

KILLED LURING MEN TO DEATH

Woman Harpy Is Revealed by Her Own Murder.

FIVE BODIES ARE FOUND

Inquiry Following Fatal Fire Reveals Wholesale Crimes.

Mrs. Guinness, of Laporte, Ind., and Three Children Slain and Their Home Burned—Investigation Leads to Discovery of Mutilated Remains Buried in Yard—Remains of Burned House Give Up Bodies.

Laporte, Ind., May 5.—Wholesale murder was discovered at the Guinness home this morning, when Sheriff Butler, of this county, began a search for the body of Andrew Heldgren, of Aberdeen, S. Dak., who left Aberdeen for Indiana, as soon as he heard of the destruction of the Guinness home and the burning of Mrs. Guinness and her three children.

At a depth of four feet under ground, at a spot near where the house stood, the body of Andrew Heldgren was found. In another place the body of a woman was dug up. It is thought to be that of Jennie Olsen Guinness, a sixteen-year-old girl, whom Mrs. Guinness had reared and who disappeared in September, 1906, when it was said she had gone to Los Angeles, Cal., to attend school.

May Be Heldgren. It appears that Andrew Heldgren became acquainted with Mrs. Guinness through a matrimonial agency. At that time Heldgren spent almost a month visiting Mrs. Guinness and others in this city. He was supposed to have started on a trip to Norway and Sweden. He has never been heard of since. At that time Mrs. Guinness was trying to make a loan from a local bank.

When Heldgren learned of this he offered to lend her the money. Early in January she borrowed $100 from him. Just before the fire she had drawn from Aberdeen through a local bank $2,000. Heldgren's body was found to be dismembered, and the arms, legs, trunk, and head put in different sacks and buried.

The finding of the bodies of Heldgren and Miss Olsen added to the zeal of the searchers, and within an hour, twenty men were digging in the yard where the Guinness home stood one week ago.

Wherever the earth appeared soft, the diggers went at their work with enthusiasm, and in a little while three bodies were added to the two that were found earlier in the day. One was that of a woman, and the other two were the partly decomposed bodies of men, but all unrecognizable.

Five Persons Murdered.

That all of the five persons were murdered there can be no doubt, for each of the bodies, except Heldgren's, was stripped of all clothing and buried less than four feet under ground. The manner of the burials shows that they were done hastily, and it is believed that Mr. Guinness and the murderers in each instance, and that the male victims were men who had come to see her in answer to matrimonial advertisements.

Two of the bodies were found buried upon an old section of a mattress or bed tick, and above this was found the body of Miss Olsen. It is now believed that the girl was murdered through fear that she would reveal the crimes of which Mrs. Guinness was guilty, and her murder committed at about the time that the two men were murdered and buried in the yard.

The fact that they were buried beneath the bodies of the two men and skeletons show practically the same stage of decay, 1906, at which time the Olsen girl was missed and Mrs. Guinness reported that she had gone to Los Angeles to attend school.

House of Mystery.

Mrs. Guinness' home has been for five years a house of mystery. She did not tell where she came from, and when her husband died shortly after, the circumstances were such as to direct suspicion to her.

She said that a meat cleaver had fallen from a shelf in the kitchen and killed him, and a deep gash in his head corroborated the story so far as the cleaver was concerned. There was no evidence to the contrary, and a verdict of accidental death was returned by the coroner.

Then she began to advertise for a husband, and from time to time men were seen around her house, but their coming and going attracted little attention. During nearly all the five years of her residence here, Ray Lamphere was a hired hand on her farm, and is believed by the authorities to have knowledge of the crimes, if he did not actually participate in them.

The Guinness home was burned one week ago, and Mrs. Guinness and her three children perished in the fire. The charred remains of the four victims were found, excepting the head of Mrs. Guinness, and it is thought that she was murdered before the house was set on fire. Lamphere is being held on suspicion of having murdered the woman. He was known to have been in love with her and to have been jealous of others who paid her attention.

INSURGENTS HOLD CUZCO.

Peruvian Rebels Said to Have Seized Rifles and Ammunition.

Lima, Peru, May 5.—The insurgents who rose last week at Chosica and neighboring towns under the leadership of Dr. Durand are retreating into the interior.

The government troops are advancing. It is rumored that a revolution is in progress at Cuzco; that the insurgents hold the city government, and have seized the arms and ammunition of the rifle clubs, and that all political prisoners are brought before a military court.

