Mr. Sunday's sermon on "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" will be found on page 5 of this issue of The Times-Dispatch.

Hell for rent, with crape on the front was the promise Billy Sunday made the Lord last night as he dashed the perspiration from his brow and brought his right leg sharply up to sweeping swing of the arm.

From high nervous tension to a low From high nervous tension to a low chuckie, Mr. Sunday struck every chord of his emotions as he made this last neart-to-heart talk with the Lord, finally exulting over the prospect of leaving the earthly station for that in heaven in "a cloud of dust."

ASKS SPECIAL DISPENSATION

OF REVIVAL SPIRIT HERE

Plainly tired from the efforts he has made during the campaign in Richmond, Mr. Sunday asked that God visit him with a special dispensation of revival spirit, that he may continue vigorously to the end the fight he has begun on every form of slu.

The Mr. Hyde of Stevenson's terrible allegory appeared the aeme of all that is perfect in life besides the insidious personage of sin that the evangelist pictured for his audience as the evil in November. 1917, the street rail-

The audience last night was composed entircly of members of the male sex. A majority of them were business men. Those who declined actively to engage Those who declined actively to engage in war on Mr. Hyde gave their moral support of Dr. Jekyll, if the applause accorded Mr. Sunday's vigorous expressions is a criterion by which to judge. "God Almighty puts it up to you, old top," the evangelist warned, as he jumped from one side of the platform to the other and pointed his index finger vigorously at the audience. "There's no passing the buck. Old Aaron tried to pass the buck once, but Moses called him down. That was the time he made the golden calf for worship in the wilderness. Old Moses comes along and asks Aaron why he made it.

MOSES WENT "RED-HEADED" AND SWITCHED INTO "HIGH"

"Aaron saw Moses had gone red-headed and had switched into high, so he shifted the responsibility—put it on the furnace; said the people put their gold into the furnace and the calf came out, formed from the end of his nose to the tip of his tail. But it didn't go. Aaron couldn't put it over on Moses that way. And you can't put it over Aaron couldn't put it over on Moses that way. And you can't put it over on God. You must be either a Dr. Jetryll or a Mr. Hyde."

"Old Gilbert, the grave-digger at Monte Carlo, said life is a game of chance," Mr. Sunday declared at another point. "But I tell you that old Gilbert is a liar." he shouted. "Every man is the architect of his own fate. man is the architect of his own fate. Neither is sin a disease, as some people would have you believe. It's a condition, something you have got to fight and fight every day."

Despite the rain, which poured steadily all day yesterday in a fine, cold drizzle. Billy Sunday had the usual big crowd at the 2 o'clock service. It appeared that many people had made a suecial effort to reach the vice. It appeared that many people had made a special effort to reach the Auditorium, under the impression that the rain would keep "the other fellow" at home. But the other fellow was right on the job, nevertheless.

"Rody" was back from three big services with the soldiers at Newport News who have just returned from

"Rody" was back from three big services with the soldiers at Newport News, who have just returned from overseas. He wore his "Y" uniform. The two Rodeheaver brothers sang "In the Garden," by special request, and Homer A. Rodeheaver, the "Rody" of the Sunday party, sang "The Old Account Was Settled Long Ago."

From Isaiah xliii. 10, "You are My witnesses, saith the Lord of hosts," the evangelist delivered a discourse of convincing power and earnestness. "SLIMY GANG" FROM RUSSIA

ENGAGES HIS ATTENTION "That infamous, scaly-headed, slimy gang from Russia" engaged all of Mr. Sunday's extensive vituperative vocabutary for several minutes at the beginning of his sermon. He referred again to the treatment of women in Russia as "brood animals" and expressed his opinion that before America should become a pasture ground for such a black-hearted gang that some more fighting may be necessary.

"If we licked 'em once we can do such a black-hearted gang that some more fighting may be necessary.

"If we licked 'em once we can do it again," are Mr. Sunday's sentiments. In reference to his text, the evangelist repeated the assertion which he has made many times since he came to Richmond that the world wants a religion of deeds rather than words.

"Talk's cheap!" said Mr. Sunday.
"There are more expert wind-jammers in this world than anything cise."

Since early last December there have been recurring reports of grave disorders in Roumania, but there never has been any official confirmation nor any statement from the Roumanian government on the internal situation. This report was not confirmed. INTERNAL SITUATION

HAS BEEN VERY GRAVE

The internal situation in Roumania, however, has been most unsettled, and the government has had to deal both with Socialist agitators at home and Boishevist propagandists from Russia. The reconstruction task of the government has been hard, because of the manner in which the Germans pillaged the country during the occupation. Roumanian money, printed and floated by the Germans, has been causing financial difficulties.

