MEMPHIS AND LITTLE ROCK RAILROAD.

Passenger Train leaves Ferry Landing daily (Sundays excepted), at 7:30 A. M. Arrives at 6 P. M. Connects at Madison with Arkansas State Company and Memphis & Ohio at Little Rock, Fort Smith, San Francisco, California; Rio Bravo, Washington, Arkansas; Henry Chevalier, Texas, and all principal points in Arkansas and Texas. Tickets sold by L. S. Knowlton, No. 14 Jefferson street.

☞ From what we deem a reliable source, we learn that Gen. BEAUREGARD will arrive in this city to-day.

COLT'S NAVY REPEATERS.—Just received, and for sale at No. 10, Front row, a few of these celebrated pistols.

LOST.—A fine gold headed cane, marked J. W. Fowler. The finder will be rewarded by returning it to Stovall & Mitchell's.

☞ Servants will be careless, and often abuse with burns and scalds. Ambrosial oil will give instant relief. Read the evidence in special notice.

POST OF HONOR.—We heard yesterday that the ARKANSIANS are determined to have the post of honor on the river, and will raise their battery a little higher up the stream than Randolph.

DANGEROUS.—On Monday night a volunteer in the Bluff City Guard was shot in the abdomen by the accidental discharge of a musket. He was in great suffering yesterday, and a fatal result is feared.

KENTUCKY VOLUNTEERS.—A portion of a company of volunteers from Hickman, Ky., arrived in the city yesterday morning, and took up their quarters in Exchange hall. The remainder of the company will soon join them.

PARDONED.—Wm. J. Jones, who was sentenced at the last term of the criminal court to three months's imprisonment for larceny, was yesterday set at liberty in consequence of receiving a pardon from the governor of the State.

HERALD INSURANCE COMPANY.—Attention is directed at this peculiar crisis to the claims of this company on southern insurers. The office in this city is on Jefferson street, two doors from the Plan ter's bank. W. B. ROSS, Esq., is the president.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.—The following we copy from a notice on the door of Mr. B. J. Semmes, wholesale dealer in liquor and cigars, No. 91 Front row: "Out on drill at 3 P. M. Custer's camp at Randolph. Store open from 8 o'clock A. M. until 3 o'clock P. M., daily.

☞ The Panola Vindicator, Capt George P. Foote, from Panola, Miss., one hundred and six men, passed through Memphis yesterday on their way to Corinth. All were young men, active and full of fight—one of the best companies we have seen in the city since the war began.

ACQUITTED.—Police officer Templeton, of the river police, was publicly charged, a short time ago, with having been guilty of malfeasance in office, by extorting money from negroes on steamboats. A full examination was made into the case yesterday, when the testimony of Capt. Lee, of the steamboat Louisville, which was relied upon to prove the charge, fully and entirely exonerated Templeton, and the evidence proved that no extortion had been practiced in the case alleged by any one. Of course Templeton was fully and honorably acquitted.

EXECUTION ON FRIDAY.—At eleven o'clock on Friday morning the negro Moses, for the murder of an Italian organ player, and the negro Isaac, for killing an overseer, are to be executed immediately opposite to, and on the south side of the fair grounds. Moses exhibited tokens of considerable distress and anguish. Isaac, who can read and write, spends much of his time in reading the Bible, and in writing out an account of his religious experience.

Mr. Merriman has paid them frequent visits; and those lady. Yesterday the Rev. Mr. Ashley, of the Methodist church, visited them.

ROBBERY AND ROBBING.—On Monday night at nine o'clock several rowdies entered the store of Edmund Oakly, on Adams street, between Third and Fourth streets, and after rifling his store of what they chose, they took from the pocket each a dollar in money and left. This is a high-handed and scoundrelous outrage. It is evident there are villains in the city capable of any crime, and that the patrols sh ld have undertaken to guard the city cannot be too vigilant in the execution of their duties. Let the districts be well watched, and let thieves and rowdies meet with the visitation of justice.

