had long been customary of the United States have a few times joined in processions of men, notably of the labor organizations and Socialists, but this, so far as is known, was the first time a body of women held their own in Union Square and listened to argument pagatle and outdoor mass meeting.

It does not seem so difficult, now cess and none of the direful things pregreat majority of the women began about it. beforehand they went again and again the signt religious the movement. The signt religious with the movement to the various suffrage headquarters to have their courage strengthened. Many called out to keep order.

and the outdoor meeting were established count for his vote on this bill. as a permanent part of the work for The church militant has done a mighty are they necessary?

years old. That for the abolition of negro parades. slavery was begun and brought to a sucsult has been practical failure.

change of methods. The situation in to it. the United States had been duplicated in can women ready for revolt and it needed and hold meetings. only the vivifying breath of her eloquence Many cities are now being organized think scarcely realizes that to-day there are are now regularly organized in possess their degrees.

It was a beautiful and gratifying sight, College, at its head. those women clothed in the symbolic Is this the way men would have it? garb of learning stepping fearlessly They alone are responsible for the situaforth and saying, 'Do you dare deny to tion. They have issued to women the us a voice in our own government?" challenge to show that a majority want Upon college women beyond all others the suffrage, and the women will never rests the responsibility of leading in this stop till they have proved it. contest, for they have already received. They realize as never before the power the hand, sounding literally and figura- woman as of a man. This spirit will the band, sounding iterally and figuratively the trumpet call to women to fall in line and join the onward march to a freedom which never can be complete funtil they have power over the conditions.

In the band, sounding iterally and figurawoman as of a man. This spirit will all about them and then he would go for the sake of hearing the lines from the actors. This worked so well that I kept it up until his wife took him South in Febfreedom which never can be complete until they have power over the conditions under which they must work, found their homes and rear their children.

The measures and use the conditions of the far reaching.

It is time for men to face this question ruary. They are coming back into town next fall and I am to begin work again the day they arrive.

What became of my old lady invalid?

What became of my old lady invalid?

Most significant was that part of the parade made up of wage earning women, of that vast new element which has entered into the economic world for all time and which must henceforth be recknowled with in considering all public questions. For many years after the suffrage of the end or only the beginning of a militant campaign which has been forced upon American women.

What became of my old lady invalid? I read and taiked to her so much about present. After having served the agreeable purpose of a house of refreshment for centures the purpose of a house of refreshment for centures the tavern is to be removed and in its and go there for her health. You see after the maid told me about her numerations the public streets shall indicate the near approach of the end or only the beginning of being key was to get her interested in something.

I had seen the wonderful difference it. did not exist. Women worked just as hard as they do now, but they were in no sense regarded as a factor in industrial life. Hours and remuneration were settled by each separate family, and the possession of a vote by women would not ave materially changed them.

passed at once into the domain of law and politics. When driven by necessity to follow her work she found herself no longer protected by the interests of home and family and utterly without protection under the new regime, and it then became vitally necessary that she should thave some influence over her new masters, law and politics. In other words she endies to pass over with great enables the engine weighs eight tons, is of horse-power, with a maximum speed of eight miles an hour, Quite a new principle in locemotion is applied in the engine, which is toselling in the ordinary way rolls along in an endless track which it lays for itself. This track is something like a great chain of steel links, the outside of each being should with blocks of wood, which act like the along the politics. colitics. When driven by necessity to law and politics. In other words she needed a voir to regulate her hours, her wages, her conditions of labor. It has taken working women a long time to understand this important fact, and the leaders of the suffrage movement have also been slow to realize it, but both see is clearly new and in the near future the number of wage earners who walked in that first procession will be multiplied by thousands.

Is permanent way. This enables the engine to pass over with eastern accounts a round, to the pass over with eastern across a darley negotiate the very straightful to gard across the soft sand of long valley, drawing a six ton field guarantees the banks of which ware very and then across a wide stretch of he ground, which was by far the stiffess of all, the guarantees and little promulsive power any kit rough ground, rocky areas, soft sand to gard across the soft sand of lit was tested across the soft sand of long valley, drawing a six on field guarantees the banks of which was by far the stiffess of all, the guarantees are considered as the case and little promulsive power any kit rough ground, rocky areas, soft sand or gard across ditches and grull was considered. law and politics. In other words she ena officers of a political organization of vomen in each district. Many of these had reached or passed middle age and were well known for their educational and philanthropic work, and the vast majority were wives and mothers. Here is the lesson of the parade Into the suffrage movement within a few sive in Their Efforts to Get the Fran- years have come thousands of young women filled with vigor, enthusiasm, self and Working Women Cooperating.

