and Matron Mary Boyle. About 7 o'clock last evening he was removed to Murray hospital, where it was thought the better facilities might secure a chance of saving his life. The child died, however.

The boy was a nephew of Leslie Rhein, clerk of the school board. The most skilled medical talent in the city was called into service to save the little fellow's life, but it was hopeless from the start.

Maurice Rowe was arrested yesterday by city police and charged with reckless driving. He was allowed his liberty on a $100 bond.

This morning, after news of the boy's death reached the police, Chief Murphy took Rowe before County Attorney Jackson for a talk.

It was agreed to let things stand as they are and permit Mr. Rowe to remain at large until after the coroner's inquest.

Maurice Rowe is the man who runs the roadhouse on South Montana street close to Timber Butte—the place where Ruby Pascoe died last June.

TAXI DRIVERS STRIKE.

(Special United Press Wire.)
Cincinnati, Oct. 2.—More plebeianism has a much larger personnel here, following the strike of 500 taxicab drivers, who are demanding $5 for an eight-hour day.

STREET CAR JUMPS TRACK.

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—Eight persons were injured, two seriously, when a United Railways car jumped the track on a slippery curve. The brakes refused to work.

MARKET REVIEW

CHICAGO MARKETS.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Predictions that banking arrangements to grant commercial credits to Europe would soon be completed helped to give an upward swing to the corn market. Prices, although unsettled at the close, were 15c to 20c net higher, with December at $1.26 1/2 to $1.26 3/4 and May at $1.24 1/2 to $1.24 3/4. Oats gained 3/4c to 1 1/2c. In provisions the outcome ranged from 25c decline to 5c advance.

Notwithstanding that the corn market wavered a little at the opening and also at the close, sentiment during the day as a whole was strongly in favor of the bulls. Pronounced advances in the corn market did not take place until gossip began to circulate which aroused hopes of a better outlet for the United States general export trade, and therefore substantial, although indirect, benefit to holders of corn. Assertions that forthcoming monthly reports would sustain the government crop estimate of Sept. 1 failed to act as an offset.

Seaboard buying continued to afford independent strength to the oat market.

Lower quotations on hogs tended at first to weaken provisions. Later, however, there were rallies, owing to upturns in grain and to signs of lard sales to Europe.

BATTLE BETWEEN

other battle to begin at any moment. Elaine has a population of 400. The ratio of the population in that section of the country is said to be seven negroes to three white persons.

Women and children of Elaine and vicinity are being brought to Helena on a special train for safety. It is reported here.

The local situation is tense, but no trouble has broken out here. Armed men are patrolling the streets.

More than a hundred negroes and a white man had been arrested by posse operating in Elaine and vicinity, according to former Sheriff Amos, who arrived here late yesterday. A number of the prisoners have been brought to Helena and others, according to Amos, are on the way.

An engineer of the Missouri Pacific railroad who arrived here last night, said he pulled a steel gondola loaded with women and children out of Elaine and that his train was fired upon by negroes from trees along the track.

The white prisoner was brought to this city late tonight with a group of 15 negroes who were placed in the county jail. The white man is alleged to have been the leader of the negroes who fought the sheriff's posse throughout the day. The jail is under strong guard.

Late today it was reported that four white men and seven negroes were known to have been killed during the riots in Elaine. Several other negroes are believed to have been killed. One white man and several negroes were killed when the riots were renewed this morning and the others lost their lives in Wednesday's fighting.

ENGLISH WAGE RAISES

London, England.—Increases in wages which came into operation in July affected over 200,000 work people, and over 1,500,000 work people (most in the coal mining and cotton industries) obtained reductions in hours of labor. On August 1 the general level of retail prices of food and other items entering into the cost of living was about 115 per cent above the pre-war level, as compared with about 105 per cent at the beginning of June; the percentage is, however, still below that recorded just before the armistice, when it was between 120 and 125.

THE VALLEY OF HELL

(Steel Strike Picture No. 1.)
By ANISE.
(Seattle Union-Record.)

The Valley of Hell began
High in the pleasant hills
Of West Virginia.
The autumn sunset
Touched trees and rivers
With a golden PEACE.
Yet even here
Were the first ugly signs
Of greed for PROFITS!
Somebody's advertisements
Of soap and chewing-gum
Stared large and hideous
At the fading day—
And from this point on
The descent was swift
To the great black PIT
Of Pittsburgh!

II.
Curved after curve
We rattled dizzily down
By the iron road,
Into the smoky valley
And the growing night.
Lit only by the glare
Of the red furnaces
Which now, thank God,
Are growing slowly dark
For the first time
Since they were lit with fire!
For the MEN
Who live
In the valley of HELL—
Twelve hours a day
Tending its white-hot fires,
And twelve hours resting
Under its pall of cinders—
The men who live in hell
Have STRUCK!

