BT The Fever at Charleston is abating.

LATEST FROM BUENOS ATRES AND MONTEVIDEO. By the Br. bark Active, Capt. Phillips, we have Buenos Ayres papers to the 21st of July, being several weeks later than before received.

After the defeat of the government troops of Monterideo on the 15th June, a commission was appointed on the part of Oribe, President of the Republic, to treat with the leader of the Insurgents, Gen. Frucuoso Rivera, with a view to the restoration of peace. The embassy, however, appears to have been unsuccessful, fer Capt. Phillips informs us that when he left Montevideo, the insurgent army, 1500 strong, was within one mile of the city. Business was at a complete stand; the inhabitants being all under arms, and nomently expecting an attack. The town of Colonia had capitulated Mr. Robert M. Hamilton had been accredited as U. S. Consul at Montevideo.

There were no foreign merchant vessels at Buenos Ayres, July 21st. The Am. park Chalcedony, Upton from Salem, arrived before the port on the 14th, but was ordered off by the blockading squadron, and returned to Montevideo.

On the 16th, Commodore Nicholson, of the U.S. ship Independence, visited the French brig of war Dassa, (Commodore's ship.) under a salute from that vessel of 13 guns, which was returned by the United States schr. brig Dolphin with 11. Commedore Nicholson and some of his officers afterwards dined on board H. B. M. shop Electra.

The weather at B. Ayres had been extremely warn for the season, being the middle of winter.

Nothing special had occurred in regard to the block-

BUENOS AYRES AND PERU. - Buenos Ayres, July 7. -Intelligence has been received from the head quar-ters of the Argentine Confederate army, dated 2d ult. As was anticipated, General Braun's precipitate re-treat had been highly disastrous to him. His shat-tered forces did not halt till they had regained the fastnesses of their native mountains in the interior of Bo hvia. In the meantime, the advanced guard of the Argentine army, victoriously pushing forward, had entered the territory of Tar ja, and was only two days march from the capital of that Province, which it was intended to occupy, and threaten the frontiers of Chuquisaca. The Indians of the seven towns of Ituruyo, whose favorable disposition towards the Argentines was always counted upon, had declared their decided adhesion and made a proffer of their ser vices. A great drought had been experienced in Bo-livia, from which a tamine was to be apprehended, as in the province of Chicas, where the best pastures in the country are situated, the cattle was perishing in considerable numbers. General Santa Cruz, who had ome in person to the army, in order to give an im pulse to its operations, had seen the necessity of grid-ing over its fatal retreat. He accordingly issued a decree in which, stating that the campaign was at an end, and that the army had covered itself with glory in securing the frontiers of the country against any future inroad, he awards a medal to the soldiers for valor and constancy."

Buenos Ayres, July 21 - News to the 10th ult. has been received from the head quarters of the Argentine Confederate army. The advanced guard under Gen. Gregorio Paz, had met with complete success in their operations in the province of Tarija, nearly all of which was in their possession.—The Bolivian governor Dorado, had fled, and a whole squadron of Bolivian components and components. van cavalry with their Commander had come over to the Argentine forces, to whose standard the people were flocking from all quarters.

Were nocking from all quarters.

U. S. SHIP INDEPENDENCE.
MONTEVIDEO, JULY 30, 1838

MY DEAR BENNETT—

We have been laying here for the last three months, and until now, have had no good opportunity to write you. Since your last letter made its appearance on poard, Little Jack and his satalites have been more than ever on the alert: well, we had a fine time here in hunting, dancing, and fiddling—it beats all the world, k will be taken down, it being on the line of the New Jersey Rail Road.

MY TALLIC BISMUTH.—A supply: a band and for 2 Courtlands st.

WIND MILL FOR SALE:—The frame and machinery of best materials and workmanship, and in perfect order, and sheet from the patient pressure self sating plan. It will be soid low, and can be seen in operation until next Desember, when k will be taken down, it being on the line of the New Jersey Rail Road. Little Jack has visited Buenos Ayres. He went up there by special invitation from Rosas the Dictator. While there, he spent much of his time with R. who divided his company with a couple of fools; for instance, Little Jack would blow up one of the forts with an inflating machine; then Rosas would make him lay down, Jack would slip on his belly and such irregular noises never were heard before. While there, Rosas offered his daughter to Little Jack, which he declined until he could hear from New York-she is said to be very

