

CHURCH DEDICATED TO CIVIC WELFARE

New Ingram Memorial Congregation Holds Service.

The promotion of a better civic life, a more efficient city government, and a patriotism that places the welfare of our country above private considerations, we dedicate this church. Such were the terms of the "act of dedication" recited by the congregation on the new Ingram Memorial Church last night at the first of a three-days' programme of dedication.

The pastor, Rev. Dr. John W. Frizell, before introducing the three other speakers, said that there was not in Washington the civic spirit which characterizes other American cities, which he attributed to the fact that so large a proportion of the people reside in Washington temporarily. He spoke of the new church center as one intended to be an agency for the development of the deficient civic spirit and to keep alive the moral ideals endangered by "the reign of wealth."

"The new America" was the theme of an address by Rev. Dr. Charles H. Richards, of New York City.

Mrs. C. H. Taintor spoke of the benefactions in other parts of the country of Mr. Ingram, and Representative L. L. Leunroth, of Wisconsin, said that the founding of social centers like the Ingram Memorial Church signified "the beginning of a new church movement, nationwide in scope," substituting for the patriotism associated in thought with the beat of drums, "the patriotism of peace."

To-night, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, there will be a reception to Hon. O. H. Ingram, of Eau Claire, Iowa, and other benefactors of the church, and tomorrow other special services, at 11 a. m., 3:30 p. m., and 8 p. m.

HOME ROBBED OF JEWELRY.

Woman Reports Early Evening Visit of Sneak Thief.

The home of Mrs. Isabelle C. Wells, 1609 Connecticut avenue northwest, was robbed of nearly $300 worth of jewelry last night. The robbery occurred between 8 and 10 o'clock in the evening while the family was out, and the supposition is it was the work of a sneak thief.

The property consisted of a gold chain purse valued at $150, a gold car case valued at $50, two gold pencils, $10 each, a pair of gold longnettes, $35, a gilt key, an Adams Express check, and $5.

GEN. GRANT'S FRIEND DEAD.

John Collins, Aged Omaha Banker, Succumbs to Apoplexy.

Omaha, May 13.—John Collins, an old and wealthy banker and retired merchant of Omaha, died suddenly at his home to-day of apoplexy. Mr. Collins was a son of E. A. Collins, who for many years was associated with Jesse R. Grant, father of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, in the leather business at Galena, Ill.

The elder Collins was a staunch friend of Capt. Grant, and when the latter was appointed by Gov. Yates colonel of a regiment of Illinois volunteers in 1861, Mr. Collins lent him the money to buy a uniform and a sword.

John Collins was an intimate friend of the Grants, and when Gen. Grant became President he appointed him post trader at Fort Laramie.

NO HOPE FOR MINERS.

Women Clamor for Another Attempt to Rescue Entombed Men.

London, May 13.—Hope has been abandoned for the rescue of the miners who are entombed in the Wellington colliery at White Haven, in Cumberland. Of the 137 who were entombed at the time of the explosion, four were rescued alive and five bodies were recovered.

There was much excitement until late to-night owing to the dissatisfaction at the closing of the pit. Women clamored violently for another attempt at rescue. Volunteers for the work were plenty. A large crowd tried to rush the yard in which the shaft is located, but the police prevented them.

The miners' own leaders tried to convince the distracted people that to descend the shaft inevitably involved death to those who attempted it, but they had little success.

One of the walls that was bricked up will be opened and an effort will be made to reach those entombed by boring.

KERN MAKES PROTEST.

Senator in Nomine Vants Voice in Selecting State Legislators.

Indianapolis, May 13.—John W. Kern, Democratic nominee for United States Senator, has notified the local party managers that certain proposed candidates for the legislature in this county selected by the state-makers with special reference to their votes on the liquor question, must not be nominated.

Some time ago, when Mr. Kern was asked about his choice of legislative candidates, he replied that he did not care what selections the party made, provided they were good men.

It now seems that his ideas of good men and those of the state-makers do not coincide, and there will have to be some alterations made in the slate before he will accept it.

TIED OF RACIAL STRIFE.

South Seeks Rest from Political Demagoguery, Says Booker T.

