

heaven and earth.) In a thrilling tone the pope responded: "St. Dominus benedictus (blessed be the name of the Master be blessed.)"

Then raising himself to his full height and leaning forward as much as possible, he intoned: "Benedictus vos omnipotens Deus." (May the omnipotent God bless you) which called forth such applause that several minutes elapsed before the pontiff could retire.

He then drew back and the procession, reforming, returned to the ducal hall. At the moment of leaving the window Pius X. turned to Mr. Bisset, who happened to be beside him, and said: "I shall never again feel just the same emotion."

The election of Pius X., once it was consummated, was proclaimed in a loud voice by the cardinals' scrutineers to the sacristy of the conclave and Prince Chigi, marshal of the conclave, were notified thru a bell by Cardinal Oreglia. They entered the Sistine chapel under visible excitement, the faces of the cardinals and prelates being seen crowding about the door.

Confusion Was Indescribable.

It is impossible to describe the confusion in the chapel. The friends and supporters of the new pope gathered around him, complimenting and congratulating him, crying "Viva" and even clapping their hands without ceremony. They appeared to be unable to contain their joy.

These few moments of oblivion gave Sarto's opponents time to recover their balance and conceal their chagrin; although the majority even declared themselves to be satisfied with the result, and only a few sour faces were seen.

Among the cardinals and prelates the expression of opinion was much freer and two lost control of their tempers that they had to be separated by the clockmakers. There was great irritation on one side and a correspondingly great exultation on the other.

Pay Homage to New Pope.

"Sarto," "Sarto," ran from mouth to mouth, penetrating the furthest corner of the Vatican precincts. All hurried towards the Sistine chapel to see the new pontiff, pay their homage to the new sun and have the honor to be among the first to kiss his hand. After the election, even when the excitement began to calm down no one seemed quite to know what to do, it being to all except Cardinal Oreglia a novel ceremony. Even he had only seen it twenty-five years ago. Cardinal Oreglia, as dean of the cardinals, called Cardinals Netto and Macchi, the deans respectively of the cardinal-priests and cardinal-deacons. They approached the new pontiff, saying in Latin, distinctly, but in a shaking voice: "Do you accept your election according to the canonical law as supreme pontiff?"

The moment was one of extreme tension of feeling. There was a perceptible pause before Pius X. found and controlled his voice. Then he bowed and replied, "Yes." The cardinals thereupon removed their baldachins so that that of Sarto was the only one remaining thus marking him as their supreme head. The passing supremacy of the cardinals was gone and was now concentrated in one person.

SCENES OUTSIDE THE VATICAN

Tremendous... Excitement... Among... the Watchers When the End

Rome, Aug. 4.—The usual large crowd assembled before St. Peter's about 10:30 a. m. to await the rising of the smoke from the Sistine chapel. Hundreds of carriages stood in the long line, and the sidewalks seemed hotter than ever. The crowds were packed with people but even there the anxious waiters could scarcely escape from the severe heat.

Watched for the Smoke.

When the quarter after 1 o'clock struck the crowd left its shelter and stood busily in the sun in the belief that the smoke would appear within a few minutes as it had constantly given its signal about this hour since the bidding commenced. Minutes sped on and still no smoke was seen. When the bells sounded half-past 11, the ministers and others left their carriages and joined the watchers on the steps of the basilica.

Inside St. Peter's many also were waiting and the suspense brought thousands running from the city to the square. On the fourth morning of the conclave being interpreted to mean that a decision had at length been reached. The troops spread themselves out in the square and nervous anticipation possessed all. Hundreds of surmises passed from mouth to mouth. Minute seemed like hours.

Displayed Sarto's Arms.

St. Peter's sounded the three-quarters of the hour and there was still no sign either of the Sistine smoke or of the election. A second later the great central window of St. Peter's facing the piazza, swung slowly open. A loud shout arose and all rushed to the balcony of the cardinal. At the open window half a dozen vatican attendants appeared. Suddenly they broke out into the fierce sunlight a banner bearing the arms of Sarto. Reinforcements of troops crossed the piazza at the double, then closed their ranks and held back many who strained every nerve to get close to the window. For a minute or so none knew to whom belonged the arms so significantly displayed. Then the rumor arose that they were Sarto's, and the people were absolutely wild with their joy.