2

assertion, confidence in their own powers.

In the high schools and colleges they have matched intellects with the boys and young men and even more than held their own.

In the various vocations, working side by side with these same men, they still have found themselves equally capable and yet everywhere discriminated against in pay, in hours, in the best positions, They have discovered at last that the discrimination against them by the Government is at the root of it all, and now they demand their political rights.

They listen with amazement and scorn to the backneved objections; they have not been drilled in the subjection of women, as were their mothers, whose ever attempted. In Great Britain when women adopted this method of calling all wrong," they say, and the older women "They seemed all right, but answer: they haven't won, and we are ready for new methods." Thus the old workers, for women in all lines of work to engage with patience exhausted and forbearance in public parades. Of late years those struck from the list of virtues, join forces with the young, courageous, independent, aggressive and the "militant" movement for woman suffrage who never did and never would go into a hall to hear them. it is over and was an unqualified suc- Thousands of people who lined the side cess and none of the direful things pre-dicted took place, but it was with flutter-for the first time that this was a vital, ing hearts and trembling limbs that the tangible question and began to think Scores of women inspired by that walk through the streets. For days the sight fell into line and thus identified came to say that they were quite willing by the New York papers understood as to make the sacrifice, but the men of never before that the women meant busitheir families absolutely forbade it and ness and that woman suffrage was hencetold them that the crowds on the streets forth to be a political issue. The imwould jeer and make insulting remarks; mediate result was the action of the that the small boys would throw things; Senate at Albany five days later to call that the police reserves would have to be the suffrage bill out of committee after this had been persistently refused all On the contrary from Central Park to winter. Those sixty-three automobiles Union Square there was not a disrespect- emphasized as words could not do that ful word or an unpleasant incident and the every member from New York would services of even the regular police force face a political organization of women were unnecessary. The street parade on his return home to whom he must ac-woman suffrage. Are they justifiable and work. The campaign militant for woman suffrage has a mighty work to do. New The organized movement for the enfranchisement of women is about sixty cities come reports of projected street

A procession many times the size of the coasful end in about half that time, but it last will take place in this city next fall. required a five years war and the loss of Outdoor meetings in the parks and on the cousands of human lives. In all these street corners will be held throughout the three-score years of struggle for po- summer. The suffragists will tour this listcal liberty every act has been consti- and other States in motors, trolley cars tutional, dignified, womanly-and the re- and caravans. Is this publicity to be condemned? Let men never forget for a Logic and common sense demand a moment that they have driven women

To what extremes this militant move-Great Britain. Women are not fitted by ment may go cannot be foretold. Probanature or disposition for war and blood- bly the good sense of American woman always two, so that I was able to select shed, but as the daughters of their fathers will keep them within constitutional they have some fighting spirit. They imits, but when for generations a qualimust have a strong leader, however, to fled class of citizens have been persistmake this effective, and over there this ently refused a voice in their own governleader came forth from the ranks of the ment they are fully justified in exceeding old, conservative suffrage organization, these limits. A stock objection to giving burning with indignation and resentment women the suffrage is that it would take at the long years of contemptuous and them into politics. If they were already contemptible treatment by the political enfranchised not one in thousands would do more than go quietly on election day We need not rehearse the story of the and cast her vote, but now in order to get English "suffragettes," which has been the vote thousands are compelled to do told around the world. When this great every kind of political work, circulate bined leader. Mrs. Pankhurst, came to this petitions, interview officials, go to legislative hearings, make only the vivifying breath of her eloquence to start the flame which is now spreading for suffrage in each district along the same lines as the political parties and the same lines as the political parties and the women will have the humiliating task of women, with the marked prestige of can interview of the same lines as the political parties and the scorn he heaped on our horsest efforts.