New York, May 13.—"The South is getting tired of the political demagoguery which gets office and keeps it by stirring up racial trouble," said Booker T. Washington to-day. "This was shown by the way in which Gov. Vardaman was turned down in the recent contest in Mississippi for a seat in the United States Senate."

"The people down there are weary of having racial strife aroused, and you do not hear so much of the race question in political campaigns as in former years. I think there is a tendency among the thinking white people of the South to come to the conclusion that the two races have got to live together, and that it is the sensible thing to live in peace, so that each race can help the other."

Killed Trying to See Comet.

San Francisco, May 13.—The death of Frank H. Covert, an Oakland electric lineman, to see Halley's comet, cost him his life this morning. He climbed to the roof of his home with two friends, and went to bed there. In moving about he missed his footing and slid to the ground, forty feet below, fracturing his skull and breaking his spinal column. He died on the way to the hospital.

HAUL AMENDMENT PASSES IN SENATE

ity his original amendment, in accordance with the compromise. He had hardly got half a dozen words out of his mouth when Senator Aldrich and Senator Elkins, the latter being in charge of the administration railroad bill, hurried over to his desk and began to remonstrate. Senator Bristow, of Kansas; Senator La Follette, and Senator Cummins and others of the more radical insurgents looked glum over the turn affairs had taken, while the Democrats also were up in arms over the move that the Republican leader had made to checkmate them. Senator Dixon moved that the Senate take a recess for fifteen minutes.

Senator Bacon, of Georgia, and half a dozen others on the Democratic side were on their feet calling for action on the Dixon amendment, but were ruled down, and a recess was voted.

Plan a Rush Act.
Senator Dixon hurried with Senator Aldrich and Senator Elkins and one or two others out into one of the committee rooms, where they undertook a rush job in whipping the compromise amendment into shape. Senator Dixon appeared back at 11:35 in fifteen minutes and again moved a recess of half an hour.

In the meantime, however, members on the Democratic side, notably Senator Bacon, had been packing up and down, banging their fists on desks and declaring that they would see to it that the Republican organization would not obtain unanimous consent of the Senate again this session for a vote on any measure. They said that the unanimous consent had been given for a vote on the original Dixon amendment, and that now Senator Aldrich and his followers had thrown into the Senate a brand-new proposition without time for consideration or debate.

The insurgents also were wroth. Senator Bristow was so mad that he stamped his foot and tried to take revenge on the big wall of paper by hurling it on the floor. Senator La Follette and Senator Cummins plainly showed their displeasure. The Senate voted another recess of half an hour, and this time the patchwork on the amendment was done right on the floor of the Senate.

Try to Appease Bacon.

Senator Elkins and Senator Aldrich hurried over to Senator Bacon and tried to appease him. Senator Bacon waved his fists in the air and refused to be soothed. Finally, however, Senator Smoot stepped in and tried to lead him over to Senator Fletcher's desk, on the Democratic side.

Senator Smoot sat at the desk with fragments of various amendments spread out before him. Bristow, who by this time had come to the conclusion that the insurgents ought to have something to do with fixing up the amendment, hurried over with a pot of paste.

Senator Elkins stood leaning over the Utah Senator's shoulder, blotter in hand. Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, a Democrat, crowded in and relieved Senator Bristow of the paste brush. He did the daubing. Senator Aldrich stood at one side and calmly directed the proceedings, while about a dozen or fifteen Senators—Democrats, Republican regulars and insurgents—crowded around the central group, offering suggestions, and trying to get a peep at the cutting and pasting proceeding.

Senator Dixon finally emerged from the group with the patched up compromise amendment, and carried it to the desk. There was further opposition on the part of the Democrats to a vote on this amendment, but they were overruled.

The amendment was adopted by a vote of 57 to 19. Bristow, of Oregon, became practically the only insurgent who voted against it. Several old-time Republican regulars voted against it. Several Democrats refused to vote at all, among them being Gore, of Oklahoma; Hughes, of Colorado, and Money, of Mississippi. Apparently there was no significance in the vote.

Views Are Expressed.

After the adoption of the Dixon-Paynter-Smoot substitute, some of the Senators undertook to express their views as to its merits.

