OLD HERALD MAN DIES IN HARNESS

Mr. S. P. Libby, Editor of Staten Island World, Stricken While at Work.

Mr. Daniel P. Libby, editor of the Staten Island World and for forty years actively identified with the newspaper profession in the metropolitan district, died in tragic circumstances Thursday evening in his home in the Baltimore apartment, Arietta street, Tompkinsville.

Mr. Libby literally died in harness for the NEW YORK HERALD, for he was receiving a "story" over the telephone from William Wirt Mills, Commissioner of Municipal Ferries, when he was stricken with apoplexy in the presence of his wife. He lapsed into unconsciousness, in which state he died three hours later.

"Dan" Libby, as he was familiarly known to his intimates, was one of the keenest newspaper men in the United States. He was born in the Indian Territory fifty-nine years ago, and when about nineteen years old engaged in his first journalistic venture as a reporter on the Evening Mail, at Orange, N. J.

In 1891 Mr. Libby moved to Staten Island, where he immediately became correspondent for the NEW YORK HERALD, a position he still held at the time of his death. A few years ago he decided to devote himself to the editorial management of the Staten Island World, a weekly publication, after which he had assistance in his work for the HERALD. Also he served as a Deputy Commission of Jurors for Richmon Borough.

Mr. Libby is survived by his wife, three sons and a daughter. Mrs. B. J. Rappaport, of Brooklyn. Funeral services will be held at his late home this afternoon at four o'clock, and the burial will take place in Orange, N. J.

The Staten Island World, which has been issued at Stapleton by the Staten Island World Publishing Company for the last fifteen years, will announce its suspension in today's issue, which will be its last. According to William C. Rowland, the manager, the newspaper is forced to the wall by the high cost of production.

CAPT. ADDISON ELY, JR., WAR VETERAN, IS DEAD

Captain Addison Ely, Jr., veteran of Spanish-American and world wars, prominent lawyer and a leading citizen of Rutherford, N. J., died Thursday night in Post Graduate Hospital, New York, following operation. He was in his forty-fifth year.

He was graduated from Columbia University in 1897 and University of Michigan in 1900. For a time he was editor and publisher of Bergen County Herald, at Rutherford, and the Hackensack Record. He quit the newspaper field in 1903 and began practising law.

During the Spanish war he served with Company L, Second New Jersey Infantry, as brigade color sergeant under General Burt. In the summer of 1918 he was commissioned a first lieutenant. He was about to leave for France when he was stricken with pneumonia and taken off the transport at Newport News. Last July he was appointed captain by the judge advocate and assigned to the army law department in this city. He was a thirty-second degree Mason, member of Boiling Springs Lodge of Masons, United Spanish War Veterans and American Legion. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Clara S. Lord; two sons and a daughter.

MR. H. W. MUDGE, RAILWAY HEAD, DIES

DENVER, Col., Friday.—Mr. H. N. Mudge, former general manager of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway, and one of the best known railroad men in this country, died here today. He was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage on Monday night last. He was sixty-four years old.

From water boy to general manager of the Santa Fe is the story of Mr. Mudge's rise in railroad work. He went to work for the railroad in Kansas in 1872, and before he left its service in 1905 he had served five years as its general manager. In 1905 Mr. Mudge became vice president of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway, and was elected president of that road four years later.

Coming to Denver in 1915 as president of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, Mr. Mudge served in that capacity until two years ago, when he retired.

MRS. C. C. DIKE DIES AT GUILD MEETING

Mother of Brooklyn Judge Stricken While Talking to Group of Friends.

Mrs. Camden C. Dike, mother of County Judge Norman S. Dike, of Brooklyn, dropped dead yesterday afternoon while attending a meeting of the Woman's Club of the Church of the Pilgrims. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. George H. Prentiss, at No. 108 Pierrepont street.

Shortly before the meeting was called to order Mrs. Dike, while talking with a few friends, clutched at her throat and collapsed. Dr. De Yoanna was called in and pronounced her dead.

Judge Dike and Mrs. Dike had accompanied their mother to the door of the Prentiss home. The Judge was notified while on the bench that his mother was ill. Mrs. Dike lived with her son at No. 194 Columbia Heights.