Five hundred troops lined up around the top of St. Peter's steps, thus dividing the great crowd which was increasing every moment into three sections.

Cardinal Macchi Appears.

The tension was soon relieved. Cardinal Macchi, in his cardinal's robes, carrying a large red book, and preceded by a glittering cross, appeared at the window. A wild shout went up to the window. He waved both hands for silence. In a second a solemn hush fell on the scene, broken only by a sharp word of command from an officer and the rattle of the troops marching past the window.

In clear tones Cardinal Macchi read the preamble, the people below meanwhile being scarcely able to contain themselves until he reached the word "Sarto," when a terrific roar went up. Those out of hearing of Cardinal Macchi's voice joined in the acclamation and the whole square became one of men and women throwing hats in the air shouting and cheering at the top of their voices. Vainly the cardinal waved his hands for silence. The long pent-up feelings of those who had watched the fumata for four days now

WAITED 30 YEARS

For the Proper Food.

A man who was a semi-invalid for 30 years got well in about a month when he found the right food. He says: "When I was 19 years of age I had a severe attack of Typhoid fever and after almost starving to death I was left in a pitiable condition."

"My nervous system was so shattered that I had to walk with a cane for six months after I got on my feet and my stomach was so weak that I could not eat. It was thirty years ago and since that time I have never known health although I had tried doctor after doctor, until six months ago I saw an article about Grape-Nuts that impressed me so I thought I would try it."

"So I gave Grape-Nuts a trial, more as something to eat than with any idea of what it would help me. My improvement commenced immediately and has kept right up until now I have used seven packages and I feel like another person. I am in better health than I have been since boyhood and am strong and contented. Grape-Nuts food helped me after everything else failed and I look on this as an evidence of the great food. Grape-Nuts was given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Send to the Co. for particulars by mail or extension of time on the $7,500.00 cooks contest for 75¢ money prizes."

found an outlet and for some minutes they could not be suppressed.

Finally it was quiet enough for Cardinal Macchi to proceed and say that the new pontiff had taken the name of Pius the Tenth. Then with a blessing upon the crowd, the cardinal disappeared from the window and the attendants quickly drew up a banner.

Rush for St. Peter's.

Those below instantly made a rush to go into St. Peter's and a mad scramble ensued for the basilica. Thousands dashed towards the four huge doors and in spite of their wildness a desperate man occurred, in which the women narrowly escaped injury.

A terrific effort was made to get out in time. With extraordinary rapidity the basilica was almost deserted. The attendants hung the banner outside and all the thousands waiting in the piazza saw it and realized what was intended a great shout of approval arose.

Then came a sudden revulsion. As quickly the banner had been let down it was drawn up. The plans had been again changed. A last rush immediately followed for the doors of St. Peter's. How so many people entered the basilica in so short a time without injury is a mystery. Inside the pandemonium increased. A whole lot of the edifice was now not compare with the stately nave of St. Peter's at this moment.

Displayed American Flags.

At the gallery window stood Cardinal Mathieu, Mr. Merry Del Val and several other cardinals. The central place was vacant. Amongst the seating areas below, which never ceased waving hats, two members of the American pilgrimage, Father Lynch of Niagara University, and Father McGowan of New York, held aloft American flags. These swayed brightly around the nave as the bearers were alternately borne forward and backward by the ebb and flow of the crowd.

In and Out Again.

The crowd swept into St. Peter's, still cheering and still waving hats. Within a pandemonium reigned. Those already standing in a good position to see the cardinal were expected to appear, were hurried back to the further end of the nave by the irresistible impact of those seeking entrance.

"Pope Pius," and "Sarto," were the cries which could be faintly heard above the din that was raging from end to end of the historic cathedral. The attendants at the gallery window who had hung out the same banner as was previously displayed from the window in front now hastily drew it up.

With every sign of excitement they motioned the crowd to go back to the steps of St. Peter's. A great cry arose. Those who a few moments ago were fighting their way into the cathedral now struggled with redoubled energy to get out.

A Significant Act.