"He said if that was the best we could interview of the said if that was the best we could be a same lines as the political parties and the scorn he heaped on our horsest efforts. women, with the marked prestige of cap interviewing every voter. The splendid do he thought he might as well go to the and gown, should have headed the first abilities of women which are so much theatre and borrow the use of his valet suffrage street parade, for they are the needed in the great social work of every eyes. Well he went with his valet and suffrage street parade, for they are the needed in the great social work of every eyes. finest flower of the movement for the community are more and more becoming emancipation of woman. Education is absorbed in the struggle for the suffrage the only permanent foundation for prog- This is especially true of the young ress and it was practically denied to all college women, who are equipped beyond women when the agitation commenced all others to help in the solution of muni- not help for their political rights. That battle is cipal problems but are going by thousands won, but even now the general public into the contest for the franchise. They 50,000 women in our colleges and univer- colleges of twenty-eight States , and sities and fully that number who already federated in a national association with Miss Thomas, the president of Bryn Mawr they answer every objection which is made to woman suffrage.

Less prominent but possibly more symbolic were the two women who headed the band, sounding literally and figuraits highest rewards and in themselves of a vote and the injustice of being de-

IDA HUSTED HARPER ENGINE TO DRAW GUNS.

Army. From the London Chronicle.

A committee of expert officers attended When the labor of woman was taken from the individual home and placed under the control of a corporation it passed at once into the domain of law and hills. The engine weighs eight tons, is of

by thousands.

Still another striking feature of the parade was seen in the sixty-three automovules representing as many Assembly districts in the city and filled with the sixty and filled with the of adopting it for heavy artillery.

A GIRL STUDENT'S PLAN OF

PAYING COLLEGE EXPENSES.

One of Her Buties to See the Plays at the Theatre for a Blind Man-Interesting a Capricious Invalid-A Boctor's New Plan With His City Patients.

"Last year I spent my summer holiday n New York and not only paid expenses and laid up something for use in the winter but I had a pleasant, vacation besides." The speaker was a young woman from the Southwest who is working her way through college. "I devoted all my time to reading the new books and magazines to invalids and seeing all the attrac tions at the best theatres for a blind eans to lose your sight. This blind patron of mine had been a strong, vigorous man of affairs when the accident happened that deprived him of his sight. wife told me that at first he was so sensitive about his helplessness that he could not be persuaded to leave his rooms. wouldn't even go into the family sitting

"Conditions were only a little better when I first went to him last summer He had worn his wife out reading to him and accepted me as a substitute only when the doctor ordered her away for a

*For the first few times I had to wait for his valet to get him seated in such a manner that I could not see his face. I don't believe I ever would have seen his face if I had not remarked one day after eading the theatrical news in a weekly nagazine that I had seen the play writen about but did not agree with the writer's estimate of the leading actor.

"At once he began to question me about hat play, then about others, until before I realized it I was giving a synopsis of the cenes and the actors of every play I and seen in the previous six months. Best of all, my patron had become so nterested that he unconsciously turned his scarred face toward me and sat that way, apparently seeing as well as hearing, intil time came for me to go.

"Out in the hall as I was leaving the house the valet explained that his master had been fond of going to the theatre and he was sure if I could manage to go to a play now and then and tell him about I would find it easier to get along with Before my next visit I made it onvenient to take the valet's advice. It worked like a charm for entertaining the blind man, though I often found it difficult to answer his questions.

"He would have liked me to impossible. However, my failure in that respect led to a better understanding. for when he suggested that I go to see the same play again for the sake of making im more clearly understand it I was forced to say that I only went to the theatre once a month because I couldn't afford to go any oftener.

When I left that afternoon it was with the understanding that I was to read to him three afternoons a week instead of ickets were handed me by the valet. my own company. Being much better the affair.
"This went on for three weeks. Then his wife returned and I fully expected to be told that my services were no longer needed, but to my delight she was so much pleased with her husband's improve-ment that she insisted on my continuing my three afternoons each week. It was after her return that we com-opera then having a great run-wife's part was to make the multic The We as a rule enjoy being ridiculed, I don't thought that would be the end of my position. Both the wife and the doctor jouse for the first time since his accident Though I was glad for his make I could lp feeling sorry on my own ac-It is not every day in the week count. that a girl can pick up a good, paying position filling only three afternoons a ex.

"I think the doctor must have had some idea of how I felt for he gave me the ad-dress of an invalid patient of his who wanted sone one to read to her and other-wise entertain her. I got the position. The invalid was an elderly widow and I un-derstood from her maid that she changed derstood from her maid that she changed the women who came to read to her almost as regularly as the end of the week The Old Bell Tavern of Pall Mail—Nell came around. They all begin on Mon-iays, come back on Thursdays and leave on Saturdays, was the way the maid described it.

