A HALF SHEET. - On account of the deour printing office to its new quarters i INQUIRER Building we have only been to publish a half sheet this week. hope our readers for once will bear with u as we hope to be able hereafter to do full du ty for a long time to come. No ordinary difficulty is allowed to interfere with th publication of a newspaper-disaster, sick ness and even death are hardly accepted as valid excuses for the non appearance of a paper on its usual publication day, but a flitting in a newspaper office is an exception to the general rule and is always regarded as a valid excuse for any irregularity or shortcoming on such occasions. Such of our readers as have experienced the inconvenience and vexation of moving will better appreciate our excuse than those who have always been so fortunate as to possess estab-

Mud-town would be a respectable looking part of the city.-For the last five or six weeks it has been entirely un end of town, and we hope they will take pride and interest enough to have that matter fixed

SUICIDE. - A Mr. Abraham Kelley, living at foot of the Allegheny mountain, near the county line between this and Somerset, com mitted suicide by hanging himself in his barn, on Thursday the 1st inst. We have not been able to ascertain the full particulars of the sad case, but are informed that it was caused by financial difficulties. It seems he had a payment to make on his property on the first of April, and not being able to raise the amount, went to his stable to get a horse with the intention of going to Somfor his journey he was seized with a fit of ncy and hung himself with a line in the stable.

in the vicinity must take pains, promptly, to send to the editor the plain facts, which can be shaped into proper form in the office. Everybody's business is nobody's.' The clergyman officiating at a funeral, the undertaker, or some of the fumily, should have enough respect to the dead to announce their decrase—not only because the fact is of mournful interest, but so that people generally can extend proper sympathy to the survivors, and regulate private or public matters that may require attention. If the administrator of a marriage ceremony does not finish his work by a proper publication, and the groom is not proud enough of his bride to do it, she should be spunky enough, and have enough self-respect, to do it herself, if it takes her wedding ring and all his watch guards. And so of all the variety of matters of which the public have a right to be informed, and which really interest them—some one (generally those most concerned) must forward the facts before they can get into type. If our country friends—some one or two in each township—would lay these soggestions up in their 'tablets of memory,' and drop us a line weekly from their respective neighborhoods, detailing all the gossip and facts they hear, we would be able to give them the best local paper in the country. It is not necessary for them to write elaborately or put in shape for publication. Give us the facts, and we can prepare them for the press. THE time of year is at hand for planting ornamental and fruit trees-Every man who owns a house and lot in Town, ought to have shade trees in front, and ought to be able to raise enough choice fruit in his yard and gar den to do his family. It will pay a man for his trouble in a few years, and it greatly en hances the value of his property if he eve wants to sell. A number of old stumps on Julians and Pitt Streets ought to be taken out and young trees put in their stead. Barnhart, McMullen & Co., have a very large assortment of the finest shade trees in their nursery and our people ought to take advanare all gone. We notice a large stock of there too. TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS FINE FOR KILLING A SMALL BIRD .- By an act of the General As sembly of Pennsylvania, approved the 31st of dollars, is imposed for the killing of any in sectivorous bird; one half of this fine to be paid to the informer. Here is an opportun ty to make twelve dollars and a half, and render the community effective service. He was in the act of repeating the thrust, when McCauslin by a mighty, desperate effort extricated himself, and beat a hasty retreat for home at which place he arrived in a short time, the distance being less than a quarter of a mile. Boher not being satisfied with what he had already done, followed and caught his victim, who, owing to the loss of blood he had sustained and the powerful exertion he had made in trying to free himself, could not resist the second attack, and quietly submitted to have a rope put around his neck, and be literally dragged back to the wharf, where the rope was awang over the top of a lamp-post and in a few moments he was dangling between Heaven and Earth. Then was enacted a scene which is truly characteristic of the rudest barbarism.

It is the wish of all editors to give in their columns as much of the local events of their town or county as they possibly can. No matter how trivial an event may appear when it occurred, it becomes news when it is put in print, and reaches through the news columns of a daily or weekly paper a distant reader. Newspapers are printed to give people just such information as these trivial events furnish. In so doing, they serve to refute many false reports which gain currency. It is true that—sometimes by carelessness, sometimes by willfulness—errors do get into print. But when a responsible person sends to a judicious editor news, it is generally reliable.