ARE CARS CONTRABAND?—A week ago several cars, intended to be sent from the east for the New Orleans street railroad, were stopped there as contraband. A day or two [illegible] a boat passed down from above that had passed examination there. She was allowed to pass on with some cars she had for the above mentioned street railroad aboard untouched. The Cincinnati Commercial has the following in reference to another installment of the same lot of cars: "The Leonora arrived from Wheeling with a moderate trip, including seven passenger cars for a street railway in New Orleans. She was permitted to take the cars to Louisville, on a plea that a special permit had been granted previous to their arrival, for their transportation to New Orleans. Fink Varble, Fair pilot, has the contract to take them South by river from Louisville. This may be all right, but we must confess we don't think it is like keeping within the transportation laws as they now exist."

DID NOT KNOW WHERE SHE LIVED.—A woman, who represented herself to be in extreme distress, applied yesterday at the office of Mr. Underwood, the city almoner, on second street, near Madison, and asked for relief. She said her husband had fits, and her own health but poor, and heaven help them, they were near to starvation. The story was told with great unction, and occasionally interspersed with tears. Underwood is not easily caught in a shower, so spite of the chrystal drops "in dear woman's eye," he asked where the weeping daughter of affliction lived? "On Union street, sir." "Between what streets?" "Do not know the streets sir." "Tell me the names of some of your neighbors?" "Don't remember them, sir." This was puzzling, so Underwood sent his assistant to attend the lady home, (the almoner is always polite to the sex) and to see how she was fixed. At the next corner "the lady" was obliged, now she was up town, to call on a lady acquaintance; she would just look in and be at the corner in a minute. The minute passed, and several more in its company, but "the lady" did not return to the corner. Imposters have no chance with Underwood, but the suffering and necessitous will not apply to him in vain. He is overflowing with the milk of human kindness to those who are really in distress, and such can call upon him with confidence that no necessary kindness will be withheld.

SUGGESTION TO PATROL GUARDS.—We are authorized by Richard Kirby, Esq., chairman of the vigilance committee, to make a suggestion to the patrol companies now on duty in this city, that, we are confident, will be found well worthy of their attention. It is to combine the services of the police and those of the patrols so as to increase the efficiency of both. If the captains or other authorized persons, of the various companies of the patrol guards, will call upon Mr. Kirby, the chief of police, or any of the captains or lieutenants of police of the station house on Front row, south of Madison street, arrangements will be made with them by which the police of the particular wards will make the rounds in company with the patrol of the ward. In this way the [illegible] will have the advantage of the police-patrol [illegible] ledge of the locality, and of those man's knowledge [illegible] and doubtful haunts suspicious individuals, special attention and and houses that require [illegible] policemen in watchfulness. There are two [illegible] in each ward, and they make their rounds company with each other. If the patrol guard of particular ward be slightly divided into [illegible] each of them having a policeman in company, this will be at once equivalent to doubling the whole night police force. Let officers of the patrol guards consult with the chairman of the vigilance committee, and [illegible] would be readily matured that will be of [illegible] advantage to the peace, safety, and good order [illegible] of the city.

REPORTED INVASION.—Reports have been circulated of the advance of Jim Lane and his men into Arkansas from the State of Kansas, but little attention was paid to them until yesterday, when some fifty women, many of them with children, entirely without protectors of the other sex, arrived in this city by way of the Little Rock railroad and ferry-boat. They were generally from Madison and adjoining parts of St. Francis county. One of the gentlemen on the same train stated that information had been received of the presence of Lane on Black river, between Pocahontas and Jacksonport. He said he was one of a committee appointed at a meeting of the citizens of Madison to request Gen. Bradley, and also Gen. Pillow, to send troops and arms to their defense. He also stated that Gov. Rector had telegraphed Gen. Bradley to hasten with what troops could be spared from his command, and meet the invading enemy. John D. Adams, of the steamboat Natrebe, yesterday received a dispatch from George Harrison, of Little Rock, informing him that great excitement existed there in consequence of the prevalence of a report of the same tenor as given above. We were informed that dispatches had been received from Mr. Morrill, editor of the Des Arc Citizen, which stated that the steamboat Mary Patterson had arrived at that place, and her people informed them that the story of Lane and his men being on Black river was false; also that a thousand Arkansas troops were on the watch on the Missouri line to prevent invasion. This dispatch came in last evening. The Mary Patterson had twelve tons of lead on board, brought overland to a point on the river, from iron mountain, Mo.; there was more to come. It was also confidently stated that Gen. Harney with Lincoln troops was at Ironton, the termination of the St. Louis and Iron Mountain railroad.