"With that warning you can imagine of me was to go to the plays, and tell him another transformation all about them and then he would go for The Old Bell Tavern, standing at the corn Colorado. Then I read descriptive rticles about the natural beauties of the late. I was in the middle of the first Old Bell, stnading in the very thick of it of a series of articles telling about the political situation out there when my two waited abroad? There men supported hours expired. At he, request if finished their port, discussed the latest scandal of the article and she asked me to be sure to bring the next in the series the follow-

"Instead of the expected dismissal I further westward and northward, until a within the time stipulated, and one or two other places which my panel and one or two other places which my panel furnished no inconsiderable propersulting the furnished no in had wanted her to go to these places, but as she knew nothing about them she had never made up her mind to go. Now, since Colorado seemed so attractive, she RENTS HER VOICE AND EYES since Colorado seemed so attractive, she thought she would try to find out about the others before deciding just where she would spend the following winter.

"It was well into the winter before she made up her mind. In the meantime! I had been reading to her an hour a day. Half the time was devoted to articles and stories about the various places the and stories about the various places the doctor had recommended to her and the other half to current magazines and other half to current measurements.

"After my success with her that doctor declared he could fill all the time I could spare from my studies. He thinks it is a new method of suggestion, reading to people until they are just saturated with the thing you want them to do.

"He says I never could have got my blind patron out of doors by reading him the news or telling him about things seen in the parks or on the streets, but seen in the parks or on the streets, but seen in the parks or on the streets, but once I got him interested in his old time fad, the theatre, he forgot his disfigurement in his desire to learn as much as possible about the plays I described. The reason he failed with his invalid patient was that he only gave her statistics about the altitude and the temperature and named hotal rates at the places he about the attitude and the temperature and named hotel rates at the places he wanted her to visit, while the readers read only the news of the day and books in which she felt no especial interest. This summer he has three invalids to whom I am to read and talk on specified

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING.

Mrs. Pankhurst's society of English suffragists has just cleared $8,500 at a on inquiring I found that there was just suffrage bazaar held in Glasgow. The members made about half as much by their recent self-denial week.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe has been re elected president of the New England Women's Club. Mrs. Judith W. Smith was elected honorary vice-president in recognition of her long and faithful ser-vices. Besides these two ladies there were four other members present who at-tended the first meeting of the club forty

The Ladies Literary Society of Oberlin College has completed a schelarship fund to provide a graduate member with a year's foreign study. The organization is said to be the oldest woman's literary society in the world. Lucy Stone and Anette Brown were among its members sixty years ago.

Prof. Frances Squire Potter has accepted the office of general lecturer for the National Woman's Trade Union League. Prof. Potter will make a tour this country and perhaps go the interest of the league.

Dr. Mary Pierson Eddy was the only woman to speak at the foreign mission ary gathering of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church held in Atlantie City. Dr. Eddy is a granddaughter of the Rev. W. W. Eddy, D. D., one of the the entire play, which of course I found first American missionaries in Syria. She was born at Sidon and has spent all her life in the Ottoman Empire except the time devoted to study in the United States, Germany and England. She has practised in almost every part of the practised in almost every part of the Ottoman Empire, has established the only sanitarium for tuberculosis in Pales-tine and on her return will organize Red Cross societies in various cities in Syria and Palestine.

Miss Elizabeth Nourse, the American artist who lives in Paris, has just had one two, as arranged by his doctor, and before of her paintings purchased by the French each visit I was to go to the theatre. The Government. It is called "The Closed Shutters" and has been bought for the Luxembourg Gallery. Miss Nourse began her art career in Cincinnati as a pupil of her brother-in-law, Benn Pitman, a

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe testified the other day before the Massachusetts legislative committee which is investigating the milk situation. While giving her testimony she refused the chair offered by the committee and remained standing our efforts to give him a comic at the head of the witness table. In making her plea for pure milk Mrs. Howe

> There are several parties to the milk situation, and I think the principal party is the child in the cradle. There is no substitute for milk in rearing children. ot take long to settle. 4 do want that hose who produce this important food have suitable compensation. stand for justice to all parties and mercy to one, the infant."

