CLOSING AND OPENING OF STOCKS.

Monday, Sept. 29-6 P. M. Not a cloud, even so large as a man's hard, could be discerned to-day on the horizon of Wall street. and it was only here and there that one heard a doubt expressed that the lorce of the storm has not passed away, to be succeeded by a healthier calm. Money was easier, loaning with considerable freedom at % per cent and interest. This in itself was significant. - The bankers considered a plan for the purchase of exchange and the movement of crops. This was also encouraging. The Sub-Treasurer began the payment of the anticipated November interest-likewise a hopeful sign-while the reports pouring in across the ocean cable, of gold en route and a buoyant market in London, erved to cap-sheaf all the encouraging features of the situation and give to men more hopeful faces and cheerier voices than they have had for a week.

GRAND INTERPST OF THE HOUR is concentrated upon the possibilities that attach to the opening and conduct of the Stock Axchange to-morrow; and it is not too much to say that less apprehension is felt as the day closes, and since the publication of the resolutions of the governing committee, the salient points of which are:—First, that all parties to unsettled contracts shall furnish a satisfactory principal or furnish a margin in cash or securities, or be regarded as insolvent. Second, that rule 25, which closes contracts in default, be suspended as to existing contracts for three days. and that a committee be appointed to determine the market price at which the contracts of defaulting parties shall be settled. Third, that all contracts be settled by satisfactory certified checks, good in the Clearing House, and no demand for greenbacks or currency be allowed. From the

it is difficult to conceive of a wiser policy that could have been adopted. It partakes of a treatment that is at once heroic and alleviative. There is nothing homeopathic in the administration of the medicine, but, at the same time it applies the principle, "Similia similibus curantur." The grave question now to be considered is as to the course of speculation. For more than a week there has been no market save that established in the street, where prices have widely fluctuated, depending and the financial outlook of the moment. These prices may or may not have been artificial; but, in ther case, it would seem to be impelitic to accept them as the basis of the renewed business in the Board. There are two contingencies about which it is well at this juncture to ask a few questions. First, is said to be awaiting the opening of the Stock Exchange, and the owners thereof hope to avail themselves of reasonably low prices in order to make a profitable investment. If the market opens suppose that this capital will be frightened away, especially if, as is confidently anticipated, high prices are followed by a sudden decline? Will not this fact in itself indicate instability and naturally delay the opportunity for investment? In other words, would it not be more advantageous from a general standpoint to commence at the bottom and work upwards than to commence at the top, then trip and tumble? Second, if there be any benefit to accrue from will it not be attended with an unhealthy and dangerous excitement? No one can tell at this moment how many really broken firms there are in the Stock Exchange, who in their anxiety to preserve credit will willy push prices to their more willing to stand by these gentlemen, how-ever worthy they may be—perhaps at the expense of a new panic-than to acquire additional work ing capital, for which the broker community have been praying for the last two years, and which will only show itself when prices are at a fair minimum? It is said that higher prices will elicit THE CONFIDENCE OF THE MONEY LENDERS.

No prudent man will lend greenbacks or any other currency at this peculiar time on a security that has in itself either an element or symptom of unsteadiness. Hence if the market shows soon after the opening the pressure of unnatural forces, the presence of a body of men who are intent simply on personal salvation, and who may "lose their heads" in their endeavors to regain their credit, sacrificing at the same time in their impatience the good of the rest of the fraternity, is it not prudent, is it not the suggestion of good judgment, is it not essential to the absolute welfare of the entire situation in all its length and breadth that individual members of the Stock Exchange shall exhibit sense, reticence and conservatism in the freest meaning of these terms, to the end that they may successfully contribute the large influence that must flow from a discriminating use of their business opportunities? Those logical influences amply conclusive. As regards

THE VALUE OF STOCKS there is really little to be said, but it is a proposition not requiring demonstration that by their recent contraction the purchasing power of a greenback in its relation to the stock market has augmented from five to fitteen per cent. In other words, while our currency has been actually inflated to the extent of say $35,000,000 during the past week, its purchasing power has not only in-creased, but its value, in comparison with a cercreased, but its value, in comparison with a cer-tifled bank check, is represented by a premium of from three to five per cent. This is another of the curious anomalies of the situation.