Senator Bacon, of Georgia, said that Senator Aldrich had accepted the amendment rather than face defeat. He added that the substitute amendment agreed to was not in accordance with the views expressed in the Senate by Mr. Aldrich and by the Senator from West Virginia.

"The Senator from Georgia is happy, is he not?" queried Senator Elkins.

"He is," replied the Georgian.

"Well, I want to say to the Senator that we are just as happy on this side," replied Senator Elkins.

"I am glad the Senators on that side are so happy," said Senator Bacon. "It only goes to show with what ease and celerity they can change front and put on new colors."

Several Senators were asking for recognition, but Senator Aldrich caught the eye of the Vice President.

"He who laughs last laughs best," remarked the Senator from Rhode Island, mysteriously.

"I know what the Senator from Rhode Island means," said Senator Bacon. "The Senator refers to the fact that this amendment has got to go to conference, and that it will be taken care of there."

Aldrich Makes Retort.
"I do not mean anything of the kind," retorted Senator Aldrich. "This amendment can be defended from principle, such as I have advocated on the floor of the Senate in discussing the long and short haul."

"This is a great day for the railroads," said Senator Heyburn, of Idaho, a moment later. "Many Senators here believe that railroads should not be allowed to charge more for a short than a long haul."

Razor in Negro Free-for-all.

A crowd of negroes returning from a social engaged in a fight at Twentieth and G streets shortly before 1 o'clock this morning which resulted in Arthur Brown being cut with a razor. The cutting is said to have been done by Bowie Scott, for whom the police are searching.

THE KING IS DEAD.

The King lies dead in his purple room, where the throne and the scepter be; and my neighbor's cottage is filled with gloom—that means a lot more to me. The King is mourned by a million souls, the King who is white and dumb; and over his country the "Dead March" rolls, and the sound of the muffled drum. So the King won't care if I do not weep, or utter my wailings wild; I'll save my tears for my friends, who keep their watch over a dying child. The King was good and the King was wise, and I'm sorry the King is dead; but round the corner a poor man lies, and groans in his lowly bed; I'll rustle there in my awkward style, and moisten his fevered brow, and try to bring to his face a smile, and cheer up his weary frau. The King has gone where his forebears wait in stately and hushed repose; a cripple comes to my garden gate, and I'll give him a suit of clothes. The King has gone to the silent bourne where all of the monarchs roam; I'm sorry—but when I have time to mourn, I'll do it for folks near home.

WALT MASON.

(Copyright, 1910, by George Matthew Adams.)

WHIT SUNDAY TO-MORROW COMES HERE AS PASTOR

Feast of Pentecost to Be Observed in Catholic Churches.

Commemorates Descent of Holy Ghost, Birthday of Church, and Fiftieth Day After Easter.

Very Rev. J. R. Meagher, of New York, Elected to Succeed Father T. P. O'Rourke.

Very Rev. J. R. Meagher, O. P. of New York, has been elected prior of St. Dominic's Church, succeeding Very Rev. T. P. O'Rourke, O. P., whose term expired last month.

Father Meagher arrived last evening, and will assume his new duties at once. He is a native of Boston, and took his preliminary studies at Somers, Ohio, and St. Rose Convent, in Kentucky, afterward completing his theological course at the University of Louvain, Belgium, where he was ordained to the priesthood and later received the degree of E. T. L.

Father Meagher was first assigned to duty as a teacher at the seminary at Somers, going from there to be prior of St. Antoninus, Newark, N. J. Later he was made prior of the Church of St. Vincent Ferrer, in New York City, one of the most important churches in charge of the Dominican Order in the United States, and after a successful administration of the affairs of that parish he takes charge of St. Dominic's Church in this city, and will officiate for the first time on Sunday.

By a slight change in the constitution the late Dr. Huntington would have the title in common use read, the American Church, which title would be free from many objections and yet preserve the definite as some could wish it to be.

Canon XIX, which permits, in special cases, and where licensed by the bishop, the ministers of other churches to preach in Episcopal pulpits, is likewise objectionable to many, and while the object of that canon was restricted in that it sought to regulate a growing practice and to limit it, the result has been exactly the opposite.

Many feel that this matter has departed from her old standards and traditions, and that the sooner she returns to them the better. She has no word to say that is in the least degree unkind regarding the ministrations of the ministers of other religious bodies. In the past, however, she has made no such concessions, and may believe the higher interests of the church and those to whom the ministrations are rendered best followed by the old paths. Of course, many others do not share these views.