Premier Bratiano is a liberal in polities and anti-German. On February 2 he appeared before the supreme council of the peace conference in Paris, and there has been no report concerning his whereabouta since.

President Easley delivered his annual address and called attention to the many industries which had been brought to Richmond during the past year, through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce. He called attention particularly to the Alco Manufacturing Plant, a branch of the American Locomotive Company, which, when completed will employ at least 1,000 skilled workmen and involve an outlay of approximately $1,000,000. He declared that this plant was brought to Richmond notwithstanding strong competition from other localities.

In reference to the needs of Richmond Mr. Easley said:

"Among the war plants located in or near Richmond largely through the influence of the chamber, may be mentioned the bag-loading plant at Seven Pines. This is one of the three such plants operated by the government, the other two being on leased ground, while this is on land purchased and owned by the government, which fact makes us hopeful that its operation may be continued permanently.

"The investment involves a cost of several million dollars, and many buildings have been erected and other improvements made that will be worthless unless used for the purpose for which they were intended. Acting upon the assumption that the government must operate such a plant even in times of peace, the chamber has done what it could to induce the government not to abandon this investment.

PARIS, Feb. 13.—Public nervousness and the possibility of the resumption of active fighting which the cancellation of soldiers' leaves had foreshadowed, have diminished, owing to reports inspiring confidence that Germany cannot now dream of a renewal of warfare.

Nevertheless, French opinion astrongly favors exacting a piedge from Germany that she will obey the terms in letter and in spirit.

It is proposed that the German Constituent Assembly he asked to piedge explicity that the German mation will adhere to the new armistice terms and give material assurances in that direction to show its good faith.

The supreme war council is considering:

1. The demand of a piedge from Germany that she will live up to the clauses of the previous armistice agreements which thus far she has not religious done.

2. A set of entirely new conditions which would virtually amount to a preliminary peace, including complete disarramment, ceasation of the manufacture of war material, evacuation of Polish territory and piedges to repair the war damage.

The impression prevails here that President Wilson feit accupies with regard to imposing new conditions, while Premier Clemenceau insists that France must have a complete guarantee of security against a revival of German military power after the allies have demobilized their armies.

The military features of the armistice renewal have been discussed and drafted by the allied commanders and experts who reported them to the supreme war council. In French official circles it is understood that the body of commanders and experts favor the dispatch of an ultimatum to Germany demanding that she fulfill the previous armistice conditions forthwith, in default whereof new and severer terms would be imposed and forced.

The previous armistice clauses not yet fulfilled by the Germans are notably:

notably:

2. The restitution of stolen unchinery, stocks and bonds.

3. The surrender of nil submarines and designated merchant ships.

4. Discontinuation of the manufacture of arms and airplanes.

Germany's opposition to the Polish claims is another factor figuring in the allied determination to force a show-down. But above all else towers the claim repeatedly heard from the lips of responsible German leaders lately that Germany was not beaten and therefore refuses to pay the damages.

They, too, must be signed without any attempt at bargaining or the advance of the allied armies into Germany will be resumed where it was left off.

It will be made unmisuakably plain to Germany that the time for haggling over the terms is past.

The supplementary terms will be drawn up during President Wilson's absence. Colonel House will sit in the President's place when they are framed and voted upon.

The understanding of the French press is that the new conditions virtually amount to an ultimatum and that they include a clause prohibiting a German offensive against the Poles.
The draft of terms is said to be a British compromise between the French and American viewpoints.

QUESTION HELD UP

The supreme council sat for three hours this afternoon. It heard the Rev. Howard S. Bliss, president of the American College at Beirut and Chekri Gahem, president of the Syrian national committee.

The proposed arbitration of the Italian Jugo-Slav frontier question is for the moment in abeyance. The Italian Premier, Vittorio Orlando, has seen President Wilson and informed him that after consulting with his colleagues of the delegation they had agreed it would be impossible to take a decision on the arbitration proposal which the Jugo-Slavs presented to the peace conference, asking President Wilson to be arbiter, without first consulting the King and the Cabinet, and, if necessary, the Parliament. WILSON MAY DECLINE

POST AS ARBITRATOR
President Wilson took the opportunity to explain he was not the originator of the preposal, which was presented by M. Trumblich, during a conversation which he had with him last week, and he had simply mentioned it to Premier Orlando in a conversation. The President added that he would prefer not to be leaded with the responsibility to arbitrate, but was willing to act as a friendly intermedir POST AS ARBITRATOR