Miss Job of Queenstown, Tasmania, is said to be the only woman who has ever sat within the bar at a Wesleyan Methodist conference. When she first took her seat one minister profested that the conference was composed only of ministers and laymen and that they had no power to admit the best lady in the land. All thers, including the president of the conference, took the position that women were included as laymen and Miss Job retained her sent within the har

Gwynne's Home. From the London Telegraph

The ancient thoroughfare of Pail Mail, which in its checkered history has witer of what used to be called John street out which is now practically included in St. James's Square, adjoining, is doomed to go the way of many another building which, the way of many another building which, while it survived in that region, formed an interesting link between the past and the present. After having served the agreeable calculated. The result was that the work purpose of a house of refreshment for cen-curies the tavern is to be removed and in its on.

"I had seen the wonderful difference it tion of the romantic. Tradition has not made in the blind man so I set to work to always spoken accurately as to the precise find out what her special fad was. When "I had seen the wonderful difference it made in the blind man so I set to work to find out what her special fad was. When I consulted the doctor he laughed at mersaying he had been her physician for nearly twenty years and had never been able to discover any one thing that instrements her the succession.

"I asked if he had ever thought of sending her to any particular place and when it is now particular place and when it is now pretty well accepted that the house occupied the site on which now stands a part of the steep of the presidence sometimes erroneously attributed to her was account of the romantic. Tradition has not out plans and then turn them over to contractors to make bids for the work. When I first began I used to superintend all the planting myself, not only because I felt that I needed the knowledge, the practical experience, this side of the business of the process of the proce "I asked if he had ever thought of sending her to any particular place and when he said she had once almost consented to go to Colorado I determined to make professional career, we are told, presented a desperate effort. When Thursday came certain features similar to those of Nell herself. But this house as the north side made my appearance in her pres- herself. But this house on the north side ce armed with an armful of magazines of Pall Mail was not the only one which ence armed with an armful of magazines of Pail Sam and newspapers, each containing interesting articles or stories about Colorado.

I began the campaign by reading a short story the scene of which was laid.

Short story the scene of which was laid.

Saturday.
When Saturday came I had been taken haven of good cheer in daylight and dark. just as much as a shrine of Bacchus-a back as reader to my blind patron, and one can picture the company that was ac-while it was no longer of such importance customed to gather under the oaken beams for me to keep the position with the invalid of its low pitched roof—the men who could woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman I preferred to do so if I could.

woman an air." So too can one bring to mind the changing clientele of the tavern as fashions altered and society migrated Instead of the expected dismissal I further westward and northward, until a

A GARDEN IN AN OLD OUARRY START OF A WOMAN LANDSCAPE

country to take up landscape architecture of a certain sort, just as there has to be in every profession, but it is always different and never could be called monotrally wanted to make landscapes.

Though my profits were not very large,

as I did not charge as much as a ma landscape architect would have done

I cleared a fair amount. In rendering my bill I only charged for my visits and the

"My second piece of work was laving off and making a garden for a friend.

In this also I was successful and made a fair profit, but it was not until after I began to get orders enough to keep me busy. In this third order I had the advantage of a fine location with a beautiful

"That is not found in every instance by any means. As a rule the landscape architect must be content to think his picture will get the proper frame fifteen or twenty years after he has finished beautiful grove of trees for me to fit

"One end of the garden was an old stone had completed my third order that as a profession.

training.

background.

the work.

my landscape in.

tiss Lee's Third Order Brought Her Suc-

the various branches of farming.

This school is to meet the demand among women who are anxious to make their living from the land. Many of them, though born and brought up in the country, have had no opportunity to learn about practical farming. That is the reason why we hear of so many failures among women who attempt positive among women who attempt to bear among women who attempt to bear among women who are anxive to bear among women who are anxive to bear among women who attempt to bear among women who attempt positive among women who attempt positiv variety in landscape gardening than in any other profession open to women." declared Miss Elizabeth-Leighton Lee of Philadelphia, one of the first women in the

"I am also hoping to see and superintendents indecape architects and superintendents of planting turned out by the new school. I a girl thinking of taking up my procession should come to use for advice I should tell her she needed at least two hould be not needed at least two hould tell her she needed at least two hould tell her she needed at least two hould be needed stenographer, but office work affected my ealth and being advised to take up something that would keep me out of doors I at once thought of landscape architecture I had always had a great love for the counoncoun test her she needed at least two years study as a preparation. After that if she could afford another two years under good landscape architects in this country and shroad. I should say for her to take it by all means, as she would be all the better for the additional training. "If, however, she hadn't the means to get this preparation, even the two first try and had fancied that had I been gifted as an artist I would devote myself to painting landscapes, so when the order came for me to work out of doors I natu-"At that time I didn't know that a woman had entered the profession, but one woman landscape architect in the

"If, however, she hadn't the means to get this preparation, even the two first years. I would not advise her to give up. A girl can work her way is my profession just about as well as in any other. If she has the talent and the determination she will overcome lack of training.