PIANO DEALERS NOMINATE.

List of Men to Be Voted for Announced at Richmond.

Richmond, Va., May 13.—To-night the officers of the National Piano Manufacturers' Association and of the National Piano Dealers' Association announced the nomination by the committee for that purpose of the following:

Dealers—President, L. H. Clement, New York; first vice president, R. O. Foster, Minneapolis; second vice president, Otto Bolman, St. Louis; third vice president, J. P. Simmons, New Orleans; secretary, J. C. Putnam, Boston; treasurer, D. E. Wooley, Philadelphia; executive board, W. H. Currier, Toledo; F. J. Ropp, Philadelphia; O. A. Field, St. Louis; J. F. Bowers, Chicago.

Manufacturers—Jonas McClelland, Chicago; president; J. Harry Estey, New York, first vice president; J. S. Bond, Port Wayne, Ind., second vice president; James F. Broderick, Chicago, treasurer; B. H. Jansen, New York, secretary.

Business sessions were held behind closed doors.

MILITIA SEEKS INDIANS.

Band of Armed Pueblos Make Raid on Ranchers.

Santa Fe, N. Mex., May 13.—The Pueblo Indians at Taos are on the war path and the governor has ordered the militia to the scene by special train. The Indians have been busy for a long time, because of prosecution of members of the tribe for liquor selling and other violations of the law.

They openly rebelled when the census enumerators appeared, but were temporarily mollified. A body of armed Pueblos later made a raid on ranchers, north of the reservation. They cut fences, drove off stock, and made an assault on Mrs. Miers, wife of one of the home-steaders.

Adj. Gen. Brooks ordered Company M, of Las Vegas, the crack organization of the Territory, to go to Taos by special train.

CLASSIFICATION OF DRINKS.

Gaynor to Hold Public Hearing on "Inebriates Bill."

New York, May 13.—The aldermen's room in the city hall will be packed on Monday morning. It is expected, when Mayor Gaynor holds a public hearing on "The Inebriates Bill."

Under the provisions of the bill one may acquire a jug with safety, providing one has not been written down on the books of the inebriation board. The measure clearly states that the first bun, package, brannigan, load or poles, or incandescent doesn't count. Even if a man is arrested he will be let off if he can show that it is the first time he has ever violated the speed limit. But the second and third and fourth times are different matters, indeed.

The second time the inebriation board will put you under probation. There will be held officers, deputies with a cruising license, who will keep an eye out for second offenders.

The second time means a period of probation. The third celebration lets one in for a fine as well as probation.

The bill provides that a fourth offender may be sent to the farm for not more than six, nor less than three, months. After the fourth a year or less is the penalty. It all depends on the judgment of the doctors.

Convict Is Pardoned.

Albany, May 13.—Gov. Hughes to-day commuted the sentence of William J. Koerner, a prisoner now serving a life sentence at Auburn Prison on conviction of murder in the second degree. Koerner, who killed his sweetheart, Rose Alice Redgate, in New York, on September 23, 1895, will be released from prison to-morrow.

Woman Reports Robbery.

Mrs. Fannie Ritter, of 440 M street northwest, reported to the police yesterday that a quantity of clothing had been stolen from her room.

Negro Church Plans Rally.

Special services will be held to-morrow at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. at the colored First Baptist Church, when it is planned to raise $3,000 for extension work.

FORCHURCH CHANGES

General Episcopal Congress to Consider Three.

DIVORCE TO BE FOREMOST

Some Who Will Attend Sessions at Cincinnati in October Think Divorce Are Unrighteous—Church Name in Conflict, and Canon at Issue and May Be Dropped.

Three matters of much importance are likely to come up for settlement at the general Episcopal convention which meets in Cincinnati next October. These matters are concerned with the subject of divorce, the change of the church's name, and Canon XIX.

Many churchmen feel the matter of divorce has not been settled right. They regard any permission to marry while a husband or wife is living as unwise and in the nature of a compromise.