III.
There is new WAR in hell,
For the slaves of STEEL
Are RISING.
Shaking their chains noisily
In their master's face!
There is new LIGHT in hell,
The terrible whiteness
Of giant searchlights,
Hiding the guards
And machine guns!
There are new DEVILS in hell,
Armed Cossacks
Riding into the crowds,
Murdering strikers,
Smashing the faces of women!
There is upheaval
And white TERROR,
For the greatest
Of all the devils of GREED
Is STEEL,
He who makes and rules
This Valley of Hell
From his THRONE
In BLACK Pittsburgh!

And he faces at last
MAN, his SLAVE,
Whose flesh he has devoured,
Whose mind he has stunted,
Whose soul he has ground
Into dust.
But who shall yet ARISE
Even out of the valley of hell
To become
His MASTER!
Say you saw it advertised in the Bulletin

MAYOR REFUSES

It developed last night that the station buildings are in a deplorable condition, almost uninhabitable, and that the repairs recommended by the council committee of investigation last May had not been completed, "because of other pressing duties," explained Billings. The repairs had been started, but not completed; in fact, little progress had been made, the men having been called off to other work.

Cockroaches and Stray Dogs.
Alderman McKeon drew a striking picture of the quarters in which the fire laddies await the imminent coming of winter.

"Cockroaches and vermin," cried McKeon, "gambol about the fire stations like rats in a cellar. When the firemen scatter these pests, they simply scatter and take refuge in the cracks of walls and ceiling until the attack is over. The men are sick of the cockroaches. The stations are unsanitary and almost uninhabitable," said McKeon, "the windows rattle with every blast and darned near fall out of their frames. There are holes in the buildings through which a dog could crawl."

Mayor's Sky Overcast.

Mayor Stodden, in response to McKeon's appeal, was both pessimistic and sarcastic at the start but wound up with a soft answer, and the threatened squall blew over.

"We'll fix the stations so that the dogs may be kept out," said Stodden. "If you'll only give us time. We know the places are not all that safe of free speech and peaceable assembly not been denied the steel workers in the immediate Pittsburgh district the steel strike all over the United States would have been practically 100 per cent. In every steel center where they were enabled to come together and discuss their grievances, the steel workers struck to a man."

"If the judge cares to delude himself that the men are returning to work, well and good. Statements won't produce steel. It takes workers to do that and the workers are on strike and sticking."

A statement signed by Samuel Gompers and Secretary Foster of the steel workers' committee declared the steel strike was a tremendous success. Over 370,000 steel workers are striking. The statement asserted that the union ranks are being augmented daily by many more strikers. The signers criticized the capitalist press, declaring the corporations are using it to discredit the strike.

Two Good Men Gone.

Alderman T. T. Chapman, republican of the Second ward, offered his resignation from the council. It was accepted. Mr. Chapman's mother recently died in Idaho, leaving a considerable estate. Alderman Chapman has found it necessary to make his home in Idaho.

The resignation of Fred Buck, assistant city engineer, was accepted, and a vote of thanks tendered to him for honest and efficient service. Mr. Buck has accepted an appointment from the state.

A committee of five was appointed by the mayor to arrange for the entertainment of the visiting delegates to the convention of the Montana Municipal League to be held in Butte on Oct. 6 and 7.

Salaries Ruled by Statute.

The ways and means committee, through its chairman, Alderman Hardcastle, made a partial report on City Auditor Crumrine's recent recommendations, which had been referred to the committee for consideration. The feature that the committee dealt with last night was the auditor's suggestion of increased salaries for certain city officials. Hardcastle reports that while the committee had sympathy for those who needed greater salaries, the committee held that the Montana statutes, which were quoted, forbade any changes of salary during the tenure of office of the officials affected by the change, and, also, that the statute provided for a certain prescribed time and method for the city council to use in changing salaries of city officers, and hence it was up to the city attorney to first instruct the council in the law before changes could be made—even though they might be desirable changes. The ways and means committee was instructed to make a complete report on the auditor's recommendation at the next regular council meeting.

Resolutions for forming three new improvement districts—small jobs—were passed. Bonds for 14 special improvement districts which have been formed this last summer and fall, were voted.

Reports of various city officials were received and referred. The dog catchers' business is looking up, while the police are falling down. Since Attorney General Ford sent his secret agents to Butte, forfeits from the proprietors of gambling joints have almost ceased. The past 10 days almost nothing has been realized that way.

A committee of three, including the mayor and Building Inspector Sam Billings, was instructed to look about for suitable winter quarters for the city market.

Last night's meeting of the coun-