"It is not only work by which a woman may make a good living but it gives her one of the best opportunities for indulging her desire to cr. ste the beautiful and to live an out of door life. Neither should a girl hesitate because she has no rich or influential relative or friend to give her a start. I hadn't a soul but myself to depend on and I still have implicit faith in the belief that what one woman has accomplished another can do also." country. That decided me. What another woman had done I knew that I could, so I set about getting the necessary "After two yaers study I started out for nyself. My first piece of work was making the grounds of the vacation school of the Pennsylvania Association for Working Women. This order came to me through the influence of the chairman of the committee in charge of the school.

TRIO OF BEAU BRUMMELS. The Glass of Fashion as Reflected is

From the National Magazine. The faces of the members of President Taft's Cabinet are now becoming familiar to Washington people, and the point of in the winter. By doing this I would comparative elegance and style in dress get just enough to pay the instalments is being discussed. It has been decided that the palm lies between Postmaster-General Hitchcock with his long, flowing coat, without a crease, dainty lavender tie and carefully combed hair; Attorney-General Wickercombed hair; Attorney-General Wickersham and the Hon. George von L. Meyer, Secretary of the Navy.

To those impressed by quiet elegance the prize would be given to General Wickersham, who wears rich looking garments, though it has been eaid that the fact that he always arrives in a carriage provided by his Department may have something to do with his spick and span appearance.

Secretary Meyer's clothing always has an English cut, whereas Mr. Hitchcock's garb may be called distinctively the latest fashion plate from New York In this instance there was a eat way to start in the business of raising angora or Persian cats for market? How can I find out how to get the cafs for a start? What would be the smallest capital re-quired to make a small but good start?

One of the successful catteries in this ountry is owned and managed by a young woman who started in the business with a capital of $5. She bought two pure blooded

Angora kittens through an advertisement-

Mrs. F. W. S. I am 33 years of a married, and have a boy 13 years old. Insband's salary is $32 a week Up three months ago I also went to wo making a weekly salary of $30. Now am a good housekeeper, cook, &c., do all my own work, including washing, irong, sewing, &c., but do not find my tifully occupied. I would like to take o or two metherless children to board: would also take their fathers if they desire or I would take families where the moth or both parents went out to work leavitheir children alone. We live in a plathat is very much like the country, thou it is only a single fare to New York. Wh should I do to make a start in carrying of this idea?

keep a list of good boarding places, times have applications from wage earning women with children for just such a home as you describe. A personal visit to ministers or their assistants might also lead to something. In both instances it would be best for you to take a list of your references with you and to do everything to facilitate an investigation of your personal communication with a desirable woman.

If you want a young woman and can give good references you might get in touch with college girls, many of whom are look-ing about for business openings. One character and your home.

was careful to trace the pedigree of quarry, bare and rugged when I began but when I finished one of the most picturesque corners in a county which includes many beautiful estates I covered all the ugly bare spots with creepers and NEEDS OF WOMEN. flowering vines, with rosebeds and bits Miss D. H. S .- What were the rates houses? Did she charge by the day or the roles? Were her charges always or the roles? of shubbery where the picture demanded color and form. Though I cleared a good houses? Did she charge by the day or the house? Were her charges always the same or did she find it better to vary according to the wealth of her employer? Did she not find it difficult to get good help and how did she overcome it? When taking charge of a house at some distance from her place of residence did she charge railroad fares for her sanistants and herself? I am thinking of going into some such business and would be glad to get as mana particulars as possible.

Her charges were by the day. Though she tried to estimate the cost in the case. amount on this piece of work, its chief value to me was as an advertisement. People saw the garden and came to get me to do theirs.

"Though I have been in the busines you can imagine how much I enjoyed using them aside from the business end of the affair.

This went on for three weeks. she tried to estimate the cost in the case of each house when she was called in to piece of work that I have accomplished open or close it she was careful never is a garden in Elkins Park.