THE GOLD MARKET to-day did not appear to be directly affected in its fluctuations by other than local influences. How far it may have been agitated by indirect causes, such as the news of shipments from England, the payment of the November interest on the public debt, a possible future demand for coin or a disposition to "lock up," it is difficult to say. The market showed no unusual excitement, although active. The price opened at 113%, declined to 112%,

The feeling is one of improvement, and dealers are generally hopeful concerning the action of the bankers, who, having had a consultation to-day on the propositions of the Produce Exchange, have referred the further consideration of the subject to the Loan Committee of the Clearing House. The movement of our crops has come to be regarded as the corner.stone of the situation, and it may be fairly assumed that every effort will be made by the financial authorities to extend as far The Foreign Market in a Slight Ferment--- as practicable the desired incilities. The condition of the market is reported elsewhere.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE was dull and nominal. Actual business was on the basis of 104% a 105 for prime bankers' 60 days sterling, and 105% a 106 for sight. Commercial bills sold all the way from 101 to 103 1/2.

COIN FOR AMERICA. The shipment of coin from England to America has not abated. It is estimated that fully $8,000,000 are now en route, to be added to which are £124,000 withdrawn to-day; £225,000 in bullion shipped from Plymouth on Saturday in the steamer Silesia; £16,000 on the same day per steamship America, and £50,000 engaged for the steamer Donau, which saits to-morrow. Five hundred thousand pounds are said to be booked for snipment this week, besides the amounts above named. These several amounts, coming here at a time when so much is dependent on the movement of grain, cannot but produce a decidedly beneficial effect upon that mar-THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

The payment of the interest on November coupon bonds on loans of 1864 and 1865 began today at the Sub-Treasury. The amount of interest due in these is $10,477,935; on the registered bonds $2,925,993. Total, $13,403,929. The sum disbursed was not large, and it was in some measure owing to the insufficiency of the announcement, but probably a large proportion of the bondholders prefer to await until the maturity of the coupons rather than sacrifice interest at the rate of 6 per cent gold between now and November. The amount of bonds purchased by the Sub-Treasurer last week and disbursed in currency was $12,963,682, and the amount of coin paid for interest on the same was $200,922. The balances in the United States Treasury at the close of business to-lay are:-Currency, $2,446,437; special deposits of legal tenders for the redemption of certificates of deposit, $11,250,000; coin, $85,319,568, including $34,240,000 tn coin certificates; outstanding legal tenders, $356,000,000. The customs receipts to-day were $382,000. The receipts from internal revenue were $357,540. The Assistant Treasurer paid out $43,000 on account of interest and $7,000 in redemption of five-twenty

THE FOREIGN MARKET.

London advices to-day were regarded with more than usual, interest, inasmuch as they report the extension of the disturbance on this side of the water to that market. Three failures among brokers in the London Stock Exchange have occurred thus far as a consequence of the decline in Erie. The Bank of England lost to-day the further sum of £638,000; £124,000 was withdrawn for ship-ment to America and the balance for Germany. This, doubtless, led to a sudden meeting of the directors, and an advance of the rate of discount to 5 per cent—an act which caused considerable surprise to all who had seen the posted announcement at noon that no change would be made. Up to this time American securities were dull and heavy, but afterwards they became more buoyant and active. Erie, which opened at 41% a 41% sold at the close at 42% a 42%. Consols for money and account are quoted at 92%, old bonds of 1865 at 94%, of 1867 at 94% and new fives at 90%. The advance is caused by the covering of short sales to meet the requirements of the occasion-this being settling day. The demand for discount for three months' bills, as well as in open market, has been heavy at five per cent. The rate for money at the Stock Exchange on government securities is three per cent. Rentes in Paris were 56.35. Amsterdam shows the following strong quotations:-Central Pacific first mortgage, 81%; Union Pacific first mortgage, 65; Union Pacific shares, 17; Northwestern preferred, 65; St. Paul preferred, 551/4; Erie. 45. COMMERCIAL REPORT.