Cuzco is the capital of the department of that name, and is a city of 20,000 inhabitants.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Virginia—Cloudy to-day; probably rain; to-morrow fair and warmer; light southerly winds.

HERALD NEWS SUMMARY.

- PAGES. TELEGRAPHIC.
1—Evans in Command of Fleet.
1—Mayor Johnson Attacks Judge Harmon.
2—China Awakening, Says Wu.
2—Boy Kills Playmate, Then Prays.
2—Senators Enter Connecticut Fight.
2—Knox Speaks at Toms Institute.
2—Methodists Gather at Baltimore.
2—Baltimore Officials Arrested for Graft.
2—Fredericksburg Votes "Dry."

LOCAL.

- 1—Republicans Hold Conference.
2—Architects Give Banquet at Rauscher's.
2—Trade Treaty with Japan Signed.
2—Cardinal Logue Has Busy Day.
4—Democrats Adopt Primary Rules.
4—Jews of Day in Congress.
5—Society Seeks Home for Cats.
5—Choral Society in Brilliant Concert.
12—Episcopal Convention Opens To-day.
12—Circus Midget Cause of Suit.

REPUBLICANS WIN ON COAST.

Reform Element of Party Makes but Little Headway at Frisco.

San Francisco, Cal., May 5.—Twenty-five thousand votes were cast at the primary elections here to-day, and the regular Republicans swept all districts except a few precincts in which the Lincoln-Roosevelt crowd was strong. There is no question that the regular Republican party will control the State convention by a good majority.

The Lincoln-Roosevelt League has made much noise and had been touted by Francis J. Heney and other reformers, but it has made little headway. The show of its weakness today will probably put an end to its usefulness.

BAILEY'S MAJORITY 17,927.

Texas Vote in Delegate Primaries Totals 214,536.

Austin, Tex., May 5.—Senator J. W. Bailey's majority in the vote cast at last Saturday's Democratic primary for delegates-at-large to the Democratic national convention is shown by complete returns to be 17,927.

The total vote cast was 214,536. No primaries were held in nineteen counties, which are conceded to be strongly anti-Bailey.

LOOK OUT FOR THIS TEXAN.

Man Who Would Charge Hades with Bucket of Water Coming East.

Austin, Tex., May 5.—Capt. Bill McDonald, the noted frontiersman, gun-fighter and Texas ranger, left here tonight for his first visit to Eastern and Northern cities.

He will go direct to New York, where he will spend two weeks seeing the sights. Before leaving he said he "thought he would stop at a first-class tavern, and not patronize the wagon yards while in New York."

He will be the guest of President Roosevelt at the White House for several days on his way back.

STONESTREET LANDS DERBY

Neglected Colt at Odds of 24 to 1 Takes Kentucky Classic.

Track Muddy, but Big Crowd Out, and Play in Mutual Books Is Feature of Meet.

Louisville, Ky., May 5.—Stonestreet won the derby, the thirty-fourth running of the classic, with great ease over a muddy track to-day. Showing how much overlooked was the winner, a bet of $3 in the mutuals netted the fortunate few who had so invested the handsome return of $115.60, making the odds on the winner about 24 to 1.

His victory by a good three lengths from Sir Cleves stamps him as a much-improved colt over his two-year-old form. Dumvengran ran to his best form and managed to show.

A crowd of 25,000 persons saw the race, the first glimpse of the sport afforded local followers in a year.

Much interest was taken in the Paris mutuels machines and the auction pools, and every one seemed satisfied with the new style of betting. One of the peculiarities of the system developed early in the betting when it was seen that certain place wagers were not paying as much as show bets on the same horse.

BRYAN IN A PHONOGRAPH.

Lecture as a Rival to Taft's Moving Picture Ride.

Omaha, Neb., May 5.—W. J. Bryan's famous lecture, "The Prince of Peace," which he has delivered before many churches and Y. M. C. A. organizations, is to be given a world-wide circulation by means of the phonograph.

Last Saturday at his home, near Lincoln, Mr. Bryan delivered a portion of his lecture into the phonograph, and delivered another installment this morning. Tests show that a fine record was secured, and the reproduction of Mr. Bryan's voice is almost perfect.

The phonograph company plans to make thousands of records of the lecture, and Mr. Bryan's voice will be heard in his famous lecture all over the world.

CLEVELAND STILL IMPROVES.

