

TALK OF A THIRD STRIKE IN BAYONNE

Employees of Standard Oil Co. Discuss New Walkout in Two or Three Weeks.

Corporation's Refusal to Raise Men's Wages Came as a Surprise.

Possibility that within the next two or three weeks employees of the Standard Oil Company in Bayonne will call another strike was generally discussed there last night.

It was stated yesterday in the rooms of the Socialist Club in Bayonne—the headquarters of the strike leaders—that the organization of the Standard Oil employees in a union to be affiliated with the American Federation of Labor already is well under way.

Without having received a definite promise the men returned to work Thursday. They realized that a few days after the ending of their strike of last year a notice announcing an increase in wages was posted in the company's plant.

It was on the advice of the Federal Investigator, John A. Moffitt and James A. Smyth, that the strikers decided to return to work Thursday.

It was the men considered the existing wage scale the greatest of their grievances, and probably the one which was most likely to result in a strike.

WILSON STOOD IDLY IN MEXICO, SAYS T. R.

four of offending Mr. Daniels and Mr. Baker. He said that association with Mr. Daniels was a mistake, and that Mr. McKee to comprehend that Mr. Hughes meant what he said when he declared that he would have prevented the sinking of the Lusitania again by remarking that if Mr. Hughes were President he would do exactly as he promised.

The sarcastic twist that the Colonel always gets into his shrill "Mr. Wilson says he kept us out of war" made every body chuckle. Handicapped, following his assertion that "Mr. Wilson has intervened in Mexico continually and always with fidelity and with timidity."

that the Mexicans have made war upon and mistreated our people. For once the Democratic platform told the truth. Mr. Wilson and his followers are fond of saying when they criticize his action, "What would you have done?" Either one of two courses could properly have been followed. It would have been desirable to have recognized Huerta, in view of the fact that other great Powers had recognized him, and of course it was quite indefensible to refuse to recognize him, and not to recognize Huerta in Peru and Carranza in Mexico, in such event we would have held Huerta to strict responsibility by acts for restoring order in Mexico and protecting American life and property.

"This course would have been desirable. Personally, it seems to me that it would have been even better to have done exactly what Mr. Wilson said he would do, but did not do. He said to Congress on August 27, 1913: "I would not let every one who assumes to exercise authority in any part of Mexico know in the most unequivocal way that we shall vigilantly watch the progress of the revolution, and when we get away, and shall hold those responsible for their sufferings and losses to a definite reckoning. This can be said with but no shadow of the possibility of a misunderstanding."

Comparison With Cuba. "Mr. Wilson's notion was explicit and emphatic. If he had meant what he said and he possessed the means, the small fraction of the resolution and courage of such a Democratic President as Andrew Jackson, he would have lived up to his word."

"Instead of doing this President Wilson stood idly by while hundreds of Americans were murdered. He has not protected American lives and property. All that he has done has been from time to time to help one bandit leader against some other bandit leader."

"Has Ruined Mexico." "President Wilson has seen the Mexicans during these three and a half years become socially, politically and morally ruined. He has not helped Mexico. He has ruined Mexico. The Junkies are creeping over the great plantations. The cattle on the ranches have been wantonly slaughtered. Carranza's government is but a shell of authority, based on murder and plunder. Limited to a few of the larger cities and a few of the smaller ones, it is every organizing force upon which government can rest. The absolute refusal of the outside world to lend it money, and the refusal of the United States to recognize it, has left Carranza's government in a state of financial ruin."

"It cannot be a matter of indifference to the United States that the Junkies are creeping over the great plantations. The cattle on the ranches have been wantonly slaughtered. Carranza's government is but a shell of authority, based on murder and plunder. Limited to a few of the larger cities and a few of the smaller ones, it is every organizing force upon which government can rest."