FOR THE VOLUNTEERS.—This year vegetables are plenty; many will have more than they can use, who have no opportunity to sell. If such will send their surplus to the Sojourner, which goes up to the camp at Randolph every day or two, our brave young fellows in camp will cordially smile me the agreeable addition to their not very popular rations.

A TRIP TO RANDOLPH.

EDITORS APPEAL: I wish to lay before your readers a brief sketch of my recent visit to Fort Wright. I left Memphis on Saturday morning, in company with several lady friends, on the Sojourner, where we found Mr. J. W. Dawson, a gallant officer of the Southern Guard, to whom we were indebted for many attentions. After an agreeable trip we reached Randol h about nine o'clock Saturday evening, but owing to the strict discipline of the camp, were compelled to remain on the boat till Sabbath morning. On leaving the boat we repaired to the residence of a lady friend, where everything was made pleasant during our short stay. The first gentleman of the camp we had the pleasure of meeting, was Capt. Jno. Scurry, an officer, whose services in Mexico serve as indices of what may be expected of him by his country. No wonder that all pay so much respect to so worthy a commander. Though the politeness of General Pearson was shown over the fort and camp, and I would gladly, if space permitted, speak individually of many of his brave volunteers. We were pleased to meet Capt. Hamilton, of the Southern Guard, who were the first on the ground, whose company has been assigned the post of honor and of peril at the fort, and who, we doubt not, will lead his men promptly to the first scene of conflict. Being invited to partake of a lunch at the marquee of the Southern Guard, the invitation was gratefully accepted, and we marched with military step to where the linen was spread. Mr. Stickney, of the Southern Guard, excelled over the culinary department, and for the excellent taste he displayed in catering to the pleasure of his visitors, he received the warmest thanks of the ladies present. Later in the day we visited the marquee of Colonel Preston Smith, where we were agreeably and sumptuously entertained. Our hearty repast being over—(the table would have done infinite credit to "olive branch" of the Cayoso)—the polite colonel showed us around the camp, where we were pleased to witness what we are not allowed to share, but would gladly alleviate—the discomforts and privations of our noble volunteers. Yet we enjoyed the scene generally, there is something so martial, so forcibly striking about a military camp. Some were writing to their friends at home, or recording in their journals the events of the day; others reading their Bible or the latest novel; others cooking with their portable stoves, while still others were hard at work. My prayer to God is that they may all return to their peaceful and happy homes, the sword once more turned into a plough-share, and the cannon into pruning-hooks, and from the fields of battle to fields of peace.

We were indebted to the kind of Gen. Pearson for the privilege of this visit, which will long be remembered by the le who enjoyed it with me, as well as myself. I have so many kind friends there, besides relatives, that I esteem it a very great pain to have been permitted to visit them. [illegible] P.

SOUTHERN MOTHERS.—Unfortunate combination of circumstances so prevented the reception room of the ice from being ready by Monday will not prel im below. ments on this week. The commis will be in attendance to-morrow, Wednes A. M., and this room will be ready by afternoon to receive the sick. The merely, and others invested with work, are posted to send sheets, towels, linen, and all price useful in a sick room. Sheets and pils should be marked "Southern Methodist the corner. The visiting committee will and at the room every afternoon from five p. m when persons, desirous of taking the sick their houses, can remove them. The condition of the society requires that the personsadmitted shall be actually in the service of the South, and go to the officers of the ociation by the officers of the army; so otherwise be received. Ladies are requested to senain immediately supplies of bandages and other ticles for the nurseons to Mrs. S. C. Lv president, as boxes are in preparation to be sent to the camp hospitals. One will go Randolph on Wednesday. Persons wishi to contribute articles of food, services of rvants, etc., are requested to come forward si do so immediately. By order of the president.

MARY E. FOX, Secretary.

A CARD.

