

GERALDINE FARRAR IN "THE WORLD AND ITS WOMEN" AT THE STRAND THEATRE

The Brooklyn Strand

THE new Strand Theatre in Brooklyn, located at Fulton street and Rockwell place, devoted to the presentation of motion pictures in conjunction with a concert programme, is to open for the general public next Saturday.

The principal photodramatic feature selected for the opening is "The World and Its Women," in which Geraldine Farrar, the famous diva, will be seen in the stellar role, supported by her talented husband, Lou Tellegen.

A concert programme of rare excellence will be presented. Gracie Hoffman, the talented and popular coloratura soprano, will be heard rendering "Caro Nome" from the opera "Rigoletto" (Verdi); Carlo Ferretti, a baritone of exceptional artistic ability, late of the La Scala Opera Company, Milan, will sing the Toreador song from "Carmen" (Bizet); H. C. Smith and Frank S. Adams will alternate in playing "Conspiration March" (Meyerbeer) on the grand pipe organ.

The Greenwich Village Follies with all its simple village charm unchanged will be seen on Monday at the Nora Bayes Theatre.