It was the climax of the excitement—the new pope was going to bless the world. A wild shout went up to the window, which had not been done since the days when the vatican ruled Rome.

SARTO'S PERSONALITY

Maud Howe Writes About Him in the Outlook.

Under date of Aug. 1, Maud Howe, daughter of Julia Ward Howe, writes in the Outlook:

"The candidate of the Italian party will doubtless be Cardinal Sarto, patriarch of Venice. Sarto was born in Treviso on the 24 of June, 1835. He studied at the College of Castelfranco and at the seminary of Padua. His first cure was in the parish of Tombolo, from which in 1867 he was transferred to Salsano. The bishop of Treviso, noticing his talent, appointed him canon of the cathedral of Treviso. He next became bishop of Mantua. In 1883 he was elected to the office of cardinal."

He is one of the most popular of the cardinals, and is much beloved by the Venetians. He is a prudent, correct, well-balanced man. While never directly opposing the policy of Leo XIII, he is noted for his absence from all aggressive action, and his influence is always exerted to keep the peace between the opposing factions."

papal court, he rarely comes to Rome, and is content to remain in his beloved Venice, the friend of the people and of the clerical class.

For Italy his election would be fortunate; he has many well-wishers in the Roman world, where, his friends hold, he is too little seen.

WASHINGTON IS PLEASED

Believe Pius X. Will View Philippine Matters in the Right Light.

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—It may be said on high authority that the government is entirely satisfied with the selection of Cardinal Sarto as pope. While this government has no direct interest in papal affairs, and no official connection with the vatican, it watched the conclave with great interest owing to the prominence of Cardinal Gotti, a Carmelite monk, as a candidate. It was felt that his election might seriously embarrass the negotiations now pending in the Philippines between Governor Taft and Mr. Gudi, papal delegate, for the transfer of the islands.

Gotti not only is a monk, and as such, interested in all matters affecting them, but he stands for the reactionary policy of the papacy. The foreign office is in every way a different ruler from his predecessor. It was felt here that there was no chance for the election as pope of a cardinal representing the modern ideas held in this country by Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul, and so the contest from the beginning was believed to lie between the reactionists, whose candidate was Cardinal Gotti, and those occupying the moderate middle ground between them and the modern wing, their candidate being Cardinal Sarto.

It is believed here that Sarto is the only man in the college inclined to adopt a policy agreeing in its main features with that of Leo XIII. That being the case the negotiations in the Philippines will continue without change, and the other church problems there will be solved in a spirit of fairness to all concerned. This is what the Washington government wants. The foreign office will secure under Cardinal Sarto as pope, in a larger way than would have been possible under any other candidate who had a chance of election.

—W. W. Jermaine.

THE FRENCH VIEW

Sarto is Regarded as a Conservative and Wise Man.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The election of Cardinal Sarto as pope has created a distinctly favorable impression in governmental circles here, removing the fear that the choice might fall on a radical or reactionary candidate. The foreign office received the first information of the election from press sources. Although not espousing any particular candidate, official feeling has been favorable to one who would continue the conservative policy of the late pope.

Of the Rappallo Faction.

Cardinal Rappallo at first seemed to be the best exponent of a continuance of the former policy but he lacked the necessary strength.

Cardinals Sarto and di Pietro were regarded as being closely identified with Rappallo and as likely to share his general views. The choice of Sarto is therefore satisfactory as apparently insuring the continuance of the recent policy of moderation followed by the holy see in its relation with France and other Catholic countries. What was most feared was the election of one who might adopt a policy antagonistic to the government of France, thereby increasing the difficulties of the present governmental policy against the congregations and possibly threatening the existence of the concordat.

A Friend of Queen Helen.

Although little is known of Sarto's political tendencies he is considered to be one likely to avoid conflicts and to continue the policy of Pope Leo and Cardinal Rappallo. The officials here recall Sarto's notable course in regard to the King and Queen of Italy at Venice, which removed much of the friction hitherto existing and led to a warm friendship between him and Queen Helen. This incident is cited as an evidence of his conciliatory disposition and the likelihood of no material change taking place in the policy of the vatican.

"WHO IS SARTO?"