Mrs. Dike was born in Rochester in 1837 and was a graduate of Ingam University, at Warsaw, N. Y. She was married in 1855 to Camden C. Dike, then a member of the firm of Dike Brothers, woollen manufacturers. She had been active in charitable and public affairs for many years. She was president of the Brooklyn Woman's Municipal League for about fifteen years, until she resigned a year ago. She was president of the Masters' School of Music and was an active member of the Brooklyn Woman's Club.

Mrs. Dike is survived by two daughters, in addition to her son. They are Mrs. Murray Boocock, of Virginia, and Mrs. G. F. C. Williams, of Hartford, Conn.

Judge Dike said that although his mother had not been feeling well for the last ten days the family had had no apprehension of serious illness.

"HI" HENRY, FAMOUS AS MINSTREL, IS DEAD

Colonel Hiram F., "Hi" Henry of old-time minstrel fame, died yesterday at his home, No. 22 West Seventy-second street, in his seventy-sixth year.

Colonel Henry was a civil war veteran and had his own minstrel company back in the seventies and eighties. He toured the country in his own special train and always led his band in the street parades, as he was a celebrated cornetist.

He retired from the stage about twenty years ago and up to the time of his death was interested in mining and real estate enterprises. He is survived by his wife, who, prior to her marriage, was Dr. Anna Locke, of this city.

MR. OLIVER L. DOSCH.

ELIABETH, N. J., Friday.—Mr. Oliver L. Dosch, superintendent of the Singer Manufacturing Company's plant here, died today following a paralytic stroke. He was forty-five years old. He is survived by his wife and one son.

MR. CHARLES O. LOBECK.

OMAHA, Neb., Friday.—Mr. Charles O. Lobeck, representative in Congress from the Second Nebraska district from 1911 to 1919, and for many years a power in local Democratic politics, died at his home here today of heart disease. He was born in Andover, Ill., in 1852. For a time he engaged in the hardware business, and later was in real estate and insurance enterprises.

MRS. CATHARINE A. MARBLE.

Mrs. Catharine A. Marble, wife of William A. Marble, president of the R. & G. Corset Company, and formerly president of the New York Chamber of Commerce, died in her apartment in Bretton Hall. She was born in Albany, N. Y., seventy years ago. For many years Mrs. Marble was a member of the Board of Managers of the Silver Cross Day Nursery, and was active in charitabel enterprises. She is survived by her husband, and one son, Lieutenant Colronel William E. Marble, who served with distinction overseas.

He was afloat in the Atlantic for eighteen hours before he was picked up. He leaves his wife.

WON'T SELL SHIPS TO ANY MONOPOLY

Payne Will Prevent Control of Merchant Marine in Sale of Former German Vessels.

(Special Despatch to the Herald.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Friday.—Announcement was made today by John Barton Payne, chairman of the Shipping Board, of a defenite policy to prevent the monopolistic control of the American merchant marine. Mr. Payne asserted that bids for the entire group of former German vessels had been received, one of them from the International Mercantile Marine. He said this bid would not be accepted. Bids for separate groups had been received from this corporation which did not come under the objection registered against the bid for the entire group.

Mr. Payne declared that all of the bids might yet be rejected.

"We are having elaborate investigations made to determine how much it will cost to recondition these vessels," he said. "When this is done we will be in a position to know whether the bids received are fair. If not, they all will be rejected."

Mr. Payne outlined the methods that are being used to prevent the monopolistic control of the American merchant marine and to prevent the ships being resold later to foreign owners.

The first step will be a strict scrutiny of the bids and insistance that the ownership of the corporations bidding be fully shown. The vessels are tb be sold under the condition that they remain under the American flag and also subject to the trade routes outlined by the Shipping Board.

If there should be any attempt after the sales to merge the holdings, the chairman of the Board relies upon the Department of Justice, acting under the authority of the Sherman Anti-Trust law to prevent it.

Denial was made by the Board that a twenty-three knot vessel would be put into the South American service now. The government is not building any such vessels and has none to put in the service at this time.

The scheme which the Board arranged some time ago to have commercial representatives in strategic points in Europe has been completed. This force of commercial agents will be in charge of Captain A. C. Tobey, at London.

Improvements in New Mitchell Chassis

In the enthusiastic comment about the new style established by the sloping lines of the New Mitchell bodies one is apt to lose sight of the fact that the chassis has also been considerably improved to place it on par with the refined coach work it carries.

The basic design of the Mitchell Victory Model chassis, which
