There is no new development in the diplomatic situation, but an official denial has been issued at St. Petersburg to reports that the Russian government has pronounced itself definitely in favor of Servia's claim for an Adriatic port or has sent instructions to the Russian embassador at Vienes to that effect,

"The Bulgarian suprems commander is anxious before granting an armistice to create a situation bringing the operations on this front to a complete conclusion and leaving the Turks no further chance for a military standpoint and so liberate the troops for employment in another direction."

ADRIANOPLE AT LAST EXTREMITY

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Bennett Burleigh, in a dispatch from Mustapha Pasha to the Daily Telegraph, describes the lighting around Adrianople. He says

"Port Arthur produced no grander or more terrible effects than Sunday nights furious bombardment. Hundreds of shells burst at the same Instant over and around Adrianople. Guns of all sizes and kinds made a flaming, roaring inferno, which must have reverberated for miles along the Balkan mountains and rocked and rattled the houses in distant Mustapha Pasha.

"The Turks attempted to reply, but were seen overpowered by the tremendous strength, energy and accuracy of the besiegers' artillery."

While, therefore, Turkey's recognition of the realities has smoothed the path of diplomacy and may result in Constantinople. The Dardanelles and perhaps some other parts of her European possessions being left to her and prevent a scramble for them by the bowers, there still are some serious questions to be dealt with Among these are notably, those of the position of Albania and of the Servian ambition to have a port on the Adriatic sea.

Albanians Are Active.

The Albanians are taking steps to make their country independent and besides publishing a proclamation, have issued a protest against any attempt to interfere with the freedom and integrity of the country. Their organization also makes the charge that the Servians have severely murdered all the Albanian prisoners of war.

As to the Adriatic, which, according to a report from Alessio toda, the Servians have not yet reached, there is no official.

As to the Adriatic, which, according to a report from Alessio today, the Servians have not yet reached, there is no official change in the Austro-fishian or the Servian attitude.

A dispatch from Alessio confirms the previous reports that the Montenegrin army advancing on that town has suffered a reverse. The Montenegrins were unable to take the town owing to the

CONFIRMS TALE OF SERVIAN CRUELTY

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The reports of atrocities committed by the Servian troops on the Albanians are confirmed by Captain Persius, the correspondent of the Tageblatt, writing from Uskup.

the Tageolatt writing from Uskup.

He says he witnessed the burning of Albanian villages and heard from numerous eye-witnesses of the reckless shooting not only of men, but of women. The Servians, he adds, admitted they were carrying on a war of extermination against the Albanians, whom Servians say must be swept from the face of the earth.

The Albanians in Uskup heavier

An Albanian came to Captain Persius one night and excitedly narrated that the Serviana had just entered the house where he lodged and had sabered three unarmed Albanians.

Evidence is to be collected after the war from the parish priests between Mitrovitza and Uskup to prove that the Servians acted on orders to kill all men aboye 18 years and that they often murdered women and children.

HEAVY LOSSES OF TURKS IN THRACE

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Fighting has commenced at Monastir, according to an Uskup dispatch to the Daily Mail. The Servian forces marching through Albania to the Adriatic are meeting with little opposition, many places being occupied without firing a shot.

demonstrated in letters received from the front.

Any attempt by war correspondents to telegraph news of the employment of flying machines by the Bulgarians during the operations has met with severe censorship, but stories are beginning to filter through showing that remarkably effective work has been done by the aeroplanes.

Percival Phillips, special correspondent of the London Express, sends a picturesque description of the flight of a biplane over the Bulgarian army and the beleaguered city of Adrianople. He writes:

"The first long recounsissance took place on the Tuesday following the occupation of Mustapha Pasha. A military hiplane winged its way confidently toward the rising sun, making a wide detour above the troops, who were full of enthusiasm regarding this new and wonderful sight. Subsequent flights were made under excellent conditions, there being no wind,

"From a little cockpit, the trained observer, with maps and glasses, surveyed the wonderful pancrama of war. Between Mustapha Pasha and Adrianople the country is a corrugated series of hills and valleys, effectually shutting off from us here any glimpse either of the enemy or of our first line. To the aerial scouts, however these hills were no more than a row of insignificant ridges cut by the broad valley of the winding Maritza, with a crooked yellow ribbon, the great Constantinople road, as the most pronounced landmark."