Former President's Wife Gives Out Official Statement.

Lakewood, N. J., May 5.—Mrs. Cleveland sent a brief note to the reporters to-day stating that the former President was showing constant improvement.

Mrs. Cleveland also said in connection with a rumor that Mr. Cleveland would be removed to Princeton to-morrow that no definite arrangements had been made for his removal to Princeton, as it was found that the Lakewood climate especially was doing him good.

Dr. Joseph T. Bryant is expected back in Lakewood to see Mr. Cleveland to-morrow.

Dr. G. Rowe Lockwood, the stomach specialist, who came down yesterday, returned to New York to-day. This is taken as an indication that Mr. Cleveland's condition is constantly improving.

ADMIRAL EVANS REJOINS FLEET

Goes Aboard the Connecticut and Sets Sail.

NEARS SAN FRANCISCO

War Ships Will Enter Golden Gate at Noon To-day.

Veteran Sea Dog Declares He Will Take Vessels Into Harbor, as a Corps, if Necessary—Half Million People Will Welcome Armada from Different Points of Vantage—Long Journey Is Nearly at an End.

Monterey, Cal., May 5.—Admiral Evans left Paso Robles before 7 o'clock this morning for a short railroad run to Monterey. He was dressed in civilian's clothes and looked an absolutely different man from the invalid who came up from San Diego only three weeks ago.

He had spent the night in the fine private car Sacramento. He looked weak, but he evidently resents his weakness and his inability to walk unaided, for as he was helped into his chair he said, with something of his old temper, "D-n that chair; I'll take my feet into San Francisco harbor if I am a corpse when it gets there."

The admiral received a hearty good-bye from all around the hotel, and at the railway station the crowds cheered him as his special went swiftly by. The greetings evidently warmed his heart.

He stood the journey well to Monterey. He was received by Lieut. Crane, Lieut. Commander McLean, and Ensign Weaver, his aids. He was helped into a small boat and taken out to the Connecticut. The Connecticut at once set sail for San Francisco.

The blue-jackets are delighted with Santa Cruz. There was no attempt to put up prices, and no effort to be exclusive and confine the welcome to the officers.

STARTS ON LAST DAY'S RUN.

Fleet Will Finish Great Journey at Noon at San Francisco.

Santa Cruz, Cal., May 5.—All preparations were made for the departure of the battle fleet on its last leg of the cruise, to San Francisco lightship, where it will anchor to-night at 9 o'clock. The fleet sailed promptly at 2 o'clock. This gives six hours for a run up the coast of 100 miles to San Francisco lightship, just beyond Farrallon Islands, twenty miles from Golden Gate, where the fleet will anchor over night and be ready to steam into the harbor by noon to-morrow.

Santa Cruz gave a rousing good-bye to the fleet this afternoon. The day was declared a legal holiday by the mayor and all business was suspended. The people utilized the morning hours in visits to the ships, but at 10:30 all were ordered off and all the officers and men were called back to their ships. The hour for sailing found all Santa Cruz stirred to great excitement.

The signal for flags were run up to the masts, the great funnels belched black smoke, and the cheers of the thousands along the beach as the fleet started on the last short run of its long voyage. One of the San Francisco papers printed a dispatch announcing the death of Admiral Evans' little grandson, Robley D. Sewall, at Washington. Mrs. Evans was greatly perturbed when she saw the report, and wired to her son and to Admiral Thomas to keep this newspaper off the flag, and to warn all the admirals and attendants not to inform Admiral Evans of the death of his little favorite, as she feared the effect of the news upon him. He will not be told of the death until after the procession on Thursday.

READY TO WELCOME FLEET.

Half Million People Will Be at Vantage Points at Noon To-day.

San Francisco, May 5.—Conservative estimates show that half a million people will witness the entrance of Admiral Evans' fleet to-morrow from various hills of San Francisco, not to mention the hundreds of people who will see it from Oakland, Berkeley, and the Marine County shore. Railroads, river steamers, and ferries will bring in 142,000, while 300,000 of the city's own population will turn out to see the naval spectacle.

The fleet is expected at Golden Gate by noon sharp, and those who enter the harbor on the war vessels will see the various hills along the shore black with thousands of cheering people, which will be a spectacle worth going miles to see.

The Pacific cruiser fleet of eight vessels will meet the Atlantic fleet off Angel Island, in the harbor, and will then move with it, in procession to the anchorage, between the rows of anchored crowded steamships, and launches and yachts.