Cotton Higher-Flour Lower-Wheat Groceries Generally Steady - Naval Stores Generally Nominal-Petroleum

MONDAY, Sept. 29-6 P. M. The commercial situation was a little better today, and the movement of merchandise, and notably of breadstuffs, was freer, albeit at lower figures. The receipts of wheat have been very heavy during the last few days, yet there has been very little pressure to sell, except car lots, which have frequently been forced on the market and sold at lower figures. To-lay proved no exception, car lots selling in considerable numbers at lower prices. Corn was scarce, and prices again advanced in consequence, though the demand was by no means active. Oats were likewise scarce and higher. Whiskey remained steady. Pork was quiet and wholly nominal. Lard was more active and decidedly better. Cotton, both on the spot and for future delivery, sold at higher prices under a free de-mand. The movement in groceries was not active, ket showed no unusual excitement, although active. The price opened at 1134, declined to 11234.

Tailied to 1124 a 113, went off again to 1114, with a raily to 1124 a 1124. Loans were made at flat to 1124 a 1124 a 1124. Loans were made at flat to 1124 a 1124 a 1125 a

COTION.—The market for cotton on the spot was considerably firmer, partly in response to a further advance in future deliveries, but mainly owing to the scarcity of round lots desirable for either spinning or export purposes, and prices improved Me. a Mc. per lb. Future deliveries were fairly active at an advance of 3-16c. a Mc. per lb. for September and October. The later months were without change. We quote:—

Naval Stories.—For sortis of turpentine the market was quiet, but a trifle fitner, closing at 23%c, a 40c. for merchantable. We beard of sales of 50 bbis, at 39%c, Rosin—Strained met, with a moderate demand, but the finer grades were neglected. We noted sales of 1,100 bbis, of strained at $27.5 00 bbis, of No. 2 at $3. Tar and pitch were neglected and nominal.

Psynolexis.—On 'Change to-day the market was quiet for all descriptions, with prices quoted nominally as follows:—Refined standard white, 16%c for balance of menth and early October delivery, and 16c, for last half of October. A contract for 1,500 bbis, September was settled at 15%c. Crude, in bulk, 5%c. a 5%c, for spot or tuture; cases at 21c. a 21%c; sales 3,000 cases at the latter price. Naphths at 10c, for city. The Philadelphia market was dull and entirely nominal. Refined quoted at 16c, for balance of month and early October, and 15%c. for November; sales 3,000 bbis, high test at 17c on the spot. Advices from the Creek were of a quiet market, with quotations as follows:—Oil City, $1,50. at 32%c. spot. Advices from the Creek were of a quiet market, with quotations as follows:—Oil City, § 130 a $1 325; Tideoute. $1 225; a $1 25; Petroleum Centre. $1 20; Parker's, 90c. a 36c.

Paovisions.—Receipts. pork. 178 bbls. t beef, 18 pack, ages; cut meats, 463 do.; lard. 1,466 bbls. and therees. For mess pork the market was to a great extent nominal. In a jobbing way 180 bbls. new mess were soid $17 50 per bbl., and 100 bbls. extra prime at $14 75 per bbl. Heef continued dull, with transactions confined to unimportant jobbing lots. We quote:—Plain mess, bbls., $5 50 a $10; extra do., bbls., $10 a $11 50; prime do., therees, $17 a $20; India do., therees, $20 a $22. Beef hams were neglected and nominally steady at from $18 a $25 as extremes for common Southern to choice Western. Cut meats—The market was very quiet, but prices were not materially changed. We have only to note sales of 600 pickled shoulders at 7½c.; 500 pickled hams at 105c.; 220 fresh bellies, II ilbs. average, at $5c., and 2,000 pickled bellies, II ilbs. average, at $5c., and 2,000 pickled bellies, II ilbs. average, at $3c., and color pickled shoulders at 7½c.; 500 pickled hams at 105c.; 240 fresh bellies, II ilbs. average, at $3c., and color packages long and short clear, winter, at 7½c. James Ross, eleven years old, born in Scotland, living at 80 Stanton street, was playing on the roof of the five story basement house, 16 Stanton street, when he fell to the sidewalk.