We have had many interesting hunts in Montevideo, The skooters are Ligutenat L. who swears and damns every thing but his dogs; lieut, Charley A. who, by the by, is a good shot. Then the late Mr. Noland, as Charley D. calls him; he generally kills a sounk or a dozen tame pigeons-it would do you good to see him in the field; at first sight he looks like a circle of reflection. If he sees a bull, you will immediately hear him singing out to his friend B. (who, perhaps, has a scunk leading by a string,) oh, Beal, come here, here is a thousand birds. Then again you see old P. trailing off at right angles with a bursted gun that he paid $40 Spanish for only yesterday. Go with them on board, listen to Charley A., see him string a couple of snipe through the nose, and send them by Peter Buster to the Commodore with his compliments; hear old Mr. Becpaine exclaiming " well, well, I have heard of sheeting, but have never seen any before I came here." Look around, see how J. P. eyes the birds, and the questions he puts to the late Mr. N. about holding the gun, and if it is necessary to take aim when you fire at the bird; observe the fleet surgeon, how he spies them through his eye glass; hear the ambiguous remarks of my friend originally; and ultimately, observe the pleasant smile of our worthy caterer, as he glances at the birds; listen to the late master, how he skot a dozen times at a poor half starved bird, before he killed it; listen to the fat Purser's remarks, and you will have some idea of our mess. Jack has some of us to dine with him daily, and he pits Lardser and N. almost continually, who always say they had rather be kicked than go in and dine on stinking mutton.

The Dolphin has been engaged filling us up with water; she is now up the river after a load of water. The Fairfield, crazy Mayo, has been despatched to Rio to wait his relief. Every one, not excepting the Commodore, is anxious to see him boand home.

While we have been here our band has had two concerts, of which the proceeds were divided between them and the Commodore-and which I can assure you, dear B, has caused much talk on shore, both among the Americans as well as English and French; and well may they talk, for it is a disgraceful thing.

I must bring my letter to a close, as my candle is nearly out; we only have two inches allowed us now, while the Commodore has six whole candle s per day. We have a boy between three, while the Commodore has three body servants, one steward, two cooks, and the crews of three large boats. The officers only being allawed one boat for thirty, while the Commodore has a barge which pulls 14 men, a gig that pulls 12, a whale boat that pulls 6. Now these boats are only used by the Commodore, and woe be unto the officer that should accidentally come off in one of them.

It is impossible to tell when we shall sail, as B--month is not quite up, and until it is, the Commodore cannot leave. Frutus is besieging this place from with out; he lately has taken Moldanande; and last week Bisandro surrendered to him. The Brazilians are gathering quite a force here-report says, to blockade

The French Admiral in the frigate Havre, of 60 guns, is here. The Dolphin will remain here until released by the Pairfield. Stidel has the Commodore in excel lenttraining; he can manage him as fine as any sow can her pig; S. is writing a novel, in which the little Commodore figures as the heroine of the tale-the plot is laid in Bahia; Mrs. T. is the hero, and the other characters, such as Sammy, &c., are well got up. Mr. Bee Paine, and the late Mr. N., who dines today on skunk soup, send you their best regards.

I forgot to tell you of the changes. Sammy Weller is Lieutenant of the brig-Charley P. is transferred to the Independence-little Science remains M. D. of the brig-and the late Mr. N., alias Skunk Killer, is the seventh lieutenant of Jacky's ship. Adieu mon chere

THE. NEWLY INVENTED WIG.
TO CLIREHUGH, WIG MAKER, corner of Breadway and Futton-treet, respectfully invites all weaters and consolseurs to inspect his newly invented ventilating Wigs, which or eleganse, lightness and durability may rank among the first productions of modern art. In their form they differ from all eithers. They cover no more of the brew than the natural hair does, composed of hair which never loses its curl, and fit so close to the head, that the most cridical observer will fail to detect them.

JOHN R. ROWAND & CO. With great confidence call public attention to

OR COMPOUND SPIRITUOUS EXTRACT OF

SARSAPARILLA,

FOR CHRONIC DISEASES, OR COMPLAINTS OF LONG STANDING.

An "alterative medicine" is one which effects an entire change in the system, without manifesting any sensible mode of action. It is to be resorted to in almost all Chronic or long-standing complaints, with a view of subverting the long-accustomed diseased action, and of substituting for it, the new and peculiar influence of the medicine itself, which must be made to harmonize with the operations of nature in health, so that after the use of the medicine for a period longer or shorter, according to the duration of the disease and prospects of recovery, it may be laid aside and the health gradually become completely re-established.