As soon as the fleet has anchored, the mayor will pay his respects to Admiral Thomas on the flag ship, and the governor will follow, then Admiral Thomas will return calls. At 9 p. m. will be the first reception and ball at the Fairmont Hotel, to Secretary Metcalf and commanding officers.

Admiral Evans will be taken ashore as soon as the anchor falls from the Connecticut, and an automobile will rush him up to the Fairmont, where Mrs. Evans is staying.

The enthusiasm with which the fleet was received at Los Angeles will be surpassed here, because of the great number of strangers and eagerness of all the people to give the sailors a "welcome."

The California delegation yesterday sent a telegram to Secretary of the Navy Victor H. Metcalf requesting that one-half of the Atlantic battle-ship fleet be allowed to remain on the Pacific coast until the completion of the Panama Canal.

Secretary Metcalf is now in San Francisco to attend the grand naval review of the combined Atlantic and Pacific fleets in San Francisco Bay on May 8. No answer has been received.

Porch and Window Boxes of Growing Plants, $2.50; special. Blackstone's, 14 & H.

MONEY CONFERENCE PROVES FRUITLESS

House Republicans Fail to Agree on Currency.

TO MEET AGAIN TO-NIGHT

After a Sort of Republican-Democratic Currency Filibuster of Two Hours' Duration, the Long-heralded Conference on Finance Brings Forth Debate, but No Definite Plan.

After bucking about over the bill requiring the registration of cases of tuberculosis in the District of Columbia for more than one and one-half hours, the House of Representatives last night took a recess just fifteen minutes before the hour set for the Republican conference on currency.

So far as the results of the conference went, the roll calls instituted to the enjoyment of some Republicans and the discomfiture of scores of Democrats might as well have continued until 11 o'clock, instead of stopping shortly before 8.

The conferees agreed to nothing practically, but that there should be a second meeting to-night. It is possible, however, that some plan will be reached when this conference is put back into history.

No one dreamed when the usual motion of Mr. Payne for a recess was made, at 5:30, and the Speaker put through an intervening conference report regarding a District bill, that there was about to be brought forth on the great American stage the first Republican-Democratic currency filibuster of the year.

Comes Forth Bravely. Brand new and fresh, however, it came forth. Some Republicans voted against the District bill—or ordering the previous question, to be exact—not because they were opposed to it, but because they wanted the Democrats to stay in the House until the hour of 8—that of the currency conference—had come close by.

Some Republicans voted "no" because they thought the calling of the yeas and nays the drone of the clerk's voice might be extended beyond that fateful hour, and no conference held at all—consequently no currency legislation.

Democrats were torn between the emotion of love and the call of duty. They had been voting "no" so long that it seemed like parting with a friend, to say "aye." Some of them, however, did say "aye," and glanced appealingly at the gallery clock, thinking no doubt of succulent dinners awaiting their coming.

Twice the doors of the House were closed, and the absentees were notified. Twice enough members came straggling slowly in to make up the required number. When the hour of 7:45 came whizzing up, the last roll call, that on taking a recess, had been counted up and a quorum found, so that no longer was the great and only first Republican-Democratic currency filibuster upon the boards.

When the House took a recess the Republican members just gravitated into conferees and remained about the hall. The purpose of the conference was to agree upon one bill providing for the issuance of emergency currency, so that such a measure could be enacted before adjournment.

When 11 o'clock rolled around every one was ready to quit, and the conference was called off until to-night.

No bill had that introduced by Representative Vreeland, of New York, was given consideration. This measure makes commercial paper the basis for the issue of circulating notes, and provides for the organization of clearing-house associations to place the notes in circulation. The discussion was more particularly directed, however, to a resolution presented to the conference by Representative Bennett, of New York, which, in substance, recognized the commercial-paper feature of the Vreeland bill and provided that the bill should be revised by a special committee of the conference. Mr.

Bennet's resolution was based upon suggestions from President Gilbert, of the New York Clearing-house Association.

THE RESOLUTION.

Its text follows: Resolved, That the conference approve the underlying principle of the Vreeland bill, namely, a recognition of commercial paper through clearing-house associations, as a safe and logical asset for emergency currency and also approve the proposition for a currency commission; and be it further Resolved, That the Chair appoint a committee of five members to perfect the bill, such committee to report the perfected bill to the conference at an adjourned meeting to be held within five days.