London Churchmen Asked the Question When Told of His Election.

London, Aug. 4.—News of the election of Cardinal Sarto as pope reached England first thru an Associated Press dispatch from New York. The information was communicated to the Catholic church authorities and Monsignor Johnson, who is in charge of church affairs pending the appointment of a successor to Cardinal

Vaughn, said: "I am glad the election is over and the suspense ended. Cardinal Sarto is midway between the older and younger element of the sacred college so that he probably has many useful years to live. He is active and energetic."

To the Catholics of London the election was a great surprise. The first question asked was not only by laymen but by high church dignitaries was "Who is Sarto?" Books of reference were quickly hunted up in order to ascertain knowledge of the career of the new pontiff. The afternoon a cable dispatch was received at the archbishop's house from the English college at Rome formally announcing the election of Sarto.

The English expressed the opinion that the election was a quiet ecclesiastic who has not mixed much in politics and probably will pursue a policy designed to harmonize conflicting interests. A few who are acquainted with him, however, he is highly esteemed by the Italian government and was a close friend of King Humbert. The English expressed the opinion that what title he would assume. This latter was announced as Pius X.

London Press is Friendly.

London, Aug. 4.—The London press publish long and friendly reviews of the new pope's career. They generally think that the election augurs well for better relations between the vatican and the world. Stress is laid on his attitude towards the king and queen of Italy, who visited Venice last May when Sarto went in state in his gorgeous gondola to render select honors to the royal couple. It is pointed out that Sarto is likely to depart from Pope Leo's policy of rigorous confinement in the vatican.

Germany is Pleased.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—The election of Cardinal Sarto as pope was made known here at 1 o'clock this afternoon thru extra editions of the newspapers which were eagerly read. Referring to the question whether the election was acceptable to Germany a representative of the foreign office answered:

"Unofficially so from an official viewpoint. Sarto is a mild man, and has never been active politically. In other quarters it was remarked that Sarto is the only Italian cardinal whom the king of Italy receives as a guest. His repeated visits to the king and his aversion to politics are regarded as an auspicious sign for the triple alliance. Germany is also fully satisfied that Sarto will be a man of peace and will not use temporal power of the papacy. Officials think the emperor will be well pleased with the election and believe that the emperor received Sarto in audience while visiting the King of Italy."

Herrero Very Ill.

Rome, Aug. 4.—There was great anxiety around the vatican thruout the night, both vatican and outside, owing to the illness of Cardinal Herrero, O. S. B., who has never been active politically.

Feeling the end approaching, the cardinal sent a note to the vatican, saying that he was ready to resign his office. He was, however, the doctors still consider his life to be in danger.

Cardinal Gibbons Is Indisposed.

Cardinal Gibbons has been added to the sick list which now numbers five of the sixty-two members of the conclave. He is said to be suffering from a touch of malaria.

Sarto a Friend of Quigley's.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—General satisfaction was manifested by Chicago Catholics today over the selection of the new pope. The foreign-speaking people, as well as the most ardent champions of Americanism in the church, agree that the choice was a wise one. Archbishop Quigley, who is a personal friend of Pius X., has directed that a number of letters of thanksgiving be celebrated to-night.

Washington is Notified.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The Washington government was advised of the election of the new pope by the following cablegram received from Mr. Idings, the American charge d'affaires at Rome: "Cardinal Sarto elected pope. Aged 68."

Gibbons Was Against Rappallo.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—A dispatch to the Lokal Anzeiger from Rome asserts that Cardinal Gibbons played the chief part in frustrating the election of Cardinal Rappallo.

WILEY GOES TO EUROPE.

Washington, Aug. 4.—It is to be performed by United States foreign consular representatives in the enforcement of the pure food law will be made plain by Mr. W. H. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture, who will sail for Europe to-day to give personal instruction. Dr. Wiley plans to visit a number of the cities from which are made the largest exports to this country.

LARGEST EVER HELD

Black Hills Planning All the Time for the Coming American Mining Congress.

It Has the Men and the Means —Mining News of the District.

Special to The Journal.

