BIG WASTES

In Industry Caused By Careless Business, Says Ely

Washington.—"One dollar in every five produced in this country is being destroyed through wastes in industry that can be prevented," Edwin W. Ely, of the division of simplified practice, department of commerce, told a group of business men at a convention in this city.

This waste is an insidious enemy, and is largely due to lost motion—lost in the production, storage and handling of hundreds of varieties, styles or sizes of everyday commodities for which the demand is limited to but a small proportion, the speaker said. Each useless motion involved in the handling of such slow-moving goods constitutes an added charge on those items which are more active.

Mr. Ely said that the procedure of simplified practice, urged by the department of commerce, is neither technical nor scientific. It is rather the application of common sense measures to sets of conditions business men are unaware of until their attention is called to safe.

One of the results of simplified practice is the discovery that in most analyses of industry 90 per cent of the demand is found to cover but 10 per cent of the items in an industry. "With such figures before a conference representative of an industry," Mr. Ely said, "the action generally taken is the obvious, common-sense one—the elimination of most of the other 90 per cent of items."

The speaker emphasized that his division has no police power or regulatory authority in any form. Its function is to point out wastes.

FUR WORKERS WIN STRIKE

Boston.—Fur workers have won their general strike in this city for union-controlled working conditions. More than 90 per cent of the employers have accepted the union's demands.