At the outset of the conference a resolution offered by Representative Prince, of Illinois, providing that those in attendance should not be bound by any action that might be taken, was adopted. This will govern at the meeting to-night or at any subsequent meeting that may be held.

FOXY PAPA USES SWITCHES

Indiana Farmer Discovers Sons Are "Night Riders."

Answers Their Threat with Invitation to Come Out to the Barn.

Owensville, Ind., May 5.—A farmer in Posey county planted to raise a crop of tobacco this year for home consumption only.

His two sons, thirteen and eleven years old, assumed the role of night riders, and endeavored to frighten their father by cutting a lot of timber switches and laying them at the front door of the home. On the door they tacked this sign: "Old Man: If you raise any tobacco this year there will be h— raised here—Night Riders."

From a window in the kitchen the father watched the work of the boys, and when they were fast asleep he stole into their rooms. In the trousers' leg of each he deposited a bunch of switches, and on the seat of the garments was attached the following sign: "Night Riders: Meet me at the barn at 7 o'clock in the morning, when h— raising will begin—Old Man."

The boys met the father at the appointed hour, and after he got through with them, they thought it would be well to raise a crop of tobacco, and promised to work diligently through the season.

STABLES VISITED BY FIRE.

Six Horses and Three Mules Burned to Death in Dorsey's Barn.

Six horses, three mules, tons of hay, wagons, and carriages were destroyed by a fire which broke out at 3:45 o'clock this morning in Dorsey's livery barn, at 224 Fourteenth street northwest.

The building, which was of three stories, was practically destroyed inside of fifteen minutes after the firemen arrived on the scene.

Twenty-one horses belonging to the Pierce Lumber Company were saved. At four o'clock the fire had spread to the building of the Otto Livery Company, and a second alarm was sounded.

The building occupied by the Dorsey stables is the property of J. Edward Chapman.

The fire is believed to have been started by the overturning of a lantern.

Seize Lottery Tickets.

San Juan, May 5.—Customs Inspector Mattheos arrested to-day Armando Benitez at Ponce on board the Cuban steamship Julia from Santo Domingo with 600 lottery tickets and some prize lists in his possession. The Federal authorities are trying to stop the introduction into the island of lottery tickets from different countries.

An Increased Income.

Without increased effort is one of the advantages of being a depositor in banking. The Union Trust Co., 15th and H sts., interest on all accounts, subject to check.

JERSEY DECLINES TO PLEDGE VOTES

Roosevelt and Taft Amendments Are Tabled.

ONLY FORT FAVORS OHIOAN

Three of the Delegates-at-large Said to Be with Administration—State Convention Results in Hot Fight. Only Avowed Supporters of Secretary of War Badly Beaten.

Trenton, N. J., May 5.—Followers of President Roosevelt and admirers of Secretary Taft made an unsuccessful attempt to stampede the Republican State convention to-day for the favorites.

The effort came immediately after the presentation of a set of resolutions, or platform, and prior to the election of the four delegates-at-large to the national convention. While the resolutions were pending, Surrogate George E. Russell, of Essex, offered an amendment endorsing the candidacy of ex-Gov. Franklin Murphy, of Newark, for the Vice Presidency, and urging the delegates to use their best efforts to accomplish his nomination. The amendment was adopted unanimously and with a considerable display of enthusiasm.

Ex-Senator J. Henry Bacheller, of Newark, followed with another amendment, endorsing the candidacy of Taft for the Presidency. The convention was in an uproar in a moment, and United States ex-Senator John F. Dryden, who was chairman, and is himself an ardent supporter of Mr. Taft, was for a time unable to handle the situation.

Substitutes Roosevelt's Name.

When order had been restored, James A. Blauvelt, of Paterson, offered an amendment to the convention substituting Roosevelt for Taft. There was some applause from the Roosevelt adherents, but evidently it was far from being either a Taft or Roosevelt convention.

Senator Frelinghuysen came to the rescue with a motion to table both amendments. The motion was carried.

Mr. Briggs, who was the only avowed Taft delegate-at-large, received 171 votes. His opponents were elected by the following votes: Fort, 623; Briggs, 626; Keen, 537; Baird, 568.

Gov. Fort is known to favor the nomination of Mr. Taft. Senator Keen and David Baird are both against Taft, and their choice, it is said, would be Senator Knox. Senator Briggs is also rated as an anti-Taft man, although he has made no declaration as to his first choice.