Lead, S. D., Aug. 4.—The Black Hills Mining Association expects a lively session of the American Mining Congress, to be held at Lead, S. D., on September 15. At a recent meeting of the association Secretary J. H. Mason of the congress told what was being done to entertain the miners and delegates. Reports from the various committees have been favorable to the congress, so far as it relates to the hills, were made, and were very satisfactory. Delegates will be present from every mining state in the union, and it is expected the congress will be the largest ever held. California alone will send 200, while Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, Missouri, Illinois, Alaska and other states and territories will come with strong delegations.

Secretary Mason stated that the financial end had been well looked after, and that there was funds and abundance to meet every demand. Deadwood and Lead are looking forward to the entertainment of from 1,500 to 2,000 guests.

The Amicus mill of the Homestake Mining company is being enlarged from 140 to 240 stamps. This will give the largest stamp mill in the world and will give the Homestake company a total of 1,000 stamps. The new 200-drill air compressor at the Ellison hoist is in commission and the pressure in the Homestake mine has been more than doubled. The Golden Rule Mining company contemplates the erection of a large cyanide plant at Terry, for the treatment of low grade ores. By this means the mine will be able to ship more ore and will be able to avoid a large expense in shipping.

In Blacktail gulch the Jupiter company is now treating 100 tons of ore a day, its plant again in operation after a shutdown of several weeks. The company is breaking up casing on its big rock crusher. The Phoenix, which adjoins the Jupiter, and which is developing the same character of ore, a cement conglomerate, is putting its ground in shape so that when its 50-ton cyanide mill is completed there will be place of ore to run on ground for the new mill will be broken on Monday.

Developments on the Victoria company's ground have disclosed another large shoot of ore underlying the ones on which so much has been written, and which have proved so extensive. This new shoot puts the Victoria in the same class with the Spearfish.

MAITLAND, S. D.—The Dizzy Mining company expects to accomplish important results in the territory in the near future. The company is principally of large mining interests from the west, and is now exploring the lower ore measures in the region, and to facilitate explorations has purchased a diamond drill which will be started up some time during the month.

This company has recently been incorporated with a capitalization of 500,000 shares. The incorporators are H. Francis, of Custer; C. J. Swanstrom and E. M. Thompson, of Deadwood, and Messrs. Uhlrich and Wolf, of Chicago. The company controls 1,100 acres of ground. The developments of the last few months on the property of the "Penobscot Mining Company" indicate that the same silicious ore measures extend over its territory.

The "Penobscot Mining company" has achieved signal success on its ground. The company consists principally of large mining interests from the west, and is now exploring the lower ore measures in the region, and to facilitate explorations has purchased a diamond drill which will be started up some time during the month.

CUSTER, S. D.—The Interstate Gold Mining company is making a good showing upon its property, which consists of a tract of 600 acres adjoining the Roosevelt group. The company is principally of large mining interests from the west, and is now exploring the lower ore measures in the region, and to facilitate explorations has purchased a diamond drill which will be started up some time during the month.

The property embraced in the Interstate Mining company is situated in the Black Hills. The ore is in abundance, assaying all the way from $2.70 up to $2.80. The company has choice pieces have gone into the hundreds.

Young Women Won't Marry During Their Benefactor's Lifetime and Are Made His Heirs.

New York Sun Special Service.

Hatfield, Mass., Aug. 4.—The right to marry during the life time of B. S. Simmons, a retired Hartford, Conn., business man, who has been waived by Miss Martha Evelyn Bardwell, a pretty Hatfield school teacher of 25, and her most intimate friend, Miss Susan Loomis, of East Hampton, aged 20.

In consideration of this agreement Mr. Simmons has, with the approval of their parents, adopted the young women and made them his principal heirs.

Miss Bardwell first met Mr. Simmons while visiting an aunt, Mrs. George D. Barnes, in Wareham Point, Conn. Mr. Simmons confided to Miss Bardwell his love of the company of young people and told her that if she would consent to adoption he would adopt at the same time any young woman he might select. His friends and relatives, he said, would be given every advantage of wealth and would be subject to no restrictions other than a contract not to marry during his life time.

Miss Bardwell chose as her companion Miss Loomis, her judgment meeting with the warm approval of Mr. Simmons.