As regards the change of the name of the church, which was alluded to in Bishop Harding's address to the convention, it is becoming more and more realized the present legal name, Protestant Episcopal, is misleading and in some ways objectionable. Into certain languages it cannot be translated at all with any degree of correctness. The result is that various suggestions have been made looking to the adoption of a name which shall be free from the objectionable features of the present name and which, at the same time, shall properly express the belief of her members regarding her place and history.

Change of Title.
By a slight change in the constitution the late Dr. Huntington would have the title in common use read, the American Church, which title would be free from many objections and yet preserve the definite as some could wish it to be.

Canon XIX, which permits, in special cases, and where licensed by the bishop, the ministers of other churches to preach in Episcopal pulpits, is likewise objectionable to many, and while the object of that canon was restricted in that it sought to regulate a growing practice and to limit it, the result has been exactly the opposite.

Many feel that this matter has departed from her old standards and traditions, and that the sooner she returns to them the better. She has no word to say that is in the least degree unkind regarding the ministrations of the ministers of other religious bodies. In the past, however, she has made no such concessions, and may believe the higher interests of the church and those to whom the ministrations are rendered best followed by the old paths. Of course, many others do not share these views.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NOTES.

Impressive services were held last Monday at the Visitation Convent in Georgetown, when Miss Isabelle Devlin, of Boston, and Miss Josephine Moran, of Chicago, were received into the sisterhood. Miss Moran, who will henceforth be known as Sister Mary Thomas, is an alumnus of the Georgetown Convent and is one of four sisters who have been students of the institution. Miss Devlin's name in religion will be Sister Mary Cecilia.

Mgr. Thomas S. Lee, pastor of St. Matthew's Church, officiated at the ceremonies, assisted by Rev. Edward R. Devitt, S. J., and Rev. Francis A. Tordoff, S. J., of Georgetown University. The music was rendered by the Student Choir.

Invitations have been issued by the sisters to the members of the Alumnae Association of the convent for the annual reunion the first week in June. The functions this year will cover a period of several days, in which the tercentenary of the Visitation will be observed. At the close of the celebration a three days' retreat will be given by Rev. William J. Ennis, S. J., at which a large attendance of former pupils from all over the United States is anticipated.

The annual May procession will be the center of interest in many of the churches to-morrow. At St. Patrick's Church a class of sixty children will receive their first holy communion at the 7 o'clock mass, which will be celebrated by Rev. Dr. William T. Russell, pastor, who will also make a short address.

A three-day retreat, which has been conducted by Father McGuigan for the children, will close to-day. The May procession will take place to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The boys from St. Joseph's Asylum, the girls from St. Vincent's, 500 children from St. Patrick's Sunday School, altar boys, sanctuary choir, and clergy, participating. Upon reaching the church, the act of consecrating will be read by the May queen, Miss Helen McGill, who will be attended by sixty maids of honor. Dr. Russell will make an address, the children of the first communion class will renew their baptismal vows, and the service will close with solemn benediction of the blessed sacrament.

At St. Theresa's Church, Anacostia, the annual May procession will take place to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The line will form in the basement of the church by way of V street. The boys and girls of the new parochial school and the members of the Sodality of the Children of Mary will take part in the procession. Miss Mary Belle Latchford will be the queen. Rev. Father Bart, pastor, will officiate. After the crowning of the May queen, the service will close with benediction of the blessed sacrament.

The devotion of the "six Sundays," in preparation for the feast of St. Aloysius, will begin to-morrow, and will be observed in all the churches in charge of the clergy of the Society of Jesus. St. Aloysius has been appointed by the holy see as the special patron and protector of youth, and to gain the plenary indulgence granted by the sovereign pontiff, it is necessary that holy communion be received on six consecutive Sundays. The annual May procession of St. Aloysius parish will take place to-morrow after-

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES.

The normal mission study class, organized by the mission department of the District of C. E. Union, held the last of its eight sessions yesterday. The study has been full of interest and every member of the class is grateful to the leader, F. W. Sweeney, for the help received.

The board of officers of the District Union will meet next Monday evening.

Endeavors of the District are expected to take a great interest in the equipment services to be held at 4 o'clock on Sunday, May 22, in ten churches. These promise to be among the most helpful sessions of the great world's Sunday school convention, and will afford opportunities to all at the feet of some
