conure from friend and foe alike. It was no wanting in taste, temper and judgment that people wondered if the man was not for the time being beside himself.

RECORDED HACKETT

It was in poor health yesterday, owing to a very severe cold he contracted in driving around the city a few nights ago. He was quite hoarse and had suffered from spitting of blood.

RE-SENATOR JAMES O'BRIEN

was in a jubilant state of soul yesterday and wherever American and whig-woman, and when his speech came some time at the Bixby headquarters, in Park row, where the disaffected were wont to rally prior to the recent revolution.

FRANCIS M. BERRY

said he never felt better in his life than at the overthrow of Tammany. He has been working hard for that result, he continued, "for the past six years, during the time Tweed ruled Tammany, as well as while it has been under the control of John Kelly."

JOHN F. MURPHY

said he preferred to smoke the pipe of the battle was over before venturing an opinion on the present state of affairs. He thought the late revolution quiet and yet local in its bearings and effect.

THE BATTLE ONLY BEGUN.

It is a great mistake to suppose that now that Hackett has been elected and Kelly defeated the work of breaking down Tammany will stop. On the contrary, leaders like the Hon. Thomas Cramer and others should begin to work.

which, under the present system, was possible Mr. Cramer stated it as a fact that the majority of Kelly's own General Committee were in favor of Hackett's re-election; that nine-tenths of them were opposed to the re-election of the laborers' wages, and that more than one-half were opposed to the expulsion of Morrissey.

do under the circumstances? Will he resign from Tammany Hall and enter into a combination with the Whigs? These were questions frequently asked, and no one seemed ready to solve them.

ELECTION FRAUDS.

Officer Price, of the Twentieth Precinct, arrested Mason Woodward on Tuesday afternoon for attempting to vote illegally in the Third Election district of the Seventeenth Assembly district.

THE BROOKLYN ELECTION.

There was a feeling of great despondency among the overthrown democratic leaders and workers of Brooklyn and Kings county yesterday. The republicans, who are flushed with victory, are loud in their mutual congratulations.

THE RESULT IN WESTCHESTER.

The republicans of Westchester county were jubilant over the returns from the several towns yesterday. Judge Robertson's majority over the democratic candidate for State Senator, in the three counties composing the senatorial district, is something over 2,000.

AN OVERWHELMING VICTORY FOR THE REPUBLICANS—EFFECT OF THE CATHOLIC PROTECTIVE BILL—COMPLEXION OF THE LEGISLATURE.

From returns received here and from the various counties throughout the State, there is no doubt but that the republicans achieved an overwhelming victory at the election yesterday. The success they met with in the assembly districts of Essex and Hudson counties surprised even the most sanguine members of the party.

THE CHANGE IN THE LEGISLATURE.

The Legislature of last year stood as follows: Senate—Republican, 19; Democratic, 41; majority, 22. Democratic majority on joint ballot, 17. Assembly—Republican, 12; Democratic, 57; majority, 45. House of Assembly—Republican, 37; Democratic, 23; majority, 14. Majority on joint ballot, 17.