"This is on a private estate and the garden is situated above a large terrace on which there are two tennis courts and a squash court. In style I should call it an adaptation of the Italian and the English gardens. Though it has many more flowers than an Italian garden, as f it has the pointed cedars and a good deal of the formal shaped shrubbery. railroad and travelling expenses were "Besides making the garden I had given as separate items in the bill that the charge of the levelling of three terraces and the building of a pergola and an en-closing wall. It was a satisfactory piece closing wall. tisfactory piece of work in every particular. It paid me well, because I charged as much as the best of men landscape architects would have done. Perhaps it is not discreet for me to admit it, though it is the absolute truth, that the hardest gardens I have ever made have been for women. I don't believe any of them realized it; certainly they never intended to give me so much trouble. The reason for it so far as I can make it out is that they did not have the same confidence in me they would have had in a man. a man.

a man.
"If every slightest thing didn't happen just as they had imagined it would they were writing or telephoning in the most agitated manner to know the reason why. Nine times out of ten the trees that hadn't come or the bulbs that hadn't made their appearance at the time expected had ar rived before the letter of complain appearance at the time expected had arrived before the letter of complaint reached me. Now if it had been a man landscape architect they would have had so much confidence in his judgment and ability that they wouldn't have given the matter a second thought. Because I am a woman in an unusual position they were suspicious of my ability and kept the closest sort of watch on every detail.

"Yes, everybody seems to think that a woman landscape architect should have no end of trouble with workmen and contractors. So far I have had trouble with only one contractor and none with a work-

This trouble all came about because on.

"The trouble was finally settled amicably by the person for whom the garden was being made paying $100 extra. The loss of the other $100 had to fall on the ontractor.
"My method is to see the grounds, work

character and your home.

Mrs. D. J. G. I am interested in tearoom ideas. Though I have furnishings that would give style to a tea room. I lack capital and would prefer to have a partner. I have a shore cottage that by next year, when a new road is opened, will be splemdidly located for a tea room. Or I would be willing to open a tea room with a delicatodhen department and a chance for a garden on an auto road, where such an undertaking would take. I have plenty of furnishings, books galore and many ideas. Please let me know how I could best start about finding a partner and a desirable location for such a business.

An application to various branches of the Now I haven't the time, so everything of that sort has to be trusted to con-tractors, though I am careful to keep a close enough watch over them to see that elose enough watch of the what I have woman's Exchange might put you in "I employ both men and women.

Among the superintendents of planting whom I employ regularly is one woman who manages her own nursery. She does as good work as any man I have ever employed in the same capacity. It is does as good work as any man I have ever employed in the same capacity. It is her success as much as my own experience secured a young college woman as her partaer in running a summer hereing themselves for her profession as well as becoming landscape architects. This woman superintendent of planting appears to get along better with the workmen in her employ than the majority of men in her line of work. She is more painstaking when it comes to details and equally, perhaps even more conscientious when it comes to keeping her appointments and getting her work done within the time stipulated.

In time I expect to see many women, college women and others who haven't had the training of a college course, taking advantage of its practical training in the various branches of farming.

"This school is to meet the demand

OF CLEARING 815 A WEEK. e Began Her Widowhood With a Rouse Partly Paid For and a Son to Support and Found Paying Demand for Acc "Visiting jam maker is about as good a name for my profession as any. I recken, said a widow whose home is in a New York suburb. "We came North soul > seemed almost affluent to us in the South but a few months in New York taught us the difference in the cost of living is the two sections. To help matters along we moved out here. That was a fine fruit year and all the five cherry trees on the place were laded with the most delicious fruit. As there was no sale for it in the local market I canned, preserved and made jam until after our marriage. My husband had #

Government office with a salary that

VISITING

ONE WOMAN'S PLEASANT WAY

ent Learned in the South

MAKER

my husband said I had enough to run a hotel. The next fall I put it at the Woman's Exchange and made a fair profit selling all we could not use. "The following summer I added berrie to my supply, making more than 100 glasses of strawberry jam. It sold readily. I kept at this every summer, clearing enough to provide myself and our littl son with clothes besides keeping up ou subscriptions to magazines and papers. "It all came in very well just ther as the greater part of the margin of m husband's dalary was consumed paying the instalments on this place. At the tim of his death the place was more than ha paid for and his friends suggested tha I find a purchaser for the sake of saving as much of the money we had put into it a

"I can't tell you how thankful I was for the little business training I had re-ceived through making and selling jam It was that training, simple as it was that made me see another way out of the