After a long and cautious consideration of the designs to be fulfilled in the treatment of the following affections, (some of which are regarded as the most fearful ills of existence,) we have at length prepared the "Alterative Extract" and expressly advice it to such invalide for whom it is considered.

the "Alterative Extract," and earnestly advise it to such invalids for whom it is expressly intended, as possessing all the curative principles that can be placed within their reach. The diseases which yield to the alterative" treatment, are those of a Chronic form, and such as depend upon impurity of the blood—as Scrofula, or King's Evil-Syphilis-and all Venereal Diseases Mercurial Diseases, brought on by the improper use of Mercury—Consumption—Liver Complaint—Jaundice—Ague Cake Rheumatism—Gout—Scurvy—Cancer—Affections of the Skin, as Tetter, Biles, Ring Worms, Scald-Head, Itch, Pimples on the Face, &c. No medicine is more efficient as a "Spring Purifier," and to promote recovery after an attack of acute disease.

Sarsaparilla constitutes the prominent ingredient in the above preparation-being one of the most popular articles of the present day—entering into the composition of almost every purifying medicine; and is alike resorted to in professional and in domestic practice. There has been much disappointment experienced in the employment of Sarsaparilla, by many persons-so far, indeed, that there are some who denounce it as mert and wholly useless. This precariousness in its effects may be ascribed to the improper methods which have been made use of to extract its active properties.

Until two or three years past, it was the universal custom to subject the substance to protracted boiling, whereby all its peculiar principles were destroyed or dissipated, and the resulting preparation was little else than a mere solution of the starch, which is one of the proximate principles of the Root.

By another process, however, the above consequences are guarded against, and we obtain an Extract containing all the essential and desirable properties of the Sarsaparilla in the most concentrated form. It is customary in prescribing this substance to combine with it other articles to modify or to promote its activity, and with a view to its diaphoretic and stimulant effects principally. The above Compound Spirituous Extract of Sarsaparilla is such a combination, and is commended to physicians, particularly, as fully entitled to their confidence. It is honestly asserted that one tea-spoonful contains all the virtues of a drachm of the solid Root—and a pint of Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla may be extemporaneously made by adding two table-spoonsful of this Spirituous Extract to a pint of simple Syrup.

The mode of taking the medicine in all the above complaints will be the same—the object being "to effect a change in the system" in each case. J. R. R. & Co. do not hesitate to assure the public that from the peculiar mode of the preparation as referred to above, ONE BOTTLE OF THE

Contains the Essence of from FOUR to SIX BOTTLES of the ordinary preparation of the

SARSAPARILLA!

This single fact guarantees for the Alterative an extensive and salutary influence wherever it becomes knewn.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

The "ALTERATIVE" and the "VERMIFCOE" are put up in hexagon or six-sided bottles, and have "J. R. Roward, Philada." blown in the glass. The public are cautioned against the spurious imitations, with which some parts of the country are flooded. They are particularly requested not to purchase from Druggists whose respectability of character is not a sufficient voucher for honourable dealing. In order to guard against imposition, we will pay a large reward for the detection of counterfeiters.

AND HER COMMUNICATION FROM AN Objection I have to your "Hunter's Red Drop" is, it cures a certain disease so rapidly and effectually, that it removes all its terrors. Whereas, in my humble opinion, the crime that begets such disease, "is practised to so great an extent in our heioved city. (as our late venerable Recorder would say.) that those guilty of it should suffer some.

DARLOZL DUMB S: OVE—The subscribers having made arrangements with Mr. John G. Treadwell, are now prepared to offer for sale his Improved Patent Compound Parlor Dumb Stove. The combination of this stove (constructed so as to make two eatirety separate stoves—a parlor stove, and dumb stove in one form) is an advantage which has not been attained in any other stove ever made. In style it is beautiful, and perfectly unsque.—Its operation, as a domb stove, or in the combination, is perfect—warranted in either case not to smoke. The materials are good; the workmanship cannot be surpassed; and it is so made that it may be cleared at any time with the greatest ease without removal. The saving of fuel alone should be sufficient inducement for every family to be in possosion of one of those stoves. The heat from a stove or range in the basement room, which is usually lost by carrying the pipe directly into the chimney, is sufficient, is most cases, to warm the room above; when it is not sufficient, as additional fire can the made in this stove, and at the same time save all the heat from the stove below. It is lik, wise a beautiful article for halfs. By plycing the Hall Stove in the basement, and this stove in the main hall, you thereby gain a greater and more uniform beat, from the start ing from making fire in the ordinary coal stove, which has to be cleaned once or twice each day, and the dust settleing destroys a great quantity of valuable furniture.

The citizens of New York and Brooklyn are respect-ture.

The citizens of New York and Brooklyn are respectfully invited to call at the store, No 152 Fulton street, five doors from Broadway, and examine this stove. Merchants from the west can be supplied at their Albany establishment. s4 lm* 152 Fulton st. N. York, and 19 Greene st At