Coroner Young will to-day hold an inquest concerning the death of Henry Tyrell, a child three years old, who was killed by falling from the roof of No. 174 Thompson street through the scuttle. He will also hold an inquest on the body of William Augustus Clavis, aged one year and eight months, of No. 311-Eighth avenue, who was killed on Monday by falling into the areaway of their residence.

THE METHODIST MINISTERS.

Close of the Discussion on Methodist Deeline-A Review of the Situation by Rev. C. C. Goss.

Yesterday, being the regular day for the reading of an essay before the Preachers' Association, Rev. C. C. Goss, the statistician of Methodism, who opened the ball with figures on the decline of Methodism, acted the part of essayist, and read a paper reviewing all that has been presented on the question during the discussion. He repeated some of his former tables of churches and of membership, which have been published already. But he added to these many additional statistics relative to the benegogiest contributions of the several deto the benevolent contributions of the several denomimations in the city, pastors' salaries, number of churches built here since 1864 or now in process of erection and their cost (not their present actual value). Of these the Methodists built or are building 15, at a cost of $185,000: the Baptists 9, at a cost of $187,000; the Roman Catholics 11, at a cost of $1,711,000, not including over $1,000,000 already expended on the new Cathedral on Fifth avenue: the Presbyterians 19, at a cost of $2,885,000, and the Episcopalians 25 churches, built at a cost of $3,825,000. These several churches range in value from $30,000 to $750,000. Of BENEVOLENT INSTITUTIONS IN THE CITY the Methodists have of all sorts 4, the Baptists 1, the Presbyterians 2 (the product, however, of the Lenox estate rather than of denominational enterprise or benevolence), the Episcopalians have 11 and the Catholics 11, besides 72 schools. The contributions of the leading denominational churches in this city for all purposes for 1872, including liberal estimates such as had not been actually reported, amounted to:-Baptists, $190,000; Methodists, amounted to:—Baptists, $190,000; Methodists, $212,000; Episcopalians, $747,000, and Presbyterians, $863,000. The membership for the same year stands:—Methodists, 11,185; Baptists, 11,250; Episcopalians, 14,163, and Presbyterians, 16,095. In 1830 the Presbyterians of this city numbered as many members as the other three denominations together, but they have not advanced in the same ratio as the others since that time. From 1840 to 1870 the Methodists show a decline; from 1850 to 1850 to 1850 to 1850 THE EPISCOPALIANS DECLINED.

1870 the Presbyterians and Babtists have declined; from 1850 to 1860

THE EPISCOPALIANS DECLINED, but since 1860 they have been gathering upstrength and pushing ahead. The Presbyterians have been doing the same since 1870 and have grown very rapidly. Mr. Goss' tables were very elaborate and detailed, but the above are the new and salient points. After he had finished reading his paper Dr. Emile Cook and Pastor Lelievre, of Paris, both delegates to the Evangelical Alliance, were introduced, and the former briefly addressed the meeting on the progress of Methodism in France and in French speaking Switzerland, of which he gave some few statistics. The work is divided into three districts, in which they have 171 chapels and preaching piaces, manned by 28 ministers and 12 evangelists colporteurs and teachers and 96 local preachers; they have 1,945 members and 98 local preachers; they have 1,945 members and 88 probationers; 10 day schools, with 376 scholars; 56 Sanday schools, with 330 teachers and 2,587 papils, and their Sabbath con gregations average 9,348.