POINTED REPLY 15 MADE TO AUSTRIA

RIEKA. Montenegro, Nov. 14.—King Nicholas of Montenegro zave a curt and pointed reply to the Austro-Hungarian minister when he made representations with reference to Montenegro's action against Alessio and the port of San Glovanni di Medua.

His majesty, admitting that he had no authority from his allies to give a definite answer on the subject, continued:

"For my part, I at once emphatically reject even the suggestion that the Serb kingdoms will not be allowed to occupy Giovanni di Medua and Alessio, all the more so as at present neither Turkey nor autonomous Bulgaria exists. I consequently consider the communication of the Austro-Hungarian minister null and non-existent."

King Nicholas refused to receive a written note repeating the communication.

CHOLERA SPREADS AMONG THE TURKS

LONDON, Nov. 15 -- Either for mill-LONDON, Nov. 15.—Either for mili-tary reasons or on account of the choicia which is spreading rapidly at Hadem-keul, the government, the Constanti-nople correspondent of the Daily Tele-graph declares, is prepared to make large concessions in order to prevent the Balkan armies from entering Constanti-nople.

Balkan arimes from entering Constantinopte.

An uncensored dispatch, dated November 12, from Constantinople to the Reuter ITelegram company, says the cholera is extending alarmingly among the troops. The cases are reckoned by the hundreds, while among the refugees there are even more victims.

In Constantinople, adds the dispatch, the disease is difficult to control. One train alone brought 160 patients from San Stefano. They were conveyed to the lazaretto at Beycos on the Box phorus. The bodies of twenty soldiers who had died of cholera were taken from the same train.

Soldiers Exhausted.

Many trains have returned from the front with soldiers who are not wounded but are in a state of physical collapse owing to exhaustion due to exposure and lack of food. The sights at some of the stations near Tchatalja are unnerving Cholera victims crawl to the station for water or in the hope of getting to Constantinople. They can be seen lying about in every stage of the infection.

Infection.

The greater danger threatens Constantinople in that the water supply from Lake Derkos may become conseminated. Only a few cases have been reported up to the present among the people in the capital and it would seem that the disease is not the deadlest form of Asiatic cholers, as notwithstanding the unfavorable conditions to which the

The authorities are doing their best to rid the capital as quickly as possible of the influx of refugees. They are being dispatched at the rate of several thousand daily to the ports of Ghemilik and Moudanin or by rail to Konieh. The active interest of the authorities ends with the removal of the poor exiles and absolutely no provisions has been made for food supplies. The refugees are simply dumped into the towns on the coast or in the interior and are left to find forage for themselves.

Fortunately the Moslem population is naturally charitable and will share the last crust with the wandering fugitives.

CONSTANTINOPLE. Nov.

"One thought strikes an observer forcibly at seeing these people migrating back to its ancient home," says the correspondent. "Namely, how little altered after 500 years are the wanderers returning practically in the same manner in which they came to Europe five centuries ago—the same rough wooden carts dragged by bullecks or buffaloes and covered with straw matting which conceals the household lumber and the female members of the family hunched lino the smallest concelvable space, peering with sad eyes at the unfamiliar sights, while the slicep and goats are prevented from straying by the youngsters of the family."

Fighting Renewed.

CONSTANTINOPLE. Nov. 14.—So far the Turkish government has received no notification of the result of the application for an armistice which has been made at Sofia. Therefore rumors that an armistice has been arranged are unfounded.

Until today there has been no fighting along the Tchatalja lines since Sunday, when the Buigarians attacked two outlying forts. The commander of the Turkish battleship Turghut Reis reports that at 3 o'clock this afternoon he bombarded the Bulgarian forces north of Lake Derkos. The authorities here say Montenegro, Nov. 14.—The Montenegrin forces have renewed their attack on the Turkish positions around Scutari which was suspended a few days ago because of the terrible weather. Heavy guns have arrived and the bombardment began early this morning. The fire was concentrated on the Turkish batteries and did great damage. A few projectiles passed over the town, throwing the inhabitants into a panic. The Montenegrin commander-in-chief ordered the infanitry to advance in the afternoon against the Turkish fortifications on the heights of Bardanjoit. In spite of a half of Turkish shells, the Montenegrias advanced across the Kiri viver and before evening drove the Turkis from the trenches and forced them to retire on the tewn.