UNIONS SECURE COUNSEL

They Will Establish a Legal Bureau to Fight All Injunction Cases.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—A legal bureau to fight injunction cases is to be established by the Chicago Federation of Labor. The steering committee appointed by the federation two weeks ago to make the special assessment and defense fund met to-day to devise ways and means of conducting the bureau.

The union is in conjunction with representatives of the unions involved in the Kellogg strike and map out a plan of action which will be general in scope. The purpose is to maintain legal headquarters, which will be open to all of the affiliated bodies of the federation.

BONDS SELL READILY

Consolidated Lake Superior Co. Disposes of Collateral.

Philadelphia, Aug. 4.—It is officially stated that the consolidated Lake Superior company has so far sold about 1,250,000 of its 4 per cent bonds. This means that $750,000 of the $2,450,000 new cash needed, or a little less than one-third, has been raised. The probability is that the expectations of the management that 4,000,300 bonds will be subscribed for by stockholders, will be realized does not now seem remote.

FEMALE WEAKNESS

IS OFTEN DUE TO CATARRH.

Mrs. J. P. REGNIER, 754 W 20th st. Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I am anxious to show my gratitude for what Peruna has done for me, and hope this will reach the eyes of some woman who has suffered as I did. For two years I had intense pains regularly every month, had headache and backache. At such times I was hardly able to be about, and felt very weak and worn out. I am now feeling very well, but would not be without Peruna in the house. When I see my children are not feeling well and have a little cold, I give them Peruna, and they know it does them good, so they take it without any trouble. I am a new woman since I began taking Peruna. My friends say: 'How well you look!' and I tell them what made me well, so some of my friends are going to try it themselves."—Mrs. J. P. Regnier.

Women all over the United States recommend Peruna. They praise it as a remedy which is adapted to their peculiar ailments. But they do not stop there. They recommend it as a family medicine; they give it to their little children. They say they would not be without it in their home.

What, then, is Peruna? Is it a cure-all? No such claims are made for it. Peruna cures catarrh and that is all it does cure. But many ailments called by countless different names are dependent upon catarrh, that is, catarrh inflammation of the mucous membrane lining some organ of the body. Hence Peruna cures catarrh of the pelvic organs (female weakness), with the same surety as it cures catarrh of the nose or throat, or the many other catarrhal ailments of children.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

CREEK TURNS TO TORRENT

Cloudburst Over Mason City Floods Much Territory and Destroys Property.

Mason City, Iowa, Aug. 4.—A cloudburst at 6 o'clock this morning turned the insignificant little Willow creek into a torrent of a half-mile wide, flooding the Milwaukee grounds, lumber yards, dozens of houses and destroying property and live stock.

There were several narrow escapes from drowning in rescuing people from their homes, but fortunately no fatalities. Three men were captured in a boat and escaped drowning by getting into a tree from which they were rescued.

The storm and the west of the city a destructive hail storm wiped out many corn fields in Hancock county.

WHEAT FILLING WELL

Conditions in the Melita District, Manitoba, Are Prime.

Specials to The Journal.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 4.—Conditions in the Melita district the past week were most favorable for the proper filling of the wheat. The weather has been uniform with an occasional shower. Prospects in southwestern Manitoba are better than in other parts of the province. The average yield of the district, barring unforeseen accidents, will be 20 bushels an acre. This estimate is thought to be a conservative one.

Heavy rains have fallen almost continually the past four days, and the crops are in excellent condition.

Selby, S. D., Aug. 4.—Heavy rains have fallen almost continually the past four days, and the crops are in excellent condition.

HYPNOTIZED INTO ASYLUM

New Religion Proves Too Much for a Preacher.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 4.—The committee of Rev. Benjamin Wiseman of Zanesville to the insane asylum at Jacksonville from here last week has developed a strange story. Wiseman has been sane and rational since his confinement and will be released in a few days to a hypnotic asylum unless some other symptoms of insanity develop than he has shown so far. He charges his condition when brought to Springfield to a hypnotic spell cast over him by a Missouri minister, who interested him in a new religion.

Wiseman said he was hypnotized into believing God had ordered him to fast, to travel without shoes and to deliver messages to save souls.
