Coal in England Becoming Dearer

London.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Coal prices in England probably will reach the highest level in history during the coming winter, according to London retail dealers. A general increase of three shillings a ton was made recently, and another will be announced within the next few weeks, it is expected. The price of the best hard coal is now 57 shillings, about $12 a ton, graduating to 45 shillings for kitchen coal. The highest prices last year for the same grades was 61 shillings and 48 shillings. A further increase of six shillings may be looked for. The labor troubles and the forecast of an early and severe winter are given as the reasons for the added cost.