"I made up my mind I would not sell Instead I would rent my house furnished for the summer months and live in it with interest, and I was confident I could earn enough making jams and preserves to support myself and keep my son at "The one point that troubled me was the fruit trees. Everybody who spoke of renting the place for the summer seemed to take it for granted that the fruit was included. In thinking out my problem I had fancied it would be an easy matter to reserve the vegetable garden and the fruit trees. "After this had lost me three good

"After this had lost me three good tenants, the agent assured me unless I gave up the idea of reserving the fruit he would be unable to rent for me. That settled it. I withdrew my claim on the fruit, and the place was taken at once. "After moving into the rooms which I had engaged for myself and my son in another part of the town came the proble? of getting fruit to make the preserves and jam on the sale of which I was depending for a living. Buving in the market at ing for a living. Buying in the market at wholesale left a very elender margin for profits and buying from the farmers was only a few cents better. In my dilemma I hit upon the plan of doing the market at the second sec it on shares with a woman who had some fruit trees, but not enough fruit to make it worth while to hire labor to market it. "After a few days delay she accepted my offer. A little later I learned that she had made a canvass of the summer cottagers and got orders for all the preserves and jam she could supply from the samples I had given her to taste. However it turned out so well for me that I have never ceased to be thankful for that woman's shrewd bargaining. "One of the cottagers whom she approached had another country place on which there was an abundant supply of fruit. When the preserves and jam which she received from Mrs. Blank proved to be so good she decided to try to get Mrs.

who had some

it on shares with a woman

fix the price definitely, as a house often needs much more work to get into proper shape than could be seen by any one merely ooking it over. She did not mention having more than one rate. She was careful to employ only such assistants as were recommended by responsible persons, and even those she kept constantly under her eyes as further protection to the valuable for more than one rate. She was careful to nishings left in many of the houses. All recipe hunter some time to trace the preserve maker, but when she did finally reach me I had wit enough to refuse to give my recipes and to offer to make up her fruit on the same terms I had worked house owner might understand her rates. Mrs. S. W. N. - What is the best and cheap-her fruit on the same terms I had worked for Mrs. Blank. "As a result two weeks later found me "As a result two works later found me a hundred or so miles further up the State making preserves, jam and pickles in a quantity I had never attempted before. Much to my surprise when I finished, the owner of the place wanted to buy my half. She explained that she wanted the entire supply for her own household. It ended in my being paid at the rate of $15 a week with the addition of railroad tickets and other expenses.

tenants to making up the early small fruits from my garden, and then to place my son in a summer camp for boys while I filled engagements for making up other people's fruit at the rate of $3 a day or $15 week and expenses.

"Having thought out this plan, my first step was to consult with the woman who had engaged me the previous summer. She was quite willing to engage me for the coming summer and to recommend me to her friends who had country estated me to her friends who had country estates or farms.

"When making applications to these people I invariably took with me samples of preserves, jam, canned fruit and sweet and sour pickles. The canvasing was not pleasant, for in the majority of cases I had to speak through the house-keeper, who usually required me to call several times before giving her decision.

"Besides this delay there was always an effort to make me lower my charges in one way or another. At first all this annoyed me but as soon as I realized it was only their way of getting out of paying the amount asked it gave me as much pleasure to dickes and keep ahead of them as to make any other good, bargain. It might be well for you to call personally at both branches of the Young Women's Christian Association, state your object and submit your references. Both branches in the city and in the country, and some-bargain.

"The following summer though I didn't

The following summer though I didn't have all my time taken I managed to make more than I had ever done by making and selling my own preserved and jame. The second year I did better. Since then for the past three years, the difficulty has been to get the time, not the work.

"There is one place where I so to put There is one place where I go to put up strawberries and from then on ! am going back and forth to put up each fruit and vegetable as it comes to perfection.

and vegetable as it comes to perfection.

This is the place on which I did my first work. Having preserves and jam made from their own fruits proved so satisfactory to the family that now they have me put up all the canned goods used in their household.

"This includes pickles, catsups, sauces of various sorts, preserves, jams, or fruits, jellies, grape and other juices and every variety of vegetable that can be successfully canned. Everything is oreserved in glass and from that fact the family feel that they are secure from all the evils of eating canned growls.

goods.
"Though I have managed to let home pay for itself I still rent it it summer. I manage to make enpreserves and canned goods for itse and to keep a small reserve for in case any of my patrons run short be-fore the end of the season. "So far as I can see there is a consi able field for such work about the major of the large cities throughout the cat try. It means pretty hard work for a five mouths of the year, but the ret