Half of the Districts for Taft.

Of the twenty district delegates, most of whom were chosen at Congressional district conventions held this morning, it is believed that considerably less than half favor Taft as first choice, while a number are opposed to his candidacy altogether.

The alternate delegates-at-large selected were: Gen. C. Edward Murray, of Mercer; Daniel S. Voorhees, of Morris; Lewis S. Thompson, of Monmouth, and Capt. Walter E. Edge, of Atlantic.

CHERAMY COLLECTION SOLD.

Ninety-eight Pictures Bring $66,985.50 at Paris Auction.

Paris, May 5.—Ninety-eight pictures of the Cheramy collection were sold at auction to-day, for $66,985.50. M. Cheramy is a lawyer, who is selling his collection, which he was twenty years in making, for the purpose of devoting the proceeds to certain charities in which he is interested.

The highest price obtained was 75,000 francs, for a picture entitled "Vierge Aux Rochers," which is believed to have been painted in Davinci's studio, under his direction.

Two-year-old Rose Bushes; Best Variety. Special, 30c. Blackstone's, 14th & H.

MAYOR JOHNSON ATTACKS HARMON

Cleveland Man Says Judge Represents Brewers.

FEARS DEFEAT TO-DAY

State Committee Said to Be for Cincinnati.

Impartial Observers Say Traction Executive Is Beaten by Vote of 14 to 7—However, He Wins Out and Will Probably Get Indorsement of Former Gov. Campbell for the United States Senatorship.

Columbus, Ohio, May 5.—The Garber-Finley faction of the Ohio Democrats seem to be in control of the Democratic State convention, the first session of which was held to-night.

However, Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, disputes the claim and still declares he will nominate Alton Pomeroy, of Canton, for governor. Johnson also claims the control of the new State central committee, although the view of impartial observers is that the committee stands 14 to 7 against him.

The Cleveland mayor went out on the committee on rules and order of business, which probably means that the convention to-morrow will indorse James E. Campbell for Senator. In the other committee meetings to-night Johnson was worsted.

Attacks Harmon.

In a card published to-day, Johnson made a bitter attack upon Judson Harmon, of Cincinnati, who is considered the most likely nominee for governor. He charges that his nomination, if achieved, would be dictated by the liquor interests. He said: "Harmon's nomination is a trap set by Bryan's enemies to catch Bryan's friends. It is a foolish attempt on the part of the liquor interests of Ohio to sidetrack all great issues, and plaster the whiskey label all over the Democrat party."

Says He Is Attorney for Brewers.

The Democracy of Ohio cannot go before the people with a candidate for governor who is an attorney for the brewing interests, and who is known as the legal, representative and railroad receiver in Ohio of the Morgan interests in New York."

There are warm contests for the various nominations to-morrow. Aside from the contests between the Finley and Johnson factions, there is an independent crowd making much headway. They raise the cry that both of the old factions should be disposed of.

GOULDS MAKE IT ALL UP.

Reconciliation Rumor Confirmed by Mother of Mrs. Frank Gould.

New York, May 5.—"Everything is coming around just as I said it would. My understanding between young people are not uncommon, and as a rule, they are short-lived."

This statement, made to-day by Mrs. Edward Kelly, mother of Mrs. Frank J. Gould, practically verified a report in circulation in society circles to the effect that the Goulds, who separated some time ago, have become reconciled, and are now living together again in their beautiful home at 834 Fifth avenue.

"Will you positively say that the young people have settled their difference?" Mrs. Kelly was asked.

"I have nothing more to say," was the reply.

Mr. Gould was at the Fifth avenue house last night, but neither he nor his wife would say anything. Counsel for both sides had no statement to make.

It is known that ever since the trouble began, efforts have been made by members of the family to hasten the return of peace.

Mrs. Gould, on publication of her domestic differences, left the city, and on her return went to her Fifth avenue home. The Goulds returned to New York a week ago from Hot Springs, Va., and went to the Plaza, but remained there only one night.

ACQUITTED; SHE CONFESSES.

Woman Causes Laugh in Courtroom by Her Candor.

New York, May 5.—Ella Van Dross, a negroess, was tried to-day in General Sessions for larceny and acquitted. She was accused of stealing $10 from the pocket of Joseph Kyatt, who lives in Yonkers.