The failure of the Phil his Loan Company has produced considerable sensation from the gress mismanagement of the concern. A report made by the Directors placed the institution in a very favorable ition-having a surplus of $471,417 ; but in one week after the report was pur forth, the Company suspended its payments because they lost $13,000. The concern is, however, to be in vestigated, and we shall then know its ramifications. Four stockhelders and four creditors have been appointed for this purpose. The Bank loaned money on its deposites.

According to our advices this morning, the monetary affairs of Baltimore are in the best condition of any city in the Union. No great pressure is felt there, and generally speaking the banks have a balance against every other section. One institu-tion in that city now holds one hundred thousand dollars of Northern paper. This is, perhaps, created by the slight revoution which has taken place in the Southern trade.

We find through various sources that the city of New Haven has voted another $100,000 to the New Haven and Northampton Canal Company. This is singular, for it is a perfect levelling system. It is taxing the rich unnecessarily. If a city can vote away $100 000, it can also vote away $100,000,000. The poor do not suffer, but the rich and middling classes are

$47 871 65. The commercial and monetary affairs of this country v never before, perhaps, in such a curious, interesting and singular condition as they are now. The wild and unholy transaction of the speculators have been checked in mid career by the regular and healthy action of nature. After the terrible and severe revulsion of 18.6 and 1837, a clique of speculators, millers, and the like, commenced monopolizing all the grain upon which they could lay their hands. This gradually increased and expanded till, with the aid of banking capital, they begun the ness was enlarged so much that nearly every bank in western New York and Ohio, together with the State and Exchange banks of this city, were engaged in furnishing means to carry of the trade; and for one year and more, they sent up the price of every description of produce to an enormous height; but the etion of nature will cause a greater and more terrible revulbion among them than was ever before known. The great dis ruption in the commercial world in 1836 and 1837 was created by extensive over trading and the action of the Bank of Eng

United States ere two months have passed, will be entirely of a different nature from that of 1835. It will be brought about by a superior and greater power than that which areated the commercial troubles three years since, and one that can and will regulate the mercantile transactions of the whole world, and place them on a sure and solid foundation. There is now a black cloud in the horizon that increases in size every day, and wears at this moment a threatening aspect. It hovers over this country -it extends over the entire States of Ohio and New York, and its occasional mutterings are already heard.

There are at this moment upwards of $100,000,000 in produce of all descriptions of the old crop now held by these speculators. It was purchased at the time when prices ranged very high, and since it was bought they have declined fully 36 per cent. on an average. Thus already the holders have experienced a loss of $25,900,000. Had they let the flour, grain and cotton come to market in a regular course, and not by the aid of banking facilities kept it locked up in their warehouses, there would not be seen the black speck which is now so plainly visible from Wall street, Coenties slip, and throughout the south and west. Nor would the cotton trade be in such a condition as it is; for breadstuffs would have been shipped to England, and our entire trade in that country regulated and placed in a better position. Coin would not have been sent to the continent for grain, had the prices of breadstuffs in the United States been down to their proper level. But as it is, the Bank of England has raised the rate of interest, thrown discredit on American securities, and therefore depressed the cotton market, to the ut quently we see the close connection one business has with anoth er. Our banks, seeing the impending storm over the whole country, are curtailing rigorously Every branch of busines is more or less cramped in consequence, and the prices of pro-duce are rapidly tumbling down. All signs of wild speculation and unholy traffic in the great and important staples of this constry will soon disappear, or be corrected by the omnipotent corrector. It will of course take some time and fall heavily and terribly on the speculators, but will result beneficially to the country. The banks will not suffer much, for by the course they have adopted they will be affected only for a short period. The operations and developments next month

Since the middle of last month, there has been a decline of fully 8 cents on every description; but the middling and ordinary qualifies have felt the resluction more than the higher grades. The market closed yesterday very heavily, the sellers' views being about igent higher than the purchasors'. The transactions for the week just closed have reached to nearly three thousand hales; the import in the same time has been it thousand hales; the import in the same time has been it thousand hales; the import in the same time has been it thousand four hundred and fifty bales, leaving on hand in warehouses and on shipboard a stock of 63,350 bales. From various sources we find that the deficiency in the receipts of the crop at the out ports since the first of last October is 322,000 bales.

There has been a distinction in the exports abroad in the same time of nearly 425,000 bales. Annexed is the present New York classification:

Better, far better, for any one having the least curiosity, to go and see for themselves.

Some say, or insimuate, that there cannot be a town at East New York; but when asked why? one says, because the country is so large, and there are so many towns aiready, that it is abourd and preposterous to think of building up another, particularly as there is so much room up town, and the owners of lands are so much interested in bolstering up and continuing an anticipted value, that they will not sanction or encourage it.

Another says the country is too "barren," the projecter "is a speculator," and makes money scarce. "That the banks would discount freely "if it was not for such bad men. Others say it is better to hang together like bees—let the poor man, the mechanic, or any one else, get a room, cellar or garret, as cheap as he can, but never cross the river.

These are some of the arguments of our opponents.

But it may be asked, what would have been the consequence if the people of London had never crossed the Thames? Would London have been mistress of the commerce and trade of the world? A New Yorker at heart should wish to see accommodations extended and cheapened. And is East New York remete trom the city?

COUNTERFEIT. THE public is respectfully informed that one of the basest and most dangerous counterfeits ever attempted, has lately been brought to light in the city of New York; we mean an imita ion of that mest deservedly popular modeline known as "Rowand's Tonic Mixture," for the fever and ague.

in the city of New York.

We had just put down an imitation called 'Rowland's Tonic Mixture," for the fever and ague.

We had just put down an imitation called 'Rowland's Tonic Mixture," by L. S. Gomstock & Co., when another, still more dangerons, makes its appearance from the store of Seaman & Brothers, druggists, No. 105 Water street, N. Y., on which the "fac similie" of the proprietor has been counterfeited—his copy rights. Infringed upon—his certificates copied, and in fact, imitated in such a manner that from its outward appearance, it can scarcely be detected. We would also say that we have commenced a suit in the United States' Court for damages for this "piracy" upon our rights, and request dealers to be very careful of whom they purchase the article, unless its source can be directly traced to the proprietor, or some one of his general agents, whom he has endeavored to select as men enjoying are utmost respect and confidence of the communities in which they reside, and who would blush to offer any other than the true and original "Rowand's Tonic Maxture," for the patry gain of a few dollars thereby endangering the lives of their fellow beings JOSEPH T.