Rev. Dr. Crook, of Beliast, Ireland, another delegate to the Alliance, gave, also, an interesting sketch of Ethods of the preachers remained through the

METHODIST WORK IN IRELAND.

Patiently the preachers remained through the afternoon to listen to an interesting and highly instructive lecture on "Oratory," by Professor Gustave Watson, of Boston, at the close of which they passed a resolution complimentary to and recommendatory of the lecturer and, his lecture. The meeting adjourned until the second Monday of October to admit of attendance on the sessions of the Alliance.

YOM KIPPUR.

The Jewish Day of Atonement-Its Origin

and Observance.
This evening begins the most solemn and memorable day in all the Jewish caiendar—the Day of Atonement. Its origin is given in Leviticus xvi., 29, and xxiii., 26, but tradition gives it an existence long before Moses or the writing of the Pentateuch. According to Hebrew tradition Adam did penance and was forgiven on this day, the 10th of Tishri, and on this day also Abraham entered into the covenant of circumcision. The second of Moses' forty days' fast is said also to have terminated on this day, on which the Lord pardoned all Israel. Hence the pious Israelite has many reasons besides the special command of God in Leviticus for commemorating this day and coming to it with due solemnity and prayer. Fasting follows leasting, the grave succeeds the gay, and the mind and body that have been drinking deeply of the good things of life and the enjoyment of the season during yesterday and to-day will, after sunset this evening, begin a season to-day will, after sunset this evening, begin a season of solemn thought and devotion, to last at least twenty-four hours, during which all kinds of work in the store, the counting house, the workshop or the home is prohibited, and food is refused while the solemn day lasts.

CONFESSIONS OF SINS are made this evening, and the Divine mercy is implored by the heads of the households. And then ere they part to go to the synagogues to spend the time in earnest devotions the patriarchs give their blessings to their offspring as if they were going away into a far country for a long time.

Friendships that may have been broken during the year are made up on this day, ere the plous Jews enter their several places of worship. And so far do they carry this idea that the stanchest friends when they meet ask each other's forgiveness for any unintentional wrong they may have committed one against another. On this day the people are supposed to afflict their souls by abstaining from eating and drinking, bathing and perfuming, wearing shoes and sexual intercourse. This afflicting of the soul is literally observed by the older Israelites, but it is only seemingly so by the younger ones. The altars and the priests on this day are robed in white; the with men, women and children. many of whom are rarely, if ever, seen in one at any other time of the year; the prayers and psalms are penitential and confessory, and the addresses, when such are delivered, are designed to bring as vividly before the minds of the people the solemnity of the day when in the Temple at Jerusalem the High Priest alone, once a year, entered into the Holy of Holles with the blood of the sacrifice to make atonement for himself and for all the people. And thus, whether they will or no, by the very power and influence of the services of this day, the frivolous are made solemn, the careless become sedate, the listless become, attentive, and a forced, if not an actual devotion impresses itself upon all, and overspreads the whole. May it become real, and manifest itself in the subsequent lives of the worshippers.

CREEDMOOR.

Fine Practice Shooting by the Ninth Regiment Team Yesterday.

Several members of the Ninth regiment team were at Creedmoor yesterday. They made excelient scores at 200 and 500 yards, five shots at each distance. Teams from other regiments must practise if they expect to win. The following are the two best scores:-

Lieutenant Colonel Hitchcock 20 N. Engel Sergeant Phelan Sergeant Henderson J. McA'V J. R. McKenzie Drum Major Stribe, Twenty-second regiment, made 16 and 17 at 200 yards and 14 and 16 at 500; A. S. Fowle, of New Jersey, made 9 at 700 yards, 12 at 800 and 9 at 1,000, using the Sharpe's sporting. The others used the Remington military.