EDITORS APPEAL: Having known Captain N. Freck for some twenty ars, I can say without hesitation, that he a high toned gentleman, and I believe him to be a Napoleon, wherever he is tried just I also know many of his men who are all right. There is no better material in nor out of the State of Tennessee; and if they do not gain the first honor in the field, whenever it comes off, I am greatly mistaken. E. H. D.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river fell about fifteen inches in the last 24 hours, and is now reported four inches below the lowest mark of the year before.....The Upper St. Louis packets left on Saturday evening for Keokuk, falling with over four in the channel.....St. Louis papers assert the U. S. Dinker laid on.....The same papers of Monday say the river is falling there, but would seem to rise, and that the Missouris has poured out an unprecedented flood, carrying a great deal of the Missouri bottom with it. The Missouri is falling all the way down from St. Paul with plenty of water for large steamboats with full cargoes. It seems that the annual Rocky Mountain rise is rapidly approaching and it threatens to be of great magnitude. Too much cannot be done in the way of preparation. The Illinois is falling..... The weather here was very pleasant yesterday.....The landing showed some degree of activity.....The Kenawha Valley for white river, the Red Mercelle for Arkansas river, and the St. Francis for St. Francis river, sent out.....

The B broke had left barrels of pork, 2,300 sacks of bacon, 1,000 barrels of flour, and six hundred bags of beans on board; all are stores for Arkansas troops.....The Kenawha Valley made a quick trip during her last journey to the Little Red and to Jacksonport on the White river. The trip from port to port took about, 21 full miles. Was performed in 24 days, with a loss of eight hours from out own causes.....The Falls City is expected in from New Orleans to-day.....The Morrison went to Mound City over the river route day to lay up.....The John Walsh left for New Orleans; she had a good trip.....The Mexico came in from Vicksburg with a large passenger list; she returns to-d y.....The Memphis is expected in from Cincinnati to-day. Captain Priest telegraphs that all is quiet in that place..... The St. Louis Democrat says a new anchor has been found there in accordance with which boats bound up the river will not be obliged to come to at Duncan's Island. A Red River boat passed yesterday afternoon without challenge. We presume it is the result of the late agreements between General Pryor and Harney, that the boats are stopped and examined at Cairo.....The Dr. Kane is to be sent North awhile, into the above year. The Hyphi that says it will be laid up.....The J. D. Perry is running between St. Louis and Cairo.....the St. Louis Democrat says: We understand considerable of freight is heard there steamers which are detained at Memphis by the military board and only set the freight by gunpowder, growing gunpowder and powder grown.

$20 Reward.

RANAWAY from my plantation, nine miles south west of Memphis, on about the first March last, a negro boy named [illegible] about 18 years old, black color, [illegible] scarce any hair, [illegible] positive; left about the first of March last. I will give the above reward if taken and secured so I get him again.

SPECIAL ORDER—No. 116.

HEADQUARTERS,
PROVISIONAL ARMY OF TENNESSEE,
MEMPHIS, May 22, 1861.

The association of Ladies of the city of Memphis, known as the "SOUTHERN MOTHERS," having, by their President, Mrs. S. A. Law, informed the Major-General commanding the Army of Tennessee, that they "will have a large, comfortable room fitted up by Monday, to receive any of our soldiers who may be sick and require nursing, from whence they may be carried to the houses of the society if desired;" and that "many houses are open to them, no matter from what quarter they may come, if in aid of the defense of the South;"

The attention of the Medical Staff is especially called to this generous proffer of the patriotic ladies of Memphis, and the Medical Directs that wh ere the soldiers are ordered by disease and become greatly prostrated, so that an early recovery cannot be anticipated, they will have them brought to the Government hospital "Hygeian" to the Hospital of the "Mothers' Association."

With such zealous care and sympathy on the part of the ladies of Memphis, for the well-being of our patriotic and brave volunteers, the dangers and privations of the soldier's life will be met with prompt hands and heroic fortitude by the soldiers of the army of liberty.

The Major General commanding begs leave, in the name of and as the representative of the Army of Tennessee, to tender his thanks for the provision so early and so wisely made for the care of Tennessee's defenders.

By command of Major-General
